SCOTT RECALL

“Let’s be clear. The only people that are interested in recalling Paul Scott, at our expense by the way, are the teachers. Why? Because he stood up to them and their bullying agenda. Scott should be commended for his actions, not recalled. The rest of us are tired of the unions and their entitlement mentality.”

HOT LINES: CAR

“Newer car head-lights on are mandated for traffic safety. Where would anyone get the unscientific idea that there could be a considerable energy savings with them off? I suggest some people try to educate themselves about ongoing simple electrical alternator gene ration in vehicles before making silly statements for which they know nothing about. Most new headlight bulbs do not fail because of overuse, but because of vibration and shock.”

Scott recall gathers enough valid signatures

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

The Michigan Department of State found 11,047 valid signatures for the recall of State Rep. Paul Scott, 51st District (R) Grand Blanc. The number of valid signatures required was 9,604. Of the 12,133 total signatures reviewed by the Department of the State, 1,086 signatures were rejected. Improper address, improper signature dating and incomplete circulator certification were reasons for the rejected signatures.

Summary ▶ Despite the struggling economy, several businesses, as well as a couple of churches are either moving into Fenton or expanding their already established endeavors.

Hobby Lobby

The store which features departments ranging from crafts, hobbies, picture framing, jewelry making, fashion fabrics, floral, cards and party, baskets, wearable art, home accents, and holiday supplies has a purchase agreement with Spartan foods and has plans of moving into the 50,000 square foot space of the old Farmer Jack building on Silver Parkway, according to Brad Hissong, Fenton’s zoning administrator.

Culver’s restaurant

Brother and sister Kevin Powers and Katie Schmitt, who own a Culver’s restaurant in Clarkston, have been working with the city to open a second restaurant on Owen Road, at the site of the existing State Bank building. Site plans have been submitted and approved. Hissong expects to see and review construction drawings in order for the owners to pull a building permit. The restaurant should be open for business by the end of the year.

SMART SOLUTIONS

1 Creaky floors

Don't worry about needing to tip toe across your creaky floors. Just use a turkey baster to apply talcum powder along the cracks between noisy floorboards. The soft substance acts as a stopgap, preventing boards from shifting as you step.

2 Remove crayon marks on wall

If your pint-sized Picasso creates a crayon masterpiece on your living room wall, stir together 2 tablespoons baking soda with 1 teaspoon water until the mixture is the consistency of toothpaste. Using a damp white cloth, apply the mixture directly to the marks and gently rub in a circular motion until they disappear. Soap-like compounds in baking soda dissolve coloring agents, while its mild abrasives buff away greasy crayon wax without damaging walls.

THE 'BE CLOSER' billboard on US 23 shows a happy couple driving away — in a foreign car. Not only do these idiots not get 'Shop Local,' they don't understand 'Buy American' either. Whoever approved this is a fool. More of our tax dollars thrown in the toilet.

TO THE PERSON who talked about liberals and Rep. Paul Scott, it's not just because of him having a child out-of-wedlock, it's more about 'practice what you preach.' Even if he was a liberal Democrat, I'd still be disappointed in him. There's nothing I hate more in politics than a hypocrite, whichever side of the aisle he or she is on.

THIS IS HOW the president runs the country. Blame everyone but yourself. Question everyone's motives but your own. Renew failed policies, but insist they will work this time. Expect responsibility from others. Accept none for yourself. When you're done, go play golf.

WE PAY OUR law enforcement to combat crime. However, they aren't doing their jobs if they are all sitting at the doughnut shop waiting for the dispatcher to call them out.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED to the days when I didn't have to lock up my house or my car in fear of someone robbing me blind? Stealing is a form of terrorism. Let's write to our congressional representatives and tell them we need tougher laws for all acts of terrorism, whether it is domestic or foreign. Let's bring back the death penalty to punish these criminals.

FIRST OF ALL, I leave my headlights on when I'm driving for safety reasons, even though people like you can't see me, and still pull out in front of me.

WHAT A DESPICABLE thing to blame special-needs students for Fenton and Linden's failures to meet AYP standards. Really? Special education students are treated like second-class citizens, and given less than that for an education. Shame on you.

OBAMA IS NOW using government vehicles illegally to campaign and he is pardoning thousands of illegal aliens without congressional approval. More change to come.

IT WOULD ACTUALLY be a good thing if the media would scrutinize Obama as much as Palin. They might have to publish his record as president of the worst situation since the Depression. He has stopped the bleeding, saved GM, ended combat in Iraq, extended unemployment benefits, stabilized the banks, gave tax credits to small business, cut taxes for 90 percent of Americans, and brought justice to bin Laden. Scrutinize that.

I SEE THE MEA has their propaganda machine in full, lying mode in order to punish Scott for having the guts to stand up to them. Sniff, sniff, something stinks — it must be all the BS they are throwing around.

HERE'S THE QUESTION for TEA Party members, what president said deficits don't matter, as he submitted eight budgets, none of which were balanced? None other than Ronald Reagan. Who were the only two presidents to balance the budgets since the '50s? LBJ and Clinton. Republican administrations always ran up the debt. Why would anyone support the GOP? TEA Party members are supporting the wrong side.

SOCIAL SECURITY IS funded by its own, separate, payroll deductions — it's not part of the federal budget, it has a surplus, and does not cause the deficit. So what does the GOP propose during the budget negotiations? Cut Social Security, that's what. Why would any logical person, especially on Social Security, support the party that falsely blames the best government program ever created, for the deficit?

Angry Holly residents look for answers

► Frustration mounts over high water/sewer bills

By Tim Jagielo

tjagiolo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Holly — Many residents spoke their mind at the Holly Village Council meeting on Tuesday. Questions about the new water and sewer rates kept coming up during public comment, until the council started providing answers.

For the quarterly July water and sewer bill, residents saw their bill increase by $48, regardless of the amount used.

This base rate was decided after lengthy discussion by the council and a public forum earlier this spring. The rate increase was set in place to pay for water and sewer system operations, and bond repayment.

Residents also said that the water rate increase would not only discourage people from moving in, but also cause current residents to sell their homes and move away. "I think we're going to see the affects very drastically," said resident Lenore Johnston.

"Where we are is where we are, unfortunately," said Jeff Miller, village council president. He said that rates should have been raised incrementally through the years, blaming the councils of the past.

Resident Larry Lilly wasn't satisfied with his answer, and demanded a public forum to explain where the bond money went. "Where'd that money go? It didn't help me any," he said.

George Kullis took to the podium to remind Lilly, and the rest of the audience, that public forums had already occurred, and the bonds were taken out to cover an expansion that was supposed to pay for itself, but didn't, as the Pulte subdivision went mostly undeveloped.

"I wasn't even living here, and I know the answers to these questions," he said. "The mistake was we failed to get surety bonds against (Pulte's) performance."

The surety bond Kullis mentioned would have given the village recourse should the Pulte development not eventually cover the cost of the expanded service.

Assistant village attorney Mike Gildner said that attorney Richard Figura recommended a surety bond be taken out, but Pulte would not agree to one.

"I wasn't even living here, and I know the answers to these questions."

More delays for Holly flag project

By Tim Jagielo

tjagiolo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

The Holly Village Council voted 4-2 to take no action on the downtown Holly flag project, spearheaded by council member Jackie Campbell. Council members Campbell and Jason Hughes cast dissenting votes.

The motion was to take no action on the project until Campbell provides drawings illustrating the flag and pole, and a cost breakdown. "If we look at something, we can test drive the idea," said council president Jeff Miller. "I think the idea is great."

Hughes said he would have preferred the council make an official decision on the project, because the delay could cause the flags to go up in the middle of Patriot Week in Holly, which begins on Sept. 11.

Campbell has raised about $1,900 for the American flags and poles by community donations, with a goal of lining all the streets in downtown Holly, starting with Saginaw Street. Campbell said she currently has enough funds for 44 flags.

Council member Sandra Kleven expressed concerns about where the 10-foot fiberglass poles would go, and if they would interfere with ground wires. "We're checking on Miss Dig," said Campbell.

The vote came after discussion on the project, as Campbell described the problems that have caused difficulty, including not being able to use the utility poles downtown to hang the flags. "We didn't expect the glitches," she said.

Council member Pauline Kenner asked if after the information is provided from Campbell, that council hold a special meeting for the flag project to avoid further delays.

"If we look at something, we can test drive the idea. I think the idea is great."

Increasing response time for firefighters is hot topic

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6785

Linden — A proposed policy that would require volunteer firefighters in Linden to respond to a minimum of 30 percent of all yearly incidents was a topic of discussion at the Linden City Council meeting on Monday.

Councilor Ray Culbert did not support the proposed policy, asking how much the city would have to pay if they forced firefighters to volunteer and participate more.

"I support what you're trying to do, but what is the financial implications of this?" Culbert asked. He added that only half of the money paid to the fire department last year involved personnel leaving the station and driving to a location. Culbert is concerned that requiring volunteers to be more active would result in more firefighters sitting around instead of improving services.

"I was astounded," Culbert said about last year's payment of services for the fire department. "Why would I want to pay tax dollars to have people sitting around?"

City Manager Christopher Wren said it is not known how much it would cost the city to mandate more participation from volunteers. He said that there is a concern that the city pays to train volunteers and that some volunteers are only active once or twice a year.

"I look at this proposal as a mandate for volunteers that don't show up," said councilor Ed Ciesielski, who supported the proposal.

Linden Fire Chief Brian Will said that the fire department has received an increase in calls over the past few years and that this policy would ensure more participation from volunteers.

"It's been very few times that we had an overabundance of people," he said.

Culbert said that he would reconsider the proposal once the council is aware how much increasing volunteer participation will cost the city. It will be discussed further at an upcoming meeting.

Summary

► Increasing participation amongst volunteer firefighters in Linden is a concern. Linden City Council may vote to increase minimal response time for firefighters at a future council meeting.

"Why would I want to pay tax dollars to have people sitting around?"

I AM NOT in favor of giving tax breaks to rich people. But I am in favor of tax cuts for businesses (many of which are small and decidedly non-rich) in order to encourage job growth in our state. Let's give employers reasons to stay in this state, and maybe some of those who left will come back.

I JUST CANNOT believe that there will be a Hobby Lobby store practically on top of the Michael's store. Don't you think that is a little too much? Just how many craft items can anyone in this area need or want? There could have been a much better use of that building. It would have been a nice location for a community college. I don't know how that would have been implemented.

VISION THERAPY

Resolve Vision Problems that Interfere with Your Child's Education

School is starting and now is the perfect time to continue to enhance your child's education. Does your child have difficulty reading or comprehending material? Has your child been diagnosed with ADD or ADHD? Fenton Vision Center offers a vision therapy program specifically designed to help resolve visual problems that interfere with reading, learning, and educational instruction. All vision therapy sessions are run on site at Fenton Vision Center Therapy Clinic. For more information regarding vision therapy, see our website at www.fentonvisioncenter.com or call us at 810-629-3070.

“Vision Therapy has been extremely beneficial for our child. He has become self-sufficient in school and at home. Homework is more enjoyable and takes less time. He can focus and concentrate better, and is more productive. His grades have improved significantly, he strives for and is on the honor roll, and teachers have seen an incredible improvement in him as a student.”

- Current Vision Therapy Parent

“Nathan's reading scores have risen three grade levels in a little over a year's time. We have also seen great improvement in things such as math and other areas where tracking was a problem. Nathan also learned about some of his limitations and strategies to help him in school. He enjoyed going to vision therapy because Dr. Alvarado and his associates made everything so much fun! Everyone at Fenton Vision Center made us feel welcome each time we arrived for an appointment. They showed genuine care for Nathan and our entire family.”

I WANT TO know why Argentine Township sends out meeting notices with content that is purposefully vague. Oh, wait a minute. They don't actually want you to attend. If they put it in the letters what they were actually proposing, they'd have a whole angry town to deal with. I know you are fulfilling your legal obligations but how about putting out exactly what you are proposing. Be clear. What are you afraid of?

I KNOW THE Hartland principal in question, along with her husband and kids. Our kids played sports and went to school together. I know her to be a caring, responsible parent who is active in her community. I agree, ignorance is no defense, but you cannot look at one situation and form an opinion. They are two of the nicest people you could meet.

DRIVING IN FENTON has been difficult for many years. The new ordinance allows pedestrians and bicyclists to cross streets wherever and whenever they please. This will slow traffic. It also turns helpless motorists into lawsuit bait. That ordinance is one more reason for me to stay out of Fenton.

I WONDER IF anyone on the Fenton council realizes that there is a school on State Road in Fenton. Looking at all the brush hanging over the road, ready to scrape the busses, and the potholes that would break an axle, I don't think they even realize there's a school there. State Road is a disgusting situation.

THE BUDGET IS like a three-legged stool, it's made up of spending cuts, raising the debt ceiling, and revenue increases. Take away any one of those legs, and the stool will fall. That's why the president fought for a common sense, balanced approach. His opponents wanted to cut two legs from the stool, but did compromise on the debt ceiling issue, leaving one leg short, dooming the stool to collapse.

I HAVE NOTHING against affluence. We certainly don't need or want more poor people. Millionaires are OK, but when you realize it takes one thousand millionaires to make one billionaire, it becomes mind-boggling. How about taxing 100 percent of the billionaires' income exceeding $1 million and using that income to pay down the deficit, rather than cutting needed programs.

THE LAST REPUBLICAN president to balance the budget was Dwight Eisenhower. The first budget surpluses occurred under Clinton. Tax-and-spend Democrats? I don't think so. I was doing great under Clinton and I'd vote for him again.

LIBERAL LOGIC IS a belief in sharing, versus the conservatives' belief in greed. Liberals believe in sharing the work, the rewards, the sacrifices, the responsibilities, the tax burden, the defense, and most of all, the belief in the idea of all people coming together to ensure a safe and prosperous future for all Americans — not just for the wealthy.

THERE IS A restaurant out east that will not seat children under age 6. The ACLU doesn't have a thing to say about it, either. The Fenton area needs an adult-themed restaurant.

I'M IMPRESSED WITH the work done on the corner leading to Ponemah Drive. It looks good, was done quickly and looks well done. Unfortunately, I live off Torrey Beach Drive. Are we next? I hope so.

I COULDN'T HELP but comment on the Hot line about beating Obama. Oh, like the Democrats don't have that on their minds at election time, too. By the way, Obama's approval rating is 26 percent at this time, nowhere near 100 percent.

THERE ARE FOUR other evenings in the week, but the DDA has to pick Wednesday to hold its film series. My husband and I would love to attend these, but some people go to church on Wednesdays.

WHAT I WOULD like to know is why is it a big deal about the trucks down at the lumber yard with weeds around them, when there are two houses down by city hall in Linden that look like a jungle, and also a house one block east on the street that's just as bad?

Fairfield Inn & Suites by Marriott

The Fairfield Inn & Suites opened for business in July. The 80-room complex, at 3125 West Silver Lake Rd., is managed by Amerilodge Hospitality Group out of Rochester Hills.

Fenton Winery and Brewery

Hissong said the owners of the business are applying Tuesday in order to get started on a major expansion of the winery and brewery on North LeRoy Street.

Michigan Eye Institute

The Michigan Eye Institute is celebrating 20 years in business by moving from Adelaide Street to a new 5,300 square foot building on Silver Parkway. The company has broken ground on the new facility and expects to finish this fall.

Cornerstone Building

The biggest project that will change the landscape in downtown Fenton is the proposed $4 million, 30,000-square-foot project called the Cornerstone Building. In July, city officials and the Saab Group announced plans for the three story building at the southeast corner of Silver Lake Road and North LeRoy Street. This building would be the first of three phases. Two more structures that are similar are forthcoming. The Saab Group is buying the property from the city for $1, with expectations of generating $116,000 per year in tax revenue for the city. The city had purchased the property in December of 2010 for $325,000. City Manager Lynn Markland said Monday that the deal is not finalized yet, however, everything is going well and in the right direction. The first floor will include retail, restaurants, the second floor will include office space, and the third floor will be residential units. Parking will be behind the building, including the area of the vacant Republic bank. The bank building would be demolished with the project. Ghassan Saab, his sister Elisabeth Saab and their father Khalil Saab, of Fenton, along with real estate consultant Jerry Mansour, of Fenton, Stephen Auger and Associates, of Lake Orion, and the Fenton Downtown Development Authority are working together to develop the corridor to expand Dibbleville. If all goes well, construction should begin in the spring of 2012. As many as 200 trade workers could be employed. Ghassan Saab said that since the press conference there have been numerous talks with potential tenants. "We do have some commitments, but we can't release their names yet," he said. He added that they have also been talking with banks on proper loans. Saab and his partners are excited with the number of commercial and retail businesses interested in the property. "We're making progress," he said. They still have second floor office space and first floor retail space available that they would like to see commitments on. He does not anticipate any issues with renting out the third-floor apartments, as they believe there is a strong rental market in the area. Anyone interested in space at the Cornerstone Building is advised to call Jerry Mansour's office at (810) 232-1400.

Downtown parking

Markland said preliminary studies have indicated that there is ample parking in the downtown area as Fenton moves forward with several projects. There are 375 to 421 parking spaces available within a 500-foot radius, which includes 246 off-street spots and some on-street spaces.

The old Topps fruit market location

The Freedom Center has plans for a community meeting place on the site of the old Topps fruit market in downtown Fenton, off West Caroline Street. Hissong said the church has a purchase agreement with the owner but is holding off for now until the construction is well underway at the church's main campus on Shiawassee Avenue. Jim Weigant, senior pastor of The Freedom Center said within the next two years, the church hopes to break ground on their downtown facility. The church currently has a purchase agreement on the property, but does not own it. Plans are drawn and when the $4.3 million project at the church's main campus is near completion, they will have the city review the next phase of their plans. The downtown facility will be called, "The Bridge," said Weigant. The 38,000-square-foot building will house, among other things, a 7,000-square-foot indoor playscape, featuring rock climbing and a foam pit. The facility will also feature a fitness center, offices, counseling centers, medical clinic, a 300-seat auditorium and a full-service coffee shop. Weigant said they would have an outdoor fire pit near the river and kayak rentals for families to enjoy. The church intends to have a place that will draw families and visitors to downtown on a regular basis.

Fenton Community & Cultural Center

Lindhout Associates Architects of Brighton is working with the DDA to upgrade the building. The Community Center Restoration Committee has been developing a multi-phase plan. The first phase of the project is to develop the service core area that provides both a gateway to the building and handicapped accessibility. Markland said the city has been meeting with the architect as options are being prepared for the elevation of the south side of the building where the elevator is to be located. The city will be using $62,000 in Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) money for the elevator.

Rex Todd Rogers Design Studio

The DDA leased a two-story house at 106 West Shiawassee Ave. to Rex T. Rogers in May for $1 per year. Rogers will use the building for his high-end interior design studio, across the street from The French Laundry. The DDA had purchased the building in 2008, with the intention of tearing it down to make way for development.

First Presbyterian Church of Fenton

This past spring, the First Presbyterian Church of Fenton began a $1.6 million expansion and renovation project. The renovation is improving and expanding areas important to the programs of the church, including increased space for fellowship and youth activities. The major focus of this renovation has been the relocation and expansion of the fellowship hall, including a modern kitchen, an enlarged narthex-gathering space, consolidation of the offices, a new entrance and the addition of a second youth room. Senior pastor Dale Swihart said, "We believe that this renovated building will be a blessing to both our congregation and the whole Fenton community." It is expected to be finished by early December.

Planet Fitness

Hissong said there are plans of a health and fitness club, Planet Fitness, moving into the large space next to Goodwill on Owen Road.

Crust

The owners of The French Laundry are transforming 104 W. Caroline St. into a baking company, called Crust. The shop will feature small batch, hand-crafted baked goods. Hissong said the building permit has been issued for the bakery and construction is underway.

Michigan Brewing Co.

Just south of the future Cornerstone Building is the site of the future Michigan Brewing Co. restaurant. The owners received the keys in March after finalizing a deal with the DDA, which includes a seven-year lease at $1 per year. At the end of the lease, the owners will have the option of buying it for $1. The DDA also was expected to provide 33 percent of the project cost, up to $400,000. The owners have applied for a small winemaker, microbrewery and small distillery license. Favorable reports from the city and police department will most likely result in the restaurant obtaining its requested liquor licenses. The Fenton United Methodist Church, across the street from the building, initially filed an objection to the liquor license request; however, it later withdrew the objection. Hissong said the owners are renovating the building in phases, with the first being the interior. Owners have submitted their site plans and the administration is reviewing those plans. Hissong expects to see architectural drawings soon. The restaurant would then pull demolition and renovation permits to get started. Exterior patios would be done in the next phase. Hissong said a retaining wall, with fencing are being worked out so that it would coordinate with the city's streetscape plans.

Fenton House

The owner of The Fenton House restaurant, Kenny Nevells is investing $264,000 in an expansion project at the restaurant. The restaurant will also be using a $37,500 grant from the DDA to improve the building's façade.

"Right now the hottest things we have are our tutus," said store manager Marisa Suarez. "We can custom make the tutus for Chihuahuas to St. Bernards."

Suarez said that the demand for the tutus is so great that Barking Babes sells 10 to 12 of them per week. The tutus are one of the store's specialties and are sewn right in town by two local seamstresses. At last week's Back to the Brick's event in Fenton, the store sold out their entire inventory of tutus in a single day. The tutus sell for $28 and up.

Male dogs aren't left out of the dress up craze either. Shorts are hot commodities too and can be customized for a holiday, sports team or by color. Suarez said dog owners dress their pets up for events, holidays and parties. The shorts sell for $16.

Also popular is the toy Water Cruncher, where owners can put an empty bottle into a cloth covering and let their dog chew it up, without having to worry about injury.

Food for our canine companions is changing too, with some people feeding their dogs healthier and better tasting dishes. The food is so good that even people are eating it.

"All of the food I make here, I have no problem eating it," said Canine Kitchen owner Brandy Dollinger. Canine Kitchen creates homemade dog food using ground beef, chicken, carrots, brown rice and other foods that are mostly associated with owners and not their pets.

"My philosophy is, if commercial dog food is supposed to be good for your dog, why does it smell so bad?" Dollinger said.

"We can custom make the tutus for Chihuahuas to St. Bernards."

Marisa Suarez
Store manager of Barking Babes

Dollinger said the most popular treat she sells is her bacon and peanut butter treat. Dollinger creates her treats season by season, changing from bacon and blueberry in the summer to bacon and pumpkin in the fall.

Dollinger also creates food for dogs on a diet mandated by a veterinarian, such as a gluten-free or wheat-free diet. For wet food, customers can expect to pay $1.75 a cup. For dry food, it is $.99 a cup.

If anyone ever told Dollinger that she treats dogs like a human, she would agree.

"I tell people that dogs are a lot like kids. If you have a newborn baby eating ice cream everyday, how healthy do you think it will be when it's 5?"

DID YOU KNOW

While dogs in America may be wearing tutus, pet owners in China are dyeing their dogs to look like other animals such as pandas and tigers. The China based- television network CNTV reports that most owners dye their pets after rare, endangered species. Veterinarians have told owners that bad dyes and fumes can lead to an unhealthy pet.

NOT SURE WHERE you were working and making only $70 per week, but I was working and making $200 a week at a local dealership, and I graduated from Fenton High School in 1975. SCOTTContinued from Front Page

The signatures are considered a preliminary canvass of the petition filed with the Secretary of State on Aug. 5. Scott has until Sept. 9 to challenge the validity of the signatures.

If approved, the recall would be added to the ballot this November in Fenton and Linden. Fenton and Argentine townships are not holding an election and would have to hold an unscheduled election if the signatures are approved. If Scott is voted out of office in November, another election will be held on Feb. 28.

State Senator John Gleason said that he supports recalling Scott. "As an elected official, you have a higher level of responsibility. From the activities in his district, he has been more than abusive," Gleason said that Scott sought support from organizations with traditional family values and acts contrary to his supporters' beliefs. "He lied to who he sought his endorsement from, and therefore lied to the general public."

As chairperson of the House of Education Committee, Scott has met opposition from the Michigan Education Association on teacher reform laws in Michigan.

Gleason believes that recall efforts are too easy however, and is currently working with other legislators on changing recall requirements and laws. Gleason

"The preliminary canvass is not a final determination. Scott still has the ability to challenge the signatures."

Fred Woodhams*Michigan Department of State*

hopes that recalls in the future will require more signatures from voters in a district. "I'm generally against recall efforts, but Scott is a special circumstance," Gleason said. "We do have legislation changing recall laws and we're trying to get it moving."

Spokesperson for the Michigan Department of the State, Fred Woodhams, said that although the Bureau of Elections found a significant number of signatures, an official recall election has not been announced.

"The preliminary canvass is not a final determination," Woodhams said. "Scott still has the ability to challenge the signatures."

Scott said that he will continue to do his job and not focus on the recall effort. "As I've always said, the state wide special interest groups have unfortunately put Snyder and our community into this," he said. "The way the laws are constructed, people have the right to recall elections. I'm just going to stay focused and do the job I was elected for eight months ago."

LOUD MUSIC AT BUSH PARK

At 6:40 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 23, a Fenton police officer was sent to Bush Park to investigate a complaint of very loud music being played in a Chevy Avalanche, parked in the lot. Upon arrival, the officer heard the loud music and made contact with the occupants of the vehicle. An 18-year-old Fenton Township male was the driver and a 19-year-old Rose Township male was a passenger. While speaking with the teens, the officer detected the odor of intoxicants. The driver registered .115 on the preliminary breath test and the passenger registered .05. Both were issued tickets for Under 21 Consumption. The driver was issued a municipal infraction for the noise violation and has 10 days to pay the $250 fine or fight the ticket in court.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG

At 5:30 p.m. on Aug. 22, Fenton police were sent to Dauner Road, east of LeRoy Street to investigate a dog bite complaint. A 24-year-old Fenton woman reported that her 7-year-old son, who was playing at a playground near their home, had been bitten by an Australian Shepherd. She said an 11-year-old girl was walking the dog and she had warned the boy to stay away from the dog. Lt. Jason Slater said the boy didn't listen to the girl and approached the dog, which subsequently bit him in the face, ribs and arm. Animal Control was contacted and the dog has been put in isolation. The boy's father took the boy to the hospital for medical treatment. The owner of the dog, a 31-year-old Fenton woman, was cited for not having control of a female dog in heat, having no dog license and for keeping a vicious dog. The dog owner told police she intends to have the dog euthanized after the isolation period.

Linden, whose son, Austin, received scholarships through Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) to attend Southern Illinois University (SIU). Austin was also sought for wrestling by his college of choice, SIU, who offered in-state tuition rates, making the ROTC money go even further. In the end, his son had to pay only a few thousand out of pocket.

Even if Austin had to pay back student loans, he would still support going to college. "I think it's the price of admission to get into jobs nowadays," he said. "If you want to pursue a professional career, you have to have a four-year degree. It's pretty much mandatory, now."

Marty thinks it will be worth it, especially since his son probably wants to be a career army officer, and could eventually teach. Not only does Marty think that a four-year degree is necessary, he also thinks it should be done right out of high school. "It's much easier to do when getting out of high school, before a family," he said.

And he leads by example. Marty recently finished a master's degree in business administration (MBA), paid for by his employer, General Motors. His education was delayed during the company's bankruptcy. His MBA was required for his job, so Marty was glad to not have to pay tuition. He has recently enrolled into another master's program for theology.

"I also think it's a good message to your kids," he said. Even with a family, a degree at any age is worth it.

"I'm not going to let money bother me. I'll pay it back when I have to, but I'm not going to worry about it now."

Emily Hoisington
college student

Emily Hoisington, 20, of Fenton, is heading to school at Grand Valley State University (GVSU). Her financial situation, like many students, makes her nervous. She was thrifty, and took out what she thought was the absolute minimum she could live on in loans. Unlike last year, she might get a job to help supplement her loans. "There are jobs out there, but you have to be willing to look for them and look for them," she said.

She also doesn't like that there are fewer grants, making her take out more loans. "Paying loans make me nervous," she said. Hoisington does have need-based grants for her sophomore year.

To save money, she lives off campus, and buys her own groceries instead of using the school food plan. She also budgets her money carefully, and puts a little aside for fun.

Hoisington expects to have to pay back around $30,000 after her schooling is completed, which is as much as she could hope to make as a social worker per year when she graduates.

She also made a conscious decision to pursue a four-year degree instead of going to a less expensive community college and transferring credits. "If they're trying to save, I probably would go to a community college first," she said.

The four-year degree is more about the experience. She loves the GVSU campus near Lake Michigan, and having a chance to strike out on her own with peers her own age. To her, it's worth the extra money.

For high school seniors thinking about going to college, Hoisington suggests shrugging off the pressure from friends and family and to focus on what they actually want to do. "I feel like in high school, there's a lot of pressure to decide where to go, what to do," she said. "It's hard."

Despite the pressure and debt she is taking on, school is still exciting for Hoisington. "I appreciate this opportunity to learn," she said. "I'm not going to let money bother me. I'll pay it back when I have to, but I'm not going to worry about it now."

The fiscal and economic implications of the proposed amendment are limited to the temporary shifting of tax revenue generated by the 10.6226 mills, in an amount not to exceed $200,000.00, from the LDFA to the City of Fenton.

LOSE WEIGHT

People commonly make New Year's resolutions to eat healthier, quit smoking, lose weight etc., but why wait until the first of the year to make a few simple changes.

Dr. Deborah Duncan, of the Center for Medical Weight Loss in Fenton, works with patients daily to help them achieve their goal of losing weight and managing a healthier lifestyle. The simplest way to eat less is by eating slower, she said. Put down the fork between bites and concentrate on what you're eating. Once the food is chewed and swallowed, pick up the fork to take another bite. "This helps to tell the brain when you're full," Duncan said. "You eat less."

Add healthy items to menu

Nobody likes to be told they can no longer eat the food, oftentimes the fattening food, that they love. Rather than denying yourself, try adding healthy foods, you also love, such as cherries, grapes or apple slices, according to WebMD.com. Small pieces of fruit can spruce up a bowl of cereal and extra vegetables can easily be added to soups, stews and sauces.

By adding healthier choices to what is eaten in a day, there will be less temptation to munch on the more fattening items. Keep an eye on calories too.

Get active

If the word "workout" scares you, replace it with the phrase, "activity I love doing," so that you will be more likely to do it on a regular basis.

Those looking to burn a few calories and tone muscles can do so by riding bikes with a friend or family member, reading a few chapters of a favorite book while using the elliptical machine, taking a walk, playing Frisbee with the kids, playing catch with the dog, tending to the flower bed, shooting a few hoops with the kids or cleaning to upbeat music.

Walk more

Walking whenever possible is a great way to burn a few calories. Although it might take a bit longer, try walking behind a push mower rather than sitting on a riding lawn mower, or parking as far as you can from the store's front door.

Sweep the driveway and sidewalk rather than using the leaf blower or take a short walk with coworkers before eating lunch. Take stairs rather than the elevator. Walk around the entire department store or mall before shopping for specific items.

Lighten up

Switch to lower calorie versions of sauces, cheeses, ice creams, beer, and pop to cut down on the amount of calories. Dun-

Grams of fiber in popular food items

1 cup raspberries	8 grams
1 medium size apple	4.4 grams
1 cup cooked, whole-wheat spaghetti	6.2 grams
1 cup cooked split peas	16.3 grams
1 medium cooked artichoke	10.3 grams
1 cup cooked peas	8.8 grams

can said salads could have so many hidden calories in them, especially when topped with cheese, dressings, olives and deli meats.

Some of her patients have lost weight simply by drinking fewer beers and cocktails, which contain empty calories, but add to caloric intake.

Add more fiber

According to the Mayo Clinic, fiber, along with adequate fluid intake, moves quickly and relatively easily through your digestive tract and helps it function properly. Women should try to eat at least 21 to 25 grams of fiber a day, while men should aim for 30 to 38 grams a day (see sidebar).

Duncan said foods high in fiber and protein make a person feel fuller longer. "Avoid the white foods, rice, potatoes, sugar and flour," she said. These make people feel hungrier more quickly.

Drink more water

Drinking a glass of water before a meal will make a person feel fuller. Try adding water or a no-calorie drink at snack time and if you're heading out to a social activity, keep a no-calorie drink in one hand so that you'll be less tempted to grab a cocktail or beer, laden with calories.

Share a meal

With the large portions that some restaurants serve, one way to cut down on calories is by sharing the meal. Duncan said to cut calories, people should eat smaller portions. Practice this at home by leaving at least one bite of food on the dinner plate. "Don't eat the whole thing," she said. At restaurants, where portions are "huge," she suggests people tell their server, right at the beginning, to put half of the serving in a box to take home. Rather than ordering the dinner entrée, try ordering just an appetizer.

Eat at the dining room table

Not only is television distracting to a good conversation between friends and family members, it can cause people to lose track of how much they are eating. Set up a pleasant place setting, with real plates and silverware and focus on enjoying the prepared meal — each bite at a time.

"This helps to tell the brain when you're full. You eat less."

HOLLY POLICE CHIEF BRIEFING

Holly Police Chief Elena Danishevskaya addressed the Holly Village Council at its meeting on Tuesday, discussing the rash of larcenies from autos that have been occurring in Holly. She urged residents to report any suspicious people, and to tell friends and neighbors about the crimes, and also to lock their vehicles.

COUNCIL APPROVES FUNDS FOR PUMP REPAIR

Department of Public Works Director Brian Klaasen requested the Holly Village Council approve spending up to $13,545 for a water plant pump repair. The pump in question is five years old, and may need repairs, but first must be pulled out and examined due to abnormal output readings. The council approved the request in a unanimous vote.

YOUR SMILE MATTERS!

By: Dr. Steven Sulfaro

DENTURE RELINES

Dentures help to restore esthetics and function of the smile when teeth are lost due to dental disease or trauma. An estimated 20% of the U.S. population are denture wearers. A new, well-made set of dentures should perform well and give the patient little if any trouble. The dentures should fit snugly and comfortably and look natural. As time passes, changes happen to the jaws especially to the residual ridges. As I stated in my previous article, the edentulous ridges naturally resorb (shrink) over time. The more the jaws change, the less accurately the dentures fit. Instead of a nice snug fit, the dentures become more and more loose and unstable. The dentures become more difficult to retain and more uncomfortable to wear. In these situations a denture reline may be the answer. Like retreading of older tires, relines can provide new life to older dentures at low cost. There are basically two types of denture relines. An in-office denture reline is performed while the patient is in the office. The biggest advantage is that the patient does not have to leave the dentures and go with out. The second type of denture reline is a laboratory reline. In a laboratory reline an impression is made and the denture sent to an outside dental laboratory. The denture is returned either later the same day or early the next day. Laboratory relines are stronger, provide better fit, and last longer than in-office denture relines but require the patient to leave the dentures and return for a second appointment. If you are suffering with your dentures no fitting well, talk to your dentist about the possibility of a denture reline.

Canning recipes

Christy Rivette, Michigan State University Extension educator, advises those who are new to canning to start out with a tested recipe from a professional source, rather than 'grandma's' recipe. Kids of all ages will love this delicious homemade applesauce for breakfast, lunch, or dinner. Mix sweet and tart apples for a unique flavor.

Applesauce

Makes eight (16 oz.) pints

INGREDIENTS:

- 12 lbs. apples, peeled, cored, quartered, treated to prevent browning and drained (about 36 medium)
- Water
- 3 c. granulated sugar, optional
- 4 T. lemon juice
- 8 (16 oz.) pint glass jars with lids and bands

DIRECTIONS:

Prepare boiling water canner. Heat jars and lids in simmering water until ready for use. Do not boil.

See RECIPES on 6B

Canning tips

"I advise people to start out slowly, maybe freezing foods first, then moving onto the water bath process, then pressure canning," said Christy Rivette, extension educator for Genesee, Saginaw and Shiawassee counties. "We can e-mail you with information or you can pick up printed materials giving step-by-step instructions."

MSU Extension also provides food safety classes and food preservation classes, with many of the classes offered during the growing season. There is a class on food preservation basics on Thursday, Sept. 15, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the MSU Extension, Saginaw office. For more information, contact Rivette at (810) 244-8500.

The MSU Extension Office in Flint is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., and Wednesday until 5 p.m.

Proper push-ups

Push-ups are, hands down, one of the best full-body toners — the basic move works your abs, arms, and chest. Medical experts suggest to easily master full push-ups, start in a more vertical position, working your way down to the floor as you master the form. When you can do 5 reps with good form (body in line from head to feet), move to the next step.

Can't stand the rain? Moods really are tied to the weather

According to popular belief, there's long been a link between mood and weather. Some of us can't stand the rain. Others aren't happy unless we can feel the warm glow of sunshine on our shoulders.

But does rain really make us blue? And does the sun really cheer us up? A new study in the journal Emotion explored this popular belief by surveying nearly 500 adolescents and their mothers and found that for some of us, weather does indeed have a direct affect on our mood.

“We identified a group of ‘Summer Lovers,’ who were happier, less fearful and less angry on days with more sunshine and higher temperatures and less happy and more anxious and angry on days with more hours of precipitation,” says Dr. Tom Frijns, a psychologist at Utrecht University in the Netherlands and co-author of the study.

Frijns and his colleagues also identified a group of so-called “Summer Haters,” who were less happy and more fearful and angry when the temperature and the percentage of sunshine were higher and happier and less fearful and angry with more hours of precipitation.

Summer Lovers comprised 17 percent of the group of adolescents, while Summer Haters weighed in at 27 percent. Rain Haters made up 9 percent of the group with the rest of the test subjects falling into a group they labeled Unaffected, i.e., neither rain nor snow nor sleet nor sun seemed to affect the mood of this group of potential postal workers.

Interestingly enough, the study also found evidence that “weather reactivity” runs in families.

“Summer Loving mothers more often had children who were also classified as Summer Lovers than would have been expected by chance,” he says. “Similarly, the observed frequency of Rain Hating mothers with a Rain Hating child was twice as high as the expected frequency on the basis of chance.”

Children's diet book draws criticism

When Maggie looks into the mirror she sees a thin girl holding up a small pink dress. But in reality, Maggie is a chubby young girl who is troubled by her weight.

That's a description of what is seen on the cover of an upcoming children's book titled Maggie Goes On A Diet, written by Paul Michael Kramer. The book is set to come out on Oct. 16, but has been getting much criticism from parents, pediatricians and nutritionists.

Online bookstore Amazon describes the book as being “about a 14-year-old girl who goes on a diet and is transformed from being extremely overweight and insecure to a normal sized girl who becomes the school soccer star. Through time, exercise and hard work, Maggie becomes more and more confident and develops a positive self image.”

Role models like Maggie can perpetuate the idea that “if you don't look like Cinderella, you're a failure,” Ikeda said. “I wouldn't want a child to read this because they might, in fact, try to do this and fail. What is that going to do to their self-esteem?”

Simple ways to cut 500 calories

At Breakfast

Make a trade. Swap your bagel for an English muffin to slash 220 calories, a glass of whole milk for skim to save 70 calories, and a three-egg omelet for one egg and two egg whites, or pork sausage for turkey sausage to cut about 125 calories each.

At Lunch

Move on your lunch hour. “A brisk 15-minute walk burns about 100 calories, and it gives you less time to eat,” says Marjorie Nolan, RD, CND, CPT and national spokesperson for the American Dietetic Association. Walk during your lunch for five days and burn 500 extra calories.

At Dinner

Downsize your plates. Rather than depriving yourself of food to drop pounds. “People eat as much as is on their dish rather than the amount that their body actually needs,” says Jacob Teitelbaum, MD, author of Beat Sugar Addiction Now! “If you shrink the size of your dishes by a quarter, you'll cut 500 calories without feeling deprived.”

Dining Out

Leave something on your plate. Restaurant dishes are up to 250 percent larger than a normal portion size, so simply leaving a quarter of the meal on your plate can save up to 500 calories. Leaving a few bites of any potato or noodle dish cuts up to 100 calories alone because they almost always have added butter, oils or other fats, says Susan Kleiner, RD, PhD, co-author of The Good Mood Diet.

Eating Dessert

Make over your sweets. You won't miss belt-busting peach cobbler or banana splits if you have other good-for-you options to choose from. Save up to 400 calories by making grilled fruit kebabs: Slice one peach and one small banana into quarters, thread four pieces fruit each onto two skewers, and brush with one tbsphoney each. Grill each side for about 4 minutes, or until flesh is tender but still firm. Sprinkle on cinnamon.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Tina Ritchie, of Fenton, started canning about 15 years ago. Her favorite canned item to give away is peaches. "It's a sense of joy, and I know I'm feeding myself and my family good food," she said.

CANNING

with peaches, then moved on to pickles and relish," recalls Ritchie. "When our church secretary gave me a bunch of green beans about eight years ago, I knew I had to pressure can them on my own. That was it. After that, I was hooked."

Today, she and her husband, Carey, have their own large garden, and she cans and preserves everything that she grows, except for her own peaches. "Even though we don't grow our own peaches, they're my favorite thing to can because the color is so vibrant, and the taste of a freshly canned peach is like nothing you'd ever get from a store," said Ritchie. "It's so much fun to see other people enjoy them, too."

This year, Ritchie's garden is at least two weeks behind schedule, which means that she's just beginning to think about canning this season. "Typically, I'd have already done green beans, dilly beans, relish, pickles and beets by now," she said. "This year, everything is so late. I've just started with one batch of relish."

Ritchie's farmhouse kitchen boasts a huge pantry filled with colorful jars of peaches, dilly beans, beets, tomatoes, pickles, corn, grape juice and more, but this time of year, the shelves are getting bare as she awaits the onslaught of fresh produce to can and preserve. She still has pickles left from last year's season, so she doesn't plan to can them this year. "Even though I know it's safe to keep canned foods for long periods of time, I try to use everything up within two years," said Ritchie. "That's the timetable I'm most comfortable with."

She estimates she saves thousands of dollars a year on food costs and her family eats healthier because of her passion for canning. "Even if I use the most expensive, organic sugar and vinegar, it costs about 30 cents a quart for pickles, compared to several dollars per quart if you bought them at the store," said Ritchie. "My grocery bill for our family of four is only about $200 per month."

Of course, that estimate doesn't include the cost of Ritchie's time. With her flexible schedule as a church secretary and house cleaner on the side, she carves enough time into her late summer schedule to accommodate the demanding needs of her garden this time of year.

She spends a full eight-hour day canning peaches, another two days canning pears, three days canning tomatoes plus another day for making tomato sauce, spaghetti sauce, etc. Usually, she spends about five days making pickles and relishes, but won't be doing that this year. "I also spend about a day making applesauce and a day making jams," she said.

However, those figures aren't meant to intimidate a person who might like to start canning, and has never done it before. She spends so much time at it because it's something she enjoys and looks at it as time for herself. She suggests that a person interested in trying it for the first time choose a food that they really enjoy and would like to preserve over the winter. "Start out with something you really want to eat," she said. She also suggests that novice canners arm themselves with a good book, like Better Homes & Garden Home Canning Cookbook or The Ball Blue Book. "Contact the Michigan State University (MSU) Extension office, too," said Ritchie. "They are really the experts."

The MSU Extension office for Genesee County is located at 605 N. Saginaw Street, Suite 1A in Flint, telephone (810) 244-8500.

CORRECTION

In the Sunday, Aug. 21 edition, the article about Mueller's Orchard stated Jennifer Mueller's father started the family business. It was her husband Michael's grandfather, Bill Mueller, who started the business, which was then handed down to his son, Charles Mueller, Michael's father.

Featured columnist

By Roger Campbell

The man who gave his way to health

John D. Rockefeller, the wealthiest man of his time, pursued money with a passion. By the time he was 33, he had made his first million. At 43, he controlled the largest business on earth. At 53, he was the only known billionaire in the world. In spite of having all this money, however, he was unhappy — because his money had him.

Once Rockefeller shipped $40,000 worth of grain across Lake Erie without insurance because he thought the $150 premium was too high. That night a vicious storm raged over the lake, endangering his investment. This poor rich man was so concerned about his load of grain that when his partner, George Gardner, arrived at their office in the morning, he found John D. anxiously pacing the floor.

Immediately, Gardner went out to buy insurance on the jeopardized cargo, if possible, while Rockefeller continued his pacing and fretting. Though successful in getting the grain insured, when Gardner returned to the office he found his partner in an even worse state of mind. In his absence, a telegram had arrived announcing the ship had made its destination safely. Rockefeller was now so upset over having wasted the money on the insurance premium he had to go home and spend the day in bed.

At the age of 53 and a billionaire, Rockefeller was described by writer Ida Tarbell as, 'the oldest man that I have ever seen.' His health was so poor that he existed on crackers and milk. His hair, including his eyebrows and eyelashes, had all fallen out.

Most thought he would not live another year. Fortunately, Rockefeller recognized the destructive power money exercised over him in time to save his life.

Seeing his only hope of freedom as a reversal of his past, this wealthy man began giving away dollars — millions of them. This change from getting to giving worked a miracle in John D. Rockefeller's life. His inner struggles began to subside.

In trading his self-seeking attitude for one of service to others, Rockefeller became healthy and happy. By losing his life, he found it.

The man who was thought to be near the end of his life at 53 lived to the ripe old age of 98 and finally died having accomplished more by giving than would have been possible had he chosen to keep his wealth to himself.

Most of us have trouble identifying with the money blues of a wealthy man like John D. Rockefeller. We chuckle at the thought of a millionaire pacing the floor and worrying about a cargo of grain when an insurance premium smaller than those we pay on our automobiles would have taken care of the risk. But we understand the anxieties and pressures money problems can create. We know about the knotting up within that can come when bills are overdue and we don't know how to pay them.

Here are a few suggestions for untying those knots.

Remember, our Heavenly Father owns all wealth. He loves you and your financial crisis has not taken Him by surprise. While you don't have Rockefeller's millions, you are probably able to give something to someone whose need is greater than your own and your selfless act of faith will change your cycle of despair.

Set bands aside. Combine apples with just enough water to prevent sticking in a large stainless steel saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Reduce heat and boil gently, stirring occasionally, for 5 to 20 minutes, until apples are tender. Remove from heat and let cool slightly, about 5 minutes. Transfer apples, working in batches, to a food mill or a food processor fitted with a metal blade and purée until smooth. Return apple purée to saucepan. Add sugar, if using, and lemon juice. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Maintain a gentle boil over low heat while filling jars. Ladle hot applesauce into hot jars, leaving ½-inch headspace. Remove air bubbles. Wipe rim. Center lid on jar. Apply band until fit is fingertip tight. Process jars in a boiling water canner for 20 minutes, adjusting for altitude. Remove jars and cool. Check lids for seal after 24 hours. Lid should not flex up and down when center is pressed.

Note: To treat apple slices to prevent browning, apply a fruit fresh protector, or submerge cut apples in a mixture of 1/4 cup lemon juice and 4 cups water.

Tomato Paste Salsa

Yields 7 to 9 pints

INGREDIENTS:

- 3 quarts peeled, cored, chopped slicing tomatoes
- 3 cups chopped onions
- 6 jalapeno peppers, seeded, finely chopped (use gloves)
- 4 long green chilies, seeded, chopped
- 4 cloves garlic
- 2 (12 oz.) cans tomato paste
- 2 cups bottled lemon or lime juice
- 1 T. salt
- 1 T. sugar
- 1 T. ground cumin (optional)
- 2 T. oregano leaves (optional)
- 1 t. black pepper

DIRECTIONS:

Wash and rinse canning jars and keep hot until ready to use. Prepare lids as manufacturer's instructions. Combine all ingredients in a large saucepan and heat, stirring frequently, until mixture boils. Reduce heat and simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Ladle into clean, hot jars, leaving half-inch headspace. Remove air bubbles. Wipe rims with damp, clean paper towels. Apply two-piece metal lids. Process in boiling water canner for 20 minutes.

Note: Do not alter the proportion of vegetables to acid and tomatoes as it may make salsa unsafe. Do not substitute vinegar for lemon juice.

TIP: Be sure to acidify your tomatoes when you can them. Over the years, tomatoes have become less acidic. They are considered borderline for products you can preserve in a water-bath canner versus a pressure canner. If you add 1 tablespoon of bottled lemon juice to pint jars or 2 tablespoons to quart jars of tomato products, you can safely can whole tomatoes, juice, crushed tomatoes, etc. The recipe would state this. If it doesn't it's probably an outdated recipe that is unsafe.

Lake Ponemah Marina in Fenton is proud to have earned the "Gold Member" dealer status in 2011 from their supplier, Avalon Pontoons.

"We have been an Avalon Pontoon dealer since 2002, and have earned this award for many years," said Lake Ponemah Marina owners Joe and Dana Ceresia. "We're pleased to have once again earned this status, thanks to a strong sales year at the marina."

The Ceresias credit the quality of the Avalon product, its status as a Michigan product manufactured in Alma, a healthier Michigan economy and a beautiful Michigan summer for the excellent sales of Avalon Pontoon products this year at Lake Ponemah Marina.

"No other pontoon manufacturer has the range of products, from basic features to luxury models," said Joe. "This year,

Avalon has come out with a luxury model that is like nothing else in the marketplace. It features a retro 'deco' design with all new 21st century construction, including an automobile finish, side vents for interior ventilation and heavy-duty aluminum walls.

It's designed for people who want a little bit of luxury with their pontoon."

Lake Ponemah Marina is located at 3506 Silver Lake Rd. in Fenton Township, telephone (810) 750-8443.

Doctor Helps LEGALLY BLIND to Read & Drive!

International Academy of Low Vision Specialists member helps macular degeneration sufferers with reading, driving, TV, & maintaining independence.

By Elena Lombardi, Freelance Writer

Just because you have macular degeneration (or other vision-limiting conditions) doesn't always mean you must give up driving or reading.

Ever look through a pair of field glasses or binoculars? Things look bigger and closer, and easier to see. A Michigan optometrist, Dr. Sheldon Smith, is using miniaturized binoculars or telescopes to help people who have lost vision from macular degeneration, diabetic retinopathy or other eye conditions. "Some of my patients consider me the last stop for people who have vision loss", said Dr. Smith, a low vision optometrist who limits his practice to visually impaired patients in his offices throughout Michigan.

Macular Degeneration is the most common eye disease among seniors. The macula is one small part of the entire retina, but it is the most sensitive. When it degenerates, Macular Degeneration leaves a blindspot right in the center of vision making it impossible to recognize faces, read a book, or pass DMV's vision test.

"In some states, Bioptic

"Our job is to figure out everything and anything possible to keep a person functioning."

Telescopic Glasses can be used to pass the vision test for driving", says Dr. Smith. "This can allow some with conditions like macular degeneration or diabetic retinopathy to continue driving".

"Our job is to figure out everything and anything possible to keep a person functioning," says Dr. Smith. "Whether it's driving, reading, TV, seeing faces, check writing, bingo or bridge. We work with whatever is on the persons "wish list".

With interest free payment options this technology is now more affordable than ever. If you want to experience the freedom and independence that custom designed low vision telescope glasses can bring, call Dr. Smith now, for a free telephone consultation.

Bioptic Telescopic Glasses Help Woman to Keep Driving

Ethel Stroope, who suffers from macular degeneration sought help for reading, watching television and movies and for seeing street signs at a distance. Bioptic telescopic glasses were prescribed. "These Glasses have made it very easy for me to continue my activities both at home and on the road with these glasses." I should have done this two years ago, says Ms. Stroope.

Pets are important part of the family

Dear Paws: I wanted to add my two cents to the question, "Are pets people too?" I believe they are a big part of a family. Animals are smarter than people. Dogs are the only ones who are so happy to see us when we come home! — Anna L. M., Melbourne, Fla.

Dear Anna: You make a good point! I've never seen my dogs mope when I walked in the door; rather, they always are right there to greet me. Pets do enrich our lives, and many of us consider them to be a part of the family.

Dear Paws: I'm pretty sure I wouldn't be alive without my dog "Blake." I'm a senior citizen; my wife passed away three years ago, and most of my children live too far away to visit regularly. Blake sleeps at the side of my bed every night and at exactly 6 a.m. every morning he sits up next to me, licks my face until I'm awake. He's so happy when I get out of bed that he turns in circles nonstop until I get dressed so I can take him out for his morning walk. At my last checkup, my doctor said those morning walks are helping keep my blood pressure under control and I seem in good spirits. I do enjoy taking care of Blake and he's the one who kept me going after my wife passed. Blake is family to me and no one can tell me different. Sign me — Stubborn Old Bob in Palmyra, N.Y.

Dear Bob: That's telling 'em! Thank you for telling your story. It sounds like Blake is taking care of you as much as you take care of him.

Whines on Facebook are cringe-worthy

DEAR AMY: My daughter-in-law "Wendy" uses Facebook to complain. Her entries focus on how much she hates her job, her boss, how much she feels cheated by being a working mother, and even a post or two about the shortcomings of her new husband (my son), who apparently failed to buy her a lavish enough Mother's Day present. These posts create a kind of online persona that makes her seem almost vicious, and she really isn't that way. At least I never thought so before. But the really embarrassing part is that she is Facebook "friends" with everyone in my family, and believe me, her posts are a topic of not-too-flattering gossip, along with some outright concern. My son is not on Facebook. I have mentioned to him a few times when her posts have become offensive, and he is trying to deal with it offline. Should I offer to have a talk with my daughter-in-law? Or just hope my son figures this out?

— Concerned Mother-in-law

DEAR CONCERNED: When your daughter-in-law posts her complaints, selfishness or negativity on the public bulletin board that is Facebook, she runs the risk of ruining her personal and professional reputation. And that's her business. When her whining veers into family territory, that's your business. You can assume that because her public online persona is unpleasant, your son is aware of her unpleasantness in the private, personal arena. A gentle and respectful "heads-up" (to her) is in order -- and then you should back off, adjust your settings (both metaphorically and on Facebook) and stop reading her posts. You can say to her, "I'm worried about some of your postings, especially when you write negative things about family members. It can create some hurt feelings, and I'm sure that's not your intent."

DEAR AMY: "Peace-loving Parents" wrote to you saying they do not want violent video games in their home. They are not alone! I never let my son purchase or rent a violent video game when he was younger (he is now 18). Parents should look at the purchase of these games as an extension of your family values. These games are guests in your home and playmates to your children. Would you let someone into your home who wanted to play with your children using a baseball glove or a guitar? I would imagine so. But would you let your child pick up a gun and shoot up the neighborhood with his new playmate? Obviously not. Parents should be willing to be "the bad guy" in this scenario. I have no regrets. We have remained close as a family, and as our son starts his first year of college he has outgrown playing video games almost entirely.

— Terp Mom in Maryland

DEAR MOM: Your son will find that this issue does not stop at the campus gates. He will find that many of his colleagues are hooked on these games.

ANSWER KEY LOCATED IN THIS EDITION

PAUL G. DONOHUE, M.D.

To your good health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have sleep apnea. Before being treated by a sleep specialist, I was very sleepy during the day and had no energy. My specialist prescribed a mask that pumps air into my nose. It helps somewhat. Later a friend told me about Provigil. It makes me feel much better, but I am not 100 percent. What else could help me? — J.K.

ANSWER: "Apnea" is Greek for "no breathing." Sleep apnea is periods during sleep when a person stops breathing for 10 or more seconds. There can be five to 30 or more such spells every hour. Quite often, an apneic period is preceded by snoring that gets progressively louder and louder. At the end of the no-breathing episode, the person grunts and half-wakens and then starts breathing again. This fragments sleep and leaves the person sleepy and without energy the next day. The problem lies in a narrowed passageway for air as it travels through the throat en route to the lungs. Redundant throat tissue blocks the natural airflow. Weight loss is one way to get rid of excess throat tissue, if one is overweight. Don't drink any alcohol from the evening meal on, because it relaxes throat tissue. The mask you wear is called CPAP (continuous positive airway pressure). It delivers air under pressure so it can pass through the obstruction in the throat. Don't abandon it. You can ask your dentist about fashioning a device that keeps the jaw forward during sleep. That opens the throat too. Stick with your Provigil, since it's working for you. There are a number of surgical procedures that can pare excess tissue from the back of the throat. And there is a new remedy called the Pillar Palatal Implant System. It consists of three small, plastic rods inserted into the back part of the upper palate to keep it propped up. For some, a droopy palate obstructs airflow. Since you're doing pretty well with the way things are going now, you might not want to upset things with any more treatment.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him or request an order form of available health newsletters at P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.

Fenton Tigers win season opener at Lapeer West, 24-16

By Al Zipsie

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lapeer — It was a tale of two halves in the Metro League and season opener for Fenton and Lapeer West Friday.

The Tigers dominated the first half and everything went their way, as they took a 24-0 halftime lead over the Panthers, eventually resulting in a 24-16 victory.

"We took advantage of their mistakes in the first half and they scored on ours in the second half. At the end of the night we scored more points," said Fenton coach Jeff Setzke. "Getting the win is the main thing. Our defense has some good key players back and was pretty solid."

The Panthers had the ball twice in the final quarter with a chance to tie the game with a TD and a two-point conversion. The first time they were turned back on fourth-and-9 play. Fenton fumbled the ball away, and West had another chance. Faced with a fourth-and-8 at the 43 the Panthers pass fell incomplete.

Fenton looked like they might turn the game into a rout with a 24-0 cushion at intermission. Gerad Wegener busted through the line and got outside for a 43-yard TD run with 2:09 left in the first quarter. Later, Fenton QB Houston Shaw hooked up with Mitch Shegos for a four-yard TD pass with 8:12 left until halftime. Fenton's defense scored the final TD, when Layton Mandle scooped up an errant snap in the end zone. Fenton Kenny Allen kicked a 24-yard field goal, making it a 24-0 lead at the half.

The Panthers scored in the second half on a one-yard TD run by Chad Ferguson. The other score came on a 60-yard Zeshawn Jones-Parker reception from Hunter Sharrard.

Fenton hosts Linden on Thursday.

Linden cruises to easy first week victory 36-10

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Linden — It wasn't perfect.

But Linden's defense was pretty darn good, and the offense was effective enough in the Eagles' season-opening 36-10 home victory against the Swartz Creek Dragons.

Swartz Creek scored twice, but those scores weren't really the fault of the defense. An interception set up Creek's 29-yard fade play from Creek quarterback Mitchell Ryan to Maxwell Cummings, giving Creek a 7-0 lead early. The lead grew to 10-0 after a fumble gave Creek the ball at Linden's 13, but the defense held and only allowed Jackson Maxwell a 30-yard field goal. From that point on, Creek's offense mustered just 92 yards.

Meanwhile, the offense, which started Travis Marsh at quarterback but also had Shaye Brown play, slowly got itself going.

A long Dillon Nash punt return gave Linden the ball at the Creek 14. Five plays later, David Juhl scored from one yard out, cutting the gap to 10-6 with 8:33 left in the first half.

On Linden's next drive, Brown and completed four passes, sparking a 58-yard drive. It was completed by Eddie Watterhouse's 10-yard TD run. He also caught the two-point conversion, putting Linden up 14-10 with 4:47 left in the half.

In the second half, it was all Linden. Brown completed a 15-yard jump-ball pass to Nash for a score, and also completed a two-point conversion to Kevin Baker. The lead was up to 22-10 with 6:41 left in the third quarter.

Set up by a blocked punt by Nicholas Carlson, the Eagles scored on a 19-yard drive. Brown scored from a yard out and completed the two-point conversion to Nash. Linden led 30-10.

Linden, a team known for its spread, almost ran the clock out on its final possession running on 12 straight plays and, scoring on Brown's five-yard scamper. Brown completed 13-for-18 passes for 131 yards and ran for two scores. Marsh ran for 91 yards.

Defensively, Garrett Bolen and Walterhouse had interceptions. Aaron Kersten recovered two fumbles.

Bronchos lose tough one in OT to East, 30-29

Holly — The Bronchos lost a heart-breaker in their season-opening contest against the Lapeer East Eagles.

The Eagles lost 29-28 in overtime after the Eagles converted a two-point conversion for the victory.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | SCOTT SCHUPBACH

Holly's Johnny Williams scampers for some yards in the Bronchos' 30-29 overtime loss to Lapeer East.

Holly scored a touchdown on its overtime possession and also kicked its extra-point. However, Lapeer East responded with a touchdown of its own. Lapeer East then scored on a two-point play on a play that looked like something from a backyard family game, earning the victory.

Holly led 14-8 at the half, but East scored two TDs in the third quarter, taking a 22-14 lead. Holly responded with a touchdown and a two-point conversion in the fourth quarter, resulting in the tie game after regulation.

Holly travels to Swartz Creek for a Thursday night contest during the second week of prep football season.

Tigers performing well early, defeat Carman-Ainsworth

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — The Fenton varsity boys soccer team is off to a good start.

The Tigers finished the Metro League preseason tourney with a pair of 2-0 victories against Lapeer West and Clio on Aug. 20. They followed that up with a loss against Brother Rice, but then capped the opening week with a dominating 3-0 victory against Carman-Ainsworth Thursday at Fenton Soccer Field.

The Tigers' defense dominated, allowing the Cavaliers just four second-half shots. Meanwhile, the Tigers' shot total was in the 30s, resulting in a pretty tilted pitch in Fenton's favor.

"At the beginning, we kind of struggled a bit," senior defender Logan Bowlby said. "The first couple of seconds we let them dribble right through us, but overall we did pretty well."

"We want to control the ball. We wanted to keep the possession. We wanted to take quick touches."

For the most part, that's what Fenton did for 80 minutes. Fenton dominated the first half, but only took a 1-0 lead into the break. That goal came on a long thru ball from Bowlby to Aron Ferguson, resulting in a Ferguson goal.

The Tigers made it 2-0 on another long cross from Logan Vollmar to Jake Davis at the far-side post, resulting in a goal. Finally, with 14:40 left, the Tigers scored their final goal. On this goal, Chase Marcola dribbled to close to the goal line and then crossed it for Brett Austin, who pounded the pass into the net.

Derek Jenkins earned the shutout in net for Fenton.

The win has Fenton at 3-1 overall and feeling pretty good about themselves just a week into the season.

"They are moving the ball really well," Fenton coach Matt Sullivan said. "The biggest thing we've been working on is being unselfish with the ball, moving the ball fast. We have a lot of kids with skill, but they have to know when to use it — when to dribble and when not to. They are doing a good job with that. They are moving the ball quickly, and when you do that it encourages others to move without the ball. If they trust each other to pass the ball and move the ball, they are going to make runs off the ball. It's a snowball effect."

In the tourney win against West, the Tigers got goals by Carl Berkey and Marcola, with Evan Hudson and Volmar earning assists. In the 2-0 win against Clio, Austin and Marcola scored, while Volmar and J.D. Davis had assists. Jenkins earned the shutout against West and shared shutout honors with fellow keeper Julian Wineberg against Clio.

LF soccer shut out by Clio, 3-0

By Al Zipsie

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Clio — Lake Fenton's Wyatt Wilson played his first ever soccer game, Thursday, and came up with 16 saves as a goal-keeper.

However, the Blue Devils weren't able to score against Clio, resulting in a 3-0 season-opening victory for the Mustangs. The Mustangs have not allowed a goal in three full games. All three Clio goals were provided by Tyler Sprague.

"It was our first game, and Clio is a good team who have five games under their belt (Clio played two shortened games in the Metro League tournament)," Lake Fenton coach Lenny Glasstetter said. "Wyatt did a nice job in goal with some nice saves."

Clio dominated field position and had 19 shots on goal to only five for the Blue Devils. Wilson, a junior, started last season for the Lake Fenton baseball team as a catcher. He had never played soccer in youth or high school and will be a good addition for the Blue Devils.

ASK THE MECHANIC
Chris Wilkinson, Certified Mechanic

Q: First question ...over the winter I purchased a 1988 Camaro IROC-Z for cruising and shows and I have not found a mechanic to work on it yet. Do you work on these older cars? 2nd ...today I noticed a slight coolant leak coming from under the very front of the engine. I suspect it's the water pump ...could you give me an estimate for parts and labor, or do you need to see the car? I am a current customer. Thank you, Sir!

A: John, Yes we do work on this vehicle, as far as the coolant leak be sure to look very closely at the intake manifold gasket as this is a common problem on this engine, there are also freeze in the front that can leak as well as the water pump mounting gasket, my best advise is to rinse the engine down let it dry then pressure test the cooling system, have a mirror and a flashlight ready to look under the water pump and surrounding area when you first pressurize it to see the leak when it starts, once it has run down the engine it can look like something lower but could be coming from a higher point and leaking down.

LF perfect at meet; Linden splits matches

Linden — It was a day in which two area teams could leave feeling good about their performances.

Both teams showed steady improvement. And when one is talking about early season matches, that's all one can ask for.

The Lake Fenton Blue Devils won matches against Linden 26-24, 16-25, 25-20 and Swartz Creek 13-25, 25-21, 25-14, while the Eagles ended the night with a tight 31-29, 25-27, 25-10 victory against Swartz Creek at Linden High School on Wednesday.

Lake Fenton's 2-0 night came after finishing 1-5 at the tough Hartland Invitational and a 2-0 performance against Montrose and Byron on Monday night. The wins improved the Blue Devils to 5-5 overall. More importantly, first-year coach Angie Del Morone is seeing progress.

"We're improving every single day," Del Morone said. "We had a lot of two-a-day practices. I put them through the ringier. I had them working five hours a day."

"They are becoming mentally tough. That was a mentally tough match (against Swartz Creek). We won that not because of our skill mainly, but because we were going after it. That was the kicker for these guys today."

The Blue Devils seemingly got better as the night continued on, with one exception. The first set against Swartz Creek was clearly their worst performance. However, the Blue Devils started playing better again in the second set, earning that win. In the third set, Lake Fenton took a 6-0 lead and never trailed. They got match point seconds after Trudie Bruce made a strong dig for Lake Fenton. The Blue Devils returned the ball, and Creek's next attack was a hit error, giving Lake Fenton the win.

Lake Fenton had a balanced attack. Ellesa Smith, Bruce and Sidney Scott each had seven kills. Setter Rachael Mundy had 47 assists. Defensively, Mundy had 13 digs, while Bruce had four blocks.

The Eagles capped the night with a tight match with the Dragons. The first set featured six set points, three for each team. The Eagles eventually won the set 31-29 after a Sabrina Kinney kill.

In the second set, Linden had set point, but Creek scored a kill, tying the match at 24-all. Creek then had two set points, eventually winning the game on a hitting error.

In the third set, the Eagles took over. Tied at 4-all, Kaitlyn Dunleavy scored a kill, sparking seven straight Linden points. That run was capped by an assisted block kill by Lexi Downes and Jordan Sargent, giving Linden an 11-4 lead. From there, the Eagles cruised.

"At the beginning it was kind of slow and not much intensity," Kinney said. "But as the matches went on, we had more intensity."

"At the Flint Metro League Tournament we started out a bit shaky. We have the potential to beat every team because even though we are small in size, we have the potential to put up a good block. We have good team chemistry in the back as well, we all talk to each other. I think we have a better chance of taking the Metro this year."

Kinney capped the night with 19 kills and 23 digs, while Dunleavy had 15 kills and 17 digs. Downes had 11 kills and 10 blocks, while Sargent had 40 assists, 17 digs and six blocks. Mary Starrs finished with 27 digs.

"I had never played soccer," Wilson said. "I wanted to stay in shape for baseball, and as a catcher I naturally gravitated to the goalie position."

"Spencer was a tremendous athlete here and was a great goalkeeper. He is here as an assistant coach, and I have been learning a lot from him."

Clio's Sprague opened up the scoring at the 29:01 mark of the first half on an assist from Kade Wagner. The Mustangs held on to the 1-0 lead at intermission.

In the second half, Sprague scored on a penalty kick, making it a 2-0 lead.

Wilson played well, keeping Lake Fenton in the game. Wilson had a diving save, then stopped another ball which was struck hard. However, Sprague got his hat trick on a goal that was assisted by Bobby Vaughn.

Lake Fenton got off only five shots, but they did have some golden opportunities to score late in the contest.

Lake Fenton's senior Rance Hennessey did fire off a shot with 30 seconds left in the game that just sailed over the goal. With seven seconds left, Hennessey got off another shot was blocked by a Clio defender.

"We gave up a PK. We didn't get off many shots," said Glasstetter.

"We are going to be good. We will improve each game. "We start the GAC Tuesday at Lakeville and hope to have a better showing."

Lake Fenton also hosts a non-league game with Genesee Christian in its home opener on Thursday.

Welcome on behalf of
First Student and Linden Community Schools

Our number one priority is to provide safe and reliable transportation. We are looking forward to serving you during the 2011-2012 school year. We focus on the safest loading and unloading procedures for your child. Michigan State law requires bus stops to be a minimum of 200 feet apart from one another.

The entire bus fleet is equipped with the eight light system, crossing gate, side stop arm, two-way radios, digital cameras and all buses are equipped with the child check mate system. All the drivers use a uniform crossing pattern, and check their bus after each route to deactivate the child check mate system and hang a EMPTY PLACARD SIGN to ensure no sleeping children are left on board.

- Prior to employment we perform an extensive Local, State and Federal background check on both criminal and drivers license records. After employment we update these records yearly.
- Physical and substance abuse screening. Random substance abuse screening is performed on the entire transportation staff throughout the year. Post accident screening.
- Every driver will be fully trained with a minimum of 52 hours classroom and behind the wheel training.
- Every driver is to attend scheduled safety meetings.
- Every driver is re-evaluated at least once a calendar year.

The policy, for the safety of your child is to have consistent pick up and drop off locations. You must maintain the same pick up and drop off location every day throughout the week. Your AM pick up may be different from your PM drop off.

- We feel it is very important for you to be visible by the bus driver when unloading your children; this reassures the bus driver and child you are home.
- Please keep your emergency card up to date, any bus changes please notify transportation as well.
- Please have your kindergarten child wear their bus tag for the first two weeks of school.

DO NOT CHANGE THIS TAG FOR ANY REASON WITHOUT CONSULTING TRANSPORTATION. Please contact the Linden Transportation Department if you have questions or need additional clarification regarding this information at (810) 591-0996. Your cooperation and assistance in making sure these policy and guidelines are followed will help insure the personal safety of your student.

Sincerely,
First Student Transportation

Dear Parents,

On behalf of First Student and Lake Fenton Transportation Department, welcome to a new school year. We take great pride in our department and are looking forward to serving you during the 2011-2012.

Our number one priority is to provide the safest and most reliable student transportation service. We focus on the safest loading and unloading procedure for your child.

Michigan State law requires bus stops to be 200 feet apart from one another. Please have your child at his/her bus stop 15 minutes early for the first few days of school. Loading times are approximate until drivers adjust the routes. When routes have been adjusted we recommend your children are at their bus stop 5 minutes prior to their loading time.

The entire bus fleet is equipped with the eight light system, crossing gate, side stop arm, two-way radios, and all buses are equipped with the child check mate system. All the drivers use a uniform crossing pattern, and check their bus after each route to deactivate the child check mate system and hang a EMPTY PLACARD SIGN to ensure no sleeping children are left on board. All drivers prior to employment will have an extensive Local, State and Federal background check on both criminal and drivers license records. After employment we update these records yearly. Physical and substance abuse screening. Random substance abuse screening is performed on the entire transportation staff throughout the year. Post accident screening. Every driver is fully trained with a minimum of 52 hours classroom and behind the wheel training. Every driver is to attend scheduled safety meetings. Every driver is re-evaluated at least once a calendar year.

We ask, for the safety of your child and to continue consistency for the driver that you maintain the same pick up and drop off location every day throughout the week. Your AM pick up may be different from your PM drop off.

- We feel it is very important for you to be visible by the bus driver when unloading your children; this reassures the bus driver and child you are home.
- Please keep your emergency card up to date, any bus changes please notify transportation as well.

Please contact the Lake Fenton Transportation Department if you have questions or need additional clarification regarding this information at (810) 591-2552. Your cooperation and assistance in making sure these policy and guidelines are followed will help insure the personal safety of your student.

Sincerely,
Laura O'lewin— Contract Manager

WHO QUALIFIES FOR TRANSPORTATION?

Michigan State Law does not require a school district to provide transportation to and from school. The Lake Fenton Community School District, as a courtesy to the public, provides transportation to all students who live outside the designated walk area from their home school. The Lake Fenton Community School District has established a one pick up one drop off procedure; this means that a student must have the same pick up point Monday through Friday and the same drop off point Monday through Friday. The morning pick up location may be different from the afternoon drop off point.

School District practice requires that a parent or other designated responsible adult be visible at the bus stop for students at, or under, the kindergarten grade level. If the child must cross the street to board the bus, the responsible adult must escort the child across the road. Kindergartens without adult supervision present at the bus stop will be instructed to remain on the bus and that student will then be transported to Kids Club. Parents of students in grade first through fifth may make a written request that the procedure used for kindergarten students be used for their older children. First Student and the Lake Fenton Community School District will make every attempt to honor each of these requests. It is strongly advised that the parents of young children make arrangements to meet the bus both before and after school, especially during the first week that your child rides to school. This provides a wonderful opportunity to start and finish the school day on a positive note and ensures safety during the walk to and from the bus stop. There are certain programs that require parents or adults to meet the bus. If your student is involved in these programs information concerning special transportation procedures will be made available.
