February election will determine Paul Scott's replacement

By William Axford
axford@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

With the number of votes cast by all precincts now in, State Rep. Paul Scott (R) Grand Blanc has been recalled as the representative of the 51st District. Scott conceded to the recall at his Grand Blanc office late Tuesday. The unofficial vote count came in at approximately 2:20 a.m. Wednesday morning.

“When you reflect on the recall, I think you realize this wasn't about any interest group or me, but about the future of this state,” said Scott. He previously said he

What were thieves thinking when they stole the statue in front of St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church of Fenton?

Wednesday morning, Fenton police were dispatched to the church on Adelaide Street at 9:53 a.m. after learning that the statue of St. John the Evangelist was missing from the front of the building.

Should the recall process be reformed?

Area votes don't mirror Scott recall results

By Sharon Stone

Had the election been based strictly on Fenton and Linden cities and Argentine and Fenton townships, Rep. Paul Scott would not have been recalled from office in Tuesday's election. Voter turnout in those four communities was higher than expected.

Based on the unofficial results of the election, 4,282 voters in Fenton City, Fenton Township, Linden City and Argentine Township voted against the recall of Scott, while 3,506 voted in favor of the recall.

SMART SOLUTIONS

1 Dust trails from broom

To keep your broom from leaving a tiny trail of dust in its wake, try this: Fill a spray bottle with a solution of ¾ cup water and ¼ cup liquid fabric softener, then lightly spritz the bristles just before sweeping. The solution makes the needles more pliable, which helps them attract and collect every speck of dust and pet hair that crosses their path.

2 Smoky clothes...

Freshen up smoky clothes by hanging them over a tub half-filled with hot water and 3 cups of white vinegar. The vinegar-scented steam permeates fiber molecules, neutralizing lingering odors so clothes smell fresh again.

the seduction of snacking

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Have you ever heard a bowl of M&Ms calling your name or polished off a giant tub of movie popcorn just because it was sitting on your lap? Are you one of those people who “even off” the rows of brownies in a pan until there’s nothing left but the crumbs?

If so, you understand the concept of “mindless eating,” which is a phrase that was coined by food researcher Brian Wansink in his bestseller, “Why We Eat More Than We Think.” He used a food and brand lab at Cornell University to test how people fall victim to various eating cues and negative food environments that lead to calorie overload and thickening waistlines.

When was the last time you got a really good night's sleep? We're talking the kind of sleep where you wake up refreshed and ready to take on the world.

If it has been a while, you might want to try changing a few habits or your sleeping environment.

According to the McLaren Sleep Disorder Clinic in Flint, sleep disorders, such as insomnia, sleep apnea and narcolepsy cause many people difficulty at work, at home and while driving.

Not just another pretty face

I am not what you would call a handsome man. If my face were my fortune, I'd be bankrupt. That's not to say I'm ugly though. I have my moments. But clearly, I am not in the same league as those blessed with the symmetry and perfect angularity associated with pure beauty.

So the question is, why not do something about it? Heck, in this day and age scores of girls are opting for going under the knife as their birthday or high school graduation present from mom and dad. Of course, you and I pay for most of these 'procedures' as they are inveterately disguised as respiratory problems caused by deviated septums that just happen to occur right around little Jenna's 16th birthday.

For us guys though, it's a little different. Barring unforeseen circumstances, such as witnessing a mob hit and going into the witness protection program, we are stuck with the end result of the irrefutable law of nature that states that all progeny will receive the worst physical traits of each contributing parent. This is Mother Nature's way of ensuring the world isn't ultimately completely populated by beautiful people, which would spell the end of mankind, as everyone would spend their days admiring their face in the mirror and the only product ever produced would be Hollywood movies.

But, I digress. Back to my face. Like most people, I don't need a mirror to fire off the litany of changes I'd consider given the correct circumstances — such as the offer of a starring role in a MAJOR MOTION PICTURE! For most of us that's true. Even if we aren't looking in a mirror, today's world of shiny surfaces provides plenty of opportunities to view our visage — windows, pots and pans, blank television or computer screens, spoons, even puddles of standing water. Nearly every one of us has a mental laundry list of 'imperfections' that we are as familiar with as... well, the nose on our face.

So, what's my point you ask? Simply that if we don't talk to our children about their face, society will. Let's face it (sorry — couldn't resist), society, through magazines, TV and movies, will tell them all the wrong things. Society will try to convince our children that their self esteem should be in direct proportion to their physical beauty — that their value as a person is less if they're not one of the so-called 'beautiful people.'

Let's not let that happen. Let's beat society to the punch. Let's make sure that our children know the truth — that true beauty comes from the inside — not the outside.

Always has.
Always will.

HOPE THE COACHES and administrators at Lake Fenton schools like fielding complaints about their sports tryouts. Kids can't be cut if their parent works at the middle or high school, so kids are not rated by actual criteria. It's all about whom you know at Lake Fenton.

WAY TO GO Alex Okopien, for leading Fenton with 20 tackles on Saturday. You were on fire. We are very proud of you. Tigers, you guys played awesome football. Congratulations on winning District.

DEFINITION OF A teacher: Overworked, underpaid, under-appreciated.

TWO YEARS AGO, Obama created the Cash for Clunkers program that cost the taxpayers approximately $2,200 for each car sold. Now, 29 percent of homeowners are underwater and we will have to bail them out. A calculated guess would be about $5,000 per taxpayer. I'm moving to Canada.

I'M AN ARGENTINE Township resident, with children in the Byron school district. On Nov. 8, every school district in the state passed their respective bond issues except for Byron. Once again, my children have to settle for the very minimum. Linden will acquire two new students next year.

TO THE WOMAN who brings her three little girls to the hair salon with her, I don't understand why you think this is OK. You are being rude to other customers and the workers of the salon. I go to the salon without my child to relax. Get a clue.

DID EVERYONE LEARN their lesson? Don't mess with the teachers. We are sick of defending ourselves. Maybe now you will wake up and realize how fortunate you are to have quality educators teaching your children.

I REALLY THINK we need a stoplight at Torrey and North roads. It is very hard to make a left onto North Road from Torrey during heavy traffic hours. Does anyone else think so too? The traffic in Fenton is much heavier than it used to be.

TO THE PERSON complaining about the girl in the van, I know your type. You were probably doing 10 under and ticking off everyone around you. She had every right to pass. You probably instigate a lot of road rage.

A WORD OF wisdom to the teacher's union: Be careful what you wish for.

YOU DON'T THINK Paul Scott tried to delay election until February knowing that a lot of the senior citizens would be in Florida, knowing most of them would vote against him.

I PUT THREE kids through college without student loans and because our current college students cannot find jobs, Obama plans to give them relief, again, at the taxpayers' expense. He's trying to buy their vote at our expense. Do you think the folks will wake up and fire him?

I MISS THE way fall used to be in Michigan. You could rake your leaves into piles and burn them. I loved the aroma of burning leaves. You could listen to the Lions find a new way to lose another game. Now, you can't burn leaves and the Lions are winning.

SO, THE MEA wins a round. They prove again that they would rather have an incompetent teacher with tenure teach your kids versus a competent one without tenure. Just another example of how the unions and their brainwashed members are going to ultimately destroy this country.

IF YOU ARE having a bad day, stay home. Don't go out to eat, yell at the servers, send your food back and then leave no tip. I see servers reduced to tears from rude customers, weekly. Remember, we control what you eat.

IT'S A SHAME when the city is more concerned about decorating than how efficiently it operates. Yes, we need a new library. Yes, the roads are an embarrassment. Yes, we could all use relief on our water bills. Competent spending of funds will bring people-not signs. Fenton, get smarter.

Longtime fire chief loses battle to cancer

►Colleagues, family, friends mourn death of kind, private man

By Sharon Stone

sstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

Fenton Twp. — Fenton Township Fire Chief John Moulton passed away Wednesday morning after a courageous battle with cancer. He was 66 years old.

Moulton lived his entire life in Fenton Township and graduated from Lake Fenton High School in 1963. He played quarterback in his high school days and took part in the 50th anniversary celebration of the school's football program in 2009.

The fire chief followed the football teams for years since he lived within walking distance of the old high school football stadium (currently Lake Fenton Middle School).

Moulton was a veteran of the U.S. Army. He and his wife Georgetta married in 1972 and raised their family in Fenton Township. He joined the Fenton Township Fire Department in 1985 and had been the chief for the past 20 years.

Fenton Township Supervisor Bonnie Mathis said Moulton devoted his life to his family, especially his grandchildren and to his firefighters, who admired and respected him. "Some firefighters even called him Dad," she said. "He was a great role model to all of them."

Mathis said it was always Moulton's dream to have the best fire department in Genesee County and he was always attending classes and seminars. He always made sure that his firefighters were well educated about fires and were able to protect themselves and the residents. "I am very proud to have had John as a friend and especially proud to have had him as our chief," she said. "He was a great chief. I will miss him greatly."

When Mathis realized her good friend died on 11-9-11, the first thing she thought of was 911. "Either way you read it, it's 911. That's so appropriate for John," she said.

Fenton Township Trustee Tony Brown knew and respected Moulton. "Chief Moulton loved this community," said Brown, who also grew up in Fenton Township. "He was a great leader, great fireman and a great friend."

"Fenton Township lost one of its finest. He will be sadly missed."

Fenton City Fire Chief Robert Cairnduff was saddened to share the news of Moulton's death with his department. "I've known him a long time, more than 20 years," said Cairnduff. "He was a genuine guy."

"You knew where you stood with John."

Cairnduff said the two departments worked well together due to the good working relationship of the administrations.

Rick Ham, and his wife Robin, have lived across from the Moultons for more than 20 years and will always remember Moulton's generosity and kind-hearted soul. "John was a kind, giving man, always had a smile and willing to do anything he could for anyone in need," said Rick. "I am very sad to lose such a good neighbor and friend. I will miss him."

Mathis said the township's fire board, comprised of chair Mark Goupil, Bob Krug and Tony Brown will have the task of recommending Moulton's replacement. Through Moulton's illness, battalion chief Ryan Volz has been acting chief.

Funeral arrangements

Visitation is at Sharp Funeral Home — Fenton Chapel on Saturday, from 12 p.m. until the funeral service, at 1 p.m. at St. John Catholic Church of Fenton. Following the church service, a procession will be conducted from the church, past neighboring fire stations and the Fenton township fire stations. After the service and procession, a luncheon will be held at the Fenton Township Civic Community Center.

Board accepts supervisor's resignation

By Tim Jagielo

tjagiolo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795
Rose Twp. — On Wednesday, the Rose Township Board of Trustees formally accepted the resignation of Supervisor Alison Kalcec in a unanimous vote. Kalcec could not vote on her own resignation.

Alison Kalcec

Her last day is Dec. 31, 11 months before her term ends. Kalcec said she is resigning to hopefully end the divisiveness that has impeded progress in the township and looks at it as more of a retirement.

The board of trustees will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 30 at 7 p.m. to review resumes of potential candidates to fill the temporary position and to make a plan to replace Kalcec.

"This resignation, retirement, is really sad to me personally."

Janet Cousins
resident

Clerk Debbie Miller said the position will be advertised this weekend in the Tri-County Times.

Resident Janet Cousins thanked Kalcec for her service. "This resignation, retirement, is really sad to me, personally," said Cousins. "I appreciate the knowledge you've brought to the job, the dedication you have brought, for all the class. You've accepted the verbal abuse. As a citizen I just want to thank you."

Cousins then lead the audience in clapping for Kalcec.

Kalcec has served Rose Township for 12 years, last three as supervisor, and as clerk before that. She also served as clerk for Holly Township in the early '90s.

Councilman Rauch reflects on 16 years of public service

►Fishing, traveling plans part of retirement

By Sharon Stone

sstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

Fenton — Last Monday night was John Rauch's final appearance as a Fenton City councilman. After serving the city of Fenton for 16 years, the 73 year old decided it was time to retire. A recent illness took its toll and he intends to spend more time fishing and traveling over long weekends.

Rauch spent 31 years working for the Grand Blanc Township Department of Public Works (DPW). Through his work there, he met Les Bland, who headed Fenton's DPW.

In 1993, Rauch and his wife, Gwenn, moved to Fenton. He became involved with the city and he was soon appointed to the parks and recreation committee. While working with that committee, he was approached about running for city council.

Rauch won the election. Quickly, he learned that city politics was different from township politics.

Looking back over his years as a councilman and mayor pro tem, Rauch recalls several achievements. He was involved with the development of Silver Parkway, good or bad. "It looks pretty good today," he said. He also had a hand in the new fire station and DPW building.

Rauch remembers fondly the friendships and associations he made with city employees and council members. "We became friends," he said. "We butted heads, but always left the meetings with a smile."

Although he's stepped away from city council duties, Rauch has applied to serve on the Board of Review since he is familiar with tax laws.

Reflecting on his health issues, Rauch said he does not believe he could dedicate himself to the city and still take care of himself. It's time to let somebody else do the work, but his heart is still there, he said.

Rauch's advice to the new council is, "Don't go in with a private agenda. Go in with an open mind and work as a team. That's what Fenton needs."

John Rauch

"We butted heads, but always left the meetings with a smile."

Police&Fire report

CAR STRIKES PEDESTRIAN

On Thursday, Nov. 10, Fenton police responded to a car versus pedestrian crash on Silver Parkway, just north of Jennings Road. Lt. Jason Slater said a 20-year-old Fenton man was attempting to cross Silver Parkway and stepped into the path of a 2010 PT Cruiser, driven by a 60-year-old Holly woman. He was transported to Genesys Health Park in Grand Blanc Township for non-life threatening injuries. No tickets were issued.

MAN ARRESTED FOR SMOKING POT IN APARTMENT

On Tuesday, Nov. 8, Fenton police were sent to an apartment on Trealout Drive after someone called to report the smell of marijuana coming from one of the apartments. Police made contact with the 22-year-old Fenton man at the apartment who apologized for the odor. He did not have a medical marijuana card. He was arrested for possession of marijuana and taken to the police station for processing. He has a Dec. 12 court date.

CATALYTIC CONVERTER STOLEN

On Nov. 8, Fenton police were sent to the 16000 block of Silver Parkway to investigate a stolen catalytic converter complaint. A Fenton man had dropped off his 2004 Aztek for repairs at this location the previous night. On Nov. 8, an employee noticed that the device was cut from the vehicle. There are no suspects.

DRIVER FLEES FROM ROLLOVER

On Thursday, Nov. 3, Argentine Township police responded to a 911 call regarding a rollover crash in the 7600 block of Silver Lake Road. A female passenger told the 911 dispatcher that she could not locate her boyfriend. Upon arrival, the officer observed a utility pole snapped in half and a white, 2006 Dodge Charger upside down. She sustained minor injuries and was transported to Genesys Health Park in Grand Blanc Township. Police were unable to locate the driver, who had fled from the scene.

BEER AND DEER SHINING DON'T MIX

On Monday, Nov. 7, Argentine Township police spotted a pickup truck parked on Rolston Road, east of Meier Road. Police initiated a traffic stop to the truck after it started to drive away. Police saw a rifle in the back seat and asked the 39-year-old male passenger what it was for. The passenger said he was shining deer. The rifle was loaded. The officer then spotted an open can of beer on the floor. The passenger admitted to drinking a few beers. The truck was impounded and the passenger was ticketed for open intoxicants.

TEEN TICKETED

On Wednesday, Nov. 2, Argentine Township police responded to Linden Middle School after 911 Dispatch received an alarm. Police saw an unoccupied grey Dodge Caravan parked in the parking lot. The van was registered to a resident on Pineview Lake Drive. Police saw three people walk out of the nearby woods and get into the van. Detecting the odor of intoxicants, police asked the 19-year-old driver if he had consumed alcohol. He admitted to a few drinks. A breath test confirmed the teen had consumed alcohol. He was ticketed for Under 21 Consumption and the van was impounded.

Craft fairs abound this weekend

Fenton — Fenton is known for a variety of great things, but now, thanks to a partnership between two local non-profits and several businesses, the city is working to build a new reputation — as a weekend craft fair destination.

Two large, well-known events, The State Road Arts & Craft Show and the Fenton United Methodist Church (FUMC) Holiday Craft & Small Business Expo, have joined forces to take place on the same weekend. This makes Saturday, Nov. 19 and Sunday, Nov. 20 the biggest days for craft tourism around.

"Getting the community involved is a great thing," said Bonnie Leyder, of the FUMC. "We're in the middle of downtown and we thought this would be a great opportunity to bring attention to both great events."

The weekend will kick off with the FUMC Holiday Craft & Small Business Expo on Saturday. More than 70 vendors will fill two floors of the church at 119 S. LeRoy St. Admission is $2. Door prizes and food will be a part of the fun. Proceeds from the event will benefit the FUMC's Family Life Center and its ministries.

The State Road Craft Show is now in its 36th year and features more than 160 juried vendors. The event benefits the State Road Elementary School PTO, with the proceeds funding scholarships, books and supplies. It will take place at the Fenton High School, 3200 S. Shiawassee Ave. on Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Insomnia is nearly twice as common in women as in men. Women's sleep is influenced by menstrual cycles, age, stress, health, mood, parental status, work hours and other daily responsibilities. Before making an appointment with a sleep disorder center or the family physician, those experiencing symptoms of sleep deprivation should try some easy and free suggestions.

According to the National Sleep Foundation, two of the most important tips for getting a good night's sleep are avoiding nicotine and caffeine close to bedtime. Establishing a regular routine of sleep and wake times is also important, even on weekends.

If exercise is part of one's regular routine, early morning or afternoon hours are better if falling asleep is of concern. If exercise is not a part of one's regular routine, experts suggest adding the habit for a better night's sleep.

Watching the nightly news on TV can have adverse affects on the viewer if the shows have violent and/or disturbing segments. This agitation can hinder one's ability to calmly fall asleep. It's better to keep the bedroom strictly for sleep and relaxation.

Experts suggest bedrooms be kept as dark as possible when trying to fall asleep. Room-darkening blinds or drapes could help. Displays on bedside radios should be dimmed and it might help by turning the cell phone, charging on the nightstand, over so that it does not light up the entire room, when a text or call is received.

Keeping the bedroom at a comfortable temperature can help one fall and stay asleep. Adjust the thermostat and if a ceiling fan is used throughout the year, make sure it is spinning in the right direction. During the colder months, fan blades should push air toward the ceiling and in the warm months, fan blades should push air toward the floor.

SLEEP APNEA • This causes people to momentarily stop breathing and awaken from sleep in order to resume breathing. As a result, the disorder causes drowsiness during daily activities. Untreated, sleep apnea can lead to high blood pressure, personality changes, sexual dysfunction, heart disease and even death.

NARCOLEPSY • Narcolepsy can be defined as excessive drowsiness during the day even when nightly sleep time is within normal range with a tendency to sleep at inappropriate times. The overpowering sleep "attacks" may last for a few minutes or to an hour or longer.

INSOMNIA • Trouble falling asleep or staying asleep is reported by more than 35 million Americans. Disturbed sleep during the night results in decreased quality of daytime performance. According to a nationwide study by the American Academy of Sleep Medicine, physical ailments, such as disorder of breathing or muscle activity, are the cause of more than half of all cases of persistent insomnia.

Tips for a better, more restful night of sleep

To pave the way for better sleep, experts recommend that you and your family members follow these sleep tips:

- Establish consistent sleep and wake schedules, even on weekends.
- Create a regular, relaxing bedtime routine such as soaking in a hot bath or listening to soothing music — begin an hour or more before the time you expect to fall asleep.
- Create a sleep-conducive environment that is dark, quiet, comfortable and cool.
- Sleep on a comfortable mattress and pillows.
- Use your bedroom only for sleep (avoid watching TV, using a computer or reading in bed).
- Finish eating at least two to three hours before your regular bedtime.
- Exercise regularly during the day or at least a few hours before bedtime.
- Avoid caffeine and alcohol products close to bedtime and give up smoking.

(Source: National Sleep Foundation)

Other things to try...

- Keep a sleep diary and track your sleep habits for two weeks. You might see where changes are needed.
- Stop smoking. Nicotine is a stimulant, preventing you from falling asleep. Smokers are four times more likely not to feel as well rested after a night's sleep than nonsmokers are. It exacerbates sleep apnea and other breathing disorders.
- Review your medications with your doctor. High blood pressure medicine and antidepressants may cause insomnia.
- Exercise at least four hours before bedtime.
- Cut out caffeine after 2 p.m. since caffeine will stay in your system for eight hours.
- Write down your worries. If you have concerns, jot them down. This action will likely let you rest more easily.

How much sleep do you really need?

PUBLIC INVITED TO RECEPTION FOR RETIRING FENTON CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS

The community is invited to a public reception on Monday, Nov. 14 at 6:30 p.m. for the retiring council members, John Rauch, Dianne North and Tim Faricy. The reception will be held in the conference room at Fenton City Hall. The Fenton City Council meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

BROKEN UTILITY POLE CAUSES OUTAGES

Consumers Energy reports that 1,553 customers in the Fenton area lost power Wednesday afternoon. About one dozen customers in Holly were also affected. Mary Kulis, spokesperson, said power was interrupted at approximately 3 p.m. The utility company was unable to transfer customers over to another power source while a pole was being replaced. An estimated restoration time of 9:27 p.m. was given to customers, however, power was restored at 7:19 p.m. Kulis said 5,400 customers in Genesee County were affected by weather-related outages.

MRSA FOUND AT HOLLY ELEMENTARY

A case of Methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) was recently discovered at Holly Elementary School, according to a statement by Holly Area Schools Superintendent Kent Barnes. MRSA is a version of the common staph infection that is more resistant to common antibiotics. It can be dangerous, but is not commonly life threatening. Barnes said communications are being sent out, and the custodial staff is sanitizing the exposed facilities at the school. Hygiene is the best way to prevent infections, which includes proper hand washing, keeping all cuts and scrapes clean, and avoiding touching someone else's bandage. He suggests anyone with questions about MRSA to call (248) 858-1406 or toll free 1 (800) 848-5533 or, or go to www.oakgov.com/health for more information.

does not plan to petition for a recount. The losing candidate is the only party allowed to request a recount.

Scott is the first Michigan legislator to be recalled since 1983, when two Democratic senators were removed from office for an increase in state income tax.

Voters in the 51st District were polarized, resulting in a very close recall election. There were 12,284 (50.40 percent) votes cast in favor of the recall and 12,087 (49.60 percent) cast in favor of keeping Scott in office.

The election results from the Nov. 8 election are not official until they are reviewed by the Genesee County Canvass and the Michigan State Canvass, which can take days and possibly weeks. Fred Woodhams, spokesperson for the Michigan Department of State, said Scott would officially be removed from office after the ballots pass through the canvasses.

"No one will fill the seat between Scott's removal and the Feb. 28 election," said Woodhams. "Once the vacancy is cre-

POLITICIANS CAN TALK all the trash they want about tax structure, trickle-down economics, save the small business or any rhetoric they want to use to save Michigan, and the United States. When you lose 10 million jobs to commie countries, your tax base has to suffer. We graduate hundreds of thousands every year. Where are they going to get a job?

I'M WONDERING WHAT office Paul Scott will run for next. I know times are tough but you can't balance the budget on the top of the weekly paycheck of earners, seniors, school teachers, police officers, firefighters and public service people. I hope they learned their lesson.

WITH ALL THE cuts being made in Holly Area Schools, borrowing from special funds and making even more cuts next year, I don't understand why at the four elementary schools, there is a Wal-Mart style greeter in the hallway. There are parents getting kids in and out of cars before and after school, in the cafeteria opening milk cartons and juice boxes, and watching kids for full pay and full benefits.

I THINK YOU ought to read some of the comments before you put them in the paper. Anyone who would compare sterilization to seatbelts is a fool.

IF PAUL SCOTT thinks the MEA was the only force behind his recall, he is dreaming. The senior citizens were out in force voting against him, too.

ONE DOWN, AND about 250 to go. The most destructive force today I think to any recovery that might happen in the United States is the Republicans and some Democrats. The outright hatred and lies that they spew, led by Boehner and McConnell scares me to death. Please vote carefully folks, and think about what you're doing for the country.

I SAW A badger this summer in my back yard, twice, and I didn't know what it was until I saw the picture in the paper.

ated, county parties will have 15 days to nominate a candidate."

The candidate who wins in the Feb. 28 election will serve the remainder of Scott's term, which ends next year. Scott is not allowed to run the special February election.

The recall against Scott was fueled by the Michigan Education Association as a backlash to teacher tenure reforms and major cuts to public education funding. In July, the Elections Division of Genesee County approved language for the recall.

Scott unsuccessfully bid for an injunction in Genesee County but was granted one by Ingham County Circuit Court Judge Clinton Canady. The Michigan Supreme Court overthrew Canady's injunction, placing the recall back onto the Nov. 8 ballot.

Despite being recalled, Scott stands by the policies he supported. "We accomplished great things and the laws that we changed, they're on the books," Scott said. "I know a lot of the focus is on me, but it should be on the state. We've moved the state forward."

HOME

it very possible that one doesn't have to look far to find someone who is going through this process.

Overbuying, layoffs or reduced work hours, unexpected medical or automobile bills can have a major impact on a family's income.

A 56-year-old Fenton Township woman has weathered the foreclosure process and has chosen to stay positive about the experience, despite losing her home that she and her husband shared for more than 30 years with their two sons. She and her husband are on disability. He has Parkinson's disease and she is legally blind. Their oldest son is now on his own and their youngest son is still in high school.

Their troubles began in August 2010 when both of their vehicles broke down and their oldest son lost his job. As long as their sons are still in high school, they receive a Social Security supplement.

Because of the unexpected repair bills, the woman said she fell behind a couple of months on their mortgage payments. To her surprise, she received a warning letter from an attorney indicating their home would be put up for sale the next month. "I freaked out," she said. "There was no warning."

The woman made call after call attempting to get help and to find out where they stood with their mortgage. They could not afford an attorney. She attended a seminar in Novi and met with mortgage representatives. There, she learned that her mortgage was now an FHA loan. Because her loan had been sold and now an FHA loan, they did not qualify for the government's modification program.

Desperate for help, she worked with a company claiming it would help, only to be scammed out of $900 that she didn't have.

The woman got a reprieve for the auction sale and through all of her calls, finally got a bit of help from Congressman Dale Kildee who put her in touch with the right person at her mortgage company.

By October 2010, the woman was six months behind on their mortgage payments. She attempted an in-house loan modification but she turned it down when the bank tacked on an additional $25,000 to the principal of her loan to cover their fees. Had she agreed to the $185,000, her monthly payment would only have been lowered by $40.

Her home went to auction in January and the bank in turn bought it at the higher price. She was given six months to find the money to buy it back or vacate. She and her family moved to an apartment in April and she began the task of cleaning out their belongings and holding six weeks of garage sales.

Be Aware

Loan scammers are making a fortune, preying on homeowners in need. Homeowners should never be charged for foreclosure prevention services. Metro Community Development, in Genesee County, provides free, unbiased and accessible programs and services to prevent foreclosure. If you suspect someone is committing a loan scam, please inform your Foreclosure Counselor or call the Homeowner's Hope Hotline: 1-888-995-HOPE (4673).

The woman said she tried to do the "cash for keys" program, where she agreed to payment of $1,000 if she cleaned the home and removed all personal belongings and debris. To her shock and disappointment, she was denied the $1,000 because she left behind a push broom, heater, light fixtures and a shop vacuum for the future owners. "They considered that to be debris," she said.

The woman and her husband and their youngest son are now comfortable in their apartment. Their place is handicap accessible and they were allowed to keep their dog and cat. "It's been a blessing in disguise, but it was devastating," she said.

Patrik Welty, of Legacy Realtor Professionals in Fenton, said foreclosures vary from state to state. In Michigan, foreclosure by advertisement begins after a homeowner has failed to make a house payment for three months. The bank would attempt to contact them and offer opportunities for payment. If the bank finds it cannot work with the homeowner, they will start the foreclosure process.

Welty said these advertisements are typically posted in the local papers or Flint Genesee Legal News for five weeks. After five weeks, a sheriff sale is held on the property. Welty said the sale is held at the county courthouse and a bank representative, or investors are typically the only people there. Once the sheriff sale is done, a representative of the sheriff's department signs the deed.

Once a sheriff's deed exists, the homeowner is no longer the legal owner; however, they do have redemption rights for six months, as long as they have not abandoned the home. Homeowners with more than three acres have a one-year redemption period.

During the redemption period, the homeowner needs to find a lender willing to help or do a short sale. "They can stay there until the redemption is up," said Welty. "But, they are no longer the legal occupant."

"I've seen some stay for months after the redemption period. It could go for years."

When the redemption period expires, the bank sends a real estate broker to the home to make the resident an offer. Welty said the broker might offer the "cash for keys" agreement, where the broker would give the resident an amount of money if they vacate the home by an agreed on date. This agreement keeps the person in the home, and hopefully, maintaining it. "There are lots of abandoned homes," said Welty. "Some don't want to deal with the stress. They're living there for free."

Welty said the first thing a homeowner should do if they suspect they will be unable to make a house payment is to contact their lender. It could be embarrassing and overwhelming, but the homeowner needs to make that call to see where they stand with the bank. If the homeowner is not satisfied with the bank's response, they should then contact an attorney or real estate broker.

"It's a difficult situation," he said. "They're depressed, stressed and embarrassed."

On Thursday, the woman learned that her home had been put on the market for $68,000. This is a stark contrast to her being given an offer to buy it back from the bank between January and July for $185,000.

"I am just so sick," she said. "Why couldn't they have worked with us?" She said there was no way for she and her husband to try to buy it back, even at the new low price because they sold everything they needed to maintain the home and 1½ acres of property.

What is a foreclosure?

A bank, mortgage company or other creditor takes a homeowner's property in order to satisfy a debt by a legal process. The foreclosure is the result of non-payment of the mortgage (including second mortgages and home equity loans); however, people also lose their homes due to unpaid property taxes. As a result of the foreclosure (at the end of the redemption period), the homeowner loses the rights he or she had to the property.

Michigan Homeowner Assistance Non-Profit Housing Corporation (MHA), acting through Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA) has programs, such as the Unemployment Mortgage Subsidy Program, the Mortgage Loan Rescue Program and Principal Curtailment Program.

RESULTS

Election results for the entire 51st District, however, did not mirror what occurred locally. Out of the total 24,371 votes cast on the recall, 12,284 (50.4 percent) were in favor of the recall, while 12,087 (49.6 percent) were against the recall.

Thomas Broecker, operations manager/deputy clerk for Fenton Township, said the election cost the township between $5,000 and $6,000. He said expenses included paying election inspectors, paying workers to transport election equipment, mileage for him and Clerk Robert Krug, overtime for employees who handled absentee ballots over the weekend, postage, paper applications and other miscellaneous items.

worth," whether they're eating at a buffet or snacking on expensive packaged foods.

Cheap food

According to Wansink, food took up 24 percent of a family's income 50 years ago, and now it takes up only six percent. As a result, most people can buy what they want. The abundance of cheap, low-quality foods has helped promote mindless eating.

Slurping calories

People down high calorie coffee drinks, sip on sports or energy drinks and swig from gigantic soda fountain cups all day long. All of these beverage calories go down mindlessly, and aren't usually compensated for by cutting back elsewhere.

Labeling guides that backfire

People who are given a nutritional "green light" on packaging to eat a particular product may decide to eat as much as they want of it, regardless of their hunger cues. People thought low-fat cookies were healthy a few years ago, and began to over-eat them with less guilt.

Eating as a side activity

Eating should only be done while sitting down at a place designed for eating, not as a multi-task activity while cooking dinner, working at a desk or watching a sporting event, etc. People who pay attention to their meal or snack find they actually enjoy their food more.

Mindless grocery shopping

Shopping without a plan or while tired or hungry makes a person vulnerable to marketing and product placement in the store. If you don't want it to be part of the family's regular diet, don't bring it home in the first place. For a specific treat, bring home only the amount you want your family to eat, or go out for a special treat so there are no tempting leftovers.

Club store binges

While price per serving is a great deal at Sam's Club or Costco, large bins, boxes and crates of food can prompt mindless eating. It's hard for people to stop at a 1-ounce serving of chips when faced with a mammoth-sized bag.

Appetizer overload

Try avoiding the chip bowl or bread-basket when socializing or dining out.

At the heart of the philosophy of mindless eating is the fact that people don't overeat because they are hungry. If people listened just to their body's hunger cues and ate only to the point of satiety, there would be no problem of obesity in the United States. In fact, hunger has very little to do with the nation's every-growing obesity problem.

There are many reasons why people overeat. Package and plate size, how foods are described on labels and packages, the position of light on food, the colors of foods are some of the reasons. The presence of candles, the shapes of food packages, food smells, distractions while eating, distances from which food is available, whether food is stored in cupboards, and the containers in which food is served or stored also plays a factor.

For example, Wansink found that people ate an average of 2.2 more candies each day when they were visible

and 1.8 more candies

when they were placed on their desk rather than several yards away. Even nutrition

experts served themselves

31 percent more ice cream when they were given a larger bowl and 14.5 percent more when they were given a larger ice cream scoop at an

When visiting the snack aisle at the grocery store, you'll notice one of the direct effects of Wansink's research — the popularity of the 100-calorie snack packs, which he had pitched to food companies after discovering that people would be willing to pay higher packaging costs to help control portion size.

The good news is that people can use positive environmental changes to counteract the effects of mindless eating. Using a smaller plate, putting food on the counter instead of the table, and moving the candy dish farther away from your desk are all strategies that will have a positive affect on weight loss.

TOO BAD THE teacher union thugs didn't show the same class Paul Scott did. The MEA should 'be careful what they wish for.'

THANK YOU, PAUL Scott for martyring yourself to prove to us what charlatans the MEA and their members are. Teachers should know that actions speak louder than words.

CAN YOU BELIEVE it? Obama is getting on the Christmas bandwagon. When you buy a fresh Christmas tree, you are charged an additional 15 cents tax, endorsed by Obama and the administration.

I RECENTLY MOVED to the Dibbleville area and absolutely adore everything Fenton has to offer, but I am appalled at the sidewalk conditions. Maybe we could spend some money fixing up our walkways so people don't end up walking in the road with there strollers and pets.

Start something beautiful.

TO: Michael James O'Neal
Case No. 09-670J-03
PUBLISHED SUMMONS

IN THE NAME OF THE
STATE OF OREGON:
A petition has been filed asking the court to terminate your parental rights to the above-named child for the purpose of placing the child for adoption. YOU ARE REQUIRED TO PERSONALLY
APPEAR BEFORE the Lane County
Juvenile Court at 2727 Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd., Eugene, OR 97401, on the 1st day of December, 2011 at 1:30 p.m. to admit or deny the allegations of the petition and to personally appear at any subsequent court-ordered hearing.
YOU MUST APPEAR PERSONALLY
IN THE COURTROOM ON THE DATE
AND AT THE TIME LISTED ABOVE.
AN ATTORNEY MAY NOT ATTEND
THE HEARING IN YOUR PLACE.
THEREFORE, YOU MUST APPEAR
EVEN IF YOUR ATTORNEY ALSO APPEARS.
This summons is published pursuant to the order of the circuit court judge of the above-entitled court, dated August 2, 2011. The order directs that this summons be published once each week for three consecutive weeks, making three publications in all, in a published newspaper of general circulation in Genesee County, Michigan.

NOTICE
READ THESE PAPERS CAREFULLY
IF YOU DO NOT APPEAR PERSON-ALLY BEFORE THE COURT OR DO NOT APPEAR AT ANY SUBSEQUENT COURT-ORDERED HEARING, the court may proceed in your absence without further notice and TERMINATE YOUR PARENTAL RIGHTS to the above-named child either ON THE
DATE SPECIFIED IN THIS SUMMONS
OR ON A FUTURE DATE, and may make such orders and take such action as authorized by law.
RIGHTS AND OBLIGATIONS
(1) YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO BE REPRESENTED BY AN ATTORNEY
IN THIS MATTER. If you are currently represented by an attorney, CONTACT

Bids will be publicly opened at 10:15 a.m. on November 21, 2011, in the Fenton Administration Building, located at 3100 Owen Rd. Fenton, Michigan 48430. For details click on the Operations tab of the district's web site or contact Tim Schmieder in the Operations Department.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF FENTON PUBLIC NOTICE OF ORDINANCE ADOPTION

At their meeting of November 7, 2011 the Fenton Township Board adopted Ordinance No. 741, a new ordinance to regulate the use of wood-fired boilers, stoves and furnaces.

Complete copies of the adopted ordinance may be obtained at the office of the Fenton Township Clerk, 12060 Mantawauka Drive, Fenton, MI 48430. The ordinance is also available on Fenton Township's website at www.fentontownship.org.

ROBERT E. KRUG
FENTON TOWNSHIP CLERK

Notice
Supervisor Vacancy

Rose Township Board of Trustees has authorized the Rose Township Clerk to begin accepting applications for the position of Township Supervisor. Applications may be obtained from the Rose Township Clerk's office and should be returned to the Clerk's office no later than 4:00 p.m. on Monday, November 21, 2011.

Under State Law, applicants must be a qualified elector of Rose Township and registered to vote. To be a qualified elector, a person must be 18 years of age, a U.S. citizen, and have lived in the Township at least 30 days prior to the appointment. All interested candidates for the vacancy should note that upon acceptance of a Board member's resignation, the Township Board may vote at any time to appoint a replacement. As a result, all interested candidates are encouraged to submit an application as soon as possible.

For further information, please contact Debbie Miller, Clerk, at (248) 634-8701 or by email - clerk@rosetownship.com.

the state legislature level since the early '80s.

Recall elections are a mechanism by which constituents can force an elected official to face an election during his or her term. The elections are governed by a formula that requires a certain percentage of petitions to be signed to get the recall on the ballot.

Some people believe that recall elections are too expensive, and are akin to frivolous lawsuits. Others believe they are a necessary tool to protect the public.

Whether frivolous or necessary, recall elections come with a price tag with staff hours and materials.

Fenton Township Clerk Robert Krug is responsible for ensuring residents have a place to vote, and that the ballots make it safely to the county to be counted. He estimates his staff put in an extra 407 hours for Tuesday's election, with all things considered. In Fenton Township, the ballot also included a question about a millage for Linden schools.

The Scott recall required all precincts in the 51st District to hold elections. In Fenton Township, Krug combined the six precincts into three. "There's a lot of hours and sweat in that," he said.

Krug doesn't like recall elections, but, believes it is a right of the public. He believes Scott was recalled because of policy decisions he made. "You shouldn't have to worry about being recalled just because you and I disagree," he said.

It is Krug's opinion that the recall process should only be used for gross misconduct in office by an official, or by an executive order for a list of certain infringements. "The primary (election), that's when you could have recalled him and saved a lot of money," he said.

State Sen. John Gleason, (D) Flushing, has long fought for changing the recall laws, partially because recalls often happen close to an election. Gleason believes that if a person doesn't like the candidate, he or she can vote them out in the next election. In some cases, if a candidate is running unopposed as an incumbent, and they are recalled soon before an election, that seat will suddenly be empty. "The numbers don't work," said Gleason.

He also believes recalls are a waste of money. "(Governments) are already broke, they could have spent that money on water, sewer or roads," he said.

The legislation Gleason authored about recalls wouldn't end recall elections, but it would stop recalls close to the beginning or end of a term. The bill passed the house eight years ago. Senate Bill 629 will have bipartisan support, he added.

University of Michigan-Flint professor Marcus Paroske said there is a culture of misusing recalls in Michigan. "We're really polarized right now," he said, adding that recalls are adding to the divisive political climate in Michigan. Paroske is a professor specializing in political arguments, and elections are an example of a political argument.

Paroske said recalls are intended to be used as a weapon of last resort, if the constituents could not wait until the primary election to oust the politician. He also said recalls are a necessary political mechanism, but should be used judiciously, case by case. "I personally wouldn't have used a recall over a problem people had with a policy choice the person adopted," he said. "The problem is when nothing gets done because everyone is getting recalled."

To Paroske, government only works when Republicans and Democrats compromise. "Recalls aren't doing that," he said.

Jason Kosnoski, a UM-Flint associate professor of political science, said he finds recall elections fascinating. "I think they can be very useful," he said but also believes American elections cost too much. Scott's recall election was interesting because the movement to oust Scott was Michigan based, with Michigan groups like the Michigan Education Association and other unions pushing the recall forward. "Usually the national organizations can pour in more money and affect the outcome," he said.

As a citizen, Kosnoski said it is his opinion that Scott was recalled because he voted differently from the way he campaigned. "There are a whole slew of candidates that pursued anti-worker policies but didn't campaign as that," he said.

Lt. Jason Slater and officer Adam Lape responded to the church to investigate. Based on discussion with the church, police believed the theft occurred sometime between the evening hours of Nov. 7 and 8 p.m. on Nov. 8, when the theft was noticed and reported to the church.

Slater and Lape canvassed the area and walked toward Bush Park, looking for any evidence. "I saw something in the woods," said Slater. "Low and behold, there it was."

"I was so happy when I found it."

"I was so happy when I found it."

Lt. Jason Slater
Fenton Police Department

Police believe two individuals carried the lightweight, plaster statue through the park, over the bridge and hid it in the woods by the river. The scene was processed and detectives are following up on the evidence left behind.

Tony Delecki, business manager of the church, said they were not sure of when the suspect or suspects disconnected the statue from the base and carried it away. Someone noticed it missing just after 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Slater and Lape carried the statue out of the woods and it was transported back to the church in one of Fenton's Department of Public Works trucks.

Delecki said, in his 25 years with the church, this was the first time something like this has happened.

Downtown Linden

A SMALL TOWN
WITH BIG CHARM

By William Axford
axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Summary

►Linden is moving forward with new businesses and community events that draw people closer together.

The city of Linden has faced a few hardships in the past few years but that hasn't stopped it from moving forward. According to the last census, Linden has the fifth largest population growth in Michigan.

In the mid '70s, Linden was truly a small town with about 800 people. Today, that number has more than quadrupled to about 3,600 people. And, despite the staggering growth, Linden has been able to maintain its history and sense of community throughout the years.

"I like that we've maintained our small-town character," said Ray Culbert, who has been a city councilor for the past 21 years. Since his involvement in the community, Culbert has seen Linden's infrastructure improve immensely. The roads and sidewalks have been kept up, making the town a walkable community.

Businesses in Linden have had to weather through a tough economy in the past few years. The former Union Block property experienced a fire in 2007 and since then, the city has been unable to attract a new business to the property. The city is currently working with a new engineering firm on how to market the property to potential businesses.

Another blow came to the city when the Loose Senior Citizen Center caught fire in September. Officials plan to rebuild the center in the near future, however.

"People like it here because they feel safe and love the sense of community."

Celebrities beauty secrets

Teri Hatcher

This desperate housewife has aged incredibly well. Her secret? She loves a few glasses of red wine, but not just to drink! Teri pours two cups of red wine into her bath every night to help soften her skin.

Kate del Castillo

"When I was younger in Mexico, I used to smash avocado, add almond oil, and use it as a hair mask. It looks like guacamole, but it makes your hair beautiful and shiny."

Mariah Carey

Mariah actually looks even better now than she did when she started her career. She applies a dab of peppermint extract to her lips before a public appearance. Peppermint increases blood flow to her lips and gives Mariah a sultry pout that she loves.

Carrie Underwood

"Well, I will admit that I use falsies every once in a while because they're fun! But I do have a little kit that's full of mascara. At any given moment I will have four or five different formulas on my lashes. I don't think there is one that does all I need it to do, so I'll grab a volumizing one to make them fat, then a lengthening one to make them longer, and so on."

Sarah Jessica Parker

"I've learned a thing or two about [perfume] application. We apply a fragrance, and then we rip it apart by rubbing our wrists together. The key is to apply it and just let it sit for a while. No rubbing."

Jessica Biel

You can actually add sugar, salt, or oatmeal to your own favorite cleanser — they are abrasive enough to gently exfoliate without irritating the skin. You can also try making your own cleansing paste, by mixing 2 teaspoons of oatmeal and 1 teaspoon of baking soda.

Healthy World

The best of healthy living from around the world

How to: brush your teeth properly

Many people don't know how to brush their teeth properly. Improper brushing can cause as much damage to the teeth and gums as not brushing at all. Lots of people don't brush for long enough, don't floss and don't see a dentist regularly.

Hold your toothbrush in the same way that would hold a pencil, and brush for at least two minutes. This includes brushing the teeth, the junction of the teeth and gums, the tongue and the roof of the mouth. And you don't need a fancy, angled toothbrush — just a sturdy, soft-bristled one that you replace each month.

Ten ways to wake up beautiful

Get an early start

Make a habit of washing your face a few hours before bed. If you wait until you're tired, you're more likely to blow it off, allowing toxins and dirt to stay on all night. You miss the best time to treat your skin, as there's nothing else on your face to interfere with absorption.

Get a lift

Sleep with your head elevated on two pillows, or put the headboard area of your bed on 2-to 4-inch pieces of wood. Gravity helps lymph and blood flow so fluid won't accumulate.

Sleep on your back

Lying on your stomach is bad for "beauty sleep." The average head weighs 7 to 8 pounds, a lot of pressure to be putting on your face every night. In fact, many dermatologists say they can tell which side of the face people sleep on by the number of wrinkles there.

Save money, not wrinkles

At night, you don't need to worry about eye treatments smearing your makeup so slather on the richest formula you can.

Sneak a glow

Mix a drop of self-tanner into your night cream or use a cream that contains a bit of tan-producing DHA.

Avoid carb face

To wake with defined cheekbones, eat a high-protein, low-sugar dinner (try salmon and asparagus, a natural diuretic). Skip the rice and potatoes.

Find your inner ballerina

Pile hair into a twist on the top of your head (use a scrunchie to avoid crimping) and in the morning, you'll have major volume and beautiful waves.

Wrap it up

To minimize a.m. frizz, sleep on a satin pillowcase or put your hair in a silk scarf. The fabric is softer than cotton, so there's less friction.

Turn on the hair conditioning

Sleep with a moisturizing treatment in damp hair overnight. Any rich conditioner will do. Rinse in the morning.

Pop a Rooster Pill

Created by a sleep-deprived single mother, the pills contain an energizing blend of thiamin, riboflavin, niacin, vitamins B6 and B12, and guarana-seed extract. It's formulated with a coating that releases ingredients into your bloodstream toward the end of your last sleep cycle, so you wake up feeling clear-headed, not fuzzy.

Flatulence facts

One quart - that's how much gas humans produce on average each day. The precise composition of each individual, uh, emission depends on the food you eat, how much air you swallowed that day, the types of bacteria in your intestines and how long you try to hold back the gas. The smell is caused by small amounts of sulphur and nitrogen compounds created by partially digested food as well as the bacteria in the colon. The sulphur compounds are mainly hydrogen sulphide (the gas that smells like rotten eggs) and mercaptan. Sulphur-rich foods such as cabbage, eggs and meat cause smellier gases. Beans produce a lot of gas but the smell isn't as bad. Last, but not least, the pressure behind each pocket of gas in your colon is almost double the pressure in your car tires. Hmm — that explains the annoying accompanying noise.

Look Who's Talking

By William Axford Staff Reporter

Chelsea Jordan

What do you do outside of school?: I play volleyball year round. If I'm not playing volleyball, I'm with family and friends.

My dream car is: anything that looks good and drives well. I don't know much about cars. I don't know anything about cars.

My greatest high school regret is: not enjoying high school as much as I should have. I focused more on academics instead of going to football games and other school functions.

My most embarrassing school moment was: I once walked into a doorframe at school.

If you could have one superpower, what would it be?: I'd pick invisibility. I'm not very stealthy, so it could come in handy.

If you were principal for a day, what changes would you make?: I'd allow students to use cell phones in class. Cell phones aren't really that big of a distraction.

What is an upcoming event you are looking forward to?: Graduating from high school.

If you had to walk through downtown all day wearing a sign, what would it say?: I'm not sure, probably anything that has to do with donating money for kids in need.

Front row seats and backstage passes, who are you seeing?: I'd go to Penn State to watch the volleyball team. They've been national champions for a few years in row.

The best day of my life so far was?: When my volleyball team won districts for the first time in three years.

What are your plans after graduation?: I want to go to a Division 2 or 3 college for volleyball and major in sports medicine.

What will you be doing 10 years from now?: Hopefully, I'll have a job and still playing volleyball. I plan on settling down and having a family, too.

Bangkok Peppers Too is family-owned and operated, including owner Adam Rose (left), and his sister and brother-in-law, Charna and Jordan Hollerbach.

Bangkok Peppers Too adds spice to local restaurant scene

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Even if you've never tried Thai cuisine before, you'll find something to like at Bangkok Peppers Too, the tri-county area's only Thai restaurant.

"Once people try it, they love it," said owner Adam Rose, whose family works with him at Bangkok Peppers Too, as well as the original Bangkok Peppers in Grand Blanc, which has been open for nine years.

Bangkok Peppers Too is located at 1429 N. LeRoy St. in Fenton, across from Kan Rock Tire. They held their Grand Opening on Friday, Nov. 11, with specials promotions continuing on Saturday, Nov. 12.

Specializing in stir-fry dishes with healthy ingredients, Bangkok Peppers Too serves up just the right amount of spice, depending upon a customer's preferences. "The freshness of the foods we prepare, from our meats, poultry and seafood to our fresh-cut vegetables, are what makes each dish so delicious," said Rose. "The amount of spice used to prepare a dish is up to each customer. Each dish can be ordered mild, medium, hot or extra hot."

All entrees (except noodle-based entrees) are served with white rice and chicken rice soup, for dine-in customers. Lunch specials are served from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

What makes Thai cuisine a healthier alternative to many Chinese dishes is in its cooking method of stir-frying rather than frying, no heavy breading and no MSG. Many of the dishes are similar in name, from sweet and sour Chicken to fried rice. What sets Thai food apart is the use of coconut milk, curry and other Thai spices. Some of the most popular dishes include pad Thai, red curry stir-fry, drunken noodles, cashew chicken and triple delight.

Bangkok Peppers Too is open Monday through Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., closed Sundays. To place an order, call (810) 714-4607.

Fire & Ice Café serves up good food in Holly

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Fire & Ice Café has opened in Battle Alley in downtown Holly, celebrating their name with delicious hot and cold foods.

Owners Dennis Haigh and Barbara Gerber, husband and wife, serve up lunchtime specialties of hot pizza, sandwiches, soups and cold favorites like ice cream, malts and shakes. "We offer an eclectic dining experience," said Gerber, who has spent most of her professional life in the kitchen as a caterer. "We offer something unique every day, like our 'tomato mozz' (fresh mozzarella) sandwich or our apple sage pork panini."

Gerber can also be found in the kitchen of her other downtown Holly business, The Blackberry Bakery, which she opened last February.

Summary

► Fire & Ice Café has opened in Battle Alley in downtown Holly, serving up a variety of hot and cold foods for lunch daily, plus breakfast on weekends.

The owners and kitchen staff, including kitchen manager Eva Kurek, pride themselves on serving fresh ingredients made in-house, from soups to sauces. "People love our 'from scratch' soups," said Gerber. Some of the restaurant's most asked-for soups include French onion, cheesy enchilada, cheesy broccoli and tomato rice.

Thursday is "Mexican Day," with Mexican favorites served all day. Other daily specials will soon be incorporated into the menu, according to Gerber.

Fire & Ice Café is located at 113 Battle Alley, across from the Holly Hotel. Hours are Monday through Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., with plans soon to open during the dinner hour.

Vic Canever Chevrolet of Fenton hires new salesman

Vic Canever Chevrolet has added Pat Quinlan, of Linden, to its dealership sales staff. Quinlan has a great love for automobiles and knowledge that comes from personal experience as an automobile hobbyist. He resides in Linden with his wife, who works at Linden High School. Together they have a son who attends, and plays football for Linden Elementary School.

Father Harvey honored at dinner

The St. John Education Foundation honored Fr. David Harvey and his 30 years of service to the Fenton community at its annual dinner event on Saturday, Oct. 29. The Fr. Harvey Legacy Society was announced as a recognition program for individuals who include St. John the Evangelist Parish or school in their will or trust. Approximately 200 individuals attended the dinner. The goal is to have 25 founding members in the Fr. Harvey Legacy Society by March 2012. Thanksgiving — the antidote for anger

We've become an angry people. Reasons for our anger range from the fear of another terrorist attack, becoming the victim of a violent crime or to what some see as the maddening loss of the American Dream.

Anger is a dangerous emotion that affects every area of life — some being more serious than others. It is one thing to be angry enough to turn politicians out of office and another to vent our anger at home, verbally and physically harming those we're responsible to love and protect.

But how can one get rid of anger?

Try thanksgiving. It is impossible to be angry and thankful simultaneously. And we have many reasons to be thankful.

In his great Psalm of thanksgiving, Psalm 103, King David stressed the importance of thanksgiving, writing 'Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits.' He seems to be scolding himself for being so ungrateful when God has given him so many blessings. Can you identify with him?

Never have so many had so much and appreciated it so little.

First century heroes of the faith could praise God, even in prison. They could glory even in their infirmities while we even growl in our affluence. Their secret was to be thankful in the most difficult of circumstances, being convinced that God's love for them was unchanging even when things were tough.

The pilgrims endured many privations and heartbreaks. Half of their number died during the first winter in their new land. By today's standards, they had good reasons to be angry, resentful, quarrel among themselves, rebel at their leaders and give up. Instead, they chose to be thankful. This not only enabled them to survive, but thrive. And, their attitude of gratitude gave birth to the first Thanksgiving.

In his first Thanksgiving Proclamation, President George Washington said it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for his benefits, and to humbly implore His protection and favors.

He also chose a day in November, in his words, 'To be devoted by the people of the nation to the service of that great and glorious Being, who is the Beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be; that we may then unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country, and for all the great and various favors which He has been pleased to confer upon us.'

Neither the pilgrims nor the president lived to see the blessings we have too long taken for granted. It's time to put away our complaining and be thankful.

THE HUNT IS ON!

Deer hunting season is just a couple days away

By Colin Van Leuven

tri-county outdoors

Just preparing to go deer hunting is half of the fun. Getting ready and talking about the hunt with friends and strangers each fall is a large part of the allure. With the 2011 firearms deer season just a couple days away, it's time once again to gear up.

If you're hunting locally, deciding not to make that annual trek north, then your preparation may be little more than taking your gun and clothes out of storage, and heading out to hunt. However, if you and the gang are heading to deer camp, there's usually an extensive amount of work to do.

Start by making a list of what you'll need. This helps to ensure that gear you need at camp actually arrives, and isn't left in a closet or tucked under a bed. Every year, sleeping bags, boots, hunting coats, and even rifles, are left behind. (Don't ask how I know this.)

If you cook at camp, make a menu of the meals you'll have each day. This makes meal planning easier and saves money when shopping rather than just haphazardly loading up the cart. We often prepare several of our dinners before we head to camp, so it's only a matter of heating them up when we come in from hunting.

If you still need to buy some hunting equipment, you'll need to get it soon. At this time of the year, any gear that needs to be replaced can swiftly become depleted. Try some of our local stores such as Guns Galore, for instance, as you might not fare well up north where stocks are often very lean, if not sold out altogether.

As this is the upcoming firearms season, there is one other primary consideration besides finding all of your hunting stuff and having enough food to eat. Have you sighted in your rifle, shotgun, or pistol?

Local sportsman's clubs, such as Linden and Fenton, commonly have sight-in days for non-members during this time of year, so you can try them, or head to a state gun range. Island Lakes, near Kensington Metro Park, is close by and is a wonderful range to shoot at with their 25-, 50-, and 100-yard ranges. (<http://mi.gov/shootingranges>). Sighting in at a range keeps the noise level down in the area you'll be hunting and is safer under the more controlled conditions.

Properly sighting in requires time. Always wear hearing and eye protection. Hearing protection helps you not flinch, which means you'll shoot better.

Shoot slowly, allowing your barrel to cool between shots. A rifle barrel when cool can shoot very tight patterns, but after heating up, it may start throwing bullets up to 5 inches off center. That's huge, and likely a miss.

I like the 3-inch high at 100 yards rule, which works well with most high-velocity deer calibers. With my set-up, it allows me to shoot through a 6-inch opening all the way out to about 300 yards without raising the point of aim. That takes a lot of guesswork out of determining the exact range to target.

If you haven't scouted yet, or are hunting a new area, try an online map service like Google Earth, which you can also get on your smartphone while sitting on your stand. Their satellite photos are great for this purpose, and many of the photos for Michigan have been updated as recently as this year. In some areas, at maximum resolution, you can even see game trails. Look for those funnel areas for that wall-hanger buck to be hiding near.

Another tip is to go to the DNR website to locate areas with heavy acorn crops. Acorns are a magnet for deer. They help with mating success, higher birth rates, health, and antler growth.

According to a recent study, areas with good mast crops often produce better racks the following year.

So, go buy that license, finish packing, and pre-cook some hearty dinners. Sharpen your knife, and put your field dressing gloves in your coat. Load new batteries into the flashlight, and fresh shells in your clips. Pin on your compass, and get your maps out. Get those old hunting tales dusted off, and get ready to add some new ones.

On opening day, when the sky starts to lighten and you see a nice buck ghosting along the edge of a wood, you'll know you're all set to take that shot.

Have a great deer hunt, and good shooting.

SENIOR DOGS NEED EXTRA ATTENTION

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: My golden retriever, "Jessie," recently turned 9 years old. He's always been an energetic dog, but he doesn't seem to like walking as far as he used to, and when chasing birds in the park, he only chases them a few feet before trotting back to me. He also has some digestive issues. Is this normal for an older dog, or should I worry that he's got some hidden health issue?

— Sam L., Atlanta

DEAR SAM: Nine years is definitely "senior dog" territory, and it is normal even for very energetic dogs to begin to noticeably slow down. Their dietary needs and their digestive system also go through gradual change. If Jessie isn't showing signs of distress or extreme lethargy, he's probably OK. However, as his owner, you know him best, so if his behavior or digestion concern you, take him to the veterinarian for a checkup.

Senior dogs do have unique needs that owners should address. Heidi Ganahl, owner of Camp Bow Wow, recently listed a few considerations senior dog owners should take:

- Schedule a veterinary checkup every six months, rather than once a year. A senior pet's health can change rapidly.
- Learn the signs of common ailments in senior dogs, like hip and joint problems, diabetes and eye or ear issues.
- Feed your senior dog two smaller meals per day, rather than one. This may help with digestive problems.
- Consider adding at least two fresh meals to your dog's diet per week. The added nutrition can be a big help.
- Replace long runs or walks with shorter jaunts followed by a daily training or toy romp.

Send your question or comment to ask@pawscorner.com, or write to Paw's Corner, c/o King Features Weekly Service, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475. For more pet care-related advice and information, visit www.pawscorner.com.

'Ticking time bomb' may explode relationship

DEAR AMY: My girlfriend and I are nearing 40. We are both functioning adults with our own finances. Now she's starting to hint at marriage. Having seen this before with younger, less established women, I know that once thoughts of marriage enter the picture it almost becomes an obsession! I know that soon every kindness from her will seem like a ticking time bomb that accelerates to destruction. How do I relieve this pressure from her and defuse it to prevent an implosion of the relationship? Sure, I'm a serial monogamist, but I need love too. I just don't want to get married.

— Not a Marrying Man

DEAR MAN: The quickest way to defuse a ticking bomb is to snip those wires before the inevitable explosion. You will do this by responding to hints with the offer of a real conversation. You should tell your girlfriend the truth: that you are a serial monogamist and want to remain in a committed relationship, but that you will not get married. She will either accept your explanation and make her own decision about whether to stay or leave, or she will continue to work you over in the hopes that you will change. Then the choice becomes yours. If you don't want to be a bomb dispersal expert in your own relationship, you will have to find someone else who shares your goals.

DEAR AMY: I know this isn't the biggest problem in the world, but it bothers me. I am a mental health professional. When I go for a relaxing spa treatment like a massage or pedicure, etc., the technician asks what I do for a living and then proceeds to regale me with stories of friends' or relatives' problems! Amy, do they not realize that this conversation is exposing me to the very things I am trying to recover from, i.e., workplace stress? Can you put the word out that most of us don't want to discuss our problems at the salon?

— Stressed Spa-goer in Va.

DEAR STRESSED: You may not want to discuss your problems, but for many people a visit to the barbershop, the beauty shop or their fancier equivalents provides not just an opportunity to wind down, but to share, laugh and solve the problems of the world. However, when you take your appointed place at the salon, you own that chair -- temporarily, anyway. Your aestheticians have things backward. They should not share their (or other people's) problems, but should read you well enough to understand your needs.

You, on the other hand, are a mental health professional. Surely you know how to convey boundaries? Surely you can say, "I'm going to just sit here quietly and try to unwind." Then you can dive into the most recent copy of Us Weekly and vicariously enjoy the only problems worth having: celebrity problems.

(Send questions via e-mail to askamy@tribune.com or by mail to Ask Amy, Chicago Tribune, TT500, 435 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, IL 60611. Amy Dickinson's memoir, "The Mighty Queens of Freeville: A Mother, a Daughter and the Town that Raised Them" (Hyperion), is available in bookstores.)

ANSWER KEY LOCATED IN THIS EDITION

PAUL G. DONOHUE, M.D.

To your good health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Many years ago, when I was still a teen, I went skiing with my older brother. He was a much better skier than I, so we went our separate ways. Later, I saw a group huddling around one skier who looked a lot like my brother. It was my brother. He lost one of his gloves, and he had two frostbitten fingers. His only permanent damage was the loss of a fingertip. Ever since, I have been careful about dressing warm, often with two pair of gloves in cold weather. I don't know what to do about frostbite. Will you run the basics by me? — S.S.

ANSWER: Frostbite happens when the temperature drops to 32 F (0 degrees C) or lower. Actually, the temperature has to be lower than 32, since the minerals in the fluids bathing the tissues lower their freezing point. The places most susceptible are the fingers, hands, toes, feet, nose and ears. The first sign of trouble is pain. Then the skin turns quite pale. After that, numbness sets in. People might think that nothing is wrong at this stage, but numbness is a sign that freezing is imminent. The skin and involved tissues become hard and firm. Ice crystals form in the spaces between cells. They pull water out of the cells and dehydrate them. The dehydration, decreased blood flow and ice crystals all work together to cause tissue damage. One of the most destructive factors is the lack of oxygen that comes from artery constriction to prevent heat loss from the rest of the body. Fast rewarming is the treatment. It should not begin if you are in a place where there's a chance of refreezing. Refreezing is a more destructive process than leaving things alone until you are in a place where the person can be kept warm. The affected part should be immersed in a bath of hot water whose temperature is around 104 F (40 C). The water has to be kept warm by adding more hot water as the bath begins to cool. At no point should you rub the frozen part. If the affected area cannot be warmed in a water bath, then use hot compresses. Rewarming is painful. Tylenol or a stronger medicine should be given. In 12 to 24 hours, blisters form. Do not break them. At this point, have a doctor examine the patient for definitive care.

The Fenton Historical Society will meet on Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Fenton Museum, 310 S. Leroy St. in Fenton. The speaker will be Les Thomas. He will speak about Lucy Blanchard, a civil war nurse from Fenton. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

LINDEN

Despite the hardships the city has faced, there are signs of growth, especially in the downtown area. New businesses have opened along Bridge Street, many of them in the past year. The Linden Sweet Shoppe and Linden Pharmacy have been thriving since they opened their doors. Me & My Girl's Coney Café is just one of the restaurants in town for locals to gather and meet. More established shops such as Thimbleberry Antique Store have been able to evolve over time and become a staple of the town. "We try to have unique, distinctive things," said Thimbleberry owner Kit Maloney. "We want people to enjoy their time when they come in here."

A computer repair store and an interior design store are expected to open up in the next few months.

What truly makes Linden shine however is the town's emphasis on community events and gatherings. Year round events such as the Linden Autumn Festival and Holiday Happening draw hundreds of visitors, celebrating life in a small-town atmosphere. The Linden Farmers' Market drew nearly 500 people to the downtown area every Wednesday over the summer. The Back to the Bricks event was another event that drew people into Linden over the summer. The Holiday Happening in December features caroling, horse-drawn carriage rides and a parade through downtown.

"As a small city, we need to keep working on these activities. We need to continue to bring people together," said Culbert.

The sense of community goes beyond events, however. As the population of older people continues to increase, Linden is establishing itself as a prominent senior care town. Caretel Inns of Linden on Bridge Street has grown over the last few years. The Loose Senior Citizen Center is expected to reopen on Monday in the building not affected by the fire. All activities are as scheduled, including lunch. Culbert expects accommodations to senior citizens to become a major part of Linden's economy in the future.

Growth for the city may be small for now, but it does exist. The planning commission, who saw absolutely no activity for the past few years, is regularly talking with businesses about new developments. The city council and Linden Summer Happening Committee are working to bring the Summer Happening back next year, although nothing is concrete, yet.

The City of Linden is working to keep its historic, small-town feel while trying to grow within a tough economy.

"People like it here because they feel safe here and love the sense of community," said Culbert. "We wouldn't be the fifth fastest growing city in Michigan if they didn't."

TRI-COUNTY FALL TOP FIVE

The fall season into the homestretch, with only three teams that could have an impact still playing contests. Those squads would be the Fenton and Linden football teams and the Fenton girls swimming and diving team.

This will probably be the last update until the final poll at the end of November, so these positions are finally starting to get a little serious.

We have one more note. If you love the Internet, you may have noticed that we have almost weekly updates on the top five at www.tctimes.com. It's likely we'll keep up the same updates during the winter season as well. Here's the top five as of Friday.

No. 5 Holly boys tennis: The Bronchos remain in the top five, but slip a spot to No. 5 this week. Not much has changed. They will remain here as long as the teams below them still fighting for higher spots don't surpass them. We are guessing that probably won't happen.

No. 4 - Fenton girls swimming and diving: Capturing the Metro League title was no problem for the Tigers. Now, they train for the state meet that starts on Friday. Very much like the Holly boys tennis team, it's the postseason that really creates the swim team's final ranking. Consequently, this week's drop to No. 4 from No. 3 isn't really that much of a big deal.

No. 3 - Linden girls golf: This decision didn't come very easily. The girls placed fifth at the state meet, but before the regional and state meet, the Eagles didn't have a terribly strong resume. The fifth-place finish carries a lot of weight, and that's why they are at No. 3. However, they still only took fourth in the Metro. And now other teams with strong regular seasons are "catching up" with their postseason success. That's why they are dropping.

No. 2 Fenton football: The Tigers move into the top five when it matters most — near the end of the season. And what a jump they made, right to No. 2! The Tigers "only" finished 7-2 during the regular season, sharing the Metro League crown with two

Eagles, Tigers assume underdog roles in regional games

Linden's Brown, Marsh stepping up during the Eagles' playoff run

Shaye Brown has seen his ups this season.

He's also seen his downs.

But through it all, Linden's junior quarterback has helped the Eagles to their best playoff run in school history, with that journey continuing Saturday at Orchard Lake St. Mary's in Linden's first-ever regional championship game.

And it's easy to forget he wasn't even the starting quarterback in the opening game this season.

"It probably wasn't even until halfway through the first week of our first game," Linden coach Denny Hopkins said, when asked when he knew Brown would be his starting QB this year. "Travis (Marsh) started that first game. I thought at the time they were about even, and with Shay being a junior, we might have something to build on for the future. We felt that Travis was a good runner and we still wanted him to be a part of the offense, so we moved him to tailback."

For the most part, the move has worked out reasonably well for the Eagles, particularly in the playoffs. Since the playoffs have begun, Brown has completed 29-of-46 passes (63 percent) for 426 yards and three TDs. He's thrown just one pick in that time.

And in the process, the Eagles have cruised in the playoffs, defeating Lapeer West 21-0 in the opening round and Lapeer East 33-8 in the district final last Friday.

"I think he's come a long way," Hopkins said of Brown. "His confidence level has gotten much better. He's been able to achieve some success and grow off of that. He still has a lot of improvement to go, but we are pleased with the progress we've seen this year."

Brown admits he's grown within the position.

"I've got way more confident, ever since the Fenton game,"

Family feud set up in Fenton's regional game

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton varsity football coach Jeff Setzke knows the Lowell High School football program pretty well.

He knows the team's coach, his wife and even the waterboy better.

That's because the Fenton varsity coach has family ties to the Lowell program.

The family ties will be a strong secondary storyline during Fenton's Division 2 regional championship game Saturday at 1 p.m. at Lowell High School.

Lowell's head coach, Noel Dean, is Setzke's brother-in-law, and was the best man at Setzke's wedding. That means, of course, that Setzke's sister, Jill Dean, is Dean's wife. This will mark the first time the two coaches have faced each other on different sides of a varsity football game.

"It will be interesting," Setzke said. "We have a lot of family involved. I've been telling my sister, 'Blood is thicker than marriage. I expect you

LF volleyball's run ends in regional semis

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Brooklyn — The Lake Fenton varsity volleyball team had an historic night on Tuesday.

The Blue Devils were playing in their first regional semifinal contest since 1998 at the Brooklyn Columbia Central regional against Jackson Lumen Christi.

But not all historic days end the way teams want them to. While the Blue Devils were competitive against their fellow Class B foes, Lake Fenton dropped a competitive 25-19, 24-26, 25-17, 25-18 match against the Titans.

"They were good games, no doubt," first-year Lake Fenton head coach Angie Del Morone said. "It was a great experience. We'll go into next season with my five kids and they will be hungry. They want what we had this year. The seniors were outstanding and my juniors followed suit, they were outstanding."

After the teams split the first two sets, Lumen Christi was able to pull ahead in the second half of sets three and four, sparking the win.

In the third set, Lake Fenton never led, but were tied 7-all after an ace by Katey Brophy. However, a Lake Fenton hitting error sparked a run of three straight points for the Titans. Chelsea Jordan got a kill, cutting the gap to 10-8, but three consecutive kills by Lumen Christi raised the lead to 13-8. From there the lead grew to as much as 18-9, before the Blue Devils were able to make a run. Ashley Rinks earned the service and had two consecutive aces, and another of her serves resulted in a Lumen Christi overpass and kill for Lake Fenton's Sidney Scott. At that time, Lake Fenton was within 18-13. However, the Blue Devils never cut the gap to less than five, eventually dropping the third-set.

The Blue Devils opened the fourth set with a 3-0 lead after two aces by Rinks and a kill by Scott. However, Lumen Christi tied it right back up with three straight kills, including one on a Lake Fenton service reception overpass.

Lake Fenton's final lead came at 10-9 on an Ellesa Smith kill, but a Lake Fenton service error followed, and Lumen Christi went on a four-point run with three straight kills. Lumen Christi led 13-10.

Down the stretch, it was Lake Fenton's service reception that failed them. The Blue Devils had four Lumen Christi service reception attempts that never made it over the net. They had another one that resulted in an overpass and a kill for Lumen Christi's Cassidy Sponsler. The final service reception error put Lumen Christi up 22-13. Lake Fenton cut the gap to 22-17 with the aid of a Scott kill and an Emily Hawes ace, but a tip kill by Lumen Christi's Kelsey Dillon ended up being the match point moments later.

"I think when we serve received bad, we got down on ourselves, and then we started losing it more and more," Scott said.

"(Serve receive) cost us some points. I'm not sure if it cost us the match, but it cost us some points," Del Morone said. "We executed the game plan the way we wanted to. We knew exactly what they wanted to do to us after the first game and we corrected it in the second game. I think we corrected it the third game. The fourth game, serve receive hurt us a little, but we

Linden's Varacalli captures sixth at regional event

By David Troppens
dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Mayce Varacalli will be the first to admit, when she talks about her experiences at Mott Community College and with the cross country team, it might sound like she's doing a Mott advertising campaign.

"I am very happy I made the choice to go there," the 2011 Linden graduate said. "I'm getting a great education. I've met great people and had great training. I know I sound like an infomercial, but it's been a great experience. I don't need the university experience. Being on the cross country team is amazing in itself."

It's not hard to see why Varacalli feels that way. After all, she recently placed sixth at the regional meet, earning herself a spot in the National Junior College Athletic Association Cross Country Championships, to be held this weekend in Hobbs, N.M. And she's not the only one going to the meet from the tri-county area.

The Mott boys team qualified for the meet by taking third at regionals, and includes two Fenton graduates — Patrick Beardslee and Nick French. Meanwhile, Fenton graduate Hayley Ladi also is going to the meet and competing as an open runner.

Varacalli qualified by taking sixth at regionals with a time of 19:25. She has had an outstanding season, finishing in the top 10 in three events, including winning the Jackson Cross Country Invitational early in the season. She started deeper in the pack, but passed girls until she finished the race in 20:19. The win surprised Varacalli.

"I didn't even know at first," Varacalli said about the victory. "I thought the leader was far ahead. When I finished I found out and thought, 'No way.' It's exciting. Maybe in track I've taken a first, but I never thought I'd take first at a cross country invitational."

At regionals, she placed sixth with a time of 19:25.

"It was probably some of the best training I've ever had," Varacalli said. "I went to the race pretty much prepared for it. All I had to do was deliver."

Varacalli broke 19 minutes twice this season. She placed 64th in 18:56 at the Loyola Invitational and also posted a 10th-place time of 18:59 at the Muskegon Cross Country Invitational.

"I was just hoping to break 20 minutes again, because I had only done it once during my high school career. I ended up breaking 19 minutes instead," Varacalli said. "I was hoping to place in the top 15 at regionals as well."

"She's looking for top 20 or better, that's her goal," Mott cross country coach Winston Stooddy said. "I think she can do it. She's a tough girl."

French, a 2010 Fenton graduate, is a key member of the men's national qualifying team, placing 11th at the regional meet (26:18). Men run 8K races as opposed to the women's 5K events.

"That's a fast time," Stooddy said. "That kid has a gift. I tried to recruit him in high school, but now he's here and he's loving Mott."

French has usually been Mott's men's second-best runner. He posted an eighth-place finish at the Jackson Invitational.

Two other Fenton graduates headed to the national event are Beardslee and Ladi. Beardslee took 53rd at regionals (28:37), helping the Bears get out of the regional with a top-three spot. Typically, Beardslee has been the team's fifth or sixth runner in races this fall.

Meanwhile, Ladi is competing as an open runner after taking 41st at regionals with a time of 22:05.

Q: I have a 2006 Silverado and my air will not work while im idling, but when i start driving down the road it starts blowing what could it be? - Jeremy

A: Jeremy, I am not sure. I think you are saying that it gets cold when moving and does not blow cold at idle. If this is the case, you need to check a couple of things first. Make sure your cooling fan is working properly and that the condenser is not restricted in any way. This is in front of the truck behind the grill and looks like a radiator. The condenser tends to get debris in as it acts like a filter being in front of the radiator. You can clean it with a garden hose, but be careful not to bend the shape of the fins as they are very easily damaged. Next thing to check is that the refrigerant is not low or high for any reason. This can cause this symptom as well. Sometimes you need to have the system evacuated and pulled into a vacuum to get any access moisture out of it. This would take equipment that you may have to go to a repair shop for.

didn't do the stuff we had been doing the other three games."

Lumen Christi won the first set and six serve receive errors hurt the Blue Devils' chances in that set. In the second set, the teams tied the game 10 times and had five lead changes, as neither team took a true grasp of the game. Lumen Christi took a 23-22 lead on a Sponsler kill, but the Blue Devils tied it back on a Titan hitting error. It was tied for the last time at 24-all, but Lake Fenton's Jordan settled the set by earning a kill and a block kill for the final two points.

Smith and Somers led Lake Fenton with 10 kills each, while Megan Somers had nine kills. Sidney Scott chipped in eight. Rachael Mundy had 34 assists. Ashley Rinks had four aces, while Katey Brophy had three assists. Defensively, Smith had 17 digs, while Jordan and Mundy had nine digs. Brophy had eight digs.

"This season meant a lot," Smith said. "It was a nice way to end our senior year. I thought we would get further and could've had it, but it was nice to get this far my senior year."

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | MARK BOLEN

Linden's Travis Marsh completes a touchdown run earlier this season. He has scored six touchdowns for the Eagles in the playoffs.

Brown said. "I was really nervous then. Coming into (the playoffs), I've felt good."

Brown's numbers started so-so for the first three weeks of the season. Linden was 1-2 after a loss to Holly, and Brown still had yet to establish himself at the position, throwing just two TD passes and completing passes for just 10.9 yards a reception in those first three contests.

However, since then, he's thrown 23 TD passes and has completed 170 passes for 14.6 yards a catch. And while Brown has started to earn his stripes at QB, Marsh has established himself at running back.

Marsh has averaged 4.3 yards a carry this fall and has scored 10 touchdowns. He's gotten particularly effective in the playoffs, scoring three TDs in each contest.

"They put me at running back and that's where I've been ever since," Marsh said.

"When I get the ball, I just give it everything I got, just go for it.

"I'm really happy. I had three touchdowns last week and three this week."

Marsh has seen some time at QB. In fact, he actually took part in the longest play from scrimmage this year, a 98-yard TD pass against Ortonville-Brandon in which he was almost sacked for a safety on the play.

However, his value at running back has been apparent.

"I've been playing football for a long time and I've been playing every position. I guess quarterback isn't the position I can stick at. I'm better at playing running back."

Hopkins appreciates how Marsh has adjusted.

"He's proven he's a great teammate and will do what he can to help the team," Hopkins said. "Now he feels comfortable with running back. He's fine with it."

other teams. The fact so many teams finished the league season with two losses hurt the squad at first. But now, the fact that the Tigers have followed that up with a district title is important. Linden football also is helping their case. Fenton beat them, and the Eagles are in the regional round as well. That gives them strength of schedule points. Saturday's district championship win puts the squad somewhere around fifth to eighth in Division 2 football. That carries a lot of weight as well.

No. 1 - Linden boys cross country: They won all three Metro League meets, won a couple of other non-league invitationals, won a regional title and then finished ninth at the state meet. No other fall team combines what the Eagles' resume does at this time. They have non-league regular season success, league success and postseason success. It makes them an easy selection at No. 1 with just over a week to go in the fall season.

to be on our sideline.' I don't think that's going to happen."

The two family-member coaches have their programs at the regional title game, but both programs are at the game at kind of different levels. Under Dean, Lowell has flourished, winning three state championships in seven years. Meanwhile, Setzke still is building the Fenton program. This is the second straight year the Tigers have made it to the regional title contest, but this is still a "new" thing to Tiger fans. Before last year, the Tigers had never been to the regional championship, and they are

Family Affair

Saturday's Division 2 regional title game marks the first time brother-in-laws Jeff Setzke and Noel Dean have faced off as coaches in a prep football game. Here is a little bio about each coach at their current school.

Noel Dean, Lowell coach

- Took over as Lowell head coach in 1996.
- Has a 159-28 overall record.
- Have made the playoffs 13 straight years and 14 years in all.
- Has won three state titles.

Jeff Setzke, Fenton coach

- Took over as Fenton head coach in 2006.
- Has a 34-27 overall record.
- Have made the playoffs four straight years.
- Has the Tigers in the regional championship game for a second straight season.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES
SCOTT SCHUPBACH

Fenton varsity football coach Jeff Setzke will be facing his brother-in-law when the Tigers play Lowell on Saturday.

still looking for that first championship victory. Setzke realizes taking it to the next step, will require beating teams like Lowell.

"They are a great football team, are a great program and have a great tradition," Setzke said. "We aspire to be like them. If we are going to be like them, we have to go play them. Whatever happens in that football game — win, lose or draw — it's going to be a great thing because we need to play those teams."

The pair began coaching together at Bendle High School, but have not been together for 16 years since Dean took the coaching position at Lowell. Setzke remained at Bendle before coming to Fenton six years ago. Since then, he's posted a 34-27 record, including a 31-12 mark in the last four years. He's led the Tigers to the playoffs each of the last four seasons, winning three of seven postseason contests.

The teams know each other as well. In most summers, the teams see each other during 7-on-7 summer camps. However, they didn't play against each other in a game before this year.

Setzke's team is excited about the subplot as well.

"We've been talking about this game since my freshman year," Joe DeLaVergne said. "I've been looking forward to it. There's a rivalry there. We've gone down there for some camps. They know what we are about. We knew what they are about. It's going to be a great game, and we're going to be ready."

EXPERT

I called this morning after your service representative Mike left to express my thanks to your company for providing us with a great service repair to our LG refrigerator. I found him to be very knowledgeable, informative, and willing to take the time to ensure that we understood each aspect of the unit. He was very considerate regarding our home, being careful in moving the refrigerator and replacing it by protecting the floor and cabinets. What a great asset to your company, I wish I had a couple of dedicated employees like him. Thanks for a great service call. Gary & Pat B.
