Graves wins 51st District seat

►Replaces Republican Paul Scott who was recalled last November

By Editorial Staff
news@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

It was a tight and hard-fought race, but Joseph Graves, (R-Argentine Township) pulled ahead of Steve Losey (D-Linden) and Cary Neuville-Justice (G-Linden) in Tuesday's election.

By 9:30 p.m., Graves declared victory while he joined a group of his supporters at Legends Sports Cafe in Fenton Township. He thanked his friends and family, especially his wife Denise, who is the Argentine Township clerk. He also thanked Green Party opponent Cary Neuville-Justice for running on a platform of issues.

Election results are unofficial. He replaces Paul Scott, the former Republican state rep for the 51st District, who was recalled

Hayes: life sentence plus 160 years

►Baker gets 13 to 30 years

By Tim Jagielo

Flint—Monday afternoon ended a two-year tragedy that gripped the tri-county area, and tore a family apart. Brandon Hayes, 27, was handed down a double-life sentence for the murder of Dominick Calhoun, 4, in 2010.

Dominick's

mother Corrine Baker was given 13-30 years. She pleaded no contest to second-degree murder and second-degree child abuse in connection with Dominick's death.

Angered because the little boy wet his pants while sitting on a sofa, Hayes tortured and beat Dominick to death over several days in April of 2010 while living in an apartment in Argentine Township. The investigation revealed that Baker had opportunities to get help for her son, but chose to do nothing.

After the sentencing, family and friends celebrated outside of Judge Richard B. Yulle's courtroom in Flint. “I'm euphoric,” said Richard Calhoun, Dominick's paternal grandfather. “It's a happy, sad kind of day,” he said, because although sentencing is handed down, it won't bring Dominick back.

Dominick's paternal grandmother Lisa DeLong said she was, “Ecstatic, they got what they deserved.”

Weed treatment axed at Linden Millpond

►Survey finds most residents oppose treatment

By William Axford

Linden — After six months of deliberation, the Linden Millpond will not receive weed treatment. A recent survey conducted by the city found that only 43 percent (22 votes) of residents were for the weed treatment program while 41 percent (21 votes) were against it. In order for the program to move forward, the council needed approval from 51 percent of the residents.

Counties to control road commissions

►Laws allow for dissolution of road commissions

By William Axford

The fate of county road commissions now lies in the hands of county commissions. Gov. Rick Snyder recently signed two house bills into law that allows county boards of commissioners to dissolve appointed road commissions. The law also allows county boards to ask voters for dissolution of elected road commissions.

NOCFA Board Member Susan Slaughter defends herself from allegations from the public, and from the board, concerning her performance as a member.

NOCFA board wants member ousted

► Recommends considering Slaughter's removal

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Rose Twp. — In a 3-2 vote, the North Oakland County Fire Authority (NOCFA) Fire Board passed Resolution 2012-1, with Susan Slaughter and Robert Kast, casting dissenting votes.

The resolution recommends that Rose Township consider removing its representative, Treasurer Susan Slaughter, from the NOCFA board.

Slaughter voted against removing herself, and Kast felt it wasn't the board's place to recommend her removal.

The bulk of the meeting was spent discussing the reason for submitting the proposal, and Slaughter defending herself against the other members of the board.

The main arguments against Slaughter were discussed at a special meeting in early February, where it was decided a resolution was legal.

"We have not turned them in before. What don't you understand about this?"

Susan Slaughter
NOCFA board member

Slaughter was not present.

The same arguments from both sides were rehearsed here. They mainly hinged on two contentious issues, the yearly evaluation of NOCFA Fire Chief Jeremy Lintz, and another issue involving a taxpayer-funded dumpster.

The main issue was Slaughter's evaluation of Lintz, who is evaluated by each member every year, and receives raises based on his scores from the members.

In January, Slaughter scored Lintz with a 34 of 60, which was at least 10 points below the other board members' scores.

She also did not turn in remarks for her lower scores, until five days later. When this was brought up she said, "We have not turned them in before. What don't you understand about this?"

The board rejected her late comments. Chief Lintz said that his evaluation sheets are clearly marked with areas for comments, and places for him to respond to comments.

Slaughter said the attacks were political, and accused the board of only wanting "yes" men on board. She said she sees Lintz's performance differently, having been involved in the township for much longer than other members of the board.

Members of the board also felt that Slaughter overstepped her authority, while dealing with a dumpster issue, where Lintz should have handled the issue of a misused dumpster, but instead Slaughter dealt with the Michigan State Police directly.

Slaughter said she was operating under the direction of Rose Township Supervisor Glen Noble.

"It looks like you people are trying to crucify somebody," said resident Tom Willwerth, during public comment. Slaughter is not new to controversy. She caught heat for working from home for more than a year after she was injured in a slip and fall accident at the township hall.

1 Keep dough from sticking to rolling pin

To keep dough from sticking to your rolling pin, slip a clean knee-high stocking with the toe cut off over the roller and dust with flour. The nylon holds on to the flour, so the dough stays put.

2 A quick fix for carpet dents

Place an ice cube in the rug indentation. As it melts, the moisture sinks in and plumps up the fibers, so your carpet will become smooth and dent free again.

Despite advances in technology, locksmithing is still a job focused mainly on mechanical work. "A lot of people think we do just keys," said Ameen, who is the sole locksmith for his company. He said that if something is attached to the door, he can work on it. He changes deadbolts, repairs locks, and opens safes and works on key-pad entry systems. If you live in an apartment building, he repairs the "buzz-in" systems also.

"If it's on the door, or it pertains to the door, we fix it," he said.

Ameen said he does 70-percent commercial work, and 30-percent residential, and the occasional vehicle. He'll help at an emergency, when someone is locked out of their home or car, if he can make it in a reasonable amount of time. If he can't, he'll refer the customer to someone else.

RACHEL MADDOW AND MY LESSON IN CIVILITY

When one writes about moral convictions, it's probably a good idea to consistently live up to them. That way people can still disagree with your convictions, but they have a difficult time accusing you of hypocrisy.

Two weeks ago at the Conservative Political Action Conference (CPAC) in Washington, I failed to live up to one of my highest principles. Here's the background. The story about the Obama administration's attempt to force Catholic and other faith-based institutions to offer employees free contraception in their health care coverage was still fresh. I was asked to be on a panel before what looked like a crowd of about 1,000 conservatives, hungry for "red meat."

A clip was played from Rachel Maddow's MSNBC program. It featured her commenting on the subject. I stupidly said before thinking, "I think she's the best argument in favor of her parents using contraception." I then added, "and all the rest of the crowd at MSNBC, too, for that matter."

The next morning I felt bad about it, so I called Ms. Maddow to apologize. It wasn't one of those meaningless "if I've offended anyone..." apologies; it was heartfelt. I had embarrassed myself and was a bad example to those who read my column and expect better from me.

Maddow could not have been more gracious. She immediately accepted my apology. On her show, she said publicly, "I completely believe his apology. I completely accept his apology." To be forgiven by one you have wronged is a blessing, it's even cleansing.

Maddow also accepted my invitation to lunch and we will soon meet in New York. I am looking forward to it. Whatever else she may or may not be, she is my fellow American.

I have acquired many liberal friends over the years. They became my friends because I stopped seeing them as labels and began seeing them as persons with innate worth. That is what I failed to do in my first response to Rachel Maddow.

So, apology delivered and accepted and lunch will soon be served.

Mill Days to replace Summer Happening

►Fireworks, carnival planned for this summer's event

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Linden — Linden Mill Days is poised to officially replace the Linden Summer Happening and has the backing of the Linden City Council. Mill Days had its inauguration on June 25 last year in lieu of the Summer Happening. Organizer Cyndi Roesner is hoping Mill Days will include a carnival and fireworks, much like the Linden Summer Happening did.

So far, Mill Days is scheduled for June 21 – 24. Skerbeck Brothers Carnival, a fireworks display, battle of the bands and entertainment tent are some of the activities planned for the four-day event.

In order to attract the carnival to Linden however, the event must include fireworks, which will cost $5,000. Organizers were concerned about raising funds before the Skerbeck Brothers Carnival's deadline.

"This year we want to start out right," Roesner said at Monday's city council meeting. "This will be something positive for the businesses and a tradition we can be proud of."

The council discussed various ways to help organizers with the event. City Councilor Ray Culbert suggested investigating if the city had some funds available to help with the purchase of fireworks.

"It wouldn't be inappropriate to send City Manager/Police Chief Scott Sutter back to see if there is some seed money," Culbert said. "If we want the government and Southern Lakes Parks & Recreation to be behind this and do it right, we need to use some seed money."

The Mill Days has gathered support from numerous members of the Linden community, including VFW Post 4642, the Masonic Lodge, historical museum and the Presbyterian Church.

Councilor Charlie Ross praised organizers for scheduling activities to close earlier in the evening. In the past, excessive, late night noise was a major concern between the City of Linden and Summer Happening organizers.

Despite the Mill Days becoming the official event of Linden, the Summer Happening is not officially over. Mayor David Lossing said event organizers are still planning to have the event, which will be held outside of the city.

Summer Happening organizers did not respond before press time.

"This will be something positive for the businesses and a tradition we can be proud of."

White Cane Drive is a go

►Fenton Lions Club annual event set for May 3-6

By Ryan Tackabury

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Fenton — The Fenton City Council has given its approval for the Fenton Lions Club to conduct its annual White Cane Drive in the city from May 3 to 6.

The White Cane Drive has been an annual activity of the Fenton Lions Club for many years, and is conducted by Lions clubs across the state. All of the donations that are collected are returned to the community in some fashion.

The Fenton Lions Club will be taking donations outside of VG's and Wal-mart. Receiving permission from these retailers means that Lions Club members do not have to try to solicit donations at street intersections. Councilman Les Bland, a Fenton Lions Club member for 26 years, is happy to see the support from the community. "We're too darn old," Bland joked, "We can't dodge cars."

"We do very well," he added, speaking of the successes of past years. "We are very appreciative to the citizens of Fenton."

Mayor Sue Osborn spoke highly of the organization and the White Cane Drive. "The Lions Club does so much for this city," she said.

Lions Clubs International was founded in 1917, and is made up of 1.35 million members in more than 206 countries. While they place an emphasis on fighting blindness, the organization deals with all kinds of community projects. Other focuses include helping the environment, feeding the hungry and aiding seniors.

Summary

►The Fenton Lions Club will be conducting its annual White Cane Drive in May.

ROAD

transportation programs and do business in a streamlined, transparent manner," Snyder said in a press release. The governor said the law is aimed at bringing greater accountability and efficiency to local governments.

Genesee County Road Commission Director John Daly sees the new legislation as poorly thought out and an attempt to change the process of how roads are funded. Daly doesn't see a need for more oversight.

"So far no one has explained the reason for these laws," Daly said. "We're seeing a well orchestrated strategy that forces local roads to become increasingly more of a local responsibility."

Genesee County Commissioner Joseph Graves said he wants more discussion with other commissioners before interfering with the road commission. Graves' chief concern is making sure municipalities have the ability to maintain their roads.

"We want to make sure each district is protected," Graves said. "We want to make sure townships are adequately funded."

Graves said a majority of municipalities have been subsidized throughout the years.

Summary

► Gov. Rick Snyder signed a new law that gives county commissioners more authority over county road commissions. Road commissions can now be dissolved by either voters or a county board of commissioners.

Daly said giving county commissioners the authority to direct county road commissions puts a strain on the existing checks and balances. Before, the Department of Treasury and Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) had authority over road commissions.

Due to various projects throughout the state, Daly expects MDOT will experience a shortage in funding by 2013. Daly said driver registration fees and gas taxes will most likely increase in order to raise funds.

"In today's tough economic times, I can't see raising fuel tax and registration fees as an option," Daly said. "It won't happen all at once but over time, the funding for local roads will increasingly become more of a local responsibility."

WEEDS

In total, it cost the city about $500 in resources and research for the possible weed treatment program. The council unanimously voted to deny moving forward with the program.

"If you don't have that 51 percent of support, it'll be hard to move forward," said City Councilor Ray Culbert.

Weed treatment was presented to the council back in mid July of 2011 by residents who lived near the millpond. Residents who were for the treatment said beautifying the millpond could increase property values and draw more people to Linden during the summer.

However, during a public hearing in January, many residents vehemently opposed treatment to the millpond, voicing concerns over costs and the impact to wildlife. The council then tabled action toward the program and solicited a survey to every resident who lived near the millpond, which revealed a lack of support for the program.

Of the residents surveyed, 43 percent were in favor of the city paying for the treatment with 41 percent against such payment. The survey also showed that residents did not want to pay for the entirety of the treatment, with 45 percent against paying for the treatment and 37 percent in favor of paying.

Council informed residents during multiple meetings that the city did not have enough funds to pay for weed treatment and that residents would be responsible for payment. The city owns two parcels in the special assessment district of the millpond.

"I would not have supported the city borning this," said City Councilor Ed Ciesielski. "We need to ask more questions and perhaps direct them to an association, like Squaw Lake."

Summary

► A recent survey revealed that a majority of residents living near the Linden Millpond oppose weed treatment of the millpond. The city council will not look further into weed treatment at this time.

The retroactivity of a new rule of criminal procedure

Our Appellate Courts issue opinions on a wide variety of legal issues. These opinions deal with both civil and criminal matters and in many of the cases, the question of an opinion having retroactive effect is very important.

In criminal cases when it comes to applying a new rule of criminal procedure retroactively, the importance lies in the fact that retroactivity can have the effect of altering the validity of a prior conviction.

I wrote a column in 2010 on the United States Supreme Court case of Padilla v Kentucky, which held that criminal defense counsel must advise a noncitizen that a guilty plea in a criminal case renders a defendant subject to automatic deportation.

The unanswered question in the Padilla case was its retroactivity.

On Feb. 14, the Michigan Court of Appeals was faced with the question of Padilla retroactivity in the case of People v Gomez.

Mr. Gomez was a Mexican citizen who entered a no contest plea to a 2001 drug offense. Four years later, he was informed by the Department of Homeland Security that his conviction subjected him to deportation. His lawyer at the time had not advised him of this possible consequence.

The Gomez Court held that Padilla announced a new rule of criminal procedure and then analyzed the retroactivity issue using both federal and state standards.

Under federal law, retroactivity may apply if (1) the rule places certain kinds of primary, private individual conduct beyond the power of the criminal law-making authority to proscribe or (2) the rule requires the observance of those procedures that are implicit in the concept of ordered liberty.

The state test is (1) the purpose of the new rule (2) the general reliance on the old rule (3) the effect of retroactive application on the administration of justice.

The Court held that under either test retroactivity did not apply and affirmed the trial court's decision denying the defendant's motion for relief from judgment. Further appeals are expected.

Police&Fire report

SHOPLIFTERS FROM FLINT CAUGHT

At 5 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 27, Fenton police responded to a department store on Owen Road to investigate a retail fraud complaint. The loss prevention employee told police that three suspects, two men and one female, were in the store and the men were concealing items under their clothing. Fenton police caught up with the suspects, all from Flint, as they were entering their vehicle in the parking lot. Police recovered sheet sets, an air ratchet, as well as prescription medication. The two male suspects were arrested for retail fraud and the woman was arrested for possession of a controlled substance that was not prescribed for her. They were lodged overnight at the police station, pending arraignment.

POLICE INVESTIGATE FRAUD

On Tuesday, Feb. 28, a 23-year-old man who recently moved to Fenton filed a fraud complaint with Fenton police. The man said he contacted his utility company for power and learned that there were two outstanding accounts in his name at two addresses in Flint. The man told police he never lived at those addresses and he did not know how anyone obtained her personal information. Police are working with Consumers Energy to determine who the suspect is since some payments had been made on those to Flint accounts. The case remains under investigation.

TEEN'S CAMERA STOLEN

At 7:20 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 25, a 45-year-old Fenton man reported to Fenton police that his 15-year-old son's $600 Canon Vixia camera had been stolen while he was skateboarding at a business on North Fenway Drive. The man's son said there were three teens behaving suspiciously at the business when he noticed his camera missing. Police identified the three suspects and spoke to the father of two of them. The mother of the two of the suspects, brothers, searched their room with negative results. The suspects have denied involvement with the theft; however, the case remains under investigation. Police will be reviewing surveillance video footage from the business to see if the theft was caught on video.

LIQUOR THIEF FROM FLINT CAUGHT

On Sunday, Feb. 26, Fenton police responded to a grocery store on Silver Parkway to investigate a report of two thefts caught on video. On Feb. 20, a male, 35-40 years of age, about 5-feet, 10-inches tall was caught on video concealing Patron tequila under his coat and exiting the store without paying. The same man was caught on tape on Feb. 22, concealing additional bottles of liquor and exiting the store without paying. While investigating an unrelated retail fraud complaint at the same store on Feb. 27, police learned that their male suspect was there and stealing bottles of vodka and tequila. Police apprehended the 35-year-old Flint resident and transported him to the police station, where they learned that he had an outstanding Friend of the Court warrant. Fenton police will be seeking charges of retail fraud to include the multiple incidents.

LARCENY SUSPECTS CHARGED

Holly police caught two 17-year-old males and one juvenile suspected of stealing items from a vehicle. Chief Elena Danishevskaya said on Thursday, Feb. 23, a Holly resident reported that their vehicle had been entered overnight. Police responded to the area of North Holly and Quick roads to investigate. Footprints in the fresh snow led officers to a nearby mobile home park. Upon further investigation, two 17-year-olds and one juvenile with footwear matching the impressions found in the snow were located at a residence inside the park. All three suspects admitted to being involved in taking the items from the vehicle. The stolen items, valued more than $200, were recovered from the residence. The juvenile was released to his father at the scene and his case will be reviewed by probate court. The two adult males were arrested and charged with larceny from auto, over $200, which is a misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in jail. The 17-year-olds were released on $1,000 personal bond.

Crossing guard struck, injured by vehicle

►At-fault driver ticketed

By Sharon Stone

ssstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

Holly — Just before 8:30 a.m. on Monday, Feb. 27, a Patterson Elementary School crossing guard was struck and injured by a vehicle leaving the parking lot.

Holly Police Chief Elena Danishevskaya said the crossing guard sustained minor injuries and was transported to Genesys Health Park in Grand Blanc Township for medical evaluation. The crossing guard, from the Holly area and in her 40s, was beginning to cross children at the time; however, no children were injured in the incident. She has been a crossing guard since October.

The at-fault driver, a 39-year-old woman, was issued a citation for disobeying a school crossing guard.

Danishevskaya reminds everyone to slow down near any school, especially prior to when school starts and after school lets out.

On occasion, the Fenton Police Department will utilize his skills, which he does for free.

His most common job is re-keying the locks on a business, when an employee leaves. On the job he first checks out the doors, and then he gets a key for the lock he is changing. "I need a key to change the lock, otherwise I'll have to pick it, and it's more work for me," he said.

Ameen takes the hardware apart, and removes the key cylinder. Knowing what company manufactured the lock, he picks a key with a random combination of numbers that leads to the pins inside the cylinders being replaced. "I pick the key first," he said. The combination of numbers, create the shape of the key, and also the lengths of the different pins inside the cylinder.

"The only things that get replaced are things you can't see," he said. Pins and springs are the only things that are replaced. "Most of the time, they cannot tell I've been there," he said.

On average, it will take Ameen about 30 minutes for a basic job, unless there is a panic bar, which is more complicated.

A business that has lost a master key, where one person can open all the doors, will require the entire system to be regenerated; all the keys and cylinders need to be re-done.

All of this work is done in his work truck, a portable shop. His shop has a lot of hardware; dozens of cylinders, hundreds of uncut keys, a copy machine, laptop, and a microwave. The truck is also insulated inside, and of course a key cutting machine, bolted to his work bench with other machines.

Part of Jeremy Ameen's job is rebuilding, or replacing the key cylinders, of which he has many on his truck.

Ameen said working on locked safes is the most difficult job. "You don't know if something's broken," he said. "You don't know why the combination isn't working." Sometimes he has to drill a safe, which is also difficult.

Ameen began learning locksmithing 21 years ago, when he saw the opportunity to learn from a master. His first job was a residential lock-out on Wiggins Road in Fenton Township, and he continued from there.

The company used to have four locksmiths and two trucks on the road. Today, the company has shrunk down to only Ameen and one work truck. He said it keeps him busy, with a small staff including his wife Jennifer, and an administrative assistant.

Ameen said the typical residential service to change a couple locks will cost around $120. He urges residents to be wary of "free" or really cheap advertised lock-out deals, as it could be a predatory scam. "Nothing is free," he said.

"If it's on the door, or it pertains to the door, we fix it."

BIRTHDAYS

know that he has been on this earth for 44 years, he has only been able to celebrate 10 previous birthdays on their actual calendar date. "Usually we celebrate on Feb. 28," said Stark, of Grand Blanc. "Even though I actually have a birthday on Feb. 29 this year, my son has a Powers hockey game that night, so we'll be celebrating on Saturday."

What is Leap Year, anyway?

Leap Years are needed to keep the calendar in alignment with the earth's revolutions around the sun, according to timeanddate.com. It takes the earth approximately 365.242199 days (a tropical year) to circle once around the sun. If a day weren't added to the calendar nearly every four years, six hours would be lost every year. After only 100 years, the calendar would be off by approximately 24 days.

"He's a February baby and I don't want to celebrate in the month of March."

Amy White

Mother of Corey White, who is 4 years old today

The ancient Roman Calendar added an extra month every few years to maintain the correct seasonal changes. But Julius Caesar implemented the Julian Calendar in 45 BCE (Before Common Era) with an extra day added every four years. At the time, Leap Day was Feb. 24, because February was the last month of the year. In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII refined the Julian calendar with a new rule that a century year is not a Leap Year unless it is evenly divisible by 400.

Going "all out" this year to celebrate Corey Braiden White's official fourth birthday are parents Amy and Shawn White, of Byron. "This is Corey's first actual birthday to be celebrated on the day of his birth, Feb. 29, 2009 and we are very excited," said Amy. "We're having a John Deere-themed birthday, and all of his grandparents, aunts and uncles will be there." Corey's previous three birthdays were always celebrated on Feb.

28. "He's a February baby and I don't want to celebrate in the month of March," she added.

For middle-age folks like Stark, and others who share this unique birth date, it's a chance to age gracefully. "I'm always going to be young," said Stark.

Leap Year legends and superstitions

Women can propose to men just once every four years

According to an old Irish legend, St. Bridget struck a deal with St. Patrick to allow women to propose to men, every four years to balance the traditional roles of men and women in a similar way to how Leap Day balances the calendar. In some places, Leap Day has been known as "Bachelors' Day" for the same reason. A man was expected to pay a penalty, such as a gown or money, if he refused a marriage proposal from a woman on Leap Day. In many European countries, especially in the upper class, tradition dictates that any man who refuses a woman's proposal on Feb. 29 has to buy her 12 pairs of gloves to hide the embarrassment of not having an engagement ring.

Bad luck to be born on Leap Day

In Scotland, it used to be considered unlucky for someone to be born on Leap Day, just as Friday 13th is considered an unlucky day by many. In Greece, it's said to be unlucky for couples to marry during a Leap Year, and especially on Leap Day.

from office during the November 2011 election. The partial term expires this November.

The representative-elect said he feels exhilarated. "I want to work on getting jobs here, public safety," he said. "I want to see if I can do something about the pension tax."

Graves, 58, is a Genesee County commissioner and he will remain in that position until the Board of Canvassers certify this election, at which time he will resign and be sworn in as state rep for the 51st District. A replacement will then be necessary for his vacant seat with the county.

Graves ran on the platform of revitalizing the economy and bringing jobs back to Genesee County. He believed it was important to focus also on public safety, including additional jail space for law enforcement.

Upon learning of Graves' win, Scott said, "Congratulations to Joe on winning tonight."

"The results show that the Republican reforms enacted in 2011 are producing results and public sentiment is shifting. While politically difficult at the time, cutting spending and reducing taxes for job providers is exactly what Michigan needed to reverse a decade of mismanagement in Lansing."

"As we now move into the fall elections, Republicans are positioned to do quite well. Good policy and bold leadership are the best politics in the long run."

Romney wins by slim margin

According to national reports, Mitt Romney won the Michigan Republican Primary (MRP) while Rick Santorum came in second. Ron Paul had the third most votes.

Mitt Romney

All results are unofficial until votes are reviewed by the Michigan Board of State Canvassers. Check www.tctimes.com and this Sunday's edition for additional election coverage.

Clerk's role at polls questioned by Paul Scott's recall organizers

Proponents who voted for the recall of former State Rep. Paul Scott said the involvement of Argentine Township Clerk Denise Graves in the special election was a conflict of interest.

Denise, wife of Joseph Graves, said multiple bipartisan officials will be involved in the election. Genesee County Clerk Michael Carr did not believe Denise Graves would interfere with the election.

burned each day. These devices can also record sleep patterns for optimal rest.

Here are three convenient gadgets that can help with weight loss:

Fitbit Ultra Tracker

A small clip-like device that tracks motion, the Tracker records the daily activity of the user, including steps taken, calories burned, distance traveled and calories consumed. The Tracker uses motion-sensing technology similar the Nintendo Wii to accurately log every movement throughout the day. The Tracker can also provide a detailed account of a user's sleep pattern. By strapping the device to a wrist, the Tracker will calculate how long it takes someone to fall asleep, number of times awakened and the total amount of actual sleep achieved in one night. Plug it into a computer and the fitness device will provide a comprehensive overview of a user's activity. Results can be shared on Fitbit.com or with the Tracker's smartphone app.

Price: $99

Core Armband

Similar to the Tracker, the Core Armband is an armband that measures sweat, body temperature and motion to provide a snapshot of calories burned. More than 500 data points are collected each minute, capturing the detailed health of the user. The BodyMedia Fit's daily log allows users to set goals and compare them to their daily results.

Price: $179

Up

Created by Jawbone, Up is a water resistant wristband that tracks every movement. The device is unique as it can be programmed to vibrate when a user hasn't moved in a set amount of time. Up's app asks users how they feel after every meal, tracking what foods contribute to a better overall feeling. Wearing the wristband at night, it will vibrate at an ideal time during the sleep cycling, waking a user refreshed and ready to go.

Spring is just around the corner and outdoor activity is going to pick up. Various health gadgets can track sleep activity and calorie usage, helping users to lose weight.

"Now my grandson can rest in peace." Argentine Township Police Chief Daniel Allen was in charge of the investigation of Dominick's case. "My heart still goes out to the family," he said. "This case touches the entire country."

Before sentencing, the family had an opportunity to address Baker and Hayes directly at the podium, in Judge Yuille's courtroom.

Melanie Calhoun, aunt of Dominick, spoke to the courtroom audience before sentencing. "I feel that they (Baker and Hayes) are getting off easy, considering the victims didn't end with Dominick," she said. "The entire family has been destroyed by this."

Baker spoke before she was sentenced. "I only hope that when I meet God, I will be forgiven," she said.

"The excuses you've offered for your behavior are pathetic," Judge Yuille said to Baker. His voice broke once as he said, "Every time I've seen you in court, you've been tearful. I hope some of those tears are for Dominick, and not just for you."

Yuille reserved his most bitter opinions for Hayes, as he stood shackled in orange at the podium with his attorney, James Piazza. Yuille gave credit to the sheriff's department, and both attorneys involved in the case for their work, before addressing Hayes.

"Mr. Hayes, believe it or not, I have dreaded this day," he said. "Because I don't know what to say to you. I truly do not know what to say to you. What can you say to someone who did what you did?"

"How can someone be so cruel, to someone so small?" Yuille said the details of the case were so horrific he could not discuss them with anyone at home.

"How, why?" he said.

"I don't know if you've shed any tears for Dominick, but I'll tell you, I have. I have."

Yuille said in the 75-100 murder trials he has sat in, he has never witnessed anything like this case. "Your sentencing guidelines are off the charts," he said. "I don't think anyone in the legislature thought anyone could do something like you did."

Hayes was given 60 years for torturing Dominick. For felony murder, he was given life in prison, at which the audience briefly applauded. He was also given 100-150 years for second-degree murder. All the while, Hayes stood silently at the podium.

Aside from Dominick's torture, child abuse, and beating, he also received 10 years for beating Tyler Baker.

For the family affected by Dominick's murder, the next step is their legislation in his name, Dominick's Law, which would offer much stiffer penalties for child abuse.

Editor Sharon Stone contributed to this report.

Tigers earn first title in 37 years

► Fenton's depth proves too much for Metro field; Holly takes fifth Fenton — It has been 37 years since the Fenton varsity boys swimming and diving team won a Flint Metro League Championship.

At least that was the case until Monday night.

Fenton's superior depth, which overwhelmed the Metro League competition during the regular season, showed up again at the Flint Metro League Swimming and Diving Championships as Fenton scored 620 points, defeating second-place Brandon by 172 points.

Fenton left with five event champions and with 12 of the 27 individual top-three placements in the meet, easily cruising to the win.

"The first Metro League championship in 37 years. This is crazy big for our team," said Fenton's senior swimmer Adam Ransom, who took part in three firsts. "It's been a great year, great season. It's the best group of guys I've had in the four years, and I'm guessing it's the best group since those 37 years."

"It means the world. We are in the pool every single morning, five hours a day," Fenton junior Alex Chase said. "We worked so hard for this. It's really great. I'm going to remember this for the rest of my life."

After Saturday's preliminaries, the eventual results were pretty evident, considering the great number of swimmers and divers the Tigers qualified for the finals and consolation finals for Mon-

Eagles advance

► Headed to tonight's district semifinals after 44-24 victory against Fowlerville

By Al Zipsie

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Linden — The Linden varsity girls basketball team used scoring runs to start and end the game, eventually knocking out Fowlerville 44-24 in Monday's Class B district opening contest at Linden High School.

The win puts Linden (10-10) in the district semifinals against Stockbridge today at 7 p.m. at Linden High School. Lake Fenton plays South Lyon

Summary

► Linden scored the game's first 10 points and never trailed, beating Fowlerville 44-24.

East in the first game at 5 p.m.

Linden opened the game with a 10-point scoring spurt. The Eagles also clicked off the last 14 points of the game. Fowlerville was held scoreless for the last 10 minutes of the contest.

Senior Jordan Sargent scored the first eight of the Eagles' 10 points, igniting the 10-0 lead. Linden led 14-5 after the first quarter and 20-11 at intermission. Fowlerville cut the lead to as close as four points at 27-23 with 3:17 left in the third quarter, but the Eagles responded.

Madison Nosek hit a three-ball for a 30-23 lead. The Gladiators would hit a free throw and would never score the rest of the game. Sabrina Kinney had a slick pass inside to Maija Satkowiak for a field goal, as Linden led 32-24 entering the final quarter.

Linden clamped down on defense as they outscored Fowlerville 12-0 in the fourth quarter. The Eagles' 14 unanswered-point streak continued with Satkowiak hitting a hoop, followed by Nosek's runner in the lane. With 4:56 left, Sargent hit two free throws, making it a 38-24 lead.

Free throws could've hurt the Eagles in a closer game. They missed 13 straight and made just 6-of-21 for the contest.

"Free throws have killed us all year long. They have cost us some wins," said Linden coach Ben Varner. "Tonight, we overcame it with finding the open players. Maija played great. Her and Sam (Thornton) came off the bench and gave us a big lift with rebounds and defense."

"For us to be successful, we have to pick it up on defense like we did tonight."

Nosek, Sargent and Satkowiak all scored 10 points each. Nosek added five rebounds and four steals while Kinney had five assists.

"It felt really good," Satkowiak said. "I was so happy. I have been struggling on confidence. I realized I can do it. Everybody helped out

Holly wrestlers fall in quarterfinals

►Bronchos looking for more in the future

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Battle Creek — The Holly varsity wrestling team was happy to make history on Friday at the Division 2 Team State Wrestling Championships.

Summary

► Bronchos lose in state quarterfinals to Lowell, 54-15. Four Holly wrestlers win their matches.

The Bronchos did just that, by becoming the first Holly squad to make it to the team state meet in back-to-back seasons. It was an accomplishment, no doubt, to be proud of.

However, now the Bronchos want to get a little more.

Holly wasn't expected to beat second-seeded Lowell in its quarterfinal match at Battle Creek's Kellogg Arena, and they didn't, dropping a 54-15 verdict on Friday night. Holly, ranked sixth the majority of the season, dropped to the seventh seed, meaning a much more difficult foe, and probably its chance at advancing.

"It is what it is," senior wrestler Shawn Scott said. "At the end of the day, you have to go out there, wrestle your match, and, hopefully, you come out on top."

"This meant a lot to me. We are still making history at Holly. It's the second straight time we're at Battle Creek. It makes me happy. I am able to come here my senior year. We didn't achieve our goal, but I know from here on out, we're just going to grow, and the team will make sure they are in the semis."

TRI-COUNTY TIMES

"There's got to be a time when it's not good enough (just making it to the state meet)," Holly coach Don Pluta said. "And we've reached that time. We feel our program is in a situation where we have to take the next step. I know other schools, their step is to get here. That's a good goal for everybody. But now that we've been here two years in a row, the next step has to be not to get here, but to get to that semifinal match."

Junior wrestler Anthony Gonzales pounded that message to his teammates after the match. He discussed how he was going to run wrestling practices after the season was over himself, encouraging the underclassmen to join.

"I am thinking offseason and getting all the kids I know that can be better, getting them in the room and get them ready for next year," Gonzales said. "I know a lot of them are (committed to offseason wrestling), but I know some won't be. But we need to get them to do something, anything. Just to keep them working."

The Bronchos lost the first four matches against Lowell, trailing 21-0. However, Scott (215) ended that winless run with what had to be the most anticipated match of the night. Scott competed against undefeated freshman Josh Colegrove and won his match 12-5. The pair could face each other in the semifinals at the individual state meet if they both win their opening two matches.

"He's an undefeated freshman, so that's a big match for me," Scott said. "Especially because I'll see him at states. That was a good step for my career as far as going to states."

However, Lowell responded by winning each of the next four matches. The Bronchos put together a fine run at the end, winning three straight. Tyler Gibson (119) started the run with a pinfall win in 1:31 against Jordan Hall. Gonzales (130) then defeated Nate Lemmix by an 8-4 decision.

Finally, in what was the most entertaining match of the night, Jesse Torres (135) won a 5-1 decision in double-overtime.

Torres could've easily lost the match in regulation. He was forced upon just one leg against Ryan Walters during the first period, but fought to get his leg back and didn't suffer a takedown. The pair went to overtime tied 1-all after each earning escapes.

The first overtime saw no scoring. In the

David's Dabblings

A few thoughts about the area's sports scene and some others not dealing with sports at all.

CURLING

When I was young tyke, growing up in the Detroit area, there were about four stations our television could be on at any given moment. Those were 2, 4, 7 and TV 50. There were three other stations as well. There were stations at 20, 56 and 62, but our television rarely made it to those destinations. Our UHF was pretty much locked on 50.

There was one other station that I'd occasionally flip it to, though. It came out a bit grainy, but I could get it, channel 9, CBC from Canada, was a gold mine for sports fans. During the winter, we got Hockey Night in Canada. During the summer, we got football (Canadian football, that is) before most were able to watch it. We even got the occasional Toronto Blue Jays baseball game.

But there was this one other sport I loved to watch. It involved these big rocks that people pushed toward a bullseye on ice. They had these brooms and would yell as people scrubbed the ice. I loved this game. However, most of the time, if someone walked into the room, I'd quickly run to the TV (we didn't have a remote back then) and change it, making it look like I didn't know what I was watching yet. Getting caught watching this wacky game meant ridicule.

The sport, of course, was curling.

For most of my life, I always wanted to try the sport. But where and with who? Even in adulthood, I risked being shunned telling people about my fandom for this sport. About the only one who really knew about it, was a good friend of mine named Bill. About five years ago he found out there was a curling open house at a hockey rink near his home in Marysville. We went, threw about five rocks, and I was hooked. I knew I had to convince some people and play this game again.

That day came on my birthday. Somehow, I convinced my wife (the most important one to convince) and 14 of my volleyball friends to go to the Midland Curling Center and give the sport a try. Some, I knew would love it. Some, I didn't know. Some, I think, came only because I said it was my birthday. Whatever the reason, we had enough people to play a match on two sheets of ice.

And we did. And, guess what. I think everyone had a blast. I did. I was our team's skip (the person who throws the last two stones), and pretty much lost the match for our team in the first end. That's when my last shot scored my opponents three points. We made a comeback. I actually scored two points on back-to-back shots in one end. Finally, in our last end, I had it set up for a draw. However, it didn't happen. Bob (and I'll never forgive you for this, Bob), bumped one of our stones out of the circle and made two of his closest to the center, scoring his team two points and giving them the win.

Oh well, I lost. But I got to play.

And now I'm addicted, as addicted as I feared I'd be. I find myself wanting to purchase one of those 44-pound stones and put it in the middle of our family room for a decoration. I want to purchase curling shoes. And for the first time in my life I'm dying to buy a curling broom, a curling broom. I've even talked to my wife, Anna, about building a curling rink in our backyard next winter.

It's a sport anyone can learn in a night, but also one you realize takes a lifetime to master. Give it a shot. The first time you slide across the ice and let go of a stone, you'll love the sport. The first time you hit the target you'll dance. The first time you hit the button (the center), well, I don't know what you'll do because I've yet to do it. But whatever it is, I'm sure it will be grand.

Yes, I love curling. And now I can't wait until the next time I can convince another group of 14 to go again. And you can bet, it will happen.

day's second day. Still, it was an impressive performance on Monday as well.

Ransom took part in three state-qualifying times. He won the 500 freestyle (5:04.04) and took second in the 200 freestyle (1:51.44), both in state standard times. He also opened the finals with teammates David Congdon, Zahne Macklin and Joshua Bryant, earning a first in the 200 medley relay (1:47.86). Finally, he teamed with Adam Andreski, Congdon and Bryant in the 200 freestyle relay to earn a first and a state-qualifying time (1:33.31).

Chase Marcola had the Tigers' final first, when he won the 100 breaststroke (1:08.57). Meanwhile, Chase had Fenton's only other event title. He won the 100 butterfly (59.49).

Other Tigers earning individual top-three performances were: Macklin, second in the 200 individual medley (2:18.10) and the 100 breaststroke (1:08.68); Andreski, second in the 50 freestyle (23.33) and third in the 100 freestyle (51.81); Bryant, third in the 50 freestyle (24.13); Taylor Thorpe, second in diving (362.40); Mike Banner, third in the 500 freestyle (5:17.68); and Congdon, third in the 100 backstroke (1:04.73).

"It feels really good," Fenton coach Brad Jones said. "These guys have worked hard all season. This was our goal. We knew after last year, that it was certainly possible. The Metro title was something we were after. ... It's been an amazing season."

Holly placed fifth at the meet and also had three individual champions as well. Aaron Dehaven had two firsts. He won the 200 freestyle in a state-qualifying time of 1:51.29. He also won the 100 backstroke (58.67).

"I'm extremely happy," Dehaven said. "Really, I just wanted to get the relay team to state. Other than that, I wanted to get first place."

"I want to drop time (in the 200 freestyle at the state meet)."

Garrett Pinagel earned the other first, winning the 200 individual medley (2:09.94). He also took second in the 100 freestyle (51.19), while Peyton Molzahn earned second in the 100 backstroke (1:03.08).

Earning individual fourth-place finishes for Fenton were: Brant Cassidy in the 200 freestyle (1:56.58) and the 100 freestyle (52.74); Rob Brownlee in diving (319.25); and Anthony Miceli in the 100 breaststroke (1:12.34).

Summary

► Fenton won five event championships and used its superior depth to clinch the team's first Metro League title in 37 years at the Flint Metro League meet on Monday.

Rhoads leads area skiers at state meet

By David Troppens

Lauren Rhoads recorded two top-25 performances, as the Fenton varsity girls ski team came home with an eighth-place finish at the Division 1 MHSAA Ski Finals on Monday at Nub's Nob Ski Area.

Rhoads led the Tigers by placing 12th in the slalom with a combined time of 1:20.83. She also placed 21st in the giant slalom (56.74 seconds).

The Fenton boys team didn't qualify, but an individual did, and performed rather well. Julian Weinberg had two top-25 performances as well.

He placed 17th in the slalom with a time of 1:21.54. He also placed 22nd in the giant slalom with a combined time of 51.62 seconds.

For the Fenton girls, McKenna Valley placed 28th in the giant slalom (27.50), while Flannery Wise was 38th in the slalom (1:29.95).

The Fenton girls were divisional champions and also overwhelming regional champions this season.

It marked the second straight year the Tigers made it to the state meet.

The Holly/Oxford co-op also had individuals at the meet. Rachel Harrington took 45th in the slalom (1:31.34), while Lars Joergens placed 60th in the giant slalom (1:08.41).

second one, Torres earned an escape and a stall point. In the second half of the second overtime, he also earned a reversal.

However, the Bronchos lost two more matches to end the night. Zac Jones (140) wrestled undefeated Gabe Morse and gave him a good battle, losing 15-8. However, twice he came close to earning defensive pinfalls, something he's become known for during his senior year.

The Bronchos (29-6) still felt good about the history they made.

"It's amazing," Gonzales said. "Considering we've only gone twice in a row once, it's amazing."
