

HOT LINES

“So what if people ‘sweat the small stuff’ in the Hot lines. It’s their right. You must enjoy it, because you’re reading it. I’d rather read that than political crap.”

HOT LINE: TAXES

“When you talk about paying a fair share of taxes how about getting the 49 percent who pay no taxes to get off welfare and their free ride and have them start paying their fair share. The upper 10 percent pay 70 percent of the taxes already, what is fair about that?”

STORY: MILLAGE ELECTION

“A teacher I know said she is not voting for the millage because ‘there’s nothing in it for teachers.’ That’s exactly why I’m voting ‘yes.’”

“I have four kids in Fenton schools but I have to vote no because they should just have to make do with what they have, the same as me.”

“Most of the millage no-voters, including me, changed our vote to a yes once we attended an informational meeting. The lack of security is frightening.”

“Don’t care which way you vote, just please vote so that the majority rules.”

HOT LINE of the week

“PLEASE, CAT OWNERS, your cat is spayed, not spaded. Also, a common Michigan snake is a garter snake not garden or gardner. Just a pet peeve.”

By Sharon Stone
sstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

Fenton — Technology, buses, parking, safety and security are what Fenton school officials hope to upgrade with the district’s millage request, which will go before the voters on Tuesday, May 8.

This amount would cover $6.4 million for updated technology, $1.4 million for the purchase of new buses, $1.2 million to upgrade traffic and parking issues, $50,000 for operations equipment and $250,000 for bond insurance fees.

Doug Busch
Executive director of personnel and finance for Fenton schools

Summary

► Voters in the Fenton Area Public Schools district will vote on a $9.6 million bond request on Tuesday, May 8. The bond would cover the costs of improved technology, safety, transportation and parking.

Mother's Day is next Sunday, May 13, which still gives you plenty of time to put some thought into the gift you'd like to give to honor your mom or other special women in your life.

For most mothers, this truly is a holiday for which "it's the thought that counts." Sentimentality and thoughtfulness will be appreciated beyond the mere dollars spent, so if your budget is on the light side, you can still provide your mom with a gift that will warm her heart (see sidebar).

Here are a few unique Mother's Day gift ideas that may speak to your own heart as you select that special gift.

■ NBC's embarrassingly butt-licking Obama promotion that aired Wednesday night (disguised as a news story on the Bin Laden takedown of a year ago) was a gross insult to the entire broadcast news industry. No one entity has profited more from the disastrous Obama presidency than General Electric, which owns half of NBC. Brian Williams should have had pom-poms and cheerleader outfit on. What a weenie.

■ The creature with the largest brain in proportion to its size is the ant. They are the smartest species of insects with about 250,000 brain cells.

■ I hate millages but I am voting yes on Tuesday for three reasons. 1)

Our woefully outdated technology is severely impacting the entire teaching process, 2) The buses that transport 2,500+ students each day are on average over 10 years old and are an accident waiting to happen. 3) Most importantly, we have no electronic security systems in any of our school buildings, meaning that our children (all students are our children) spend eight hours a day in an unprotected, nut-magnet environment. That's unacceptable to me, and it should be unacceptable to you also.

■ All school systems are facing the same challenges as Fenton's school system. But in this current economic environment, only a select few communities in the state possess the rare civic esprit de corps necessary to pass a millage. We'll see if Fenton is one of them.

Just this past week a Marine was "less than honorably" discharged for online commentary critical of the Obama administration, and rocker Ted Nugent earned a visit from the Secret Service and was barred from entertaining our troops because of his criticism of Obama.

chooses unknown, out-of-town entity, Michigan Brewing Company. Nearly two years later, MBC backs out of deal with no progress and no penalty. During the same two years, local family that was turned down creates and opens new downtown Fenton business. This would be funny if it weren't so...um, unfunny.

District celebrates achievements of former superintendent and current teacher

Lake Fenton — The Lake Fenton Community Schools Foundation is honoring two individuals with a celebration and dinner at Spring Meadows Country Club on Saturday, May 12.

The Foundation is honoring Russell D. Haddon with the Lifetime Achievement Award and Kathy Kearns with the Lake Fenton Teacher of the Year Award.

Haddon graduated from Fenton High School in 1932 and he is a World War II veteran of the U.S. Navy. He received his undergraduate degree from Eastern Michigan University and his master's degree in education from the University of Michigan. He taught one year at his alma mater and went on to be superintendent and principal at Lake Fenton for 16 years and superintendent for Holly schools for another 12 years.

While serving in both school districts, he was credited for developing community education. Haddon was the first director of the Fenton Community Center, served on the Village of Fenton Council, Holly Township Planning Commission and the Zoning Board of Appeals. He has owned and operated Haddon Nursery since 1950, setting up his 80-acre farm adjacent to Seven Lakes State Park as a conservancy.

A founding member of the Fenton Village Players since 1939, Haddon's $250,000 pledge toward a theater in memory of his late wife, Sibyl, spearheaded the development of the Fenton Area Cultural Center. In 1939, he directed "Hugo in a Hurry," for the Fenton Village Players.

Haddon is active at St. Jude Episcopal Church as a member of the vestry. He has also been a member of the Kiwanis clubs of Fenton, Holly and Lake Fenton.

Kearns has been teaching full-time at Lake Fenton for 27 years and she substitute taught for four years prior to that. This is the second year for the Teacher of the Year award. Teachers write letters of recommendation for the selection process and this year, four teachers were nominated.

"I hope my students realize I truly care about them and I expect them to give me their best effort in a timely manner," she said. Throughout her years of teaching, she has learned that she must practice what she teaches.

"Every day I step into the classroom, I need to give my students my best effort," she said. "They deserve it and I am always looking for ways to sharpen my skills and make lessons relevant."

"The award means a great deal to me because it comes from my colleagues. It says someone values what teachers do, and I am grateful for the recognition."

MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

This Mother's Day, Think of Lifetime Financial Moves to Help Kids

If you're a mother, you'll probably get some nice cards and flowers on Mother's Day. But of course, your greatest gifts are your children themselves. And since you want to see them happy and financially secure, perhaps you can use this Mother's Day as an opportunity to consider ways to help your children at various stages of their lives.

So, let's take a look at steps you can take:

When Your Children Are Young

- Teach them to be savers — Encourage young children to put away part of their allowance, or any money they receive for household jobs, in a savings account. Offer to match their contributions dollar for dollar.
- Help them become investors — Consider giving your children a few shares of stock in companies with which they are familiar. By following the movements of their stocks with them, you can explain how the markets work and how increasing share ownership is one key to helping build wealth.
- Contribute to a college savings plan — One of the best things you can do to boost your children's chances of success in life is to help them go to college. You've got several good college-savings vehicles available, such as a 529 plans, Coverdell Education Savings Accounts and custodial accounts. Your financial advisor can help you choose the vehicle that suits your needs and objectives.
- Maintain adequate life insurance — When it was just you, it was a good idea to have life insurance — but now that you have a child, it's an absolute necessity.

When Your Children Enter the Working World

- Encourage IRA contributions — An Individual

Retirement Account (IRA) is a great retirement savings vehicle. As long as your children have earned income, they can contribute to an IRA, so you may want to help them "max out" on their contributions each year. While you can't directly contribute to a child's IRA, you can write a check to your child and encourage him or her to use it for funding an IRA.

- Make long-term care arrangements — If you needed long-term care, such as an extended nursing home stay, and you had inadequate financial preparations, the burden could fall on your children. Now is the time to consult with your financial advisor to begin preparing for possible long-term care costs.

When Your Children Reach Middle Age

- Communicate your financial situation and estate plans — Don't leave adult children in the dark as to your financial information. Share everything you can about how much you own, where you keep your assets and how you plan to eventually distribute them. By clearly communicating your situation and wishes now, you can avoid major problems later.
 - Create a durable power of attorney — By creating a durable power of attorney, you can appoint another person, such as an adult child, to conduct your business and financial affairs if you become physically or mentally incapacitated. Such a move can help reduce stress your children may be feeling, while allowing them to make moves that can help preserve your finances.
- Mother's Day commemorates the special bond that mothers have with their children. By following the above suggestions, you can help strengthen that bond throughout your lifetime.

Police&Fire report

MEN DECLINE TO FILE COMPLAINTS AFTER FIGHT

At 3:30 a.m. on Saturday, April 28, Linden police responded to a home in the 400 block of Lindenwood to investigate a report of a fight. Upon arrival, police found blood in the living room and hallway. They spoke with a 19-year-old Fenton man who had blood on his arms, as well as cuts and bruises. He said he had gotten into a fight with a 20-year-old male friend who lived at the house. He said they, along with a 20-year-old Fenton woman had been drinking all night when the fight broke out between the two men. Police located the 20-year-old man, unconscious, in the bedroom. He too had cuts and bruises. He was transported to the hospital for medical treatment. The woman confirmed that the three had been drinking when the fight broke out. Police followed up on the incident the next day, at which time both men declined to file a complaint against the other.

CATALYTIC CONVERTER STOLEN

At 3 p.m. on Thursday, May 3, a Fenton man reported to Fenton police that someone had sawed off the catalytic converter on his Pontiac Montana van that was parked in the park and ride lot on Silver Lake Road. He parked the van there at 5 a.m. and returned at 3 p.m., at which time he noticed the loud noise and theft.

TIRE SLASHED

On May 1, Fenton police responded to an apartment in the 4000 block of Foley Glen to investigate a report of a slashed tire. The 20-year-old female resident said some had cut the rear passenger tire of her 2002 Honda. The name of a possible suspect was given to police. The case remains under investigation.

TEENS SHOPLIFT CARDS

At 4 p.m. on Tuesday, May 1, Fenton police responded to a department store in the 3700 block of Owen Road to investigate a retail fraud complaint. Upon arrival, police made contact with the loss prevention employee and three male teens, who were in custody. The employee said a 19-year-old Swartz Creek male was observed selecting several boxes of Yu Gi Oh playing cards, opening them and disbursing them to a 17-year-old Grand Blanc male and a 17-year-old Swartz Creek male. The teens were observed concealing the cards in their pockets and socks. After passing by the checkout without paying, the employee confronted them and escorted them back inside. The teens were taken to the police station for processing and given a court date for retail fraud.

deal with Justice fell through. Justice could not be reached for comment before press time.

Originally, Justice planned to transform the eight movie theaters into seven venues for different types of entertainment. Local musicians, motivational speakers, movies and plays were some of Justice's proposed events. A Hookah and Cigar bar were also in the works, with beer and soft drinks in one of the theaters.

The amount of Justice's purchase agreement was not revealed. The building is currently listed at $535,000.

Welty said there are a number of other parties interested in purchasing the building. The building has been vacant since December 2008, when the owners of the cinema closed the business.

'Believe in what could happen'

► Jim Abbott visits Torrey Hill Intermediate School for inspirational talk

By Tim Jagielo
tjagielo@tctimes.com

"You and I have something in common," said former pro Major League Baseball player Jim Abbott on Friday, as he shook Chase Jolley's hand at Torrey Hill Intermediate School in Fenton Township.

Chase, of Goodrich, was one of several students who asked Abbott questions in front of the entire student body. Chase is like Abbott — he was born without one hand, and he also plays baseball.

Abbott took an hour with the school, which included visitors from Goodrich, to speak to the importance of believing in your possibilities, and also practicing hard at what you want to do.

"It does change your life in some ways," he said. "Believe in what Abbott, who grew up in Flint, was in the area, and has just released his book, "Imperfect: an improbable life." Principal Kathleen Conover is long time friends with Abbott, and arranged the event. "I hope that they learn to never, ever give up on themselves, and everybody is different," she said. "To always do your best, no matter what."

Medical scrub sales...Car sales... Get my car fixed...?

"It can get a little confusing," says Dominic Runci, owner of Affordable Scrubs & Uniforms located at 3115 W. Thompson Road East of Hwy 23 (Exit 84).

Last October, Joseph Runci (Dominic's son) asked if he wanted to share a building on Thompson Road with him. Joseph was moving his Auto Repair Business to the front building and expanding his business to Used Car Sales. Affordable Scrubs needed a larger facility for the Mobile Units to work from and Joseph offered the extra space! Well, one thing lead to another and next thing we knew we became a retail store. We can now service our customers via our Store, Mobile Units or on-line at: www.cherokee-affordablescrubs.com.

"Funny enough...We've actually had people buy a car or get one fixed and purchase scrubs at the same time." You don't often see two locally owned family businesses, in the same building, owned by two different family members.

For many years, Affordable Scrubs has provided our Mobile customers with products and sizes at a very competitive price and with no shipping costs. We now provide the same low prices and no shipping costs in our Retail Store.

Runcis Auto Services has provided quality professional auto repair to the community for many years. They now provide low cost used cars for sale. Each car is serviced and inspected through the Auto Services Division prior to being offered for sale.

Affordable Scrubs & Uniforms is open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. 810-877-3120

Ivah Curle of Holly celebrated her 100th birthday recently. Curle was born on April 25, 1912 in Concord, MI. ASK THE MECHANIC

Chris Wilkinson,
Certified Mechanic

Q: My coolant leaks. However, the car never overheats. I can see that the coolant level is low. I changed the water pump, but a mechanic says that it is leaking from the head gasket. My buddy told me that the cooling fan is not working so the car has too much pressure and that is what is causing it. Would this be the problem? - Samsit

A: Sasmit, The head gasket could be the cause. It may not always show signs of leaking, as the coolant is burned in the combustion chamber. If the coolant leak in the head gasket was excessive enough; you would see white smoke from the tailpipe when running the car or have a hard starting problem. An external head gasket leak, or any other external leak if small enough, could dry up before hitting the ground. The best way to find this would be to add dye to the cooling system and watch for leaks with a black light and special glasses that show the dye glowing. Like the stuff they sometimes put on your hand when you go into clubs or events then have you hold your hand under a light upon re-entry. There is also a combustion leak test that we do here to find head gasket leaks. It involves using a special chemical and drawing air from the radiator or coolant reservoir that changes color when there are combustion gasses present. As for the cooling fan not working; this could be the cause of the problem but the car would most likely be overheating and you would see the temp gauge getting very hot. Make sure you have this cooling fan repaired no matter what the cause of the coolant leak is since summer is here your car could overheat and cause engine damage.

purchased a Volt about a year ago. "It's super high-tech. It's probably the fanciest car I've ever had."

The Chevy Volt, General Motor's hybrid gas and electric car, was heralded as a member of the next generation of cars when it was released nearly a year and a

Summary

Fenton resident Jeff Phillips said despite the high price, the Chevy Volt is well worth the purchase. On average, he fills his gas tank once a month and spends $15 to $20 a month charging it.

half ago. The EPA ranks the Volt as the most fuel efficient car on the road. GM boasts that the car has saved nearly two million gallons of gas.

The vehicle is fitted with the most up-to-date technology from lithium-ion batteries to ultrasonic parking assistance.

Despite raving reviews and winning the Motor Trend Car of the Year award however, GM is experiencing lower than projected sales. In 2011, GM set a goal of selling 10,000 Volts; CNN Money noted GM only sold 7,600. For 2012, 5,377 Volts have been sold, averaging slightly more than 1,000 cars a month. At this rate, GM won't be able to meet their goal of selling 45,000 Volts for 2012.

As an early purchaser of the Volt, Phillips is frustrated that GM isn't able to sell as many cars as projected. He does admit the car is expensive but worth the purchase if one can afford it.

"One of the misgivings of the Volt is that it's not selling very well, it's hurting my resale value," Phillips said. "I thought it was going to be the next big thing since sliced bread."

The Volt's $40,000 price tag may be responsible for the lower than anticipated sales. Other hybrid cars such as the Toyota Camry fetch a starting price of $23,000 while a basic Honda Civic costs $24,000. The Toyota Prius and Ford Fusion have a starting price of $25,000, some $15,000 less than the Volt.

However, the Volt's higher price tag does come with more benefits, mainly better mileage. The EPA estimates the Volt averages 58 miles per gallon in the city and 62 on the highway. The Prius by contrast averages 51 mpg in the city and 48 on the highway.

"It's still better than 99 percent of the cars out there," Phillips said. "I really enjoy it. It's perfect for driving around town. It's not much different from a regular car."

Phillips has had the car serviced three times since he's owned it, twice for a dead battery and once for a safety recall. He has left his lights on overnight, draining the battery. The safety recall addressed GM's discovery of fires during crash tests. The EPA maintains the Volt is safe and GM's recall eliminated safety concerns.

GM may be able to boost sales with higher tax credits. Currently, the Volt comes with a $7,500 federal tax credit.

FHS student receives top Michigan yearbook award

►Caitlin McBride named top yearbook student in Michigan

By Ryan Tackabury
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Fenton — When asked how she felt about being given an award for a year's worth of work on a project she was passionate about, Caitlin McBride, a senior, and valedictorian at Fenton High School, said, "I feel spectacular. It feels good to know you are working for a book that is this great."

The award is presented to one yearbook student a year by the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association (MIPA), and comes with a $250 scholarship.

McBride is currently in her third year

"It's nice to see something you have worked hard on come together at the end."

on the Fentonian yearbook staff, and this year serves as co-editor in chief.

The hardest part of working on the yearbook, McBride says, is managing her time. In addition to working on the yearbook during a class at school, she estimates she puts in an additional 13 to 15 hours a week working on the yearbook.

"We just have a standard of excellence, and it's been that way before I was on staff," she said. "We put a lot of work into the book, and we take it very seriously."

"It's not just a job, it's kind of like a family too. Everyone I have been on the yearbook staff with I have come to know as a good friend," McBride said.

'Young at Heart' showing this Wednesday

► Fenton Film Series continues its free movies in downtown Fenton

By Sharon Stone
ssstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

The Fenton Film Series presents the documentary, 'Young at Heart,' on Wednesday, May 9, free of charge at the Fenton Community & Cultural Center.

This inspiring and heart-warming documentary follows the 'Young at Heart' choir, a senior citizen singing group that tours the world singing rock and roll songs.

The movie begins at 7:30 p.m. and the film's production company, Fox Searchlight, has sent several promotional T-shirts, which will be given away as door prizes, according to John Strayer of the Fenton Film Series.

Doors open at 6 p.m. and those arriving early can enjoy music provided by students from A Joyful Noise music studio, who will be presenting their own rock and roll review.

Now in its second year, the Fenton Film Series continues with its mission of showing free, high quality movies every month in downtown Fenton. The movies are presented free, thanks to donations from several sponsors, including the Fenton Downtown Development Authority (DDA), Tanglewood Assisted Living and Home Care, Edward Jones financial advisor Patrick Perfitt, Behind Your Design, Southern Lakes Parks & Recreation and Comfort Keepers.

Free refreshments will also be available for moviegoers, including sandwiches from Jimmy John's Gourmet Sandwiches, pastries and coffee from The French Laundry, homemade root beer from the Fenton Winery & Brewery and appetizers from Bangkok Peppers Too.

a web presence without having to deal with a hosting plan or domain name," said Tim Todd, webmaster for the University of Michigan-Flint. He said he has seen people ages 8 to 80 build sites with Blogger or WordPress.

Todd says these sites can be used to share life events, like an upcoming child or a hobby. Many are used for ad-hoc journalism groups, or photography. They can be as simple as a blog, or a basic, multi-page website. "This is basically where the web is headed," he said. It's actually rare for a website to be built completely from scratch. "The web is dynamic now."

Believe it or not, some of the biggest companies online use WordPress as the basis for its blog. Yahoo!, Ebay, Ford Motor Company, The Wallstreet Journal, Sony and many others, use WordPress as a basis for their blog pages.

The best part about these sites is that the most difficult part — the website design — is already done for you with multiple "themes," or templates available. "They can pick a theme that they like an apply it," said Todd.

Terms like HTML also don't matter with these CMS's. For your information, HTML means Hypertext Markup Language. It encodes text, graphics and photos so your web browser can read them, and you can interact with them. Complicated acronyms like this are handled already by Blogger and WordPress.

Summary

▶ Starting a blog or a simple website is possible for anyone with a computer and web access. Sites like blogger.com, and wordpress.com are designed for the average person to use, and to have an online presence.

Another benefit of a CMS like WordPress or Blogger, is that the hosting is free. When a website is built, you need somewhere to store it — this is the job of hosting companies like godaddy.com. WordPress and Blogger also handle hosting.

Because of the simplicity of these systems — a website can be up in less than a day. "Pick out a theme and get going right away," said Todd. He suggests having a simple layout, and keeping it updated. "People aren't going to go to it twice, if the information hasn't been updated, it gives them no reason to come back," said Todd.

Tutorials are available for both systems online, but we're outlining how to use WordPress (in sidebar).

Holly, Fenton still tied entering Metro meet

►Bronchos win last three matches to earn 4-4 tie with Fenton Tigers

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — Leah Miller and Carley Postma had the entire Holly varsity girls tennis team watching their third set against Fenton's Allison Peters and Ashley Howe.

With the Bronchos trailing Fenton 4-3 in the team score, Holly's sophomore No. 3 doubles team had the weight of an 83-match Metro League win streak weighing heavy on their shoulders.

And with a loss, the Bronchos, by the way, would enter Tuesday's Flint Metro League meet in second place, hurting their chances of getting a 30th straight league crown.

But instead of wilt, the doubles team did what Holly tennis always seems to do, it won. Postma and Moller staved off three match points during a third-set tiebreaker and continued the Bronchos' win streak to 84 matches, defeating Peters and Howe 6-7(8), 6-0, 7-6(8) at No. 3 doubles, earning a team tie at 4-4 for the match. The draw means whichever team wins the Flint Metro League meet on Tuesday at Holly High School, will win the league crown, with Holly going for its 30th straight. And the Bronchos can credit that to its two sophomores who found a way to win a match that looked doomed to a loss when trailing 6-3 in the third-set tiebreaker.

"You just have to take it point by point," Moller said. "And we have this saying, when one of us gets really discouraged, we say to the other, 'What are you.' The other one has to say 'I am awesome.' It's so hard to say when you are down on yourself, but it works."

Anthony Wright will take over Linden's varsity boys basketball team for the 2012-13 season.

Linden makes 'Wright' pick with hoops position

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Linden — The last time NBA star Kevin Durant sat the bench for anyone, it may have come when Anthony Wright played on his AAU basketball team.

"I started and he didn't play unless we were up or down by 40," the former University of Michigan basketball player said. "Then he grew a foot in two years, and there you go."

But that's OK. Wright is doing what he loves now. He always wanted to be a varsity basketball coach, and now he is, becoming the mentor that will replace Denny Hopkins.

"For years and years I wanted to be a basketball coach," Wright said. "Growing up, I was always good in basketball. And while (my friends) aspired to play in the NBA, I wanted to be a basketball coach. We all went down the right paths."

Wright played high school ball for one of the best basketball programs in the nation, Oak Hill Academy. Last year, he was the associate head coach at Arbor Prep High School.

And now he's going to get his chance to be the head coach.

"I just want the kids to graduate with honors," Wright said. "I want to make sure my kids get accepted to a four-year school for academics. And for those who have aspirations to play college ball, I'm going to go beyond to help them effort-wise."

"It was not just his background, but we love what he's going to bring to the table to help grow our young men," Linden athletic director Cathy North said.

Bronchos on verge of sweeping Tigers

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Holly — David McNeely knows the value of a good book.

That's especially true when it comes to improving his batting stroke.

Holly's senior catcher's reading habits may have helped lead him to an impressive day at the plate against the Fenton Tigers on Thursday.

McNeely pounded out two three-run home runs and an RBI-single in two games, helping lead the Bronchos to a 6-5 win in the opening contest and a 9-0 lead in the second game before the game was suspended in the bottom of the fourth inning due to lightning. Right before the game was suspended, the Tigers wanted no more to do with McNeely, walking him to re-load the bases with two out.

"I've been reading a book called 'Head's Up Baseball' after bad games. I read it Monday night after a bad hitting session and I've been hitting the ball and relaxing in the box," McNeely said. "It's just one of those things. I'm seeing the release point a lot more. I can make solid contact."

After being no-hit during the early portion of the first game by Fenton hurler Josh Bryant, a lot of Bronchos were making solid contact on Thursday. With Holly trailing 2-0 entering the bottom of the fourth, Brent Smiles ended the no-hitter talk with a solo home run. Joel Perry followed with a double, and he scored on McNeely's single. Chris Green followed with an RBI-hit, putting the Bronchos up 3-2.

Fenton retook the lead in the fifth. Brady Sarkon and Kyle Jenkins each singled and scored on Dylan Benson's two-run single, putting the Tigers up 4-3. However, the Bronchos scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth to take a 6-4 lead. Two walks and a Fenton error helped spark and continue the inning, but it was Pat O'Connor's RBI-single that gave Holly the lead for good.

Fenton scored a run in the seventh on a Kyle Jenkins RBI-single, and the Tigers had the bases loaded with one out, but couldn't score another run against Holly's winning pitcher Joel Perry. Perry allowed 15 hits and Holly — To Maggie Dewan, playing soccer is about having fun.

And right now, the Fenton varsity girls soccer team is doing just that — having fun.

The Tigers won their second straight Metro League contest against a tri-county rival on Wednesday, defeating the Holly Bronchos 6-2 at Karl Richter campus.

"We are having fun out there," said the Fenton junior, who scored two goals against the Bronchos. "That's the most important part. We are having fun. And when you are having fun, (the wins) come into place."

Fenton's victory against Holly was never seriously in question after the first half. The Tigers, sparked by Dewan's two goals, had a 3-0 lead at the break and never led by any fewer than two goals from that point on.

Fenton dominated action, enjoying a 19-1 shot edge in the first half and a 33-6 edge for the contest. Dewan scored the team's first goal on one of those shots about 16 minutes into the contest. She also scored the third goal with 10:58 left in the first half on a corner kick.

"On the first one, I was on the left side of the goal, got the ball, dribbled around a couple of girls and put it in the right corner," Dewan said. "The third one we were taking the corner from the right side of goal. I kicked it and the goalie touched it and it went in."

In between those two goals, Kaliegh Keyandwy also scored on a direct kick from 25 yards out, helping give Fenton the 3-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, Payton Maxheimer attacked the net after a thru ball from Allison Cialkoszewski. She beat a couple of defenders and scored with 27:45 left in regulation.

Holly tried to make it a contest once again, scoring two goals within two minutes of each other. First, Natalie Cieslak scored off a Kayla Skopek assist with 16:10 left. Then, off a direct kick, a cross went to Skopek, who then scored on the centered pass. Holly trailed just Lake Fenton — The Lake Fenton varsity boys track and field team continues to push forward positively in Genesee Area Conference play.

The Blue Devils remained undefeated in dual action, defeating Mt. Morris 119-16, and beating Webberville 132-4.

"We weren't outstanding across the board, but we were good enough to win," Lake Fenton coach Eric Doyle said.

That was Zac Zielinski, who won the high jump (5-7) and the long jump (18-11). Meanwhile, other individual winners were Max Watters in the 100 (11.3), Austin DeMoss in the 1,600 (5:01.7), Neil Allor in the 400 (56.5), Tim Symons in the 300 hurdles (44.7), Chase Hanson in the 800 (2:15), Rob Kesler in the 200 (23.4), Nick VanDuser in the shot put (39-0 1/2), Lucais Allen in the discus (107-0 1/2), and Andrew Testor in the pole vault (11-6).

All four relays also won. Max Watters took part in three winning relays. He teamed with Zielinski, Austin Frank and Rob Kesler to win the 800 relay (1:36.3); Kesler, Matt Hommer and Frank to win the 400 relay (45.4); and ► Linden JV 8, Clio JV 6: Cole Birchmeier had a two-run single in the eighth, leading the Eagles to the win. Austin Buerkel and Jake Klocek had three hits each. Buerkel pitched the complete game for the win.

TIED

It worked on Thursday at Fenton High School. Trailing 4-1 after Fenton had won matches at three of the four singles matches and also at No. 1 doubles, Holly had to win each of the three-set matches that were taking place. And that's exactly what the Bronchos did. Natalie Clink (No. 3 singles) defeated Maggie Pooler 5-7, 6-0, 6-3, and Melaine Hawks and Abby Chatfield defeated Fenton's Kaytlyn Praedel and Kelly Chopski 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, setting up the 4-3 Fenton lead with just the final set remaining in the No. 3 doubles match.

"It's a lot of pressure, especially with the whole team watching you, but we fought for every ball out there," Postma said. "It's all about your mentality. You can't get too up and you can't get too down during the match."

As emotionally draining as finishing the meet with a tie may have been for Fenton, the Tigers can look at this one huge positive — they still have control of their own destiny to win the league title outright. Most likely, Fenton or Holly will win the league meet, meaning the victor will be the conference champions.

"Whoever wins on Tuesday wins the Metro League," Fenton coach Gary Ballard said. "It's better than a loss. But I guess we'll see what happens Tuesday during the tournament."

Fenton's singles were dominant. The Tigers' Madison Ballard defeated Daryl Spurgeon (No. 1 singles) and Kendal Stephens defeated Misty Gerecke (No. 2 singles) by 6-0, 6-0 margins. Justin Hanson defeated Holly's Alex Knight 6-1, 6-1, giving Fenton a 3-1 lead in singles action.

However, Holly won the two three-set doubles matches. The No. 2 doubles team of Tabitha Steigerwald and Felicia Doolin also won, defeating Kelsey Kidd and Josie Foguth 6-1, 6-4. Fenton's No. 1 doubles team of Emily McIntosh and Lily Dubois defeated Audrey Crimmins and Victoria Skubik 6-3, 6-4.

Holly played without its No. 1 singles player Breanna Rodriguez, who was nursing an ankle injury.

4-2 with 14:45 left. However, a lead pass from Hannah Evo to Payton Maxheimer resulted in her second goal of the game with 9:10 remaining. Finally, Evo capped the scoring with a goal with 5:47 left.

Others earning assists for Fenton were Maxheimer, Mary Gieb, Jillian Toaso and Brennan Sullivan.

"We had some good pressure," Fenton coach Matt Sullivan said.

"We've been talking about getting behind the other team, and we did that tonight. We did a really good job of that."

For Holly, the team is still working to get its first win.

"We still have a lot of games left and their attitude is good," Holly coach Mike Steibel said.

"They have lots of energy. I think we can get a couple of wins (next week)."

two walks, but pitched the full game.

"We jokingly talked about things that blow off your big toe — mental mistakes that we shouldn't make," Fenton coach Chad Logan said. "We made some more today and now our entire team doesn't have a big toe."

Fenton had the early lead when Derek Jenkins hit a solo home run in the first. In the second, Kyle Jenkins singled and scored on Connor Muntin's RBI-single. Fenton (10-10) led 2-0 at that time.

In the nightcap, Holly scored three runs in the first inning on McNeely's first home run, a three-run blast. That inning started with two out, and was continued by a walk and an infield error. In the third inning, the Bronchos scored four more runs. This time Pat O'Connor doubled, Blake Ordiway walked and Brent Smiles walked, loading the bases. Perry's single drove in a run, but also got a runner gunned out at the plate. McNeely followed with another three-run blast. Holly led 7-0.

Holly (4-2-1, 8-5-2) combined singles by O'Connor, Blake Ordiway and Perry with walks to Brent Smiles, already plating two runs in the bottom of the fourth when the game was called. On the mound, Ordiway was pitching a no-hitter, striking out four Tigers and walking one.

"I like seeing it," McNeely said about the team's progress. "A lot of us are seeing the ball well, but a lot of it is attitudes. We have great senior leadership on this team. It's nice to have those seniors and also have them be good leaders. It helps build a solid program for us."

At press time, it was unknown when the game would be continued.

working at one of the workstations (pods) between classrooms Wednesday morning. When the student moved a book, a threat written on the desk was revealed.

"We went into secure mode right away," said Jalkanen. Fenton Police Chief Rick Aro responded immediately to the school and inspected the message. "Chief Aro is outstanding. He came over and took a look," said Jalkanen. It was unknown as to when the message was written on the desk.

Middle school administrators immediately took precautions by locking doors, conducting building sweeps and limiting all hallway travel, said Jalkanen.

In consultation with the Genesee Intermediate School District (GISD) Threat Management Consultant, a threat assessment was conducted onsite with the Fenton Police Department. Investigators determined that the threat was low risk, and they directed the school to continue its day as normal, in secured mode.

Jalkanen said an instant alert was sent out to families of middle school students around 1 p.m. informing them of the situation. He said nearly all of the parents have signed up for this system, either through e-mail, a texted cell phone message or recording. He said letters were also being sent home with all middle school students so that parents could be apprised of what happened.

"We're following all of the procedures to get it out there to the parents," Jalkanen said.

The situation remains under investigation. The school continued its secured mode throughout Thursday. If anyone has questions or concerns, please feel free to contact AGS Middle School at (810) 591-7700.

On Friday, Jalkanen said other than administration following up on the investigation; there was nothing new to report.

OBAMA'S NEW CAMPAIGN slogan is, "Forward." Sounds good. Unfortunately, this slogan has long been associated with European Marxism and radical movements to reflect their march in history that moves "Forward" past capitalism and into socialism and communism.

I FIND IT beyond belief that the Holly Village Council can vote the Village manager, DPW head raises, and contribute to the village manager's retirement account then state a need for concessions from the OBAMA — WHAT A team player he is. Imagine being the starting quarterback and leading your team to a decisive lead in a tough game. Then, the back up quarterback comes in and only has to hold on to the lead. He then claims he did it all — priceless.

The bond would allow the district to replace the aging fleet of buses with 16 new ones over the course of the millage. Doug Busch, executive director of personnel and finance, said because of the average age of the buses, 12 years, the district has been spending about $100,000 per year on repair parts and tires.

Because technology is always changing and advancing, Fenton, like many school districts, is in need of a vast technological upgrade in order to keep pace with the educational needs of the students. Fenton officials acknowledge this issue and they are hoping parents and community members in the district will support these much-needed improvements.

Busch said because laptop computer prices have decreased, many of the students have access to them at home. One of the problems they are encountering is that students using current industry-standard software at home are not able to bring a thumb drive or memory card containing their work to school, as the school's outdated computer system is not compatible.

"As a former teacher, it's frustrating, kids work on a project at home and it doesn't work at school," he said.

Busch added that this bond proposal would be the first tax increase since 1998, when voters approved a $44 million bond to build Fenton Andrew G. Schmidt Middle School and purchase buses. In 2005, the district refinanced a bond and saved the district $900,000. This $9.6 million bond would be assessed over 10 years. The school district would make two draws from the funds generated to alleviate the transportation and computer needs.

The lack of Internet access is also an increasing issue. To provide the latest in technology, the district needs Internet access for streaming media.

Superintendent Timothy Jalkanen said the bond request was well thought out and officials believe the district would be in good shape for about 10 years, if it were approved. Jalkanen also said that once parents hear the facts and see what technology their kids have to work with, they are overwhelmingly supportive of the bond.

As a whole, Fenton schools are in good shape, said Jalkanen. It is a school of choice district and it is accepting applications from students outside the district. In the past month or so, it has received about 15 applications. Approximately 10 percent of the student body is comprised of out-of-district students. Although these students' families do not get to vote or contribute to this bond, they do bring in approximately $7,000 each in state aid, which goes into the district's general fund.

The Fenton school district includes residents in the city of Fenton and portions of the townships of Fenton, Rose and Tyrone. Jalkanen and Busch would be concerned about the ability to meet the needs of the district and students if the bond proposal fails on May 8. They both hope that voters will continue their commitment to the children of this community and their future.

Why is the millage request being voted on in May?

Fenton Area Schools Superintendent Timothy Jalkanen said improvements and purchases are necessary as quickly as possible. In addition to bringing in updated technology, the congestion on Donaldson Drive needs to be addressed in the interest of the safety of students.

while Linden has nine officers. Fenton Township receives service from the Genesee County Sheriff's Department, while Holly Township is covered by the Michigan State Police.

In Fenton, patrol officers are assigned to one of three shifts. They check in and receive a briefing from the sergeant about any activities going on. Afterwards, when they get to work and hit the town, their responsibilities include traffic control, patrolling problem areas and responding to both criminal and medical calls as they come in.

Linden Police Chief Scott Sutter said his police department likes to take a proactive approach to dealing with crimes. "We are big into the community," Sutter said. "Our officers like to get on foot and meet with the citizens."

Some of their work includes meeting with seniors and helping them recognize scams and frauds, as well as working with schools to develop emergency plans.

Sutter says a lot of the crime Linden sees is related to juveniles, and the department

The Fenton Police Department dispatch center, in the lobby, has been moved back, as the entire lobby is renovated. The project was funded through the DDA.

deals with them appropriately.

"We are a resource for parents to reach out to juveniles, and another resource to use. Not just in arresting, but in a proactive way before a problem occurs, we can nip it in the bud by working with them, the schools, and the parents."

The effort put into preventing crime seems to be having an effect.

"We have seen a decrease in crimes in the last couple years across the board," Sutter said.

"Our biggest battle right now is our budget," Fenton Police Chief Rick Aro said. The police apply for grants, though according to Aro there are not as many state grants available as there used to be.

The department does work hard to pursue them and has used grants to pay for their body armor.

Argentine Township has re-started a police reserve program this year to help provide better service at no additional cost.

Police Chief Daniel Allen said that applicants for the reserve program faced an interview process that was as stringent as for any police officer.

"They have finished their initial training, which is classroom and hands on training like firearms, handcuffing, legal issues, and things like that," Allen said. "Now they are in their field training program, and will continue to receive additional training after that."

Allen says the reserve officers have worked out really well for Argentine Township.

"They are armed, and can only work alongside a certified officer, under the direct control of that officer. They work as an extra set of eyes and ears for that officer, and provide backup," he said.

Another way the department has saved money is through the Law Enforcement Support Office program, which puts unused equipment from the military into the hands of police departments. The department only has to pay for shipping and the items they receive might even come from military bases established in foreign countries.

"We receive items like rifles, which were mint condition," Allen said. "We have received tactical body armor, ballistic shields, helmets and so on."

Technology does not stop advancing, and while monetary issues may provide obstacles, the police do their best to keep pace.

The Fenton Police Department is currently in the process of updating their dispatch center. The project will renovate the physical building, as well as with the emergency telephone and radio equipment, making it next generation compliant.

"Once that tech has been put in by the state, people can send us texts and digital photographs," Aro said.

"I don't know if anything will be noticeable initially, but as things are put in place, they will. It will be amazing for our job, with people being able to take pictures over a cell phone and send it to us."

Aro said that in the future, he would like to incorporate the use of more cameras in town to monitor high crime public areas.

"We will be replacing our tasers pretty soon. One of the things we are going to do when we replace them is to have cameras integrated into them," said Aro. "It won't be a case of the person versus the officer; we will have everything right on video."

The different police departments all agree that drugs, while not rampant, tend to be one of the bigger problems that police officers are called on to deal with.

Last Saturday, police and fire departments took part in National Prescription Take-Back Day, where people could drop off unused prescription drugs. Chief Sutter said the Linden Police Department received 24 pounds of prescription drugs. He described the event as a good way to keep the prescription drugs off the street, which are some of the more commonly used drugs they deal with.

"We are big into the community. Our officers like to get on foot and meet with the citizens."

Tapping into Michigan's BREWING INDUSTRY

► State ranked near top for microbreweries

By William Axford
axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

While most people were still sleeping or preparing themselves for the oncoming day, Matt Sherrow was wide-awake at 4:30 a.m. on Wednesday, mixing hops and barley with water. Walking between rooms containing massive vats, clear tubes, kegs and buckets, Sherrow looked more like a researcher than a brewer.

"My bar becomes my laboratory," said Sherrow, owner of the Fenton Winery and Brewery. "There's more to beer flavor-wise than there is with wine and people don't realize it. Anything you can pair wine to you can pair with beer."

Sherrow is part of the growing industry of brewers, which create unique, flavorful beers. According to the Brewer's Association, craft-brewing is an $8.7 billion industry comprised of 1,063 brewpubs, 789 microbreweries and 88 regional craft breweries. Craft brews accounted for 5.8 percent of overall beer sales in 2011 and they continue to increase. In Michigan alone, there are more than 100 breweries.

"People are starting to get away from mass produced beer," Sherrow said, who has created nearly 40 different kinds of beer. Sherrow rotates four taps and gages his concoctions based on customer reactions. His other eight taps are reserved for customer favorites.

When you can't find the silver lining

'Look for the silver lining,' says an old song, adding, 'There's a silver lining behind every cloud you see.' Is this true?

One struggling sufferer said if all clouds are supposed to have silver linings, some of his clouds must be defective.

Is there really any reason to expect good things to develop out of trials?

Best-selling author, Phillip Keller, thinks so. In his book, "Strength of Soul," he said, 'There is a silver edge to life! The tapestry of our lives is embroidered with blessings. All is not dark. Our part is to search for the silver lining.'

How can we be successful in this search?

According to Keller, who has had more than his share of dark clouds, 'It calls for a certain degree of self-discipline in which a deliberate decision is made to look for life's silver edge. It entails cultivating a close personal communion with Christ Himself on the path of life. It demands a calm, sure faith of quiet repose in our Father's care, whereby fresh hope springs up within the soul.'

In other words, the silver lining comes from the sun shining on the clouds from above. And discovering the silver lining depends on how high we look.

In a time of trouble, the Psalmist said he would lift up his eyes to the hills from where his help would come, but then explained the source of his help was higher than the hills: 'My help comes from the LORD, who made heaven and earth' (Psalm 121:1-2).

Faith brings a divine dimension to our difficulties. In every problem, faith sees an opportunity for God to show His love and develop us into what He wants us to be.

When Enoch was a senior in high school, he received a scholarship to attend Michigan State University where he planned to study conservation. He dreamed of spending his life tending streams, lakes and forests. Then one day dark clouds rolled in.

Enoch's father was stricken with tuberculosis and was told he would have to be treated in a sanatorium for an extended period of time. This meant the would-be conservationist must cancel his college plans to stay home and help his family.

Broken dreams are often hard to handle and Enoch was deeply disappointed with this turn of events.

But there's more to the story.

While rising to the needs of his family during his father's illness, Enoch made a life changing decision. After his father's recovery, he would enter the ministry. This ultimately led him to found a family camp that covers hundreds of acres and contains many streams, lakes and forests, enabling him to minister to thousands of youth and adults over the years in his conservation wonderland.

There was a silver lining to each of Enoch's clouds even though it was hard to detect when they first rolled in. God was at work in the darkness to bring about the fulfillment of his dream in a way that would work for the benefit of others.

To quote Keller again, 'Searching for the silver linings, more often than not, entails searching our own souls. It is the capacity, the ability to actually look for the hand of God in all the events of life, be they good or evil, that enables us to find the silver edge.'

Encyclopedia Britannica soon to be collector's item

► Printed version can't compete with Internet

By Christopher Jones

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

The final edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica, printed in 2010, has become a collector's item. The 32-volume set is estimated to be worth $1,395, according to USA Today. The number of online purchases were three times as high at 3,200. Fewer than 800 sets of the 2010 edition remain, stored in a Kentucky warehouse, according to CNN.

"It surprised me," said Senior Librarian Christine Heron of the Jack R. Wingarden Library in Fenton.

"I didn't think there was much of a market for any collector's item anymore."

The Chicago-based Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. said taking the reference book out of print was due to declining sales. The encyclopedia saw its peak in 1990, with 120,000 sets sold in the United States. For much of the last century, owning a Britannica, with its gold lettering and expense, was considered a symbol of prestige, according to the New York Times.

Summary

► Sales of the Encyclopedia Britannica skyrocketed after it was announced in March that print production of the large tomes would cease.

However, with the growing importance and availability of the Internet, the Britannica struggled to compete with online resources like Wikipedia, which were free and constantly updated.

Eventually, even libraries like the Holly Township Library were not buying them. According to Director Shirley Roos, the library has not purchased a Britannica in about 10 years. Some of the reasons she cited were the high cost, the amount of information being overwhelming to students, as well as the inability of print references to be constantly updated. "We spend very little on print references. Say we buy a 2012 edition. The next thing you know, it's obsolete."

With poor sales for the print references, it is unlikely that the sudden spike for the last edition will convince Britannica's company to continue print production.

"It surprised me. I didn't think there was a market for any collector's item anymore."

Are people brilliant or just plain crazy?

Here are some of the better news clips:

Couponing for beginners!

While experts tout amazing savings with coupons, it may seem daunting to the beginner who wants to save lots of money but doesn't know where to start.

The key to couponing is to match store sales with coupons and stack store coupons and manufacturer coupons to get the best deal on an item, experts say. Once you get the hang of it, you'll want to stock up on products so you don't have to buy them again at full price when you need them.

There are plenty of resources out there, on blogs and in classes, to learn more about couponing. Many blogs will do the legwork for you, matching up sales and coupons, so you just have to find the coupons and head to the store.

To start with, shoppers usually can save about 60 percent. Then people can increase their savings as they become more adept at couponing.

"This is not an extreme example. This is what I do all the time," said Michelle Mazac, who runs the blog CouponTeach.com.

The commitment is not nearly as dramatic as her savings. Mazac said she spends about three additional hours at the grocery store each month and less than an hour every week clipping and sorting her coupons.

How to start COUPONING

Caldwell coupon expert Jessica Hacker recommends beginners start on a small scale, picking one store to shop with their coupons.

"You've got to start small, you've got to keep your normal grocery shopping habits," Hacker said. "There's so many great deals, but don't think you have to buy them all. You can't just dive in like that."

Hacker offers these tips for beginners:

1. Start small — Pick one store to begin with; get familiar with its policies and sales.
2. Pick your budget — Don't spend lots to start with. Set a small budget and gradually buy things with coupons. As your stockpile grows, your regular grocery list will shrink, so you can slowly increase your coupon budget.
3. Don't go overboard — Sales come around seasonally or every few months, so don't buy so much of a product that you won't be able to use it all.
4. Use your resources — Check out coupon blogs, newspaper articles and TV shows to learn more about couponing.
5. Coupon for needed items — There's no point in purchasing something you won't use, so only buy items with coupons if you actually need them.

Learn the rules, read the fine print

Successful couponing starts with understanding the coupon deals, the matches and what goes with what to save big bucks. Bloggers take the time to match the grocery sales ads to the coupons and they lay it out in simple language. That will help you navigate the grocery store aisles and get the best deals.

It's important to read the fine print of the coupon and figure out how many you can use in a single transaction, according to athriftymom.com blogger Sarah Barrand. Some say "limit four like coupons per transaction," which means if you have a fifth coupon, you'll have to complete the purchase with four items and then go through the line again for the fifth item.

— Press Herald

Send coupons to military men and women overseas

Did you know that overseas military members can use expired coupons up to six months past their expiration date? Military families stationed overseas are often living on one income and money can be scarce. Let's support our military by showing them some coupon love!

How do I sort the coupons?

Separate your clipped coupons into two categories: Food and Non-Food. Most military bases have two stores. One is called the "Commissary" which is a grocery store and the other is the PX or BX which is a department store. We therefore ask you to sort the coupons into "food" and "non-food" bundles so that they can more easily be placed in the correct venue once they arrive at the base.

Label the bundles

Try to use a baggie to separate your coupons instead of paper clips or rubber bands.

What's food & non-food?

Here's the rule of thumb: It's food if it can be eaten by humans, is usually eaten by humans, and is normally eaten to provide calories. For example, dog and cat food would be "non-food," but Ensure or Slim-Fast would be "food." Vitamins would be non-food. Chewing gum and mints are food.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Fenton Winery and Brewery co-owner Matt Sherrow drains low gravity wort from his brewery machine on Wednesday. "Wort" is a bi-product of the brewing process.

Barley, yeast, water and hops are the four main ingredients of beer. Other ingredients can be added to change the flavor, such as blueberries or cinnamon. A beer is classified as either a lager or ale. Ales are stronger in taste, darker in color, brewed at warmer temperatures and can take as little as a week to brew. Lagers are smoother and crisper, lighter in color, brewed at warmer temperatures and can take months to finish brewing.

Sherrow has been experimenting with new flavors of beer by soaking hops in bourbon and oak chips in whiskey, giving some beers a whiskey smell and flavor. He also once stored half a batch of a Scottish wheat heavy beer in a wine barrel, giving the beer somewhat of a fruity taste.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | WILLIAM AXFORD

Kegs are stored in a chilled room and hook directly to the taps. Matt Sherrow keeps four rotating taps and staple beers on his eight other taps.

Michigan craft beers are becoming a staple in local restaurants, with more and more eateries housing in-state beers on their tapestries.

"About a year ago, we made a concise decision to dedicate all our drafts to Michigan beers," said Mark Hamel, owner of the French Laundry. "If you ask any beer person nationwide, Michigan is typically ranked third for microbrews. Michigan breweries have exquisite beers."

The increased interest in brewing beer can be attributed to affordable home brew kits. Sherrow said he started out with a brew kit that involved cooking on his kitchen stove. He now takes in volunteers to help with his brewing and to share his knowledge of the craft.

"It's a labor of love. You get to see what things are like on a larger scale," said Nick Paterson of Grand Blanc, who was helping on Wednesday. "You get to see a different way of doing things and learn about the process."

Volunteering at a brewery is a chance for firsthand knowledge and can lead to a career. Stacey Block, a senior brewer at Arcadia Ales of Battle Creek, started her career by volunteering at breweries.

For those who are uncertain of what types of beer they would like, Sherrow suggests ordering beer samplers, which allows customers to try a variety of beers instead of purchasing one full beer.

"It's a great way to try different beers without buying a whole pint," Sherrow said.

Key terms in identifying taste

Hoppiness — A bitter taste, crisp, provides a bite to the beer.

Maltiness — Usually sweet or dry in taste, can also have a roasted/burnt taste.

Finish — Also known as the after-taste, can be strong or non-existent depending on the beer.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

The brewery machine at the Fenton Winery and Brewery can be fully automated. It handles the three essential steps in the brewing process.

Michigan Standup Paddle Boards riding wave of popularity

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Standup paddle boarding is the fastest growing water sport in the world, and it's now available to everyone in the tri-county area.

Michigan Standup Paddle Boards has opened its doors inside White's Landing Marina on Lobdell Lake in Argentine Township. Owner Paul Crow and his wife, Jodi, invite everyone to stop in and find out what this new sport is all about.

"Anyone from age 8 to 80 and beyond can enjoy this sport," said Crow. "It's a nice way to get out and enjoy nature and the water."

A mix between paddle sports like canoeing and kayaking, plus surfing, paddle boarding is a full body, low impact workout. One of the reasons for its strong popularity is the fact that you can take the sport to any level.

"You can go out on a board and just enjoy a casual paddle around the lake, you can participate in a 30-mile race, or you can take it to the 'extreme' by wave riding or white water riding," said Crow. "That's what makes this sport so fun for all members of a family."

Michigan Standup Paddle Boards offers boards for sale or by rental for several hours, by the day or overnight. "We'll also rent car carriers if you want to take a board to a different lake," said Crow. "When someone buys a board from us, we'll deliver it to their home as part of the sale."

This new local company is also starting a Paddle Club, with events and dates to be announced on their Facebook page, facebook.com/michiganstanduppaddleboard. They also have a website, www.michigan-sup.com.

Store hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 12 to 3 p.m., with extended hours coming this summer. For more information, call the store at (810) 223-6767.

Summary

Lions Club returns favor with check

►Scouts buy new trailer to haul camping equipment

By Sharon Stone

sstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

Last Fourth of July, the Fenton Lions Club realized that Boy Scout Troop 212 needed a new trailer for hauling equipment for camping trips.

The Fenton Lions Club has been longtime sponsors of the troop, which meets every week at Fenton United Methodist Church.

The troop helps the Lions Club every year at its annual Chicken BBQ, held at the Fenton Community Center, on the Fourth of July. This is when Lions members realized the troop's need for a trailer. In return for their help, the Lions Club issued the troop a check for $1,800 so that they could purchase a trailer.

To show off their new trailer to Lions Club members, Scoutmasters and the troop took it up to a recent Lions Club dinner at Luigi's restaurant.

This Boy Scout troop is just one of the many ways the Fenton Lions Club supports the community. It sponsors scholarships for local high school students, Habitat for Humanity, Freedom Festival fireworks display, purchases equipment for the police and fire departments, buys eyeglasses and hearing aids, screens children's eyesight through Project Kidsight, buys and distributes white canes, helps people with diabetes and more.

This weekend, the Fenton Lions Club will be holding its White Cane fundraiser. Throughout the weekend, members will be collecting donations in front of both VG's Grocery stores, as well as Wal-mart. All of the proceeds from the White Cane fundraiser will go back into the community.

Summary

►In return for helping the Fenton Lions Club with their annual BBQ dinner on the Fourth of July, the club gave the troop $1,800 to buy a new trailer to haul equipment on camping trips.

■ My family: parents, Michael and Connie, and I have a sister, Diamond.

“I believe I will achieve all the goals I have set and I will become successful in life.”

What sports and leisure activities do you enjoy?

I do tennis and I am in show choir and ballroom dancing. Ballroom dancing is my favorite.

My dream car is: I would have to say a Chrysler 300. It's a classy car and I feel I'd be classy in it.

My all-time favorite movie is: Baby Boy with Tyrese Gibson. It has a lot of meaning to it.

My earliest memory is: Family reunions at my Grandma Wilson's house. She was the peacemaker. All the gatherings were at her house.

If you could have one superpower, what would it be? Breathing underwater. I love swimming. It would be like a different world.

I always: sing. I've been in the show choir since the eighth grade. It relieves a lot of stress.

I never: drink Pepsi. Coca-Cola is nasty and I figure Pepsi would be nasty too.

If you could make one rule everyone has to follow, what would it be? I would make bullying a crime. I see it happening a lot in this school.

Is there an event in your life you would like a 'do-over' for? All of the times I said I hated somebody. I wish I could take it back because hate is a strong word.

If you could travel back in time to witness one event, what would it be? Martin Luther King's speech. If it wasn't for him, I wouldn't be where I am now.

If you had to walk through downtown all day wearing a sign, what would it say? Put a smile on your face, because when people see it they will actually smile.

What is an upcoming event you are looking forward to? Prom and graduation. I'm looking forward to graduation more, because I can further my career goals.

Front row seats and backstage passes. Who are you seeing? Tyrese Gibson, because he's a very attractive man and he can sing very well.

What has been the best day in your life so far? Every day, because I get to wake up to see another.

What are your plans after graduation? To attend Mott Community College to become a dietitian. It's like a nutritionist, but they get to prescribe medicine and diets.

How are you preparing for college? I started filling out FASFA and I'm about to take my placement test, and I started filling out scholarships.

My parting advice for a better world is: Dream it, believe it, achieve it.
