Hotter than the last drought

► Experts say it could be hotter than the summer of 1988

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Everyone knows sunny, hot weather comes with Michigan summers. And while it may seem like we say it every year, this summer really does feel like the hottest summer ever. And for once, that statement may not be hyperbolic.

Summary

► Meteorologists are beginning to believe that the summer of 2012 is one of the hottest summers on record.

Many people are comparing the heat of this year to that of the summer of 1988, the last year Michigan experienced an extreme drought.

“I’ve been on the books since 1992 and it hasn’t been this hot since 1988,” said Chuck Nelson, owner of Nelson Roofing in Fenton. “When it’s this hot, we start at 6:30 a.m. and work until noon. We just give it an early start. It makes for shorter days.”

Authors, musicians join second Art Walk

►Event becomes more diverse latest time around

By William Axford
news@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

The second annual Art Walk in Fenton has expanded beyond canvases of landscapes and animals.

Walking through Dibbleville, residents heard musicians strumming their guitars and jamming on their pianos. Local authors promoted their novels in front of Fenton's Open Book, enticing potential readers as they conversed about the writing process. Hair stylists at Elle Marie Hair Studio held sidewalk exhibitions showcasing new hairstyles and potential colors.

The Art Walk has become more diverse and businesses are seeing the benefits of the event.

"We're kind of our own artists today," said Elle Marie owner Andrea Miller. "The Art Walk has given us exposure for people to see our art."

Miller said this year's Art Walk was less crowded but still busy. Miller said tinsel, hair chalk and some other artistic hair designs have been popular at her business.

At Fenton's Open Book, authors Brenda Haase and Dorothy Mikat, both of Fenton, said that Saturday's crowd was pretty consistent and that it was nice to see local people they knew. Art, according to the authors, doesn't have to include paints and pencils.

"Art is an expression of oneself," said Haase. "Anything that takes creativity is art."

Even with the expansion of music and books, paintings still lined the sidewalks, propped up on stands for pedestrians to browse and, if desired, purchase. The entire storefront of Fenton House restaurant was covered by paintings from local artists, often prompting people to stop and spend a few minutes of browsing while examining the paintings.

What comes after a hole-in-one?

GRIFFIN DAILY NEWS

Traditionally, golfers fortunate enough to hit a hole-in-one often celebrate by buying a round of drinks for everyone present in the clubhouse.

► Amazing shot fuels celebrations and entry into record books

By Ryan Tackabury
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

A hole-in-one is a rare event in the world of golf. To say it is usually a once in a lifetime event is an understatement — as few golfers will have the opportunity to witness one first hand, let alone make it themselves. A hole-in-one means that you hit your golf ball into the cup with just one stroke.

What happens when one manages to beat the odds, which are estimated to be roughly 1 in 33,000?

"The old adage is the person who gets the hole-in-one buys the clubhouse a whole round of beer. That doesn't happen so often. They might by their group a round though," said Christopher White of Fenton Farms Golf Club.

The Stossel Solution

In order to get the correct answer to anything, one must ask the right question. That is what former ABC News and current Fox News TV host John Stossel does on his weekly program. If ever there was "must see-TV," this is it.

Stossel's show on Saturday, June 30 was called 'Government, Incorporated' and focused on what private industry can do less expensively and more efficiently than government. After watching it, I wondered why this isn't happening. Why does inefficient, costly and unresponsive government continue to grow while the people and companies that could do the work much better are regulated and taxed to death?

At the top of the program, Stossel established the underlying foundation of his philosophy when it comes to government vs. private industry: "...even though the private sector is more efficient, politicians and bureaucrats usually won't let go."

One of his guests was Indiana Gov. Mitch Daniels. "You were $78 million in debt," Stossel said during the program. "Now you have a $1.5 billion surplus." Next year, Daniels' state surplus will be at least $2 billion. Taxpayers can expect a credit on their 2013 taxes.

Daniels said he invokes what he calls 'the Yellow Pages test. If it's in there, then conceivably government shouldn't be doing it itself.'

And the result? 'The result,' said Daniels, 'is we're repairing bridges, building roads. We're the only state with a building boom in infrastructure and it didn't cost the taxpayers a nickel.'

Re-read that last sentence and then ask yourself why the federal government still sees itself as the primary builder of roads and bridges when it costs more and delivers less. For 40 years, Amtrak has been subsidized by government, but it still loses money, lots of it.

If results become the primary objective in our political discourse, it's difficult to refute the arguments coming from Stossel. John Stossel's program repeatedly demonstrates that the way to a healthier economy and a stronger government is through the private sector, not government.

It doesn't require a surgical procedure to remove the idea that government can do it better; just a different way of thinking.

Fenton Township may construct new park

►Community involvement could lead to project's success

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Fenton Township — Baseball fields, soccer fields and a walking path are some of the proposed ideas for a new park in Fenton Township.

Township Clerk Robert Krug presented the idea of a park to the township board at Monday's board meeting. He received the approval of the board to go forward with the project. The proposed park would be built on land the township received from Genesee County, located at Fenton and Thompson roads, near Wiggins Road.

And, due to the interest from parents and other local residents, constructing the park will come at little or no cost to the township. Eventually, the township will construct a building for the township's Department of Public Works. Krug said the building could be constructed after the park is set up.

Community involvement is key. Krug plans to have open meetings with the public to help shape and construct the park.

"There are several Boy Scouts in the area that need to do public service for their Eagle Scout badge," Krug said, using one example of how the township can utilize public service to lower construction costs. Krug said numerous parents were interested in helping build the baseball diamonds, since it would give their children a close location to play games. Krug hopes to have the park open by next summer.

"We are way overdue for this," said Trustee Robert Kesler. Trustee Vince Loraine suggested reaching out to businesses and residents for possible donations. Loraine said residents and business owners in the township would likely be enthusiastic about helping with the project.

The land for the proposed park covers 36 acres and includes two wetlands.

Krug said he estimates a little more than 20 acres would be usable for the park. For more information on helping out or expressing ideas for the park, contact the Fenton Township offices at (810) 629-1537.

Summary

►Fenton Township officials are in the process of constructing a new park. Volunteers and ideas are welcomed, as the project will include community involvement.

Police&Fire report

MOTORCYCLIST REAR-ENDED

The Genesee County Sheriff's Department responded to a personal injury crash involving a motorcycle at Owen and Linden roads in Fenton Township around 8:30 p.m. Monday, July 16. Det. Sgt. Bill Lanning said a 23-year-old male, driving a motorcycle was west-bound on Owen Road and stopped at the intersection at Linden Road. While stopped, he was rear-ended by another vehicle. ### CATALYTIC CONVERTERS STOLEN

Lt. Jason Slater of the Fenton Police Department said police are investigating two complaints involving stolen catalytic converters. The owners of a Chevy Venture van and an Oldsmobile Silhouette van reported that the devices were cut from the vans sometime between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. on July 16. One van was parked in the 18000 block of Silver Parkway; the other was parked in the 100 block of West Caroline Street. Slater urges passers by to call 911 if they see someone sliding underneath a vehicle while it is in a parking lot. He said residents should not assume that the person they see is the vehicle owner.

SWIMMER'S BELONGINGS STOLEN

A 28-year-old man reported to Fenton police that he and his girlfriend were swimming near the small beach along South Long Lake Road between 2:30 and 3 a.m. on July 16. While swimming, they observed two males in their late teens walking up to the picnic area and steal the man's cell phone and a wallet containing a sizeable amount of cash. The suspects fled the scene. The victim recovered some of his belongings near Appletree Lane and Trealout Drive. The identities of two possible suspects were given to police.

TEEN STEALS CLOTHES AND FOOD

On July 16, Fenton police responded to a department store in the 3700 block of Owen Road to investigate a shoplifting complaint. Employees had a 19-year-old Linden male in custody. Employees told police that they observed the teen select clothes, video games and snacks and then place them into a reusable blue store bag. The teen was seen entering a bathroom and then emerged wearing the clothes that he concealed in the bag. As he left, the employee confronted him and escorted him back inside. Police arrested the teen and took him back to the police station for processing. The teen claimed he needed the clothing for work and planned to eat the food.

MALES SHOPLIFT

On July 15, at 4:20 p.m. Fenton police were dispatched to a department store in the 3200 block of Owen Road to investigate a shoplifting complaint. The loss prevention employee told police that at 2:45 p.m. they observed two white males entering the store. In the electronics department, the males were seen selecting boxed sets of video games and concealing them underneath their clothing. The males exited the store without paying for the items; however, the employee was unable to stop them. The employee gave police the license plate of their green S-10 truck. Police contacted the Shiawassee County Sheriff's Department and spoke with the registered owner of the truck, who said his 20-year-old son had used the truck. The owner said his son likely stole the items to support his drug habit. The case is being sent to the prosecutor's office for possible arrest warrants.

Driving while license suspended and is a 'certificate of mailing' testimonial? (part one)

It should be common knowledge that it is against the law to drive on a suspended license.

Indeed Michigan has a statute that prohibits driving on a suspended license (DWLS) and another statute that requires the Secretary of State to give notice of a suspension to the affected driver either by personal service or first-class mail to the person at the address shown by the records of the Secretary of State. The giving of notice by mail is complete five days after mailing the notice. Proof of notice is kept by the Secretary of State in the form of a certificate.

The DWLS statute requires that for a conviction it must be shown the defendant's license was revoked or suspended, that there was operation of the vehicle on a public highway or place open to the general public or generally accessible to motor vehicles and that the defendant received notice of the suspension or revocation as provided by statute.

In the recent case of People v Nunley, the Michigan Supreme Court was faced with the question of whether a live witness from the Secretary of State would be required to appear at a defendant's trial to establish the last notice element for a DWLS conviction, or if the 'certificate of mailing' the notice from the Secretary of State's records would suffice without the need for testimony.

The issue involved a topic that has previously been discussed in this column as to whether evidence is 'testimonial' or 'nontestimonial.'

If evidence is considered 'testimonial,' a live witness subject to cross-examination is required to meet the constitutional requirements of the Confrontation Clause. If it's 'nontestimonial,' introducing the evidence without accompanying testimony will not violate the Clause.

In next week's column, I will discuss the Nunley case, the meaning of testimonial and non-testimonial, and the rationale for the Supreme Court's final ruling.

PASS

roads that have bogged down their travel times. To avoid long waits at toll roads, travelers may want to look into acquiring an E-ZPass.

An E-ZPass is a device to electronically pay your tolls at participating facilities. After setting up an E-ZPass account, funds can be added to your account ahead of time, which are then used at toll roads.

The biggest benefit of using an E-ZPass is that many tolls will have designated lanes for those with the pass, which will not only often be shorter, but much faster. For people planning a big trip through lots of toll roads, an E-ZPass could be a big time saver.

Applying for an E-ZPass can be done at the website www.e-zpassag.com.

The E-ZPass should be installed approximately one inch below the top of your vehicle's windshield above the rearview mirror. Placing the transponder on the sun visor, the rear view mirror, the dashboard, the seat, or in your hand may work sometimes, but will not work all of the time. Installing the transponder incorrectly or not at all may cause unnecessary toll evasion violations, administrative fees or delays at the tollbooth.

Fueling up your car, as important as that may be, is one of the last things some people want to set aside time in their day to do. The creation of a new device, SpeedPass, can help quicken a motorist's time at the pump.

A SpeedPass is a small wireless device that can be attached to your keychain, and can be used to quickly pay for your purchases at participating gas stations.

Rather than counting out cash, using the device is as simple as waving it in front of a gasoline pump or kiosk inside the gas station.

A SpeedPass device can be ordered at the website www.speedpass.com, where users will also set up their account. On the website you can link a debit or credit card to your device or review a list of all of your past purchases that you have made. The company behind SpeedPass boasts that it is more secure than a credit card. If the device is ever lost or stolen, the owner can quickly alter their details online, removing access of their debit card from the device.

This device must be installed properly to ensure it works at toll booths.

Crash on Owen Road

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TOM HAMELINE

HEALTH

Valacak looks at the big picture for health in Genesee County, home to both Linden and Fenton. Looking at the health of the community can also help residents to examine their own habits, if they know where they stand compared to rest of the state.

Valacak said looking at health statistics is useful, because it can help determine where change is needed. "Where we need to work on is encouraging them to eat better and be more physically active," he said. Reducing smoking and the rate of STDs is important for all communities.

On the county level, Livingston and Oakland counties rate much higher health-wise than Genesee. Livingston came in fourth overall, Oakland came in 16th, and Genesee came in 77th out of 82, according to 2012 county health rankings.

The Prevention Resource Center of Michigan published a detailed and comprehensive health report for Genesee County. According to the 2007 survey results, Fenton survey respondents feel they are in better health than respondents who reported from neighboring Linden — and the hard numbers seem to back these feelings up, by a few measures.

Linden misses more work than Fenton due to health reasons. Fenton eats between 11 and 22 servings of vegetables each week, placing the city with only five in the county that eat that many vegetables. Linden is slightly behind at 10 servings per week on average.

The amount of healthy foods suburban cities, such as Fenton and Linden have access to makes a difference to overall health. Valacak said that the city of Flint only has one full-service grocery store. More people have access to party stores instead.

When it comes to alcohol, Fenton drinks more, with 25 to 40 drinks per month being reported compared to Linden's 12 to 25 and Grand Blanc's zero to 11.

Linden also loses out with the amount of people who have smoked more than 100 cigarettes in their lives, with up to 67 percent of residents reporting that they have. Fenton was slightly behind, at up to 48 percent on average who smoked at least 100 cigarettes in their lives. Fenton has a higher number of residents who report living with someone who smokes.

Compared to neighboring Grand Blanc, which scored zero to 42 percent, Linden and Fenton both score as heavy smokers, comparatively. Linden and Fenton were polar opposites in regards to occurrence of cancer — Linden reports up to 40 percent of residents on average have had cancer, while Fenton reports up to 6 percent. The fact that Linden is an older community overall according to the 2010 U.S. Census may make a difference.

Genesee County rates high overall on the list with obesity, with some of the most concentrated areas in Flint. "Clearly there's a lot of work that needs to be done," said Valacak. Although Fenton and Linden ranked amongst the lowest in Genesee County, the cities still report up to 59 percent of respondents are overweight or obese. Valacak said that today, people are eating out more often than cooking their own food, and not necessarily making the best choices.

On the plus side, women in Fenton and Linden both report that 100 have had necessary tests like pap smears for their health, as compared to Flint, which scored much lower.

"It's important for us to understand how we stand so we can look at where we need to pay attention, and what kinds of things we need to be doing," he said. "With health care, what areas do we need to concentrate on?" This includes educating the community, and even health care providers in what health problems the local community faces.

Suzanne Selig, director of the Department of Public Health and Health Sciences at the University of Michigan-Flint, said that the 2007 data "is pretty reliable." "That data gives you a snapshot of the health status of the community that was included." She said the information doesn't mean someone living in Linden is more likely to get cancer because they live there — it just gives residents a chance to observe their own lives, and see if they are at risk for any of these health problems.

Selig said the 2010 report will be available soon, and then researchers can observe health trends over time.

It's a hot one

► Health department issues important tips to stay safe during dangerous heat wave

During this current heat wave, the Genesee County Health Department (GCHD) is reminding everyone that prevention is the best defense against heat-related illnesses. By keeping cool, you and your family lessen the risk of becoming a victim of heat-related illness.

The following tips are important for hot summer days.

- Stay hydrated. Drink plenty of fluids. During hot weather, drink eight to 10 glasses of fluids a day. Water is best. Avoid drinks with alcohol, which increase fluid loss.
- Wear appropriate clothing. Use a sunscreen with a sun protection factor (SPF) number of 15 or higher.
- Limit physical activities. Rest often. Plan outdoor activities early in the day or in the evening.
- Pace yourself. If you feel at all uncomfortable, stop all activity and get into a cool area, or at least in the shade, and rest.
- Stay cool indoors. The most efficient way to beat the heat is to stay in an air-conditioned area. When the temperature is in the high 90s or higher, a fan will not prevent heat-related illness. A cool shower or bath is a more effective way to cool off.
- Visit a mall, grocery store, department

But like anyone else who works in the trades or outside, Nelson knows the brutal heat becomes a hazard. The heat can drag on workers, cutting into the next day's productivity. Nelson would rather get a few hours of good, hard work from his workers rather than a full workday from worn out roofers.

Nelson's comparison of this summer to that of 1988 is spot on, according to NBC 25 Chief Meteorologist Mark Torregrossa. In fact, Torregrossa said there's a good chance that this summer's heat will surpass that of 1988, especially when we hit mid August.

"In July we had 10 days hotter than 90 degrees. In June we had six 90-degree days and one in May, or 17 in total so far this year," said Torregrossa. "Our normal 90-degree days is 12 for the summer."

Torregrossa attributed the excessive heat to drought in the southern states. Moist soil retains some heat but due to the dry conditions, the ground is unable to absorb some of the heat. Torregrossa said the heat from the drought is a "self-perpetuating process," since the weather will only get hotter as we enter into August. The lack of moisture allows the heat to continue to expand without dissipation.

"We also have an upper level dome of hot air up around 10,000 to 20,000 feet that isn't moving," Torregrossa added.

"The hotter it is aloft, the hotter it can get on the ground."

The temperature isn't the only record the heat is breaking. Consumers Energy Spokesman Dan Bishops said July 6 was the third highest amount of energy usage in the company's 125 years of operation, with 1.8 million customers using 8,820 megawatts of energy. In the next week, Consumers Energy expects to see a higher demand for energy as the temperature climbs over 100 degrees.

"It is certainly possible that we'll see the highest energy usage ever this summer," Bishops said. "The all time record was a year ago on July 21 with 8,930 megawatts of usage."

The increased energy usage is a sign of economic recovery to Bishops, who said electric sales to industrial customers is rising. And while keeping your home cool can be expensive, Bishops encourages customers to call Consumers Energy at 800-477-5050 if they anticipate a problem paying their bills. The earlier customers call, the easier it is for the company to work with them, Bishops said.

With August looming ahead of us, relief from the hot weather probably won't come until the fall. If you encounter someone in need of medical assistance due to the heat, call 911 immediately. The longer you wait, the worse someone's condition can become.

US 23 Drive-In manager Edward Paulos rings up customers before the feature starts Saturday night.

DRIVE-IN

one car for one low carload price. Maybe it was just the two of you, and an evening at the drive-in would become a romantic destination.

Drive-in theaters are scarce — just 364 in the entire U.S. That's less than 10 percent of the number in their heyday in 1958, when more than 4,000 drive-ins dotted the American landscape.

Genesee County boasts only one, the US 23 Drive-In at G-5200 Fenton Road, just a few miles from the tri-county area. It has been open since 1952, but the original screen burned down in 1997. It was quickly replaced, and a renovation several years ago added a third screen and other upgrades to the outdoor complex.

This drive-in is one of only a handful in Michigan, but its popularity continues to grow as local families find it a fun, affordable alternative to other more expensive, less personal entertainment options. Adult ticket prices are $7 each for two movies, and children from 5 to 12 are just $5 apiece. Student prices are $6.

"The experience at US 23 is one-of-a-kind," said Johny Thomas, who literally runs the show as general manager of the theater for a group of three private investors. "Believe it or not, the drive-in experience hasn't changed a lot over the years. A lot of parents love the memories and nostalgia effect, so they enjoy seeing their kids experience a drive-in movie theater."

Families and couples are the "popcorn and pop" of the drive-in theater industry. For many, the affordability of the entertainment is its biggest draw. "Where else can you get two shows for the price of one?" said Tessa Stickel, of Fenton. She and her husband, Dan, used to be "regulars" about once a month before they had their two daughters, Norah, 2½ and Rennie, 1.

"We'd watch the first movie together, and then Dan would fall asleep," said Tessa. "Then I got to watch the next movie, which was almost always a horror show, my favorite."

The Stickels are hoping that next summer the girls will be at a really good age to take with them to the drive-in.

There are many ways to enjoy watching movies at the drive-in — from bringing your own lawn chairs and setting them in front of your car, to setting up a bed in the back of your pickup truck, or just staying inside your car.

No matter how you choose to watch the movie, the fun of the drive-in is in its freedom from restrictions. Where else can you watch a movie, chat and laugh with friends and family, talk on your cell phone or pet your dog? Sometimes, this freedom comes with a price, as the time when the Stickels ended up next to a car of smokers. "You just have to move your vehicle, that's all," said Tessa.

The US 23 Drive-in has three screens and prides itself on showing current movies. The gates open at 7:30 p.m., with the first show beginning at dusk, around 9:30 p.m. "We're open rain or shine, seven days a week," said Thomas.

In fact, the weather is one of the biggest determining factors of attendance at the drive-in. "Good movies, good weather and good management are what bring people into the drive-in," said Thomas. "We feel that offering first-run, double-feature movies at an affordable price is what sets us apart from other theaters. Our concessions are also more family-friendly."

Bricks Flicks

Watch for the "Back to the Bricks" car cruise at the US 23 Drive-In on Tuesday, Aug. 14. "Last year, we had over 1,000 cars show up for 'Bricks Flicks,'" said Johny Thomas, general manager of the drive-in. "This year, we expect it to be even bigger. The free movie this year will be 'Footloose.'"

• Never leave children, the elderly, or pets unattended in a vehicle. Even with the windows rolled down, or just for a few minutes, the temperatures in the car can rise to dangerous levels. It is never OK to leave anyone in a vehicle in extreme heat.

Some people are at greater risk of suffering from a heat-related illness including infants and young children, people aged 65 years or older, people who have a mental illness, and those who are physically ill, especially with heart disease or high blood pressure.

Those 65 years of age or older should have a friend or relative call to check on you twice a day during a heat wave. If you know anyone who is at higher risk of a heat-related illness check on him or her regularly. The golfer who hit the hole-in-one can also register their achievement with the United States Golf Register, which seeks to catalogue every hole-in-one ever made throughout history.

Collecting information on all of the holes-in-one ever made has allowed the organization to piece together interesting facts. The record held for the person with the most holes-in-one is by a man named Norman Manley, who has made 59 in his golfing career. Meanwhile, Harold Stilson of Florida holds the record for being the oldest golfer to make a hole-in-one at the age of 101.

For a hole-in-one recognized by the United States Golf Register, certain criteria must be met to ensure that the amazing shot is in fact legitimate. A witness has to be present when the shot is made – or the incredible feat will not be accepted by the organization.

In addition, the hole-in-one must occur in a round of golf that is at least nine holes long. Furthermore, a hole-in-one must be hit from the designated tee area for the hole to officially count.

Different golf courses will honor those who have achieved a hole-in-one in different ways too.

Summary

► Hitting a hole-in-one requires the right combination of skill and luck, and is celebrated in a few different ways.

At Fenton Farms, a hole-in-one may make you a little more recognizable. "We actually have a wall of fame at our clubhouse. Everyone who gets a hole-in-one gets their picture taken and put on the wall of fame for the season," White said. "For a fee, we offer a trophy with the ball used to get the hole-in-one built into the trophy."

A similar tradition is experienced by those fortunate enough to score an elusive hole-in-one at the Tyrone Hills Golf Course. "We have a flag made with the number of the hole, the date, the name. It's an official kind of flag that we use out here," said Jon Hamilton, teaching professional at Tyrone Hills. "We keep it in the golf shop for the season. At the end of the season we give them the flag."

While not every golf course may have their own unique tradition, many will contact local newspapers to let them know of the achievement.

Hamilton described the act of landing a hole-in-one as taking just the right combination of skill, timing, and luck. Tyrone Hills averages around three or four hole-in-ones a year, and to see more than that is very uncommon.

"I've been playing golf for 30 years, and I have only had one," he said. "It's a tough achievement."

Death of the cable bundle?

Recently, Viacom dropped 19 channels from DirectTV after the two companies failed to agree on subscriber fees. Also, a federal judge recently made it legal for a company to bring local TV to any device you wish from a smart phone to an actual TV.

Some have hinted such moves could mean the eventual end of the cable bundle, the way most of us watch television. We get a large number of stations (many of which you probably don't watch) for one bulk price.

What could be the end result is one day people having a choice of specific channels they want — kind of like the way most purchase HBO. It got me to thinking what five stations I'd keep (free or pay) if I could only have five stations on my television — much like I had when I was growing up. Here they are:

1. Fox Sports Detroit: This is a gimmie. With their coverage of the Tigers, Pistons, Wings and many other local athletic activities, I couldn't imagine not having it.

2. FOX: Considering most of the Lions' games are on FOX, so my No. 2 pick was easy.

3. ESPN 2: Why ESPN 2 over ESPN? Because ESPN 2 shows most of its soccer coverage, and usually has the college softball as well. I never watch SportsCenter.

4. NBC Sports: As long as it keeps the repeats of Poker After Dark, it stays. It has a lot of soccer as well.

5. AMC: At least until "Breaking Bad" ends its run this year. It's the real TV show I must watch.

Larsen dominates women's field at Bastille Day

► McCarty is first-time victor in men's 5K event; Garrison leads walkers

By David Troppens

Fenton — Sue Larsen was pretty upset.

She had just run a time that was well over a minute longer than she is ever accustomed to, and she wasn't too pleased.

Yet, what may upset the Fenton resident quite often can still be a pretty golden result.

Despite her displeasure, the past Bastille Day Walk and Run champion earned her sixth title in the event's 11 years, capturing the top spot in the women's 5K overall race. Larsen, 32, won the event with a time of 18:41. She was just one of two women to break the 20-minute barrier during Saturday's hot and sunny race. Another key athlete in the tri-county area's list of outstanding runners, Lisa Veneziano, was the other woman under 20 minutes, posting a Female Masters victory with a time of 19:39, the fourth time she's earned a Female Masters championship.

The 2010 and 2011 Women's Overall champion, Addie May, placed third with a time of 20:27.

Larsen explained why she was a bit upset.

"This is one of my worst races in I don't know how long," she said. "I've had a few weeks off, and I've been sick and stuff. It's like a minute-and-a-half off of what I ran just a month ago. I don't know. It was one of those days."

The Men's Overall winner was Davisburg's Michael McCarty Jr. Running with fellow Holly graduate Davis Nixon for most of the race, McCarty finished with a time of 16:54, the only competitor to finish under the 17-minute mark. Nixon was second in 17:02, just eight seconds behind his friend. It was McCarty's second time running in the 5K run and the first time he's been the Overall Men's champion.

"I went in thinking I could (win)," McCarty said. "Last year, David Madrigal showed up (and won). There's not much I can do against him. He's a state champion."

"I just tried to run. I wanted to get sub-17, so I was happy with that. That was my main goal. Winning was great, but I think I came away with a solid time. I'm happy with that."

Finishing third overall was Larsen, followed by Mark Arzie (18:46). Jay Owens, Lisa Veneziano's hus-

Jackie Jett (1:10.35) was the Female Masters winner.

Wall is currently training for the Detroit Free Press Marathon, which happens in October.

"I'm gearing my training towards that," Wall said. "My goal was to go out there and run hard, ideally at an under-5:30 pace, and I think I achieved that. Not exactly sure what my pace was, but I was happy with it."

Wall has won other races before, but never at the Bastille Day event.

"You can use it as a workout, but I decided to run it hard to see what I can really do," Wall said. "Wednesday, I did a (slower pace workout) with fewer intervals, so I really wanted to go out hard today."

Wall liked the event.

"It was a good race, well put together," Wall said. "It was pretty warm, so I wish it was cooler, but I was happy with my time."

Walrath has his name all over the history books when it comes to the 15K event. He was the overall winner in 2006 and 2007 before his four Male Masters titles. He also won the overall 5K title in 2005.

Placing third was Flushing's Patrick Cassidy, the winner of the 15K race in 2010 and 2011. He posted a time of 56:40. The only other competitor to finish the 15K event during the warm and sunny morning weather was Todd Connor, who placed fourth in 57:32.

Bragg isn't a stranger to running long distances, but she is a bit new to the 15K event at Bastille Day.

"I did it a couple of years ago, so I haven't been here in a couple of years," Bragg said. "I figured I'd give it a try again."

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | DAVID TROPPENS

The eventual 15K overall winner at Saturday's Bastille Day Walk and Run was Flushing's Kenny Wall (right). Fenton's Kirk Walrath (left) was second, while past winner Patrick Cassidy (middle) was third.

And she did rather well, becoming the fourth different Overall Female winner in the last four seasons with a time of 1:07.31.

"I had my own personal secret goals. I've always wanted to be the first woman done here, so that's a pretty exhilarating feeling," Bragg said. "But to my parents it was that I just wanted to finish."

"It's a dream come true."

Now, she wants to conquer other bigger goals.

"I always wanted to win this race and now my next goal is (the) Boston (Marathon), hopefully," Bragg said. "I qualified for Boston in my second marathon. I just hope to keep on going and accomplish different goals."

The second female to finish the race was Flushing's Leigh Bravender, finishing in a time of 1:10:22. Jett was the third woman to finish, while Rochester's Caryn Maxwell was fourth (1:10:56).

2012 British Open favorites

TIGER WOODS

WHY HE WILL WIN

He's Tiger Woods! And Woods is starting to play some of his best golf since his personal problems became a bigger news story than his golf play. He has three British Open titles to his credit.

WHY HE WON'T WIN

The longer Woods' winless streak continues in majors, the more it must take a mental toll on his own confidence. Also, while he's won three British Opens, he's done no better than 12th since 2007.

LEE WESTWOOD

Because of his ball striking and iron play, Westwood always looks like a good bet come majors time. And he's finished in the top three twice out of the last three years. Could 2012 finally be his time?

Westwood has 14 top 10s in the majors and has yet to win one. One can look at it as he's been unlucky or his time must come. But, maybe the track record speaks for itself. He certainly needs to learn to make a putt or two on Sunday.

PADRAIG HARRINGTON

A two-time British Open victor, Harrington has to always be considered a contender while he's in his prime. He's another guy that seems to have a good shot at winning on Sunday when the majors roll around on the schedule.

After winning back-to-back British Opens in 2007 and 2008, he's missed back-to-back cuts the last two years and took 65th the year before those seasons.

LUKE DONALD

He's been the No. 1 player in the world for over a year. That in itself is reason to think Donald could contend. He's strong with his irons and short iron game. That should bode well.

He's ranked No. 1, but Donald has yet to win a major. And when it comes to the British Open, he hasn't done much to wow the odds makers. He's placed fifth once and has missed the cut six times.

RORY MCILROY

Only 23, McIlroy ranks on top of the money list of the European Tour and in the top five in the PGA. He's done it by winning one tournament and earning four seconds in just 10 events (five in each tour) this year. And he's already won a major, so he's not new to this.

He does have a top three on his British Open resume, but beyond that this has been his second-worst of the four majors so far in his career. He has been in a recent slump this year.

REST OF THE FIELD

The rest of the field is always a great pick. A lot of quality players remain — Phil Mickelson, Graeme McDowell, Sergio Garcia, Martin Kaymer. The tours are filled with quality players and many could bust out any given weekend and win a major.

Most of the players listed above have reasons for not being posted above. But, then again, golfers like K.J. Choi and Sergio Garcia (pictured) have to win at some time, right?

LARSEN

Larsen's husband, Eric Larsen, may have had a chance to finish below 18 minutes, but was slowed by running the race with the couple's son riding in a stroller. Still, Larsen finished 14th place overall with a time of 20:21.

Larsen, who won the 5K women's title in 2003, '04, '05, '07 and '12 and the 15K women's race in 2010, discounted the heat as a factor for what she thought was a slow time. And when she says she's run faster, she's proven it many times at this very event. For example, she ran a 17:28 during the race in 2007. She holds the event's record with the time.

"I ran like a 17:15 and it was like 80 degrees to start," Larsen said. "I was a little tired, and had some time off from being sick. It's amazing how fast (the training) goes. You work so hard, and I felt like I was stuck in a pace. I couldn't really get moving. It's all right. I knew there were some fast women out there — Lisa and Addie May."

McCarty was pleased with his performance.

"This is only my second year, and I took second last year, so I am definitely happy," McCarty said. "But I have to give thanks to Davis. He really helped me the whole race."

"We were pretty much together until the two-mile (mark) when it broke up a bit."

5K Walk results

The Bastille Day 5K walk event had some new faces at the top, as both overall winners were first-time victors.

Flushing's Harry Garrison, 67, won the Male Overall title with a time of 29:21. He was the only competitor to finish in under 30 minutes.

Meanwhile, fellow Flushing resident David Pieper took second (31:21), while Grand Blanc's Brian Martin was third (32:40).

The women's winner was New York's Victoria Germond, who placed sixth overall with a time of 33:42. Peggy Stoth was the Women's Master winner, as well as the second overall woman. She finished in 35:36.

PAUL G. DONOHUE, M.D.

To your good health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will you kindly tell me what is the appropriate time interval for a repeat colonoscopy? I have different information from doctors. I had my first colonoscopy when I was 51. The doctor who performed it said I didn't need another until I was 61. A different doctor says I need a repeat at 56. Which is it? — E.P.

ANSWER: If no polyps were found on your first exam and if you have no close relatives who have had colon cancer, then the usual time for the next exam is 10 years. Otherwise, it is five years.

(Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him or request an order form of available health newsletters at P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475.)
