LeRoy Street construction to shift lanes by next week

► Project expected to be finished in September

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Fenton — Construction on North LeRoy Street will be switching lanes by next week. City of Fenton Department Public Works (DPW) Director Daniel Czarnecki said the base course for the northbound lane should be applied Tuesday and that construction on the southbound lanes should start soon after.

“The road was worn out; the surface was in bad shape. Everyone realized it needed to be done,” Czarnecki said. The city had an original finish date of Aug. 30, but Czarnecki now expects the project to be completed by the end of September. The construction will cost $1.4 million overall, with the city funding

Is council member in — or out?

►Split vote to accept resignation confuses council, administration

By Tim Jagiello

tjagiello@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Holly — The Holly Village Council may have six members, or seven members. After a split vote to accept Sandra Kleven's resignation last week, they aren't exactly sure.

The village council voted to accept the resignation of council member Sandra Kleven, who in the meeting prior tendered her resignation after the council opted not to take action on a personnel issue during a closed session meeting.

The council voted 6-0 to accept her resignation at that same meeting; Tom Clark was not present.

The village charter however, requires that the vote be taken at the following meeting.

This time, three members voted against accepting her resignation. Don Winglemire dissented because he didn't understand why she resigned, and Tom Clark voted 'no' because he didn't believe that she had the right to simply quit. "This job needs to be taken seriously," he said.

Pauline Kenner wanted to highlight her service to the village with her down vote.

"I feel she has done a lot for the community," said council member Jason Hughes who voted both times to accept her resignation. "What does a 'no' vote do?"

Following the vote was a testy exchange between President Jeff Miller and Kenner, who said she felt that Miller was belittling Clark's reasoning behind voting the measure down. "You (Miller) should think before you talk," said Kenner.

SMART SOLUTIONS

1 Stop numbing sensation

Banish the uncomfortable feeling of your hands falling asleep during long drives or hours of surfing the Web by rocking the head slowly in a side-to-side motion for one minute. This move loosens the levator scapulae muscles. Tension in these muscles causes the numbing sensation.

2 Stop midnight snacking with yoga

Local experts answer Times readers' questions about animal behavior

By Tim Jagielo
tjagielo@tctimes.com

Summary

Pet behavior problems can be frustrating, but with a little guidance from experts, you can get your unruly pup on the right path.

Chances are you have a dog, since six out of 10 households in the U.S. do. As you're reading this, he may be bugging you to take him out, or looking at a chewed up slipper or maybe you've just cleaned up a mess that showed up when your back was turned.

The tri-county area loves its dogs — but our four-legged friends require a lot of time and dedication, and can confound us with their swings in behavior and sometimes odd, even neurotic, habits. But that's OK — they're dogs.

The Times loves dogs too, and wants to help answer some of our readers' dog behavior queries.

Anxiety

Tamara Reece's dog has an issue with high anxiety when left home alone.

Dr. Susan Swanebeck, DVM at the Fenton Animal Health Clinic, tries to treat pet and owner behavior before treating the pet with medication.

"What people perceive as being separation anxiety can have several triggering factors," said Swanebeck. She added that factors like the breed, or the dog's history make a difference. An energetic dog needs rigorous activity before they are left alone.

This can turn the dog's alone time into its rest period instead.

Smaller dogs can be so accustomed to constant attention that they can't stand being left alone. Swanebeck suggests handling them less, and providing them with toys that entertain and challenge them when leaving them home alone.

If all else fails, Swanebeck does prescribe Xanax for pets, with good results. "Composure Treats" contain hormones and herbs that offer a spectrum of positive results can also be purchased at the clinic.

This anxiety can also lead to barking when left alone. This can drive neighbors up a wall, and also possibly make the dog's anxiety worse, said

There was a time when an embarrassing incident or moment in your life may have become a private joke amongst your closest

7 HABITS OF HIGHLY INEFFECTIVE GOVERNMENT

Stephen Covey, the management guru who died last month, would have had a hard time selling his books in Benjamin Franklin's America. His best seller '7 Habits of Highly Effective People' would have been considered a self-evident truth, one drummed into earlier Americans by schools, churches and the Puritan ethic.

President Obama said recently during a campaign stop in Roanoke, Va.: 'If you've got a business, you didn't build that. Somebody else made that happen.' The subplot in the president's campaign remarks seems to be that none of us can make it without government. So what happens to those who do manage to succeed on their own? Are they to be taxed and regulated to death as a lesson to other upstarts?

Government that is too large and controlling stifles ambition and initiative by penalizing success.

As the Obama campaign attacks Mitt Romney's business success — and by association all who have succeeded or wish to succeed — Romney should turn the tables and attack seven principles that have made government highly ineffective. They are:

1. High taxes. High taxes rob the productive and discourage innovation.
2. Too many regulations. Overregulation inhibits private industry from performing up to its potential.
3. Overspending. When government spends more than it takes in, it creates an addiction and burdens current and future citizens.
4. Foreign adventures. We should only send troops where our interests are clearly defined and an achievable outcome is likely.
5. Bureaucracy. There are too many people working for government. Many agencies and programs are unnecessary.
6. Health care. Government can't make you healthy. Obamacare will not only cost more, but will reduce the quality and availability of good health care.
7. Ignoring the Constitution. The best habit the American government could practice is a return to the principles of that great document that set boundaries for government and removed them for citizens.

Inspiration and perspiration are habits that usually lead to success. Government's bad habits produce unending debt and stifle private-sector job creation. That's the counterargument to these bad habits.

DEAR NEIGHBOR, PLEASE remember the rule: do unto others as you would have done unto you. Would you have the whole neighborhood make felonious claims to the Linden city local government or spy on you with cameras? Please be courteous and let others live as we would like to live.

I'M VOTING FOR

OBAMACARE IS JUST THE BEGINNING

The recent narrow survival of the Affordable Care Act was certainly cause for celebration. But as the jubilation subsides, it's important to realize that having avoided what would have been a giant step backward doesn't mean we've taken a giant step forward. Because the law as it now stands, is only the first step toward health-care reform.

Last Sunday, Vicki Kennedy (Ted Kennedy's widow) spoke movingly of how health care reform was the 'cause of her husband's life.'

'He believed that it was a moral issue,' she said, 'that it defined the character of who we were as a society, who we were as a country, and that decent, quality, affordable health care should be a fundamental right and not a privilege.'

Primary among the next steps to continue that evolution is the need to focus on cost-containment and prevention — neither of which the act adequately addresses.

'With or without Obamacare, the American health system will continue to unravel — quickly if Romney is elected, slowly if Obama is re-elected,' writes Dr. Marcia Angell of Harvard Medical School.

Beyond the continuing problems of how to cover treatment once people are sick is the escalating problem that comes one-step before that: Dealing with efforts to prevent people from getting sick in the first place. Given current obesity and diabetes trends — and the myriad medical problems associated with them — it's not enough to focus on coverage. Any plan that doesn't aggressively tackle preventive care can't contain enough costs to be sustainable.

In response to the Supreme Court ruling President Obama said that, 'with today's announcement, it's time for us to move forward — to implement and, where necessary, improve on this law.' The 'where necessary' implies that it's just a matter of tweaking a few things here and there. But it's not about tweaks. We need to continue to think big. Among the many important aspects of passing the act was simply putting to rest the notion that nothing can be done. Well, something was done — but much more, especially on preventive care, still needs to be done.

Holly Village approves millage question

►Voters to decide on 2 mills over three years for public safety

By Tim Jagielo

tjagiolo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Holly — “So the work begins,” said public safety millage committee member Julie Hyvonen under her breath. Her reaction came after Holly Village Council unanimously accepted the proposed public safety assessment ballot language at the regular council meeting last week.

The council passed the recommendations of the public safety millage committee, to assess 2 mills over three years, and now village residents will be able to decide whether to accept the assessment on the November ballot.

Hyvonen said the main work now is to get the message to the voters. This ballot question was first discussed during budget workshops earlier this year, when cuts were made to every department, including police.

“The village of Holly is not alone,” said Hyvonen, as she presented the committee’s recommendation to the council. “We’ve seen a large decrease in our revenue.” She said the decline will not improve, so it was necessary to go to the voters. The group worked with attorney Richard Figura to consider both a millage and special assessment. “With projected future decline, we do need help from the village residents,” she said.

She said the assessment would help maintain current levels of service to the residents, and give village officials time to stabilize the budget, cut costs, apply for grants and use cost sharing. “We’re in this together, no one asked for the great recession,” she said.

Council member Jackie Campbell asked why a straight millage wasn’t considered, because a millage can be written off a resident’s taxes. Hyvonen said that a millage would require a Headlee Override for exceeding the maximum allowable millage — and then the question would not be put on the ballot on time for the November polling. “We originally had discussed and wanted a millage,” she said. A village charter change would also be required to pass a millage.

Village Manager Jerry Walker described it as a “special assessment based on a millage.” He said a public hearing will take place either before or after the election, but before the assessment is collected from residents.

Council member Jason Hughes had some concerns over the vague language of the ballot question. Walker said the police and fire departments are paid through the general fund.

“It all mixes together,” he said. He added that if it is passed, the administration will have a lot of work to make sure the funds are used effectively.

Walker said there are currently 13 mills from the general fund for public safety, 11 to operate the police and fire departments.

Voting — a right, a privilege, a responsibility

It should come as no surprise that an election day is almost upon us. To be more specific on Aug. 7, 2012 Michigan voters will go to the polls to vote in the primary election for both national and state candidates. Additionally depending on where one lives, there will be a number of local races and other local matters on the ballot.

In our democratic system of government, we have the opportunity to decide whom we want in office and also make decisions on other ballot issues by using our franchise or the right to vote.

Voting has been described as a right, a privilege and a responsibility.

A 'privilege' is a benefit enjoyed by a person beyond the common advantage of others. A 'right' is that which is due to anyone by just claim, legal guarantees, or moral principles. A 'responsibility' is being accountable for something within one's power or control.

There are a variety of views as to what voting means, but in the end all would agree that it is important to have one's voice heard in the voting booth.

Indeed this philosophy has been with us since the beginnings of this great nation.

Alexander Hamilton said that 'a share in the sovereignty of the state which is exercised by the citizens at large in voting at elections is one of the most important rights of the subject, and in a republic ought to stand foremost in the estimation of the law.'

Thomas Jefferson told us 'should things go wrong at any time, the people will set them to rights by the peaceable exercise of their elective rights.'

To sum up, the message of this week's column is simply this — please exercise your franchise and vote for whomever and whatever you support next week and in elections to come.

State rep appointed to bipartisan work group

►Will look into 'veteran friendliness' at colleges and universities

State Rep. Joseph Graves (R-Argentine Township) has been appointed to a new work group, which will look into how Michigan universities and colleges work with veterans.

Graves, a veteran and member of the House committee on Military and Veterans Affairs, will serve on the work group with reps Dale Zorn and Lesia Liss.

The work group will put together a recommendation of best practices that Michigan colleges and universities should implement in enrolling veterans. "Veterans put their lives on the line for our freedom and deserve the best educational options out there," said Graves.

"As a veteran, I'm pleased to be a part of this work group and am looking forward to helping identify best practices that universities and colleges can implement to help connect Michigan veterans with the education they deserve."

The group will work closely with the Michigan Educator's Veterans Support Consortium, a coalition of stakeholders committed to developing best practices to assist veterans' educational needs. He said the work group is hoping to have recommendations completed to report to the House committee in the fall.

CONSTRUCTION

$285,000 toward the project. Funding from Federal programs will provide the necessary additional monies.

The construction started at the beginning of the summer and comes at the doorstep of many businesses at the north end of town. One lane has remained open at all times while the city worked on the other side. The entire road is being rebuilt from the ground level and up.

While there have been some complaints and difficulties, businesses have found the city of Fenton to be extremely helpful.

"We're doing great, we've been lucky because we have evening activity," said Dave Durant, owner of Uncle Ray's Dairyland. "So far (customers) have put up with it. Hopefully they'll put up with it for another month, we're extremely appreciative."

Czarnecki said the city of Fenton used extra barrels to guide people to the entrances of businesses and have been as communicative as possible. The director said the construction on North LeRoy Street has been one of the smoothest projects in his career.

"The business owners have been excellent," Czarnecki said. "We'll have a nice, smooth road to drive on for years to come."

Police&Fire report

MOTORCYCLISTS' JACKETS STOLEN

Two 60-year-old men who had driven with their dates, from West Bloomfield and Sterling Heights to The French Laundry, had their motorcycle jackets stolen while they were dining on Saturday, July 28. Police Chief Rick Aro said police responded to the restaurant at 7:50 p.m. after the men noticed their jackets were missing. One victim said his silver Olympia air jacket was taken from his red 2006 BMW motorcycle. The other victim said his black Goldwing mesh jacket was taken from his black 2002 Honda. An employee told police they noticed two males behaving suspiciously near the motorcycles during that time. One suspect was described as having sandy blond hair and a suntan, while the other suspect was wearing a tan shirt and khaki shorts. If anyone witnessed the theft, they are to call Fenton police at (810) 629-5311. Each jacket was valued at $250.

FENTON POLICE HIRING NEW OFFICER

Fenton Police Chief Rick Aro will begin conducting interviews Thursday with 10 finalists for an available patrol officer position. Aro said he would be hiring a new patrol officer to replace Officer Roger Ellis who recently retired. Aro received about 100 applications for the spot.

FENTON POLICE 'OPEN HOUSE'

The Fenton Police Department has scheduled an open house to show the community its new dispatch center. The event will be held on Monday, Aug. 27 at 5 p.m., prior to the Fenton City Council meeting. The public is invited.

B & E SUSPECT GOES TO TRIAL

Anton Dejuan Rollins, 20, of Detroit was ordered to stand trial on Nov. 6, in connection with a breaking and entering that took place in Fenton Township in May. The Genesee County Sheriff's Department responded to the Hall Chrysler auto dealership at 2 a.m. on May 18, after being alerted to thieves breaking into vehicles to steal their navigation and stereo systems. He was apprehended shortly after the response and later charged with three counts of B & E and one count of possessing burglary tools. Some of the stolen property was recovered. The sheriff's department believes that there were additional suspects, also from Detroit.

ARMED ROBBERY SUSPECT GOES TO TRIAL

David Eddie Collins, 23, of Flint was ordered to stand trial on Oct. 5 in connection with an armed robbery, which took place on April 14 in Fenton Township. He is facing three felony counts — armed robbery, first-degree home invasion and weapons felony firearms. If convicted as charged, he faces up to life in prison. The Genesee County Sheriff's Department responded to a home in the 13000 block of Linden Road on a report of shots fired during a home invasion. A 23-year-old resident asleep in an upstairs bedroom at the time of the break-in, was shot in an exchange of gun fire with two intruders, one of whom is believed to be Collins.

PURSE TAKEN FROM UNLOCKED CAR

On Saturday, July 28, a 33-year-old Fenton man reported to Fenton police that someone entered his unlocked 2011 Chevy Impala while it was parked in his driveway in the 800 block of Carriage Hill the previous evening. The man said his wife's purse, containing cash and personal items, was taken. Police have no suspects.

CRASH

The preliminary investigation revealed that Murray, who was driving the 2005 Harley Davidson motorcycle, lost control on a curve on Newton Road. Witnesses told investigators that as the motorcycle went down, it slid into the path of a southbound Ford F-150, driven by a 30-year-old Fenton resident.

Summary

►A Holly Township man was killed Saturday evening in a motorcycle crash. His wife, who was a passenger on the motorcycle, was critically injured. She is at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak.

Murray's wife was transported to Botsford Hospital by Community Ambulance where she was listed in critical condition. She was later transported to Royal Oak Beaumont for surgery.

The driver of the pickup truck was not injured. Both motorcycle riders were wearing helmets and alcohol does not appear to be a factor in the crash, which remains under investigation.

ATTENTION ROSE TOWNSHIP AND HOLLY TOWNSHIP REGISTERED VOTERS PRIMARY ELECTION AUGUST 7, 2012

There have been several questions regarding the voting process of the Primary Election on August 7, 2012. For clarification purposes, Michigan Election Law Act 116 of 1954 Chapter 168.570 states you cannot split your ticket. If you vote for candidates on more than 1 party ticket, your ballot will be rejected. In the August 7, 2012 Primary Election, you must vote either Republican or Democrat, not both. Additionally, the ballot is a two-sided ballot so you must vote both sides of the ballot and it must be only 1 party.

REPUBLICANS LOVE TO distort what their opponents really say. They love to say Nancy Pelosi said you have to pass Obamacare to see what's in it. What she really said was, 'We have to pass the bill so you can find out what's really in it outside the controversy.'

DON'T TAKE YOUR organs to heaven, heaven knows we need them down here. Talk to your family about organ and tissue donation today.

THIS IS FOR the terribly informed reader of the Times. President Reagan helped to create over 12 million new jobs; he rebuilt our military, and gave us superpower status. He truly made the '80s the golden years for our country.

I HAVE A job, I worked 40 years, 37 of them for GM. I'm a retiree. I don't need to go find a job. But if you don't think the Republicans aren't just like 'The Hunger Games' you have to look at the past years of Bush and Chaney. Think about it.

I ABSOLUTELY LOVE the comment about how to tell a Romney supporter from an Obama supporter. Romney supporters sign the front of their checks while Obama supporters sign the back. That is the best Hot line I have seen in years.

REPUBLICANS DON'T JUST claim that reducing taxes on the rich will increase jobs, they proved it. Under Reagan, jobs increased and revenue to the government increased. The only reason the deficit increased was because the Democrats in congress wouldn't stop spending.

Zonta Club of the Fenton Area has several drop-off boxes where residents may donate apparel items that will be given to the YWCA Safe House.

As you clean out your family's dresser drawers or closets, you might want to consider donating some of the new or gently used, but wrong-sized apparel items to Zonta Club of the Fenton Area. It's as simple as placing the items into the large yellow drop boxes at seven conveniently located locations in the tri-county area.

Denise Keipert of Zonta said the service organization continues to collect new or gently used clothing items that are then given to individuals staying at the YWCA Safe House. She said the safe house is in need of clothing and everyday items, such as umbrellas and strollers.

Keipert said teens staying at the safe house are also in need of age-appropriate items. She said they could use video games and consoles or Wii systems so that they can stay active while staying at the safe house.

The safe house is especially in need of under garments for women, boys, girls and infants. The safe house is also in need of women's bras of all sizes.

Keipert added that they would also accept gently used and clean bras, possibly purchased in the wrong size but never returned to the store. Zonta is a global organization of professional businesswomen. For more information, visit www.zonta4good.com

Summary

► The Zonta Club of the Fenton Area is collecting apparel and items that will then be donated to the YWCA Safe House. There are currently seven drop box locations in Fenton, Linden and Holly.

SPLIT VOTE

This split vote has no precedent for any of the administration, or council members. Winglemire said in his 25 years of service, he has never seen a vote like this, and Manager Jerry Walker had never seen a council member resign so abruptly.

Now, the council isn't sure if it has six or seven members. Miller has referred the question to Village attorney Richard Figura, who is looking over the village charter to help decide what to do next, and whether the council's initial vote allowing Kleven to resign was effective, or if a third vote must be taken.

Resident George Kullis was tapped to be Kleven's fill-in until the November election by Miller, but now he has to wait to see what happens next.

Walker said that should Figura find that Kleven is still technically on the council, it may become an attendance issue. The council must fill the vacancy within 30 days, which is Aug 12.

those pets in need of a family and match them with a loving home.

"It happens often, and it is happening more and more now with the economy, and shelters being full," said Diana Gale of Adopt-A-Pet in Fenton. "We get calls every day."

Every animal's story is different, and some are sadder than others, like the story of 13-year-old Fox Terrier named Grandma Lucy.

"Lucy was abandoned in a home and some neighbors discovered her about two weeks after the people had moved," said Jody Maddock, director of Adopt-A-Pet.

Once alerted, Adopt-A-Pet contacted the Burton police, who met them at the house to see the transfer of Lucy into the animal shelter's care.

"She was a little dehydrated and exhausted. She slept for the first two days when we got her," Maddock said.

In addition, Lucy also suffers from heart disease, dental disease, vision and hearing problems, and a massive tumor on her stomach.

The services provided by Adopt-A-

Pet allow sad stories to become somewhat happier, as they do what they can to help Lucy. Ultrasounds revealed that Lucy does not have congestive heart failure like first anticipated.

Diana Gale

"Her attitude is good and she is super friendly and sweet. She is a nice dog, she just had bad circumstances," said Gale.

To help raise money for Lucy's medical needs, Moo Cow in Goodrich held a fundraiser recently. Many went to show their support and the fundraiser managed to raise more than $1,000 for the cause.

In addition, Gale said that they are receiving many donations in the mail and over the phone from people who have heard about Lucy's story.

"We have had a really good outpouring of people wanting to donate and help her. We have had a good public reaction," Gale said.

While these are not cases they like to see, they are doing their best to provide the best care they can for Lucy, said Gale.

"We figure we are her hospice at this point. We want to keep her super comfortable and loved, and if we can get that tumor removed, she has a good chance of getting into a foster home."

CAMPAIGNS

years of experience as a Genesee County commissioner and more recently, as a state representative.

So it may be surprising to know Graves' campaign is coordinated by a staff less than half his age. Ben Graham, 25, of Davison serves as Graves' campaign manager while Erin Graham (no relation), 17, is working as the representative's intern. Both of the Grahams are responsible for signage, phone calls, public appearances, and promoting Graves as the best candidate for the 51st seat. The work is tiring and involves meeting with numerous people, but for Ben, the work is his calling.

"I like the stress of it. I love being busy," Ben said, with a slight smirk.

Ben volunteered to be Graves' campaign manager when the politician asked Ben if he knew of anyone interested in the position. Since the campaign's inception, Ben and Graves have met more than 1,000 constituents a week and have populated the local area with signage.

"You never know who you're going to run into," Ben said. "You can have the old guy that could talk to you about one issue for 20 minutes or the grumpy guy who doesn't want to meet."

Erin didn't intend to work with Graves, but after she had an injury that interfered with her summer activities, she had to find something new. Her debate coach Tony Brown, a candidate for the Genesee County commissioner seat in the 6th district, asked her to join Graves' campaign.

Erin's summer has been filled with compiling data, addressing fliers, verifying permission to use signs within the district and compiling data into computers. For someone interested in obtaining a pre-law degree, the experience is a view into her possible future.

"I had no idea what to expect the first day," Erin said. "There are a lot of people involved (in the campaign). It's really interesting what goes on in the political process."

For people aspiring to become politicians, working on campaigns can be the launching point of a career. Ryan Starski (D-Atlas Township) once helped staff a campaign for Republican candidate James Swenor, when he ran for state representative of the 51st district in 2008. Four years later, Starski is running for the position that first exposed him to politics.

"There was a lot of paperwork and phone calls," said Starski, 24. He also interned with Hansen Clark, a state senator, in 2009. "The number one thing we did was work with constituents."

While Ben admits that politics is in his blood, the campaign manager believes that people of all ages should be involved in the political process, not just older, more established people.

"Politics is something young people should be involved in," Ben said. He notes that local politicians are more accessible than national politicians are, and therefore more likely to speak directly with voters.

For those interested in working in politics, the Genesee County Republican Party can be reached at (810) 691-5975. For the Michigan Democratic Party, call (517) 371-5410.

ONLINE

when this could not be farther from the truth. Other people who stumble across the images have the ability to save the images themselves, and then do whatever they want with them. Additionally, search engines are constantly scanning pages on the Internet, and keep backup caches of web pages that can still be viewed, even if the contents of the page have been taken down.

"I think probably the biggest thing is, once it's on the net, it's there. It's there forever. If someone puts a picture up on the Internet, once it's out there, it spreads. It's shared and traded," said Mike Oliver of Hometown Computers in Fenton. "There are ways you can go back and get rid of it after the fact but it is so much harder to do than people give it credit for."

If you choose to use a social networking website like Facebook or GooglePlus, the first thing you should do is to become familiar with their privacy settings. Is your information viewable by everyone with a computer, or just those people you designate as your 'friends' on the website?

Can 'friends of friends' view your information? In some cases, privacy options on a website can change overnight with a redesign of the website, which requires you to be vigilant to stay on top of privacy settings to stay secure.

"If you are going to put information online, do it smart. Don't let just everyone see your information," Oliver said.

Avoid giving out full information that can be used to identify you. There is no real need to reveal your phone number, full birth date, or address on your Facebook or other social networking page. Doing so will only make you easier to track down. "You should have one and friends online. And one that you use to sign up for things online," Oliver said.

Ideally, you do not want to ever let a potentially embarrassing or incriminating picture of you hit the web, as removing it permanently becomes much less certain. Sometimes though, it is a friend who posts the picture. In those cases the best action is to ask the friend to remove the image — the quicker the better.

In order to keep your online reputation safe, you need to keep on top of the state of your reputation. Doing a search of your name and address can give you an idea of what other people may see when they try to look you up. You may find pictures of you that you didn't know existed on the Internet, private information you don't want the world to know, and more. If you do come across things, you will want to start the process of taking them down.

While it may seem like avoiding the Internet entirely would be a good way to keep your reputation intact, you can also be proactive in establishing a positive reputation. When posting something on the Internet that is public, ask yourself what the post might say about you, and how it would appear to potential employees.

Instead of hurting you, your online reputation could become a tool to further your own goals.

IF YOU'RE STUPID enough to really think that Obama's going to take away your guns, despite the fact that the Second Amendment is alive and well, then you really shouldn't own a gun in the first place. I'm pro-gun, but I'm not paranoid enough to be pro-NRA.

THE U.S. HOUSE of Representatives has passed 30 jobs bills during the Obama Administration that were blocked by Senate Democrats. Obama's proposed tax hike includes small businesses causing a loss of 700,000 jobs. He blocked the pipeline that would have created jobs. Unemployed Americans should be furious with this administration.

I'M LOOKING FOR answers. Why do most recessions start under Republicans and end under Democrats? Why does the NRA defend the right of a person to own a gun that can shoot 100 rounds per clip? Really, just wondering.

OBAMA'S LIKEABILITY RATING is almost 30 points higher than Romney's, but why? He's highly intelligent, graduated cum laude from both Harvard Law and business schools. And unlike Obama, his academic records are not sealed. Mr. President, why did you spend nearly a million dollars hiding these records?

BEHAVIOR

Swanebeck. In this case, a bark collar can help, offering instant negative feedback for their behavior. A spray collar ejects a mist the instant the dog barks — both startling and offending its acute senses. This immediate feedback in most cases discourages and even stops the dog from barking.

Veteran trainer Ann Thibault with The Tuckered Pup in Fenton said, “Don’t play into it.” She said if your pet’s anxiety behavior is rewarded with being petted and comforted, owners can make it much worse.

Aggression

Janet Beilharz said, “My dog is fine with other dogs as long as no one in the family is near. But if another dog gets near any of us, she goes into major defense mode and will growl and generally be obnoxious.”

Swanebeck suggested they start introducing aggressive pets to other animals in a controlled atmosphere, with low grade exposure. This means, gradually introduce other dogs to your pet. Keep your dog on a leash, and make sure the other owners control their dogs. They may just be aggressive out of their fear of other dogs.

Fear of loud noises

Dog owner Meg Beale said, “When my dog gets scared from storms and fireworks, he pees in our beds. We have a thunder coat and it works great to calm him down but he still pees the bed. What can we do?”

“Get him off the bed,” said Swanebeck with a laugh. Many dogs have comfort areas, places where they go to feel better with loud sounds. Whether it’s the bathtub or under a table, she urges pet owners to let them go where they feel safe. Which way dogs react to sounds may also depend on the breed.

Chewing on things

Breane Clark said, “I have a 7-month-old puppy. He is eating everything! We have had him since 11 weeks and this is out of the ordinary. He has plenty of toys, but still chews on everything else!”

According to Animal Planet, dogs chew on things instinctively — they compare a dog’s mouth to our hands, meaning they need to explore the world with their mouths instead. Dogs will always chew on things. So if you want those nice leather shoes saved, put them away.

“They’ll never have an adult mindset, they will have a child mindset,” said Thibault. She said most people give their dogs more freedom than they would a toddler. “It’s a hairy toddler,” she said. A dog will get into things when your back is turned, so crate them with a chew toy if you can’t supervise them.

Socialization

Lindsey Maples said, “Our dog doesn’t like it when new people reach to pet him. He growls and tries to bite. But if new people ignore him, he crawls all over them and loves them.”

“The bottom line is that dogs have to get out there, and get socialized,” said Thibault. This helps with the vet, groomer and strangers.

Swanebeck said dogs require socialization, and exposure to all things early in life. A dog left alone in the back yard dog doesn’t know anything, how to be out in public, what to ignore, what to react to. Swanebeck said this dog may be fearful because it isn’t used to being with people. Growling may be a defense because he’s afraid. She said that owners should advise people to ignore their dog, and not try to pet him if he’s growling.

Hyperactivity

Nikki Deardoff said, “We have a 6-month-old dog that will not settle down for anything when people come to our home, it’s terrible.”

“They have a teenager,” said Swanebeck. She said the same low-grade exposure technique can work for unruly pets. She suggested getting the pup used to hearing the doorbell. By ringing the doorbell yourself, and then discouraging the barking and lunging reaction, you can reduce the behavior.

Thibault said the pet needs lots of exercise to burn off that excess energy.

The Times is offering this advice from experts, but it should not be used in lieu of classroom training.

PAUL G. DONOHUE, M.D.

To your good health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Six months ago my husband, 78, had an artificial hip installed — if that's the right word. The operation was a complete success, and he was up and walking shortly after the surgery.

However, since he's been home, he does nothing but sit. He says he's afraid he'll wear out the new hip. I thought that the operation was done to make people more active. Isn't that so? — O.P.

ANSWER: It is so. Mobility and freedom from pain are the reasons why artificial hips have gained such high regard. Your husband isn't going to wear out the hip. The new joint lasts up to 25 or more years. He can do anything that his doctor has not specifically said not to do.

THE DEEP BLUE SEA

The story of a woman whose overpowering love threatens her well-being and alienates the men in her life. In a deeply vulnerable performance, Rachel Weisz plays Hester Collyer, the wife of an upper-class judge (Simon Russell Beale) and a free spirit trapped in a passionless marriage.

SILENT HOUSE

From the directors of the hit film Open Water, Silent House is a uniquely unsettling horror thriller starring Elizabeth Olsen as Sarah, a young woman who finds herself sealed inside her family's secluded lake house. With no contact to the outside world, and no way out, panic turns to terror to terror as events become increasingly ominous in and around the house. Directed by filmmaking duo Chris Kentis and Laura Lau, Silent House uses meticulous camera choreography to take the audience on a tension-filled, real time journey, experienced in a single uninterrupted shot. R, 1 hr. 28 min.

SPORTS TRIVIA

TOPIC

Q Name the U-M graduate who won the 100-meter dash in the 1932 Olympics.

A It was Eddie Tolan. He won the race in a then-world record time of 10.38 seconds, just edging out fellow American Ralph Metcalfe.

Some Olympic THOUGHTS

Women rule for the United States

It seems every Summer Olympics, all we hear is about Michael Phelps. And, there's good reason for it. He entered these games with 14 gold medals. But, as it seems some of the luster has fallen on men's U.S. swimming in the opening days of the Olympics, it looks like the women in a variety of sports are more than willing to take over some of the headlines.

Perhaps the biggest winner to come out of these games for the U.S. so far is Missy Franklin, a senior high school student who won the 100-meter backstroke on Monday.

And then there's Kim Rhode on the other side of the spectrum. While 33 isn't really old in normal terms, it's not an age you expect out of gold medal winners. And, she won the first for the U.S. women in skeet shooting. And, of course, Danna Vollmer also has a gold in the pool, winning the 100-meter butterfly.

And, as I type this, the women's gymnastics team is about to win gold, while the men floundered.

We'll have to see if this trend continues.

Holly bats help lead Mustangs past Fenton, 8-7

► Six-run inning, gives Jr. Quadtown team lead, holds on to earn spot in title game

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Holly — What looked like it may end up being a blowout was a pretty thrilling victory down the stretch for the Holly Mustangs on Monday night.

Playing in junior boys Quadtown action in the semifinals of the tournament, Holly held on down the stretch with the game-tying run on third base, and the go-ahead run on second base, earning an 8-7 semifinal victory against Fenton's #1 Junior Boys baseball team.

The win places the Mustangs, a 13-14 year-old baseball team, into tonight's championship game against one of the two Waterford squads, who were also playing in a semifinal contest on Monday night. Depending on which one won the game, Holly could be traveling for the 6:30 p.m. title game today or at home on Karl Richter campus.

Holly coach Pat Foss said the team's strength all year was its offense, and it showed on Monday.

"We got some big hits from all of our guys, all the way through the lineup," Foss said. "They all hit tonight. We had one big inning where we scored a lot of runs in one inning."

The only team to score 100 or more runs during the regular season this year in the Baseball Junior League, Holly scored six runs in the bottom of the second inning, sparking a 7-1 lead. The Mustangs (9-2-1) were aided by five walks and two hit batters in the inning, but it was an Andrew Holloway two-run single that put the team up 4-1. Later, Thomas Watson had an RBI-single, followed by a two-run double by Adam Carter. The Mustangs led 7-1.

"It's been like that a lot," Fenton coach Jim Olmstead said. "We've done that all year (allowing one big inning). The last two games we've been OK, but today the wheels fell off a bit."

Later, that lead became 8-1 in

LF looking for new boys basketball coach, Trent leaves program

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

For the second time before the start of the 2012-13 school year, Lake Fenton High School finds itself looking for a new varsity boys basketball coach.

After hiring ex-Swartz Creek High School mentor Jeremy Trent just before the end of the 2011-12 school year, Lake Fenton athletic director Tony Simmons has confirmed that Trent has quit the position to become the varsity head boys basketball coach at Flint Powers.

Simmons said the move shocked him.

"It's frustrating. I didn't see it," Simmons said. "I find it frustrating because of the timing of it all. But Lake Fenton is bigger than myself and any one coach, and we are going to move on and be better because of it."

Trent didn't immediately return a phone call to his home on Tuesday.

The hoops position became available initially when last season's coach Matt Furey resigned the position after a three-win season during the 2011-12 school year.

Simmons said he was told Trent was leaving on Monday.

"He told me the position was offered to him and he accepted," Simmons said.

Trent initially said he didn't apply to any other open basketball positions when he was hired for the Lake Fenton spot in late May.

Trent has had a pretty strong career within the Flint area with the programs he's been at. Most

LF's Kesler headed to Spring Arbor University

►Strong athlete will concentrate on track and field at the collegiate level

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Robbie Kesler has never really thought about competing in collegiate athletics.

But that doesn't mean he won't be doing just that.

When the 2012-13 academic school year begins the recent Lake Fenton graduate will be headed to Spring Arbor University to compete on the school's men's track and field team.

"This is just a weird feeling," Kesler said. "I never imagined I would be playing college athletics until the fall, when the opportunity presented itself."

One of the key players on Lake Fenton's 2011 football team, which qualified for the state playoffs, Kesler also displayed his ability on the track during the spring last year.

He made his mark as a sprinter, qualifying for the state meet in four events — the 100 and 200 dashes, plus the 400 and 800 relays. He helped lead the 400 relay team to a fourth-place team finish in 44.24 seconds. The 800 relay team also earned All-State status, taking fifth with a time of 1:31.82.

Kesler also ran the 100 dash individually, posting a time of 11.58 seconds in the preliminary round of the state meet. He improved upon that time to 11.42 seconds in the semifinals, but didn't qualify for the finals. He also qualified for the state in the 200, but did not participate in that event.

Spring Arbor was the obvious choice for Kesler from the beginning.

"I chose Spring Arbor because I feel that their track program is heading in a good direction, and the environment was friendly," Kesler said. "I was offered to run track and play football at schools in

The Kesler File

Robbie Kesler will be attending Spring Arbor University in the fall, and will run track and field. Among his accomplishments this spring in track were:

- Won the 200 (23.27) at the GAC meet.
- Took second in the 100 (11.11) at the GAC meet.
- Helped lead Lake Fenton's 400 and 800 relay teams to All-State status at the state meet.
- Qualified for the state meet individually in the 100 and the 200.

and out of the state, but Spring Arbor was a perfect fit for me from the beginning."

There won't be any changes in terms of what events Kesler will run when he goes to Spring Arbor. There's really no need to change. One glance at the school's list of top 10 outdoor track and field times shows that Kesler is already knocking on sneaking into the top 10 his freshman season. Many are tied for the ninth best time in school history at 11.34 seconds. The top time posted is DeWayne Gray's 10.55 seconds from 2011.

Kesler's 200 time of 23.37 seconds at this year's regional meet would rank him just over 1/2-second beyond the top 10 list at the school as well.

"I just want to make huge gains converting from a high school athlete to a college athlete," Kesler said. "I realize that this isn't high school. I can't just work when I want to any more. I have to work every day because I'm running against other people just as fast as me."

Lake Fenton's Robbie Kesler finishes his portion of a relay race during the spring season. Kesler is headed to Spring Arbor University to continue his track career at the collegiate level.

Spring Arbor, a National Associates of Intercollegiate Athletics member (NAIA), is in the Mid-Central Conference. The squad had a strong showing a year ago, placing second at the the conference meet. The school also competes in National Christian College Athletic Association action as well. The team took sixth out of 18 teams in that organization's national meet.

the bottom of the third when Dylan Foss walked with the bases loaded. However, two runners were thrown out at the plate during the inning as well. While not known at the time, those would end up being crucial outs, keeping Fenton within screaming distance.

Fenton cut the gap to 8-5 with a four-run fourth. Four walks helped the Meka's Plumbing squad's rally, but Jacob Deardorff did start the inning with a single. Later, Casey Reeves hit a two-run double, cutting the margin to 8-4. A wild pitch later on would cut it to 8-5.

With the two-hour time limit coming up quickly, Fenton needed a quick defensive bottom of the fourth. And with Deardorff's ability to throw strikes in the fourth, that's exactly what happened. He struck out the first and third batters during the inning, and got the second to pop out to first.

It set up what was a thrilling top of the fifth, the last inning of the game. Brandon Muma and Brendan Olmstead each singled, setting up the rally. Deardorff followed with an RBI-single, and another run scored on a wild pitch. The Holly lead was just 8-7 with a runner on and no outs.

That's when pitcher Hernan Solis, along with his team's defense, started to perform. Solis got an infield pop out for the first out and then a strike out. With two out, Scott Cubr walked and then stole second, putting the game-tying run and the go-ahead run in scoring position. However, Solis got the final batter of the game to ground out to shortstop, ending the threat and the contest.

Holly will probably rely on its hitting in the title game.

"We've had some innings where no one can hit our pitching, but our bats have been the biggest thing all year," Foss said. "It seems every game we have one inning where we allow a lot of runs, but overall, our bats have led us. At the beginning of the year we were averaging something like 15 runs a game. We've been crushing the ball. And when we've been down, we've usually been able to come back. We've won two or three games this year when we won in our last at bats."

Both teams scored first-inning runs as well.

Fenton (7-4-1) was pleased with its season.

"The players played hard," Olmstead said. "The younger kids will get a chance next year. It was a blast. I'll miss it. It was fun."

recently, he had a 43-20 mark during three seasons at Swartz Creek. He led the Dragons to a co-Metro League title in 2009-10 and led the team to a 14-7 record last year.

Before that, the 1992 Swartz Creek graduate was a head coach at Bentley, posting a 76-38 record during his six years there.

Simmons said the Blue Devils will start the hiring process from step one.

"We'll start at the start," Simmons said. "We are going to conduct a similar process when he hired our last coach."

Simmons feels Lake Fenton offers a lot to a potential new coach.

"We have a beautiful facility," Simmons said.

"People are starting to see that academically this is one of the best schools. And what people may not always see is that we have fantastic people who support the coaches and the people that come in here. And we have fabulous kids. The kids will work their tail off and do anything asked of them, and they have parents that will support them."

"I know a lot of districts say the exact same thing, but I believe because of our size, which is perfect at around 600 students, facility and history, I know all of that is true at Lake Fenton."

Simmons said he hopes to have the new head coach in place by the start of the 2012-13 school year.
