SMART SOLUTIONS

1 Break out!

Next time a confidence-sapping zit pops up, try this: Apply an ice cube on the area for 30 seconds, then gently press a cotton pad soaked with eye drops on the spot for three minutes. The ice and drops cause blood vessels just beneath the skin's surface to contract, minimizing redness and irritation.

2 Unpopped kernels of popcorn

Tired of finding unpopped kernels at the bottom of the popcorn bag? Store your popcorn in a sealed container in the freezer. The cold helps kernels retain the moisture they need to pop light and fluffy.

Getting started at the GYM

►How to avoid common mistakes while getting in shape

By Ryan Tackabury
news@tctimes.com

Everyone wants to get in shape, though sometimes it is easier said than done. Today, the availability of gym equipment is not a major issue, with more gyms available than ever. Of course, two major obstacles remain for those who want to get fit — knowledge and motivation.

People can encounter a lot of problems when first starting an exercise regime at home or at a gym. Craig Fisher of Fenton Fitness and Athletic Center said that a lot of mistakes he sees people make relate to posture and proper form.

Fisher said that it is common for many gym first timers to overdo their workout, and then be too sore to pick up where they left off the next day.

Other times, people may come in to the gym wanting to replicate a particular exercise they have seen in a magazine, without knowing how to properly do it, or

Gym etiquette 101

Use common courtesy when using gym or fitness studio

By Sally Rummel

Amanda (Allgood) Grace, 30, has lost 107 pounds in the past year. She knows a thing or two about gym etiquette, having spent one or two hours most days of the week at Planet Fitness near her Clarkston home.

"I find it annoying when someone isn't wearing proper gym attire," said Grace, formerly of Fenton. "People come in off the street wearing sweaters, jeans, etc. Even worse is when they aren't wearing enough clothes. It's completely inappropriate."

Grace isn't the only one who finds manners missing when some people hit the gym.

■ Let me get this straight — Our Libyan ambassador and three other Americans are dragged from the embassy and murdered. Just under 30 million Americans are unemployed. Muslim terrorists are growing bolder by the hour. The country is in shambles by any

■ A DEMOCRAT IN Michigan will always be a Democrat. They have no intention of changing or voting Republican, even if their Democrat president screws with their pay. They chalk it up as a much-needed evil to fix the economy, then whine about paying high taxes. Accept your consequences.

Community center to begin expansion

►Groundbreaking set for Oct. 17

A groundbreaking ceremony has been scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 17 for the first phase of the Fenton Community & Cultural Center expansion.

Fenton Mayor Sue Osborn, Community Center Board of Governors Chairman Doran Kasper and Downtown Development Authority Chairman Craig Schmidt jointly made the announcement on Thursday.

"This is a wonderful project," said Osborn. "We look forward to a project that will provide handicapped accessibility and an addition that will enhance the arts and culture experience for the entire community."

The groundbreaking ceremony is set for 5:30 p.m. at the south end of the center.

The initial phase of the combined renovation/addition will cost $2 million.

"We look forward to a project that will provide handicapped accessibility and an addition that will enhance the arts and culture experience for the entire community."

— Sue Osborn, Fenton mayor

Summary

►Fenton officials have announced a groundbreaking ceremony on Oct. 17 to begin the expansion and renovation of the Fenton Community & Cultural Center.

The addition will include two studios dedicated to arts and culture. Improved handicapped accessibility to the building and restroom facilities will also be included in the project.

With a major investment from the DDA, a federal block grant for the elevator and money secured from earlier fundraising efforts, a total of $1.4 million has been secured to date.

Community residents are invited to attend the ceremony. The city envisions that the additional facilities for the arts and culture will facilitate an expanded use of the center for arts events and programs.

City councilwoman and former mayor Patricia Lockwood and retired Fenton schools superintendent Bob Burek will chair the fundraising effort to secure the $600,000 necessary for completion of the this first phase of the project and hopefully, additional money for enhancement of the proposed new facility.

Featured columnist

By Roger Campbell

How big are your feet?

An opportunity has just come your way. All you have to do is accept and the position is yours. One phone call and a whole new world of work or service will open to you. The ball is in your court.

You're thrilled, but apprehensive.

Not that you wouldn't enjoy the challenge. You've been praying for some kind of opening that would allow you to use your gifts, talents and abilities. But now, you're paralyzed by negatives; unwanted questions are surfacing.

Can you handle the responsibility? Will others accept your leadership and approve of your work? Will you come through or prove to be a disappointment? Might you cave in under the pressure of this position? Do you really have what it takes to do the job?

Long ago, Joshua, of wall-falling fame, must have felt as you do today. Born a slave, he had been appointed leader of his people, who had arrived at the border of Canaan, the land they had longed to enter for more than a generation.

Moses, their great leader and deliverer, had died. Now Joshua had been appointed to replace him.

Some order.

He was not like Moses.

No matter. God would use him in a different way. He would not be expected to do things just like Moses. Instead, he must expect God to use him in a unique way to accomplish the task at hand.

Inadequate as Joshua felt, he must move forward. If he sits and broods over the possibility of failure, he will never lead his people into the Promised Land.

Along with Joshua's call, had come a wonderful promise: 'Every place that the sole of your foot will tread upon I have given to you, as I said to Moses (Joshua 1:3).'

A speaker at a church building dedication service challenged the congregation with Joshua's promise. The title of his talk was, 'How Big Are Your Feet?'

Most of us don't accomplish all we can because we don't expect to do so. A.B. Simpson, founder of the Christian and Missionary Alliance denomination, indicted most of us when he said, 'Our God has boundless resources. The only limit is in us. Our asking, our thinking, our praying are too small. Our expectations are too limited.'

The world known missionary, Hudson Taylor, observed that most of us estimate difficult challenges in the light of our own resources, therefore attempt little, and often fail in the little we attempt.

Had Joshua refused his commission out of fear or feelings of inadequacy, he would have made a terrible mistake. Turning down this opportunity would have robbed him of the greatest adventure of his life. He would have missed fulfilling the purpose for which he had been born.

Joshua accepted the challenge and is still remembered for his great success.

Now, back to your opportunity.

Are you sure this call is from God?

Are you ready to take new steps of faith?

And one final question: 'How big are your feet?'

►Segregation in Detroit is focus of his photography

By Ryan Tackabury

Fenton — ArtPrize is the world's largest art competition, and this year features a piece by Fenton High School teacher Nick Gregory. The competition features a $200,000 top prize, with the winner being decided by a vote from the public.

Gregory's submission, titled "Split," is a 28-picture photo featuring what is sometimes referred to as the "wailing wall" in Detroit that was built in 1940 to segregate residents based on race.

"I have always been interested in photography, even since high school," Gregory said. "Digital cameras and the ease of taking multiple pictures really helped me."

Gregory's interest with the city of Detroit began as he attended baseball games at Tiger Stadium as a child. He started visiting Detroit to take photos a little over six years ago. "I was just overwhelmed with a lot of things there," he said. "The more I visited Detroit, the more confused I got, in terms of the city's history and how the city is now."

Most people know very little about the wall, Gregory said. For others, the wall is a constant part of their life. "There are people alive today who built their houses with the wall in their back yard and still live in their houses," he said.

"It's an example of segregation and racism supported by politics of the day," Gregory said. "It's pretty eye opening to see the wall, for sure."

Gregory said his family was excited about his work being featured and thanked his wife for helping him. "Without the support and encouragement from my beautiful wife, Beata, I could not have completed Split," he said.

For those who want to Gregory's photos or to vote for his entry in the competition can do so by going to www.artprize.org and searching for "Split."

WAKE UP AMERICA! President Obama thought he could wave a wand and offer America change. How many changes has he really given America? Very few. He spent most of his Presidency blaming all the problems on President Bush and has done nothing to fix them.

OBAMA — 'BIN LADEN is dead. Al-Qae-da is crippled. But on 09/11/2012, Al-Qae-da operatives conducted a terrorist attack on sovereign American soil and killed our American Ambassador to Libya. Obama has not addressed the American people with this potential act of war. In 01/2013, Obama's $500,000 automatic defense cut jeopardizes American security.

DID YOU STRUGGLE financially last year? Do you think Obama understands your struggles? Last year 2011, the American taxpayers spent $1.4 billion on everything from staffing, housing, traveling and entertaining for the Obama family. They live like royalty, as Americans struggle. That's just wrong.

ASK THE APPLIANCE EXPERT

Q. I purchased a brand new LG dehumidifier from Home Depot a couple of months ago. Since I don't have very good luck with them lasting more than a year at a time, I also purchased the 2 year extended warranty. The dehumidifier keeps leaking huge puddles of water all over the place. At first we thought that the hose was getting kinked so we adjusted it so that is not the case. What else could be the problem? Could I take this unit to you for repair? If so, would the repair be covered by the warranty?

A. There is an adaptor that you placed into the back of the unit to connect your drain hose. Pull out the bucket in the front of the dehumidifier and check to see that it is connected to the drain tube in the top right hand opening of the unit. If it is not that is probably your issue. We are a factory authorized servicer for the LG appliances, however if you purchased an extended warranty, you must call the number on your extended warranty for a company that can repair the unit under that extended warranty.

even what it is supposed to do for your body. He said for those who are just getting started and are serious, that they should look into working with a personal trainer.

"If you didn't know anything about cars, you wouldn't try to fix your own transmission. The same is true with your body," Fisher said.

The cost of a personal trainer can vary from place to place, with discounts sometimes being offered as you pay for more sessions. Fisher said that he recommends spending four to six sessions with a gym trainer to learn what you need, and make certain that you are able to fully remember what you need to.

If the idea of learning from a personal trainer sounds appealing, but you are worried about the price, there is an alternative in group coaching. While you will not have as much one-on-one time with a personal trainer in group coaching, it can be a more affordable way to gain the knowledge you need to get in shape.

Getting in shape requires a lot of commitment and can be difficult. Make a habit out of going to the gym, and try not to break it. Once you have made it into a routine, keep it up.

Start small with what you can do, and build up over time. Set goals for yourself, whether it be the distance you have

Summary

► Proper form when exercising is important to ensure you gain the most benefit from it, and do not injure yourself.

Staying safe while getting healthy

Get a yearly check up and discuss your exercise plan with your doctor. This is important if you have any active health problems or risks to make certain your fitness plan works for you, but also to stay ahead of any additional health risks that may sneak up on you.

Remember to warm up and cool down. When you start your exercise session, remember to do your stretches and to include a warm up period of light exertion. When finishing, don't come to a dead stop, take some time to slowly lower your exertion level.

Remember good form. If you are doing a particular exercise wrong, not only are you not getting the most out of it, you may also hurt yourself.

Know the equipment. If you want to use a piece of gym equipment, read the instructions on the machinery carefully. If you have any questions, ask someone who is already using it. Like improper form, improper use of gym machinery can more trouble than it is worth.

Work out with a partner. Not only will working out with a friend give you extra encouragement to go to the gym, but you will have someone who can provide you feedback on your form.

travelled on the treadmill, or the amount of weights you are lifting. Keeping track of these goals will give you a challenge to keep returning to.

If the challenge is not enough to bring you back, find other ways to reward yourself for keeping a regular gym schedule. Finding the motivation to keep going is the key to getting in shape.

Behind the Medieval walls

► Michigan Renaissance Festival a way of life for many, weekend job for others

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Groveland Twp. — Inside the Michigan Renaissance Festival grounds, Celtic band Tartanic plays its brand of bagpipes and drums. While the men play, dancers Jill Jack and Tricia Belle Storie flit about the crowd with fists full of CDs.

Summary

► The workforce that populates the Michigan Renaissance Festival is diverse and varied in their levels of commitment to the festival lifestyle. This is the last chance to catch the festival in its final weekend.

stage slippery.

Many that work the “Ren-Fest” use the word “originally” to describe where they are from. Jack is originally from Houston, and Storie is from Austin, but many don’t claim a hometown anymore.

Florida is the epicenter for the festival lifestyle and after this final weekend, many will go there, Texas or the Carolinas.

“We’re all former Michigan residents anyway. Doing work at the festivals has pushed us all around,” said Jeremy Lovell of Detroit and Florida, who performs in a band, The Bawdy Boys, on site.

At the Renaissance Festival, there is a spectrum of employees, from the committed travelers like Jack and Storie, to the seasonal workers. It becomes home for people from all over that, for whatever reason, put on their best medieval frock for at least six weeks every fall.

Many of the workers that live locally have regular day jobs. At the food court, Christopher Green of Flushing just graduated and is looking for a job at Crossroads Village. Ross Trumbauer and Andrew Driscoll of St. Clair Shores are festival street performers on the weekends.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Performers Shane Fekete (right) and Mathew Myatt chat as they juggle last Saturday at the Michigan Renaissance Festival. Both live in the Metro Detroit area. They play paid shows and also juggle for “hat,” meaning tips.

Trumbauer works at a hardware store during the week and Driscoll is a custodian for the local school district. “Most of us are normal people,” said Driscoll.

Also in the food court was Melissa Brown, of Flint. She shouts to passer-bys with vigor, selling pasta like her life depended on it. Her life doesn’t depend on it, but her husband’s wrestling program at Kearsley High School does. She volunteers every weekend for six weeks, 10 hours a day, selling food, so that the wrestling program can get 12 percent of the profits. “I’m harassing people to buy food,” she said. “People really enjoy us.”

Brown and other volunteers will rake in up to $15,000 for the various athletic programs at the high schools when the festival is over. Until then, she is at it, 10-hours a day, every weekend. She has fun with the people. “You can’t help but be able to get into it,” she said.

When vendors yell at festival attendees, they call it “hawking,” and it is essential for sales, and is part of the Renaissance Festival experience.

Toni Kastanos of Waterford is known as “The Pickle Chick” at the festival and dresses kind of like a pirate elf. She sees everyone as a potential customer and engages everyone she can. She uses jokes and even innuendo to sell her $2 pickles. “My pickle is bigger than yours,” she’ll say to the males of a passing couple.

Kastanos only makes money from her sales, but says she makes more in one day selling pickles than two weeks at her day job at UPS.

During the week, musician Jeremy Lovell recovers from a long, grueling weekend performing. He’s trying to get his voice back to be ready to perform again. “It’s not glamorous,” he said.

During the week, many festival performers stay at local campgrounds and relax. “A lot of us get drunk,” he admitted. Lovell stays with family. On the weekends, the performers’ village is busy within the walls of the festival and strictly closed to the press.

“We travel all over the country all the time, we don’t have homes anymore.”

Ren-Fest performer

“As a performer, it’s a mixed bag, you don’t make much money, many do it because they love it,” he said. “You don’t work for Ren-Fest unless you love it. It’s a killer, it wears you out.”

This weekend is the last for the 2012 season.

The holiday season begins on Black Friday, the day after Thanksgiving. Big-box department stores such as Target, Wal-mart and Kohl's each anticipate hiring at least 50,000 part-time workers this year. Strong sales from back-to-school shopping has companies betting consumers will spend more this Christmas than they did last year.

"One other reason retailers may be holding out hope for solid holiday sales gains this year is, that despite the uncertainty of the economic recovery, Americans seem to find a way to scrape together extra spending money for the holidays," said John Challenger, chief executive officer. "They do not want to disappoint their kids, spouses, friends and the other people with whom they exchange gifts."

Locally, Kmart of Fenton anticipates hiring around 30 people for the upcoming holiday season, which will last until December. Part-time positions include cashiers, cart gatherers and floor workers. Those inquiring for work can fill out an application at the store's kiosk or online.

"We're looking for qualified people who are motivated," said Assistant Manager Darlene Kelley. "Retail is a lot of work. We want people who will give it their best."

Kelley said of the 30 or so seasonal workers that are hired, only five to 10 workers might be offered full-time positions. Currently, Kmart has seven full-time employees, according to Kelley.

Other local department stores such as Target and Wal-mart have similar application processes, with in-store kiosks and online applications.

Gerych's Distinctive Flowers & Gifts anticipates hiring five or six people to work in the greenhouse and in retail, said owner Jon Gerych. Like Kmart, the positions are part time but could eventually lead to full-time work.

"We're looking for people that show up on time, are dependable and have knowledge of the task in the area we're using them in," Gerych said. "We want self-starters who show commitment and are engaged in what they do."

Gerych is optimistic that this holiday season will be busier than the last. Gerych attributes the potential increase in consumer activity to a strengthening local economy and an increase in employment.

"The biggest key is it seems like people are coming back to work. The more people we get back to work, the better everyone will be," Gerych said.

Gerych emphasized the importance of shopping local this holiday season, adding that area businesses mostly hire people within the community.

Four rules to follow if you want to be a valuable employee and/or leader at work

- Tell the truth. Don't fabricate your experience. In this world where Google is your first resume and your entire background can be dug up with the swipe of a mouse, making stuff up about where you went to school (or that you attended or graduated college when you didn't), what you studied and where you worked is just plain stupid.
- Don't be overly self-promotional to the point of being obnoxious.
- Roll up your sleeves. In this day and age, people are expected to wear multiple hats.
- Listen to feedback. No one's perfect and, particularly in a new job, when you're learning the ropes and getting acclimated to an unfamiliar environment, it's vital to be able to take constructive criticism or guidance from colleagues and superiors.

Local newspapers connect us with our communities

We can get our national news on cable television, catch the weather on local broadcast stations, listen to talk radio on the AM or FM dial and follow our favorite blogs on the Internet, but where do we turn for local information that directly impacts our daily lives? More often than not, it is community newspapers.

Most traditional large newspapers are struggling to stay alive — they are more and more frequently printing only two to three times a week, personnel and content are shrinking like never before and more information is shifted to online editions.

Yet local community newspapers are thriving because they have persistently weathered the storm year in and year out to remain a fixture in our everyday lives.

We count on them to regularly check in with the courts and police stations. They print announcements on births, deaths, engagements, marriages, anniversaries, church news, job openings, school information and service club endeavors.

They publish notices of local municipal meetings. They print tax increases, millage initiatives, notices of changes in laws and property rezoning — all issues that most directly impact our pocketbooks by determining how our hard earned tax dollars are spent at the local level and how our local officials are representing us.

They help run the local economic engine and provide a marketplace for the community. They offer local small businesses with an effective and affordable means of connecting with local consumers. They print sales at the supermarket, coupons for discounts at local stores, real estate listings and classifieds for everything from a used car to a neighbor's garage sale.

It's also personal. Communities feel a sense of ownership in their local newspaper, and the people that report the news are often our friends and neighbors down the street.

News aggregating websites simply do not provide the information on issues that impact us at the local level. It is especially true for the elderly and those with low incomes who often have less access to computers and transportation.

Community newspapers remain the one constant source of local information. In good times and in bad, they stay focused on us as a community.

Now more than ever, community newspapers are an important binding thread of our cities and towns.

Congressman Mike Rogers represents Michigan's Eighth Congressional District.

Lake Fenton's 'D' makes statement vs. Goodrich, 34-7

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lake Fenton — From the opening play the Blue Devils dominated Goodrich in the two teams' GAC Red battle Friday night.

And by the end of the second play of the game, the Blue Devils had a lead they never lost, eventually earning a dominating 34-7 victory against the Martians.

Lake Fenton's defense forced five turnovers and held Goodrich to just 45 yards rushing, resulting in the win. On the opening kickoff, Lake Fenton's Zac Zielinski recovered a fumble at Goodrich's 30. A play later, Neil Allor ran around the left side for a 30-yard TD. Lake Fenton (4-0, 5-1) led 6-0 just 15 seconds into the game. As far as Goodrich's offense was concerned it could've been 60-0. The Martians' offense got beyond midfield only three times, and turned it over two of those times. The first turnover came on a fumble recovery by Tim Symons late in the first quarter. The second one came late in the third quarter, on Chase Hull's pick. Lance Hasenfratz, Matt Hommner and Hull had interceptions for Lake Fenton, while Symons and Zielinski recovered fumbles.

"We definitely came out and played angry," Hasenfratz said. "We wanted this game and we came to play. We knew this was such a big game, we had to come out and play our best or else it was going to be a close game."

"We played like crazy out there," said Symons, who also had six tackles. "We were concerned with their run game primarily and we just came to play and stopped them."

"We played well tonight, we played hard," Lake Fenton coach Eric Doyle said. "I'm proud of our kids, but I expected this. I really did. I think we are a pretty well kept secret. I don't think people know about us yet and this was a major statement tonight."

The Blue Devils took just one play to score on their third possession of the night as well. Nick VanDuser, who finished with 217 rushing yards, ran between the tackles and then worked his way to the outside en route to a 91-yard TD run. A Zielinski block near midfield allowed him to finish the run.

The Blue Devils made it 20-0 with 3:40 left in the first half on a Gage Smith five-yard TD pass to Allor. Allor completed the two-yard two-point conversion pass to Austin Frank. However, Goodrich's J.R. Dawley responded with a 92-yard kickoff return for a TD of his own on the next play. Lake Fenton led 20-7 at the half.

However, VanDuser scored on a 10-yard run on Lake Fenton's first possession of the second half raising the lead to 28-7, effectively ending Goodrich's hopes of a comeback.

Later, Zielinski had a nine-yard TD run with 6:06 left in the contest.

Fenton's Mitch Shegos ended the first half with a 99-yard interception return for a TD, leading the Tigers to a 54-21 victory against Lapeer East on Homecoming.

Fenton (4-1, 5-1) was tied 7-all, when Connor Davidson competed the first of his three TD passes, this one to Damon Thomas for a 23-yard score. Before the first quarter was done he also hit Shegos for a 66-yard score.

The Tigers blew the game open in the second quarter with TD runs of 11 yards by Trent Grimes and 2 yards by Davidson. Fenton led 41-14 at half-time.

Grimes scored just 31 seconds into the second half with an 84-yard TD run. About four minutes later, Davidson hit Grimes for an eight-yard TD reception. Scott Lukas opened the scoring with a nine-yard TD run just 50 seconds into the game.

Linden 49, Flint Southwestern 6

Linden's Mitch Juhl had TD runs of 5, 10 and 3 yards and also caught an 11-yard TD pass from Shaye Brown, resulting in the easy road win for Linden.

Other offensive scores were provided by Mitch Ryan on a three-yard run and by Travis Hull on a 10-yard TD reception from Ryan.

Kyle Korman blocked a punt and recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

"We played very well," Linden coach Denny Hopkins said. "We were ready to play. It was a whole lot different than a week ago. Hopefully we are back on track."

Linden, Holly boys finish 1-2 at second Metro jamboree event

►Fenton's Kryza takes top spot in race

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lapeer — There were a lot of points proven at the second Metro League boys jamboree at Lapeer's Torzewski County Park on Wednesday.

The Linden Eagles proved that they remain the elite team when it comes to Metro cross country, easily defeating the field.

Meanwhile, the Holly Bronchos proved they are a force to be reckoned with in only head coach Richie Brinker's second year at the helm. The Bronchos shocked Clio, taking second at the meet by six points.

And finally, Fenton's Max Kryza proved he's the man to beat for the Metro League's individual title during the third meet on Oct. 17, defeating the field by about 14 seconds.

Linden, winner of each of the last five Metro League titles, had its seven runners finish in the top 19, resulting in the easy victory. After Kryza, Linden's Roger Phillips, who won the first Metro jamboree, placed second (16:24.03), followed by Graham Elliott in third (16:28.22). Zach LeMieux followed in ninth (17:17.97), while Ryan Torok (17:20.08) and Dave Doyle (17:21.78) placed 11th and 12th, respectively, completing the Eagles' scorers.

Adrian Taylor followed in 17th (17:43.88), while Kyle Susalla was 19th (17:57.35). Two other Eagles ran under 18 minutes as well.

"We definitely have a lot of depth," Elliott said. "It has allowed us to perform well through the years."

"It's the first time since I've been the coach that we had nine kids run under 18 minutes on the same day," Linden coach Clint Lawhorne said. "About half of our team set season or lifetime personal records. I thought they competed really well."

While the Eagles are the team to beat for the season, Kryza is the individual ahead of all others. After taking second at the first jamboree while not completely healthy, he was strong on Wednesday. Phillips and Clio's Chris Koon stuck with Kryza for just over half of the race, but then Kryza took over, winning by about 24 seconds.

"My goal is to go for the gold when I can," Kryza said. "I've made some bad choices in some of the races I've raced lately and I wanted to make up for that today."

The Bronchos were the surprising team. Holly placed third at the first meet, but had two strong packs at this meet, earning second place with 68 points, beating out Clio's 74 points. The Bronchos enter the final meet tied for second with the Mustangs.

Dilon Lemond took sixth (16:51.35), Vincent Cantu took seventh (17:10.10) and Nate Frasier took eighth (17:14.29) to lead one Holly pack. The other was a group of four — Steven Domagalski, 23rd in 18:10.47; Keenan Steele, 24th in 18:12.81; Blake Staffne, 25th in 18:15.96; and Zac Feliz, 26th in 18:19.01.

"Basically, coach told us to get our top seven in front of their fifth person," Lemond said. "I think we did that."

"The meet overall was a success," Brinker said. "We had eight out of 14 run PRs and a couple of guys were within five seconds of their PR."

"The guys have been working really hard all summer and are starting to see all the hard work pay off. We scored 80 points in the first jamboree and 67 yesterday. We are working on closing the gap with Linden and staying in front of Clio."

With only Kryza placing in the top 10, the Tigers took fifth for the second straight meet, beating Brandon by a point.

After Kryza, Jacob Lee placed 15th (17:29.26), while Kameron Toonder placed 41st (19:04.49).

The rest of Fenton's top five runners were Kyle Lack in 42nd (19:12.04) and Grant Krause in 45th (19:30.82). Brandon's best runner only finished 18th, but its fifth-place runner was already in by 38th place, making the team fight for fifth place close.

The final Metro Meet, which accounts for 50 percent of the standings, is Oct. 17 at Brandon Township Park. All the Eagles have to do to win the title is finish in first or second place.

Linden CC girls edge Holly, create two-way tie entering final meet

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lapeer — Apparently there's going to be a good ol' fashioned dual between the Linden Eagles and the Holly Bronchos at the final Metro League meet.

On Wednesday the Linden Eagles proved why they are always among the list of league contenders, winning the second jamboree of the season by a point, against the defending league champion Holly Bronchos.

That means if one of the two teams win the final Metro League Meet on Oct. 17 at Brandon Township Park, that squad leaves with the league title outright.

Fenton, who placed fourth at the first meet, also had some good news, earning third in this meet.

Linden, who had 39 points to Holly's 40, captured three of the top seven places, including the top two spots. As expected, Sydney Elmer won the race with a time of 19:44.44. However, instead of flat-out dominating from the start, teammate McKayla Guy stuck with Elmer half the race and improved from third to second in between the first two jamborees, recording a personal-best time of 20:02.57. Courtney Davis placed seventh (21:10.39). The rest of Linden's top seven were Aleighsha Engisch in 12th (22:06.86), Dominique Scripter in 17th (22:21.68), Kailee Corcoran in 21st (22:43.78) and Taylor Ganger in 26th (22:54.74). Each position was important because all of Linden's top seven beat Holly's seventh-place runner.

"We were pleasantly surprised by the win," Linden coach Teresa Wright said. "My No. 3/4 runner has been out

"Although today was a big win for our program, Holly is still the returning Metro champs. We were lucky to sneak by them and must continue to work hard so that we are prepared to run at the final jamboree.

Bruce helps lead Blue Devils to sweep of Montrose Rams

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lake Fenton — Trudie Bruce loves watching her team progress.

On Tuesday, her progress was clearly evident.

On a night that some parts of Lake Fenton's team struggled, Bruce wasn't one of the issues, recording a team-high 13 kills in the Blue Devils' 25-19, 26-24, 25-22 victory against Montrose at Lake Fenton High School.

When she got the chance to attack, Bruce was nearly perfect, recording not a single hitting error. And in the final two sets it seemed it was Bruce being in the front row that pretty much iced the tough set wins. But when given the opportunity, the senior spent more time talking about her teammates.

"My favorite part of (volleyball) is the team work and how our team is confident because no one person has to do everything. We have teamwork and we have to work together to win a game or be competitive," Bruce said. "We've definitely progressed throughout the season. Our setters have been doing well. Our outsiders are doing well. Us middles — we've gotten better — and I feel our defense is working out really well in the back row.

"(About my game) I feel this could've been one of my best games hitting-wise and serving-wise. It was one of my best games so far."

Bruce pretty much iced the final two games for Lake Fenton. In the second game, the Blue Devils trailed 23-21 late, but Bruce took over. She had kills on three consecutive volleys, earning Lake Fenton a 24-23 lead. The Blue Devils were unable to get game point due to a service error, but then Bruce earned the team another game point when she earned a kill. Montrose had service reception problems on the next service and Lake Fenton earned the 26-24 second-game victory.

In the third game, Lake Fenton jumped to an early 12-7 lead, but an assortment of Blue Devils' errors allowed Montrose to take a 21-19 lead late.

Lake Fenton cut the gap to 21-20 and 22-21 before tying it up on a Debbie Katterberg block kill. A Montrose hitting error followed, and then Bruce responded with a kill on a service reception overpass by Montrose. Lake Fenton iced the 25-22 victory with an ace by Alyssa Rodgers.

In the opening game, Bruce earned three aces, at the start of the game, earning Lake Fenton a 4-0 lead. She provided four kills throughout the game, sparking the Blue Devils to the 25-19 win.

Slowly, Lake Fenton is making progress. "They keep learning, and that's a good thing," Lake Fenton coach Angie Del Morone said. "We are still on that learning curve and they are moving alone. We are starting to run some plays now. Our passing is a little better and we'll be able to learn more stuff. Right now we are struggling with our passing, not as accurate as we want to be. I don't know why, but we'll work on it."

Bruce led Lake Fenton with 13 kills, four aces and three blocks. Megan Somers followed with six kills and seven digs. Sidney Scott had five kills. Rodgers had 17 assists.

LF runners enjoying their home course, earn wins at recent meet

Lake Fenton — Caleb Fletcher didn't care too much for building Lake Fenton's first-ever on-campus cross country course in school history this summer.

"It was a pain because Michigan soil stinks," Fletcher said. "We were drilling for four hours just to get four posts in, one an hour."

But now that the work is complete and the team has used its course twice this season, he's glad to see it done.

He also was probably pretty glad to see how he and his teammates did in a meet with Bendle, Durand and New Lothrop on Tuesday on that course. Fletcher won the race with a time of 18:28 on the 5K course. Meanwhile, the Lake Fenton boys defeated New Lothrop 21-35 and Bendle 22-37 in GAC action.

The Lake Fenton girls also edged out New Lothrop 29-30.

"It's pretty awesome," Fletcher said about having a home course. "It's nice to know the hills. It's a really good advantage. We worked really hard on it, so it's really awesome to have a home course. It's worth it."

"Being at home, you have your friends there. They are there to support you and you are motivated to run even harder than you usually do because the people love you."

Lake Fenton cross country coach Chris Sobczyk enjoys having the course as well.

"Having the course is awesome," Sobczyk said. "Especially today, seeing four teams out there. It creates more excitement. It's more spectators and more runners. I'm a little bit more comfortable (running the meet). The first one was nerve racking."

Fletcher battled with Bendle's Tim Kimble all race long for the top spot. With about 500 meters left, he took the lead for good and stretched out his lead from there, winning by seven seconds.

"I felt awesome," Fletcher said. "I think I ran a really smart race. I didn't go out too fast in the first mile."

Fletcher's younger brother, Jake Fletcher, was fourth overall in 18:52, breaking the 19-minute mark for the first time this season.

"Jake Fletcher broke into the 18s today. We knew he was probably going to do pretty good, but a drop into the 18s at this point of the season as a freshman is really good," Sobczyk said. "He started maybe in the low 21s. It was just a matter of him figuring out how to race. He probably could've run a minute or two minutes faster (at the start of the season) but he was just learning how to run a race."

The rest of Lake Fenton's scorers were Winston Ray in seventh (19:24), Dillon Cullimore in 10th (19:40) and Jasper Lindsay in 12th (20:23).

"They are coming on strong. Their times keep dropping," Sobczyk said. "There are kids that ran the two mile in track and they are almost running faster in the 5K than they did in the two mile. OK maybe not literally. They are coming on strong. Every one of the guys' times keep dropping, dropping and dropping."

The Lake Fenton girls were led by Becky Fernelius, who placed third in 21:51, about 12 seconds behind Durand's first-place runner Jamie Madrigal. The rest of Lake Fenton's female team scorers were Laura Carlson in fourth (22:21), Mackenzie Kato in sixth (22:42), C.J. Simon in 19th (27:44) and Logan Dailey in 24th (28:40).

"As a team it has been a tough year in the GAC for the girls so it was nice for them to get the win," Sobczyk said. "I challenged them to defend their home course and they did."

"Becky Fernelius ran really well, earning a PR over her performance at the state meet last year. I have been working on pacing with her and she was able to run even seven-minute splits. I definitely think she benefitted from running on her home court."

LF soccer adjusting to new coaching staff, beats LakeVille

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lake Fenton — Sawyer Scott will be the first to tell you it took some time adjusting to the new coaching staff for Lake Fenton's varsity boys soccer team. After all, departing coach Lenny Glasstetter was at Lake Fenton for a long time and had his share of success while there.

But now that the transition to new coach Mike Korhonen is over, it appears the Blue Devils are doing just fine.

The Blue Devils made easy work of their GAC foes on Tuesday, defeating LakeVille 8-0.

Lake Fenton also tied Laingsburg 0-0 on Thursday.

"It was a little bit," Scott said about the adjustment. "He's more serious and we had to realize (he was different)."

"It helps more, I think. We are working a lot more together. We are passing and our intensity is higher."

Korhonen has been pleased.

"They really bought into my expectations about how hard they need to work and how they have to approach coming to soccer practice every day," Korhonen said. "They are starting to take care of their bodies. They are starting to look up and find the ball, and find the easy play. They are not just running up and down the field."

On Tuesday, the Blue Devils (4-6-1) were the heavy favorites and made sure the game ended that way. The Blue Devils took a 7-0 lead in the first half, meaning they needed just one more goal to end the game due to the eight-goal mercy rule. That goal was provided by Alex Romans with 24:25 left in the contest on a shot that Romans took to the far side post, netting it.

Romans was one of three Lake Fenton players to finish the game with two goals. The others were Scott and Chase Hansen. Also scoring were Jack Wolgast and Tristan Hagenstein.

Hagenstein and Hansen each had two assists, while Mitchel Dershem, Raied Jawhari and Josh Slough had one assist each.

"We knew some of the scores they had and we knew we should get through with a victory," Korhonen said. "But we wanted to make sure we worked on things that are going to help us going forward against tougher teams and going forward to the districts. That's our main goal, getting out of districts."

"Today was a good day to work on possession, move the ball around and also

The team is extremely thrilled they managed the win."

Meanwhile, Holly's performance was still strong, just not as strong as the first jamboree. Charlotte Ruffini placed fourth (20:49.43), while Maggie Schneider (20:55.31) and Shannon Westfall (21:04.44) placed fifth and sixth, respectively. Alex Matvchuk placed ninth (21:40.41), but the next Holly runner didn't come in until 16th place. That was Abby Brown in 22:15. In the first jamboree Holly had six runners in the top 10.

The Tigers have put themselves in the battle for third. Emily Bemis improved from 21st to 11th (21:53.69), helping the team earn third. She was followed by Elle Cowger, 23rd in 22:45.21; Emily Kinser, 24th in 22:45; Jillian Toaso, 25th in 22:54.02; and Emily Battaglia, 29th in 23:17.85.

Gym owner Matt Letten, owner of Snap Fitness in Linden and Holly, wishes that more people would understand the importance of changing from street shoes into athletic shoes when entering the gym — especially with the upcoming “sloppy” weather of late fall, winter and early spring.

“One person can practically destroy the whole place with muddy shoes,” said Letten. “Also, you can literally ruin cardio equipment when the salt gets into the inner workings of the machines.

We do provide shoe trees and cubbies for people to use when changing their shoes and we really appreciate it when people use them.”

Another gym issue is the importance of cleaning up equipment after ter a workout. “We provide towel service and cleaning solutions for our clients to use, and our staff washes the equipment down every day,” said Letten. “Most of our members are good at this, because it’s the protocol at our gym and people see others doing it.”

One bit of gym etiquette that many people find confusing is the work-in policy of allowing others to use the equipment while you’re in a period of rest between repetitions. “It’s gym etiquette everywhere,” said Letten. “You have to allow people to work in, especially in a smaller club like ours. If someone is waiting, offer to let him or her work in while you rest. It’s a culture of understanding.”

HERE ARE A FEW OTHER RULES FOR GETTING ALONG WITH FELLOW EXERCISERS IN A GYM SETTING:

- Always put your weights back on the weight rack when you’re finished using them.
 - Dress in age- and weight-appropriate workout attire.
 - Don’t hog the treadmill. Many gyms have time limits on cardio machines during busy hours. If people are waiting for the equipment you’re on, consider getting on another piece of equipment that works the same muscle groups.
 - Don’t lurk impatiently over someone who is using a piece of equipment you’re waiting for. Use another machine until the other one is open.
 - Save your cell phone chit-chat for later. Better yet, put your cell phone in your gym bag in the locker room so you won’t distract others.
 - Cover yourself modestly with a towel when walking out after a shower in the locker room.
 - You can drink bottled water in the gym, but be careful of sports drinks or smoothies that can easily spill and leave a mess on the gym floor.
 - Once a fitness class has started, don’t interrupt the class by walking in late.
 - Keep the bathroom/vanity area of the locker room nice and neat. It’s a space you’re sharing with others.
 - Don’t leave your gym bag on the floor for others to possibly trip over. Use a locker or hanging space to stash your bag.
 - Let the staff know if a piece of equipment isn’t working properly. It won’t get fixed if they don’t know, and someone might get injured.

NON-HOMESTEAD MILLAGE FOR HOLLY SCHOOLS

At the General Election on Tuesday, Nov. 6, the Holly Area Schools will be asking our voters to renew our 18 mill Non-Homestead millage. These 18 mills on non-homestead properties allow the district to receive the full State funding under the 1993-94 Proposal A constitutional change.

The millage request has been approved twice since Proposal A started. This is not a new tax, and it is not a tax on primary residence properties. Approval of this millage will not result in an increase to the homeowner. The current millage expires with the 2013 tax levy. We are asking for its renewal at this time to avoid the cost of a special election during the 2013 calendar year. The funds generated from this millage are used by the district for general operating purposes and not earmarked for any specific program.

The failure of this proposal would result in a loss of $3.3 million dollars to the district, and the State does not replace this funding. Failure to approve this proposal will not result in a decrease to the homeowners' taxes paid on the primary residence.

I encourage all citizens to take time to vote on Nov. 6.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Tomek-Eastern fifth-grade teacher Jennifer Snyder goes over a language arts assignment with her class on Wednesday. The IB program permeates many aspects of her syllabus, centering on leadership.

IB PROGRAM

and in the community about the International Baccalaureate (IB) Program at Fenton Area Public Schools. Since its inception in 2009, the IB Program has been shrouded in myth by those outside of the classroom.

Ask students or teachers in classroom however, and you'll only hear praise. The IB program focuses on international education, where students learn about various cultures around the world. The program also emphasizes hands-on research and learning secondary languages.

"You learn as much about yourself as you do about the material," said Jacob Keese, a senior at Fenton High School. "(The classes) teach how important it is to learn and grow as a person."

Fenton High School IB Director Sara Armstrong likened the IB Program to the Socratic Method, where students learn through a series of questioning and answering. Classes are structured on discussion between students with teachers acting as guides for each discussion. English teacher George Kralosky said the classes focus more on individual growth rather than teaching to a test.

"It really is student driven. It's all oral or written exams," Kralosky said. "None of it has objective test." Kralosky, who has been teaching for 42 years, believes IB courses gauge a student's knowledge more accurately than other methods of teaching.

One criticism amongst parents and students is that the classes at Fenton High School are too crowded. Kralosky admits 25 students to a classroom is ideal, but said scheduling conflicts exist within the high school and not just with the IB program.

"You adapt, that's life," Kralosky said. "It's always a work in progress."

Armstrong views the classes as rigorous and will prepare students to compete on a global level. And while the program has garnished much public comment, Armstrong said, "any change will garner a lot of comments — good or bad."

"Many students will take on jobs that are not even invented yet," Armstrong said. "They will have to know other cultures."

Superintendent Timothy Jalkanen said the IB Program costs the school district $300,000 a year or about 1 percent of the district's budget. Every student from Kindergarten to 10th grade mandatorily take IB courses, which Jalkanen said accounts for more than 2,850 students. IB courses for high school juniors and seniors are voluntary. Students can choose to take as many IB courses as they want and those who take all six and complete other requirements are awarded an IB diploma upon graduation.

Of the junior and senior class, there are 16 students pursuing the full IB diploma program. However, 179 juniors and seniors are taking at least one IB course this year, which accounts for 31 percent of juniors and seniors.

Credit for IB classes vary amongst universities. Armstrong said it is the student's responsibility to research how much credit they can receive.

"Even if we don't get college credit, we're still gaining skills," said senior Rose Joynt. "It's giving us a broader perspective. It's stuff that makes us think."

Teacher training for the IB Program is included with the $300,000 budget. While teachers did have to leave the state for training during the first few years, Jalkanen said more teachers are being trained in state in areas like Detroit and Midland. While the training may seem excessive to some, Jalkanen said Fenton Area Schools needs the IB Program.

"Critical thinking skills, reasoning and problem solving abilities are becoming more and more important for the success of students after graduating from high school," Jalkanen said. "At Fenton we are working to raise the educational bar for each and every student."

Juniors and seniors in IB pay a one-time fee of $141 and $96 for the course-ending test, which is mandatory, Armstrong said. Students in IB classes are given weighted grades, having the opportunity to earn above a 4.0 grade point average. Federal and state government funding is available to students who do not have the finances available to take IB courses.

"It's a preparation for my own perspective. It makes the school environment much more enjoyable," said senior Josh Muhleck.

"You learn as much about yourself as you do about the material."

a fallen hero. You can see the people, listen to the music and commentary, and truly grasp the scope of what the event means for family and the community.

Or you can hear the quivering voice of a man who just lost his brother in a trailer fire, or inversely, see the fun and games of St. Johns Applefest if you missed it this year.

You can even visit Benghazi, Libya, and see the inhabitants working to restore their country, and hear their voices in English and Arabic.

At tctimes.com, there is a growing collection of videos produced by the Times that accompany many of the written stories and photos.

Here's some recent videos that are posted and available on tctimes.com.

• St. John Applefest 2012

Take a ride on the Ferris wheel for the biggest summer event in the tri-county area.

• Memorial Service for Patrick O'Rourke

The event was attended by more than a thousand people, including hundreds of police officers.

• Family of trailer fire victim deals with tragedy

The Johnson family of Rose Township meets before the funeral at the site of where Richard Johnson died in a trailer fire. They sell the trailer scrap for cash to help pay for the memorial services.

• Tune Up Car Cruise

Back to the Bricks is one of the biggest summer events in Genesee County. Fenton and Linden have their own event, with dozens of classic cars, which you can check out by watching this video.

Summary

► The Tri-County Times also produces short videos that complement, and even complete the full story on our local events. See them online at tctimes.com.

• Community gardens

Local residents grow their own produce to support themselves, grow their sense of community and donate fresh vegetables to charity.

• For Love of Libya

In a four part series you can see what everyday Libyans went through to secure their country and their country's future. Local couple Lois Van Lente and Mustafa Gheriani share their stories about the revolution.

These videos are free to watch online, and are about your local community. They allow you to get even closer than photos and text and they add another dimension to the story.

We'll be producing many more local and national videos as time allows — including a visit to poverty-stricken Appalachia in November. We'll be trying to make it a regular part of your Tri-County Times news and features experience. Watch for the "See video online icon," next to stories, and head to the multimedia section of the website to get caught up.

Michigan Wine Country

Pair wine with autumn for a perfect seasonal getaway

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Fall is a perfect time to “let your palate be your guide” through Michigan wine trails and tastings, many of which are situated among vineyards in our state’s most scenic and colorful regions this time of year.

Who wouldn’t enjoy a relaxing afternoon or weekend sampling many award-winning Michigan wines in an autumn setting next to a cozy fireplace?

Michigan truly is “wine country,” with more than 80 commercial wineries and 14,600 acres of vineyards — about 2,000 of which are devoted to wine production. The other acreage produces grapes for Concord and Niagara grape juices, according to Michiganwines.com.

Most of Michigan’s quality wine grapes grow within 25 miles of Lake Michigan, where “lake effect” weather creates close to ideal growing conditions and protection for these tender vines.

This state has four federally approved grape-producing areas, known as AVAs (American Viticultural Area). Near Traverse City, the Leelanau Peninsula and the Old Mission Peninsula produce 51 percent of Michigan’s wine grapes. Another 45 percent of Michigan’s wine grapes are grown by Lake Michigan Shore and Fennville AVAs, in the southwest part of the state.

Many longtime family operations, like St. Julian’s Winery in Paw Paw, Michigan’s oldest, are now joined by newcomers to the state’s bustling wine industry, which has grown 60 percent in the last 10 years. These wineries make many styles of wine,

Life-saving Apps

for your smart device

Dial up these apps in case of an emergency

iDistress

Also known as the 'app you hope you never have to use,' the iDistress enables users to send out a message to the authorities and three loved ones should they be caught in an emergency situation.

According to the apps official description, it "sends an SMS (text message) and e-mail to three contacts simultaneously along with the users' coordinates for added response time."

Motion & Sound

For Android Users. Triggered by motion or sound, 3 alarm modes: Audible: warn of someone sneaking into your room while you're sleeping; Silent: call a second phone to catch someone in the act; Tracking: track your phone on the web if stolen.

Help Call

Everyone knows to call 911 in an emergency—but what's the right number when you're abroad? Download the Help Call app and it will automatically detect your location. Then you can simply press one button to be connected to the local police, fire, or ambulance. You can also set it to call for help just by shaking the iPhone—or to call a designated emergency contact.

Smart Traveler

When you're traveling, you can go for days without reading a newspaper or hearing what's going on in the world. But what if something is happening in the place you're visiting that you need to know about? Download Smart Traveler (no relation to SmarterTravel; this is the State Department's official app) and you'll be kept in the loop about travel alerts and warnings.

Life saving apps that truly saved a life

Kayakers found thanks to GPS app

Two couples on a kayaking trip ended up meeting some severe weather. After hours of fighting currents, getting separated and becoming totally lost, one of the kayakers decided to use his phone and call the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard had trouble finding the vacationers at first, but being that he was the traveling type, he happened to have an App called Basic GPS and was able to give them his exact coordinates. That was enough to help the Coast Guard find both parties within minutes. Otherwise, they could have been out there for days. At worst, they never would have made it home.

Coach saves student's life with iPhone app

During basketball practice on the day before Thanksgiving, a teen stumbled and fell down. The high school senior's heart had stopped and he wasn't breathing.

Luckily, his coaches were able to get him breathing again by administering CPR. Just by chance, the coach had been reading up and refreshing himself on CPR with an iPhone App called iPhone Aid.

Smartphone users everywhere are now able to access potential life-saving information through the use of a newly-released app from the American Red Cross.

FEATURES:

- Simple step-by-step instructions guide you through everyday first-aid scenarios.
- Fully integrated with 911 so you can call EMS from the app at any time.
- Videos and animations make learning first aid fun and easy.
- Safety tips for everything, from severe winter weather to hurricanes, earthquakes and tornadoes help you prepare for emergencies.
- Preloaded content means you have instant access to all safety information at anytime, even without reception or an Internet connection.
- Interactive quizzes allow you to earn badges.

Find My iPhone

If you misplace your iPhone, iPad, iPod touch, or Mac, the Find My iPhone app will let you use another iOS device to find it and protect your data. Simply install this free app on another iOS device, open it, and sign in with your Apple ID. Find My iPhone will help you locate your missing device on a map.

Help Me

This is a simple application that may save your life one day. It is a screen with vital information about your health: blood type, allergies, diseases, a contact number and a popup with whatever info you want to show.

WINE

from dry to sweet including Ice Wine, sparkling, fortified, fruit wines and fruit brandy.

One of the newest ones is located right here in the tri-county area, Fenton Winery & Brewery, which opened in 2009. Owners Matt and Ginny Sherrow offer Wine Tours of their own every Monday from 3 to 6 p.m., showing visitors every step of their wine production.

Michigan wineries have become popular tourist destinations, attracting more than one million visitors each year.

Here are Michigan's five established Winery Trails, each with its own character and distinctive wines.

Wineries of Michigan's Old Mission Peninsula

Jutting north between the crystal blue peninsulas of Lake Michigan's Grand Traverse Bay lies Old Mission Peninsula. Situated at the globe's 45th parallel, this area is unique in being almost exclusively planted in the traditional European grape varieties. Award-winning wines that come out of this region include Chardonnay, Riesling, Pinot Grigio, Pinot Noir, Merlot, Gewurztraminer, sparkling varieties and prestigious ice wines.

This wine trail also includes the stark contrast between Old World and contemporary, with Chateau Grand Traverse being the oldest and largest winery on the Old Mission Peninsula and 2 Lads Winery, open since 2008, offering a contemporary tasting room design of glass, steel, stone and concrete.

Leelanau Peninsula Wine Trail

Due to its cool climate and diversity, the 20 vineyards on the Leelanau Peninsula Wine Trail produce a wide variety of quality red, white and sparkling wines, as well as fruit wines and brandies. Starting at Brengman Brothers Crain Hill Vineyards, bordering on the Traverse City limits, this Wine Trail goes north to the popular Cherry Republic Winery in Glen Arbor.

Lake Michigan Shore Wine Trail

From the state line north to Saugatuck and from the lakeshore east to vineyards beyond Paw Paw, this countryside contains over 10,000 acres of grapes. Just a short ride from harbor towns of New Buffalo, St. Joseph, South Haven and Saugatuck, winery tasting rooms offer a sample of award-winning Michigan wines, including Tabor Hill, and Michigan's second oldest winery, Warner Vineyards, considered by many to be the Midwest's most picturesque winery.

Southeast Michigan Pioneer Wine Trail

Southeastern Michigan's Pioneer wine-making region is nestled in the rolling Irish Hills, amidst many lakes and Hidden Lake Gardens. This region extends as far north as Burgdorf's in Haslett and as far south as J. Trees Cellars in Blissfield.

Sunrise Side Wine & Hops Trail

Michigan's Sunrise Side showcases its eight wineries and four breweries in a unique region that extends north to Alpena and south to Au Gres and Standish. The Trail consists of not only wineries and breweries, but also some very special attractions.

The Upper Peninsula is not included as a formal Wine Trail, but also boasts four of its own wineries, including Mackinac Trail Winery in Manistique, Northern Sun Winery in Bark River, S U & D Winery in Marquette and Threefold Vine Winery in Garden.

Mackenzie Donnelly

■ 17-year-old senior

■ Fenton High School

■ My family: My mom is Vicki and my dad is John Mincey. My dog's name is Kitty.

“This too shall pass.”

Mackenzie Donnelly, 17, is unique to say the least. Bright colored bows, skinny jeans and knee-high Converse give a glimpse into the world of a teenager who is more concerned with making it big in the world of tattooing than fitting in with her high-school peers. By the ways in which Donnelly chooses to speak her mind, dress, and express herself, one might never know how young this aspiring artist really is.

How was the idea of having an art show at Gatsby Grind brought about? My friends and I went in there to get our fortunes told because the guy there reads tea leaves out of your cup. We saw the art on the walls, and we got our drawing pads out because sometimes we'll go out and draw things. Fady Elias, the owner, was like wow, I really want you guys to come in and do exactly what's on the walls now, but for October. So for the entire month of October we will have a collection of our art displayed.

When is the launch of your art show? It's 7 p.m on Oct. 20, that's a Saturday. It's at Gatsby Grind and there will be music and coffee.

When did you first realize you had a talent for art? In seventh grade, I got into pen and ink a lot. It just developed from there

Do you want to take your artistic talents into the future? I want to go into tattooing. I know it's a little taboo and weird, but I don't want to just be a tattoo artist I want to own my own shop.

Do you have any advice for underclassmen who aspire to be an artist of any kind? Something I didn't do was the computer aided drafting and design classes. Take those! Utilize the IB and AP art classes. If you don't get in this year, try again next year.

How would you describe yourself? Down to earth, someone with a sense of humor, pragmatic and rather imaginative.

From what artist do you draw inspiration? Terry McPherson, Salvador Dali, Hayao Miyazaki and Jamie Hewlett. They all tend to have a dark side. They all have a particular twist that keeps their style unique, which is something I'm always trying to develop for myself.

What are your plans for after high school? Undecided as of now, but the College for Creative Studies of Detroit looks amazing. Fantastic statistics, great campus, invaluable resources.

HAVE NO FEAR

Summary

Visit haunted michigan.com for a listing of haunted houses in Michigan

►Visit a haunted house for scary Halloween fun

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

If you want a heart-pounding, terrifyingly scary Halloween experience, you don't have to go very far away to find a number of haunted attractions.

Just be sure to call or check websites before going, to make sure that everyone in your group is either old enough or brave enough to withstand the spooks, screams and scary experiences that might await them. To check out all of Michigan's haunted house attractions, visit hauntedmichigan.com.

Scary, but family-friendly

Spooky Trails Farm and Daytime Activities provides Halloween fun for all ages, with haunted nighttime events as well as fall daytime activities for families.

Located at 8266 Baldwin Rd. in Swartz Creek, Spooky Trails has earned a reputation for quality Halloween events. They've been named number 1 longest hayride in the U.S., number 1 haunted attraction in the county and number 4 in Michigan, according to its website.

New this year is Woodhaven Boarding House — a new haunted house attraction and a new haunted corn maze called "Race in the Maze." Zombie Hunter Hayride is another activity designed to be scary.

For the more fearful among us, Spooky Trails offers many tame daytime activities, from hayrides and corn mazes to pumpkin picking, cider and doughnuts.

For more information, visit spooky-trails.com or call (810) 407-3035.

Non-scary Halloween fun

A Fall Fun Festival for families is set for two weekends before Halloween in October. Trinity Lutheran Church in Fenton is hosting this event on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 19-20 and Oct. 26-27 from 2 to 9 p.m., for families with children ages 3 to teens.

The festival will be held on the grounds 1,200 feet east of the church at 1025 Main St. Accompanying adults and children under age 3 are free, with a $10 admission for other children. "Costumes are encouraged for all," said Carol Swenson, one of the organizers of the event.

Non-scary, family-friendly activities are included in the weekend fun — from games to arts and crafts, plus trick-or-treat stations. Homemade soups, hot dogs and popcorn will be available, as will other concession items. Funds raised will benefit the new church building, with groundbreaking planned for Spring 2014.

For more information, call Swenson at (810) 714-0405.

Scary, but not too scary

Dreadland Haunted Trail, located at Beech Tree Manor off Stanley Road, the DreadLand Haunted Trail of Davison has more than one mile of heart-stopping fun. Zombies and ghoulish creeps hide in the shadows as visitors wander through a dark, thick woods with nothing more than a small flashlight. The trail is open weekends in October.

COSTUMES

Reflect 'news and views' of the year

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com;
810-629-8282

Halloween costumes are often reflective of the news events and pop culture that have dominated the headlines throughout the year. That's why you'll likely find a lot of movie characters, popular cartoons, newsmakers and celebrities among trick-or-treaters and party-goers this year.

"Cartoon characters are always popular," said Judy Denker, who owns Costume Rentals by Judy in Fenton. "Dora the Explorer, Sponge Bob and Sesame Street never go out of style."

She stocks more than 2,500 costumes in her store, 98 percent of which are for adults. Her most popular adult costumes for this year are Roaring 20s and pirates. New this year are shark and whale costumes, the new Batman and several Renaissance styles.

At K-Mart in Fenton, princess costumes, Minnie Mouse, zombies and superheroes are big sellers, according to employee Maryanne Potter. "I've had people pulling these costumes off the shelf as fast as I've put them on," she said. For adult women, sexy ladies, witches and kitties are always popular.

An interesting note, presidential candidates President Barack Obama and Mitt Romney have not been shown on any popular costume list, even though it's a presidential year. Perhaps politics has worn itself out as a popular party theme.

While no one knows for sure what will be sold for Halloween, people are guessing that these will likely be popular costumes.

Family fun at area orchards

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Fall just might be the best time of year for family fun, with area orchards putting on their best seasonal show along with Mother Nature. Bright, sunny autumn days and cooler temperatures are a perfect backdrop to all of the fun of hayrides, corn mazes, apple cider and doughnuts.

Parshallville Cider Mill

There's no better scenery to enjoy a warm cup of cider and a fresh, hot doughnut than the banks of North Ore Creek at Parshallville Cider Mill, located west off Clyde Road south of Fenton.

"People love sitting near the water while enjoying their cider and doughnuts," said Sandy Detleff, owner of the cider mill with her husband, Jack. "We make our doughnuts fresh here at the mill every day."

The laid-back fall atmosphere at this historic cider mill recalls a gentler time, when kids played outdoors and experienced the simple joys of fall — like playing on the mill's three-acre peninsula that provides lots of space to run around.

Yet there are still many special events happening at the mill to draw a huge crowd. Crowds love the music presented by "The Sundowners" every Sunday between 1 and 4 p.m. now until early November.

Apple pies continue to be a huge seller, despite the Michigan apple shortage. "We sell about 400 pies a week out of our Bake Shoppe," said Detleff. "We drive three hours each way every week to get Michigan apples for our pies."

Spicer Orchards

Spicer Orchards, located east of U.S. 23 on Clyde Road, south of Fenton, is a popular destination for fall family fun. With hay rides, pony rides, train rides, a large farm play area, large inflatables, a corn maze and more, there's lots of activities for families, school groups and couples who want to enjoy a fun taste of fall.

Inside the large farm market, you'll find dozens of apple varieties and other farm-fresh fruits, plus a variety of baked goods, cider and doughnuts, old-fashioned candies and more. Of course, there are pumpkins, squash and gourds in all shapes and sizes. The wine-tasting room offers visitors a chance to taste a wine before they make a purchase.

Warm doughnuts, cider slush, caramel apples and kettle corn are just a few of the favorite treats enjoyed by all.

This weekend, Sept. 29-30, you can catch fall at its finest during Ciderfest with hayrides, corn mazes, hay piles, a kiddie maze, craft demos, face painting and a birdhouse with pheasants. A craft show provides lots of fun for picking up unique items that you won't find anywhere else. Of course, cider is the star of the weekend, with tours at the cider pressing room available every Saturday at 11:30 a.m. (small fee charged for tours, hayrides and corn mazes).

Diehl's Orchard is open for the season through Oct. 31.

On weekends only, go for a horse-drawn hayride, ride a pony, play in the hay or get lost in the children's maze. Visitors can watch doughnuts being made, take a walk through the pumpkin patch and see the animals.
