From tornadoes to rainbows, spring is most volatile season

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Spring is the most volatile of all seasons, with tornadoes and severe thunderstorms often reminding us that Mother Nature really is in charge when it comes to weather.

Our cool weather so far this spring has helped temper the 2014 tornado season, which so far has recorded no deaths from twisters in the U.S. The last time the nation made it to this point in the year without a tornado death was 1915, according to the National Severe Storms Laboratory in Norman, Oklahoma, as reported in USA Today. On average, tornadoes kill about 60 Americans each year. Late April and the month of May generally are the most active time of year for tornadoes. What causes tornadoes?

Tornadoes form in unusually violent thunderstorms when there is sufficient instability and wind shear present in the lower atmosphere, according to weather questions.com. Instability refers to unusually warm and humid conditions in the lower atmosphere, and possibly cooler than usual conditions in the upper atmosphere.

Wind shear, like the straight winds that hit the tri-county area two weeks ago, refers to the wind direction changing and wind speed increasing, with height. This kind of wind shear and instability usually exists only ahead of a cold front and low-pressure system.

The intense spinning of a tornado is partly the result of the updrafts and downdrafts in the thunderstorm (caused by the unstable air), interacting with the wind shear, resulting in a tilting of the wind shear to form an upright tornado vortex.

The U.S. experiences more tornadoes than anywhere else in the world, according to weatherquestions.com. Spring thunderstorms

We're far more likely to encounter rain and spring thunderstorms this time of year.

"Aside from the fact that bats are really cool animals that have gotten a bad name, they're ecologically important because they eat a lot of pest crops and gypsy moths," said Dan O'Brien, wildlife veterinarian with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR). "We don't know what impact it'll have on agriculture in Michigan."

According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, WNS is named after a white fungus that appears on the muzzle and other parts of hibernating bats. The disease causes bats to leave hibernation during the winter months, using up their fat reserves during a season with no food. WNS originates from a newly discovered See BATS on 19A

Life with Nelson and Wiley

One of the many reasons we love our dogs so much is their ability to make their owners feel so intelligent. Because no matter what you say to a dog, they will respond with that cocked-head look of absolute amazement that clearly says, 'OMG...how did you ever think of that?'

This is the same intelligence I called upon several years ago when I made the decision that if one dog is good, two dogs would be twice as good. Rumor has it that many of the people on the OJ jury possessed these exact same logic skills.

Speaking of intelligent people, I recently received in the mail a letter from an organization called In Defense of Animals. Clearly, an organization of people with SAY, CAN YOU tell me where you saw the 'Whiskey Princess' front license plate? I think I married her mother, the Whiskey Queen.

I ENCOURAGE FENTON community members to find out the facts about the IB program. The accusations printed in the Hot lines about the cost are simply untrue. Do your research and you will realize how beneficial the IB program is to not only the kids, but to our community.

I AM 80 years old, I've been driving for 57 years, and I don't even answer my phone when I'm driving.

I FOR ONE am glad that Fenton has not received the highway funds for beautification. They should go to highway projects only. Not for some planter's dream or trail lover's folly.

far too much time on their hands, the letter was addressed to King Foster Childs and requested that, when writing about dogs in the future, I consider using the term 'guardian' rather than 'owner' as a 'sign of respect to our four-legged friends.' Further adding to my surprise, the organization was based in — shock!

– California.

But I digress. As I mentioned, I now have two dogs. A large one, Nelson, and a small one, Wiley. They are working dogs. Their primary job, of course, is barking. They subscribe to the proven menacealert system known by experienced dog 'guardians' such as myself as ABC (Alternating Barking Configuration). At the first sign of danger in the neighborhood why work? Welfare shouldn't be more than $12,000 a year.

I'M RESPONDING TO the Hot line about the box of old trophies, the baseball and basketball trophies: I believe the good place to go for that would be O.A.T.S., it's called Offering Alternative Therapy with Smiles. They actually do therapy for children, with horses. The phone number for there is (248) 620-0505.

THIS IS TO the person that is so sick of watching the weather every five minutes. Don't watch the weather!

I'M CURIOUS, DO your readers have any idea who the dummy was that thought up the term, 'affordable care?' It's cute, but there is no such thing, common sense tells you that. Had to be a Harvard graduate.

YOU HAVE TO remember though Foster, that money put our government leaders in charge, not intelligence.

AS FAR AS the Fenton portion of U.S 23 goes, most crashes are caused from road engineering, speed, inconsiderate drivers and new drivers to the area.

DO YOU HATE taxes? Hate government? Hate regulations? Love guns? Go live somewhere else.

PEOPLE SHOULD SHOW more respect. They travel miles in the heat, risk their lives, receive meager wages, do a job no one wants to do, they rarely see their family, and travel to a strange land and language. No, not illegal aliens. I'm talking about American soldiers. God bless them all.

MOST ISSUES ARE complex. For those of you who only get news from opinion sources, that means many different things affect (someone driving by, someone walking by, nobody going anywhere) Wiley will utter a high-pitched yip. This is clearly a prearranged signal to Nelson to instantly cease whatever activity he is currently engaged in (i.e. wake up) and reply with a loud bark.

Due to their vast intelligence, this incredibly complex pattern of alternating high-pitched yips and loud barks is repeated as long as is it takes to alert the entire neighborhood to the imminent threat posed by two 10-year-old girls walking down the street in front of our house.

Another job responsibility of my dogs is to ensure that no one in my family is ever assaulted by a rabid mole. As a result of their protective diligence, for six months of every year my yard looks like it was carpet-bombed daily by a miniature squadron of B-52s.

People often ask me why my dogs ride in the car with me so much. At least, I think that's what they're asking. I can't actually hear them due to a decade's the issue. Abortion for example is a product of education, financial status, values, support, environment etc. It has been made political for 50 years. You should ask why?

TO THE PERSON that thinks all liberals are evil. Wake up, get back on your meds, get back in that support group and most of all try to make a friend, life will get much better for you.

WHEN YOU SEND your son and daughter to fight in Ukraine or even better, yourself, not as U.S. soldiers but as members of Ukraine's army, then I will be happy to listen to your criticism of the President.

I AM CERTAINLY saddened to learn that what is a wonderful Fenton Farmers Market will be ending even earlier this year, just when most of the produce is coming in. How can we get this injustice changed?

NOW THAT 'DR. Obama' has said that pot is no more dangerous than alcohol, most all of the states will approve its use. Next prisons will release inmates early to save money. Then we can officially say that our country has gone to pot.

worth of dog-sneeze snot build-up in my right ear.

Nelson and Wiley are also trained to help with household chores. For instance, if you open any exterior door in my home even 1/8 of an inch, they will instantly, with absolutely no regard for their own welfare, lower their head and charge through that 1/8"opening in order to assist you in letting them outside.

Here's a great tip. If you own...uh, if you are a guardian of a dog, I highly recommend having hardwood floors installed throughout your home, like we did. That way you will never wonder where your dogs are — especially in the middle of the night — as a cute little 'click-click-clicking' sound will always alert you to any movement by them.

Testing my luck at the Texas Hold 'em Tournament

Fenton — A full house of queens and aces. I wish I could say this was my hand but sadly, it belonged to the young lady across the table from me. With a smile and a quick giggle, she swooped up all of my chips and I was out of the Colonel Fenton's Founder's Day Poker Tournament a mere 45 minutes after the first hand was dealt.

So goes the game of poker. Your chip stack can be an empire that dwarfs everyone else's and one hand later, you're left with ruins. That's what I love about poker, it's a game where anything can happen. Skill, luck, egos and the draw of the cards are all factors when it comes to winning. I've seen seasoned card players get blown out by first-time players, unassuming little old ladies run tables and drunks, who couldn't hold their cards straight, clean out sober players.

I consider myself a decent, if not competent player. But in the three years I've played in the tournament, I haven't been able to make it past the first table. The game requires a different mindset since rounds are timed to an hour-and-ahalf each. A time restriction eliminates the luxury of waiting out a string of bad hands and urged me to bet more frequently. Playing poker can be a humbling experience as I didn't expect the woman sitting across from me to knock me out (and coincidently, one of those little old ladies beat everyone at our table).

Despite all this, I always have fun playing in the tournament. I have found that the tournament, like all good things in life, is more about the people involved rather than the actual game. The sharing war stories of hands they should have won with and the people who made it to the next round. The game is all for a good Debit or credit?

How you use your card has many financial consequences

By Sally Rummel news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Every time you approach a cash register with a purchase for a product or service, you have the option to use a debit card or credit card. Which is the best to use in a particular situation?

It helps to know first, what happens behind the scenes when you swipe each card, according to lifehacker.com.

Debit: You enter your PIN and funds are deducted immediately from your bank account. To the merchant, this transaction is as close as they can get to cash without using bills and coins and banks offer them more forgiving transaction fees. Credit: This transaction requires a signature, and is processed by the credit card company. A signature transaction has more protection from VISA than a PIN-based transaction, and VISA's zero liability policy protects customers whose account is in good standing.

Funds may or may not be immediately deducted from your bank account, depending on how the retailer handles their transactions. Acredit card transaction usually involves a higher transaction fee, which could result in higher prices or fees passed on to you, or minimum purchase requirements for customers to use a credit card.

While some financial experts say that debit cards are less secure than credit cards, The State Bank Senior Vice President Holly Pingatore said, "There's a lot of fraud software that is watching your account from the bank end. Let's say you

STATE ROAD ELEMENTARY RECEIVES GRANT

The Meemic Foundation awarded a $492 grant to State Road Elementary School in Fenton to purchase texts that bring literacy into math curriculum. The non-profit organization has been offering financial assistance in the form of grants to schools and educators since 1992. According to a recent study public school teachers spend more than $1.6 billion outof-pocket on school supplies and instructional materials. Individual teachers spent a total of $268 on school supplies in the 2012-2013 school year, $491 on instructional materials and an additional $186 on other classroom supplies for an average total of $945 on materials for their classrooms during the last school year.

VFW COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF TO VISIT FENTON

William A. Thien, Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States will be visiting the Curtis-Wolverton VFW Post 3243 at 1148 North LeRoy St, in Fenton on Monday, May 12 at 2:30 p.m. Come on down to the post and welcome him. The Fenton community, veterans and their families and all surrounding area public are invited. The VFW Post 3243 Membership, Ladies Auxiliary and Men's Auxiliary will be on hand. The commander-inchief's visit to this area is an important event for several reasons. First, he is the chief spokesman for this organization. Second, he meets with the President and key congressional members to express the interests and needs of the nation's veterans. Third, he is widely traveled and aware of the concerns of veterans and their families across the nation. For these reasons, local veterans will be interested in his views on veterans' issues, national security and foreign affairs.

Holly — It was standing room only at Tuesday's Village Council meeting as more than 20 Battle Alley Car Cruise enthusiasts crowded into council chambers Tuesday night to speak in favor of keeping Holly's popular Wednesday night car show in downtown Holly.

Councilman George Kullis requested the matter be added to the agenda after hearing from a group of concerned merchants during a merchant meeting earlier this month. Among their concerns — public safety, keeping South Saginaw Street open for customers until 5 p.m. on the night of the car show, and possibly moving the show into Crapo Park.

Sandra Kleven, co-owner of French Flamingo Fashions said she isn't against the car cruise, but has concerns about public safety. "We've had a lot of cars downtown, but I fear for the safety of the attendees because it would be very hard for an emergency vehicle to get downtown should, Heaven forbid, a fire occur in one of the establishments or somebody should fall down and break a bone or have a heart attack," she said. "There is really no way for an emergency vehicle to get down. Most of the time, there were a lot of cars down the center of the street — all the parking spaces were taken, and Civic Drive was completely blocked off."

Kleven recommended that car show organizers limit the number of participating vehicles to the number of available parking spaces downtown, and not blocking off South Saginaw Street until after 5 p.m. on the day of the show. Several other downtown merchants later agreed with Kleven's recommendation.

Village Manager Jerry Walker said members of the DDA had already addressed the safety issue, and will prohibit vehicles from parking in the middle of the street and blocking the way for emergency vehicles.

Council member Debra Musgrave asked Bob Allsop, council member and car show organizer, why he is so resistant to moving the car show to Crapo Park. Aside from the fact that tree sap isn't

IMPLANT RETAINED LOWER DENTURE

Dentures restore the smile and aid in chewing of food when the natural teeth are lost because of dental disease and/or trauma. The biggest challenge for most denture wearers is the lower denture. Unlike the upper denture which usually has retention and is stable; the lower denture had no retention and is often unstable. Lower dentures float. Most people get along pretty well with their complete upper denture but tolerate, at best, their lower denture. Since lower dentures are less stable and lack retention; eating is often a challenge. Those of us with our own teeth take for granted the fact that we can go to any restaurant and order anything we want from the menu. Denture wearers are often limited on what they can eat because of their lower denture. Now, I am happy to report that there is hope. With the help of dental implants it is now possible to give a denture wearer a lower denture that is stable and HAS retention. With dental implants it is possible to have a lower denture that DOES NOT FLOAT. Dental implants give a precision, snap fit to a once loose and floating lower denture. An implant retained lower denture can be life changing. Now, with their lower denture firmly and snugly in place, they can eat and enjoy essentially anything they want. If you or someone you know and love is a suffering denture wearer, ask your dentist about how dental implants can help improve their quality of life.

This week I would like to comment on the TV4 news, on whether to pre-wash your dishes before putting them in the dishwasher.

Depending on the dishwasher and cycle chosen, it is generally not necessary to pre wash the dishes. When the NORMAL cycle is selected, the dishwasher fills, prewashes, drains, fills, washes (with soap), drains, fills and rinses. It is generally a good idea to scrape large debris from dishes but not necessary to pre wash. Baked on foods or burnt foods will need pot scrubber selected to remove these foods. Using Finish Brand, Quantum Tablets will greatly assist in excellent cleaning.

Living here has its advantages.

I feel truly blessed to have both of my parents as permanent residents at The Oaks at Woodfield. The Oaks continues to provide compassionate care for my mom and dad in their new home. The entire staff and administration works together as a team. Daily, I see them apply their professional skills at all levels. What makes The Oaks so special is that every person is treated and cared for with respect and dignity, no matter their level of assistance. This is a one of a kind facility where I have found happy employees who are friendly, courteous and kind to care for my parents. I never worry about them being in a safe environment because I know how wonderful The Oaks at Woodfield is for us. This campus provides numerous amenities and chef-prepared meals for every resident. I would recommend The Oaks to all my family and friends if they want excellent care for their loved one and a place to call home."

Local women share emotional experience of running in Boston Marathon

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Fenton residents Rochelle Jones and Kathleen McGowan are amongst the 36,000 runners who have successfully completed this year's Boston Marathon. Following last year's bombings which killed three people and injured more than 250 individuals, this year's race featured heightened security and no attacks.

'I was totally overwhelmed by it. People would congratulate you just for being there," McGowan said. "(Spectators) would do anything for any of the runners. It was a big event."

Jones and McGowan qualified for this year's Boston Marathon after completing the Bay Shore Marathon this year in Traverse City. While qualifying for the marathon is a feat in itself, running and completing the race was a whole different tier of challenge.

'The first 20 miles was wonderful. Heartbreak Hill was definitely a challenge, it took the wind out of me," Mc-Gowan said. The hill earned its name for being located 20.5 miles into the race and is widely considered one of the most difficult portions of the race. "I finished the race in 3:38:49 and qualified for next year. I'd like to run it again but we'll have to wait and see."

This year's marathon winner was Meb

Keflezighi, 26, and is the first time an American has won the race since 1983. Keflezighi finished the race in 2:08:37. The top woman runner was Rita Jeptoo, 33, from Kenya, who finished the race in 2:18:57. Jeptoo won the race last year too, beating her time by nearly eight minutes this year.

Some of McGowan's most memorable competitors were amputees running with prosthetic legs. She said some of the runners were competitors who were affected by last year's bombing.

"I was in awe of them, for them to compete like that," McGowan said. "It was very humbling to be a part of."

This year was the first time McGowan competed in the marathon. Jones ran in 2010, finishing in 3:55. The marathon is 26 miles long.

Jones was amazed by the amount of support from everyone in the city, even if they weren't competing in the race. She said many people wore 'Boston Strong' shirts and stores decorated their fronts. cheering on competitors. One of the most memorable events of the marathon occurred before the race, when she and McGowan attended Easter service at a church in downtown Boston.

"The priest did a sermon on tragedies in the world and mentioned how we overcome adversity," Jones said. "Then he had all the runners come down to the alter and did a blessing for them. The whole congregation gave a standing ovation and all of the runners were crying."

For safety measures, Jones said runners were checked by security wands and backpacks were banned from being anywhere near the race. Snipers watched over the camp where the runners stayed.

Jones said due to an injury during training, she won't be competing in next year's race. Despite having to walk a portion of the marathon, Jones said supporters kept cheering her on to finish, which she did.

"When I went in 2010, I don't remember seeing the race everywhere," Jones said. "Even in the airport, people were stopping us and asked if we ran in the marathon."

Garage sales a good deal for sellers, buyers

► Use the Times to keep up with latest, best sales

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795 Deerfield Twp. — It's a little chilly on Thursday morning, but that didn't stop cars from sitting in Les Mathews' driveway prior to his garage sale opening at 9 a.m.

The 66-year-old retiree guesses he had 50 come through in the first 35 minutes of being open. Thursday morning is prime time for sales — and the end of April is the start of prime time for garage sales in the tri-county area. There are four larger sales listed in the Tri-County Times all at once, and signs and balloons marking potential bargains will start popping as the weather turns for the better.

Mathews has an impressive spread in his garage, pole barn and tent — power tools, sporting goods, rifles, all priced low, but he's open to a little haggling.

Roy Rockman of Argentine Township is also open to negotiating. Roy and wife Debbie have been at it for 40 years.

Roy said asking around 25-percent off an item is a good place to start depending on the item. He said that some people are attached to their items, and can be insulted if you ask to haggle — but they shouldn't be. "It's just part of the game," he said.

If Debbie could have her way, she'd have a one-day garage sale on Thursday and be done with it. She said that Thursday is the best day for shoppers and sellers — the best work, especially stuff is available then, and is picked over by the weekend. Last Friday, her yard and garage sale was all but deserted—the throngs of thrifty shoppers had come and gone. Though a lot of work, a well-ran garage sale should bring in $300-$400 in a weekend, said Roy. "It's a great moneymaker for stuff you don't want anymore." Advice for sellers

Roy and Mathews said the same thing — price every single item. It's a turn-off for Roy when he goes to a sale and things aren't priced. No one wants to have to ask the owner a price. He uses stickers and magic marker, with a simple dollar-sign and price. "Nothing's worse than going to a sale and nothing's priced," he said.

Again on haggling — don't be insulted when people ask for less. "Be willing to dicker a little bit," he said. Mathews sold a couple of rifles to a visitor for $210, after he asked for two for $200.

Most shoppers have cash, so have change ready. Roy has $100 in bills and quarters. Roy will take checks on larger items, though he'd rather not.

Make sure your sale is easy to find. Use signs and advertisements to let people know where and when the sale is happening. Mathews prepares for months for his sales, which could be hindered by people not knowing where he is. Sales should also be fairly organized, with merchandise separated into categories to make it easy for the shopper.

Shoppers and sellers benefit from Times ads

In every edition of the Tri-County Times there are numerous ads placed for local garage/yard sales. It costs $26.94 for a one-edition ad, one to 15 words. For two editions it's $38.08. Additional words are $.42 each. For a single ad, sellers get a garage sale kit with price stickers, road signs, checklist tips and a coupon for next year.

Get on the text blast

For an additional $5, sellers can be on text blasts, which list all sales by text, by mobile phone on Tuesday, before ads can be seen in the paper. Shoppers text GARAGESALE to (810) 475-2030 to get a jump on weekend sales.

Advice for the buyer

Plan a route — serious garage sale shoppers do this already. They research sales, and plot a route, usually starting right when things open in the morning. "They do it every week, they can't wait for Thursday, and they're out the door hitting the sales," said Roy.

Roy suggests that shoppers move slow. This will make sure you don't miss any special items hidden in a box, or in a pile on a table. The best items are out, and by Saturday or Sunday, you can get great prices, but there will be less stuff to choose from.

Mathews suggested that buyers test electronic things on-site to see if they work. He reiterated at his sale that he tests many of his items, but not all. He is willing to take items back or exchange if they don't work.

Pudgy pooch?

► Keeping Fido fit improves health, adds years to life

By Amy Mayhew

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282 With many of us Americans carrying a few extra pounds around the middle these days, it should come as no surprise that more than half of our pets are also overweight or obese. And while it might be cute that your pug is a little portly, it's not necessarily healthy. In fact, if you love him as much as you say you do, it might be time to take some action.

Chances are, Fido's weight problem is a simple one — he's probably consuming more calories than he expends. But if you're certain that he's not eating too much, then it may be time to take him to the veterinarian for a heart, thyroid and metabolism check-up.

According to permd.com, healthy dogs don't necessarily have to eat every day. The pet food industry has us all believing that our dogs sit around waiting for the dinner bell to chime every day.

But the truth is, if you make good quality food in the right amount and a liberal dose of water available to him throughout the day, he'll learn to eat when he's hungry instead of eating just because it's time.

Some folks blame the weight problem on the fact that they had their dog spayed or neutered. The surgery itself may slow the pet's metabolism a bit, but overall, being spayed or neutered has absolutely nothing to do with a dog's weight.

Hypothyroidism is often a common culprit of doggie obesity. Even if the vet says it doesn't appear to be a thyroid issue, you might want to go ahead and request a blood test, anyway.

Once all health-related issues are ruled out, it's time to put the dog on a diet. Petmed.com recommends ratcheting back the chow by a third — that includes all treats, snacks and leftovers, too.

If he begs for food, it's a good sign — just explain that it's for his own good, and don't give in!

If you love your dog, you want him to live the longest, healthiest life possible. Ensuring that his weight isn't out of control is the best way to do it.

WHAT TYPE OF DOG DO YOU HAVE?

The Nibbler — Has food out all day, nibbles constantly, consumes more than he can expend.

The Beggar — Expects treats all the time for basic obedience. Too many treats add up to excess weight.

The Good Dog — Overweight because the owner shows affection by overfeeding with treats and table scraps.

The Gourmet — Won't eat dog food, so owner provides chicken, liver, ice cream or other "people foods" the dog will eat instead.

99 pints drained, 300 lives saved

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO Student Patrick Vickers, 18, waits as a pint of blood is drawn by Red Cross phlebotomist Joan Rogers at the Fenton High School blood drive Wednesday, ran by the National Honor Society (NHS). Vickers said he donated because a blood transfusion saved his uncle's life. "I was really grateful he was able to get a blood transfusion," he said. One pint of blood equals three blood transfusions. The drive yielded at least 99 pints.

MichiganVotes.org, is a free, non-partisan website created by the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, to provide concise, non-partisan, plain-English descriptions of every bill and vote in the Michigan House and Senate. The Senate did not meet last week, and the House met once briefly, passing two non-controversial bills. Therefore, this Friday, April 18 report contains several recently introduced bills of interest.

House Bill 5287:

Create government "progress board" Introduced by Rep. Jeff Irwin (D), to create a state government "progress board" to hold public hearings and "develop an initial strategy that addresses the economic, social, cultural, environmental, and other needs and aspirations of the people of this state," including education, "workforce development," "public and private cooperation," infrastructure, taxes and spending, and "quality of life." The board would also create a "series of goals for Michigan's progress for 20 years . . . (including) measurable indicators of success." Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5320: Impose licensure on home inspectors. Introduced by Rep. Bradford Jacobsen (R), to impose licensure, fees, "apprentice" requirements, government regulation, entrance exams, and more on home inspection services. The bill would create a Michigan Home Inspectors Board that includes incumbent providers to establish requirements on new entrants, and would establish regulations on home inspector training, contracts, operations, disclosures, and more. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5336: Assert no federal jurisdiction over food not sold across state lines. Introduced by Rep. Tom Mc-Millin (R), to establish that the producers and production facilities of food that is produced in and remains in this state are not subject to federal regulations. The bill would prohibit agents of the federal government from trying to enforce federal regulations on food meeting these criteria, subject to penalties of up to 180 days in jail. It asserts the state has a 10th amendment right to assert and enforce this exemption. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5344: Elect U.S. presidents by a national popular vote. Introduced by Rep. Matt Lori (R), to enter into an interstate compact to elect U.S. presidents by a national popular vote. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5366: Address "digital property" of deceased or incompetent individuals. Introduced by Rep.

Andrea LaFontaine (R), to authorize the court-appointed conservator of an individual who is no longer legally competent to exercise control and rights related to the person's "digital property which could include social media accounts (like Facebook) and much more. The bill is part of a legislative package to address what happens when a person dies or becomes legally incompetent to his or her social media accounts, online "transactional service" accounts, online forms and applications, online terms-ofservice agreements, and other forms of "digital property." The bills would afford the person's representative access and authority to use usernames, passwords, etc. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

Lake Fenton teachers recognized

►Judson, Yeaster receive awards from Lake Fenton Community Schools Foundation

The Lake Fenton Community Schools Foundation has announced that Hewitt Judson is this year's recipient of the "Lifetime Achievement Award," to be presented at the Foundation's Annual Dinner May 17 at Spring Meadows Country Club.

Judson graduated from Lake Fenton in 1965 and the University of Michigan in 1972. After service in Vietnam, he began a teaching and coaching career that continues now as a full-time tutor at the high school. Throughout his career, he has taught and coached in Florida as well as the Durand, Linden, Fenton and Lake Fenton school districts.

Judson has coached a total of 82 Lake Fenton School teams in five sports, with more than 250 wins for varsity baseball, 700 for basketball, and in all sports, 19 league, eight district and four regional championships. He coached 30 consecutive years with the Lake Fenton girls basketball program and had a 14-year run as varsity baseball coach highlighted by making it to the state championship game in 1983.

Judson also found time from 1977-1980 to become a band and choir director at Lake Fenton. He formed two bands during the '70s made up of former students.

His awards include Teacher of the Year, listed in Who's Who of American Education, Pat Patterson Flint Olympic Games 1976 Award and 40-year award as a registered MHSAA official. Judson has been married to Peggy for 43 years and they have three children and eight grandchildren.

The Foundation's "Teacher of the Year Award" sponsored by Financial Plus Credit Union will be presented to Laura Yeaster. She is a Michigan State University graduate with a degree in Early Childhood Education and Elementary Education. She obtained her Master of Arts degree in the Art of Teaching from Marygrove College. Currently, she is seeking to further her education in the area of Administration.

Yeaster is a graduate of Montrose High School and resides in that area with her husband Jeff and two children, Sam and Claire. She has taught at West Shore Elementary for nine years as a kindergarten and first-grade teacher.

Yeaster serves as an English Language Arts Curriculum Coordinator and has worked to enhance teaching and learning in that area. Her leadership in the area of curriculum has positively affected student learning and success.

The award presentations will be held at Spring Meadows Country Club on May 17 beginning at 6 p.m. followed by dinner and program. Tickets for $50 will be available until May 9 at the Lake Fenton Administration Office at Torrey and North Long Lake roads. The office can be reached at (810) 591-2532.

I have a 2004 Dodge Ram 1500 with a 4.6l V8. It starts shaking when I'm stopped. I just did a minor tune-up. What do you think is wrong with it? - Stephen Stephen, Anything I tell you at this point would just be a guess without hearing the vehicle run and knowing the history.

First, if the shaking did not start until after the tune up then you need to look for a possible cracked porcelain on one or more of the spark plugs. Check to make sure the proper spark plugs where installed since sometimes they are cataloged wrong. Next, I would make sure when you are checking the plugs to pay attention to the coil boots as you remove the coils to make that they are seated properly and in good condition. If the shaking was present before the tune up then it is probably best at this point if you have a professional look at it. Some components are difficult to test and may take some specialty equipment to test. With the cost of parts for today's vehicles guessing is not a good way to go.

cost per pupil. Using the same formula provided by FAPS Director of Personal Finance Doug Busch, day-to-day costs of operating a school district can roughly be calculated by dividing expenditures by 177 days, the average number of days in a school calendar. Cost per pupil can be further calculated by dividing the number of students (3,465 students per last fall) by cost per day. Operating costs for FAPS have decreased from last year's $171,291 by $1,903.

Expenditures include everything from lights, staff pay and bus and building maintenance. Factors like per pupil funding, mills and student enrollment dictate revenue and how budgets are shaped.

Day-to-day costs vary for each school district but the districts are similar in costs per pupil. Lake Fenton has the least expensive day-to-day costs at $99,271 per day, followed by Linden at $141,899. Holly has the most expensive day-to-day costs at $192,999 per day at $56 per student. Educating students at Fenton, Lake Fenton and Linden costs $48 a day (see sidebar for a complete breakdown).

Other schools around Michigan are far more costly to run each day. Utica Community Schools has $269,065,337 in expenditures this year and costs $1,520,143 to operate for one day. Costs per student come to $51 for the 29,519 overall student population. Ann Arbor Public Schools has $198,431,328 in expenditures, costing $1,081,532 to run for one day and $64 per student. In neighboring Grand Blanc schools, to operate one school day is $414,937 at $48 per student amongst 8,522 students overall.

Districts with more expenditures and more students doesn't necessarily mean that more money is spent per student. Los Angeles United School District is the second largest school district in the nation, having 640,000 students in the 2007/2008 school year. The district had $610,850,000 in expenditures, costing $3,451,129 a day. The cost for one student to attend school was about $5.

While teens and children viewing this content couldn't be directly studied, Rosaen said adult studies can act as a guide.

Most parents would expect to read an article reporting that all pornography, by its very nature, is unhealthy. Rosaen believes it's not that simple. "It's more nuanced than that," she said. And let's be real, here. "We know that people look at porn. Some of these parents are even looking at it. It's not as simple as 'it's all bad."

What she means is, there are different types of pornography, and it affects people differently. 4 People will Some of those differences dabble, they will may surprise you. Defining explicit 'Porn'

For studies, Rosaen said explicit porn (not regular TV content) can be separated into two genres: consensual, non-violent, and then violent, non-consensual.

Negative effects Watching consensual, non-violent porn reportedly leads to reduced satisfaction in the viewers' own relationships. She said this kind of porn can put expectations out of whack. "We start to think that's like reality perhaps, and when it's not, we're not satisfied."

Rosaen has two young children herself, and this is the core reason why she would try to keep her daughters away from pornography as long as she could. But then there's the risk of turning the material into "forbidden fruit."

"You have to teach them how to understand the material, more than just taking them away from the material," she said. Even if it's not allowed at home, that doesn't stop them from seeing it somewhere else.

Regarding violent, non-consensual porn, studies have shown that viewing it can make many numb to violence.

The study consisted of regular adults watching this darker genre of porn, and then surveying them before and after the week-long experiment. They found that afterward, they didn't view sexual crimes as negatively as they did before the study. They had less empathy for the victims, who were usually women. This doesn't mean that average people would be more prone to commit rape, but the content definitely has the biggest impact on convicted rapists. "There's definitely a relationship between personality and interest in the content," she said.

Rosaen also sums up the effects of these genres this way: "Loving and pleasant' erotica inhibits aggressions, erotic material with sexual violence and dehumanizing themes facilitates aggressions."

Although many believe that sex addiction among teenagers is a reality, there is very little professional data on whether the perception is true.

Sarah Rosaen

Perhaps the biggest effects of sex on the screen is what kids and teens cannot see. A 2005 study found that 70 percent of prime time network programming had at least one sexual act in them, said Rosaen.

Many of these instances were people talking about sex, not actual behaviors on-screen. "The problem is, both of them have an impact on viewers," she said. She believes this because TV viewing of sexual content by teens has actually been studied.

Talking about sex, according to Rosaen, leaves much to the imagination, and can lead to arousal, which can affect a teen's behavior after viewing, although without literal sex happening on the screen, imitation is less likely.

In 2005, the Rand Corporation, a California non-profit group, studied the effect of this content on teens. As it turns out, teens who watched the most TV were most likely to have sex for the first time a year after they were surveyed for the first time.

So what can parents do? Again, Rosaen said restricting certain media is a good idea, but "don't be too militant about it," she said. They know how to get to it, and it's better to encourage children and teens to focus on friendships, instead.

fungus called Pseudogymnoascus destructans (Pd) and has killed more than 5.7 million bats in Eastern North America. WNS so far has not had an impact on the health of humans.

O'Brien said the fungus has been spotted in many states east of the Mississippi River and is believed to exist in some areas out west. Some caves and other habitats for bats have seen a decrease in population by 90 percent.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) estimates bats save agricultural workers more than $50 billion a year in pesticide costs. Outside of controlling insect populations, bats help pollinate grains, flowers and agricultural plants. The U.S. Bureau of Land Management reports certain trees like the great baobab tree in east Africa rely exclusively on pollination from bats and without them, entire ecosys-A lot of tems would die out.

Since folklore depicts bats as bloodsucking, diseased creatures of the night, O'Brien said some people have unwarranted fears of bats. The DNR is working to reverse some stereotypes of bats by educating people through bat conservations and events like The Great Lakes Bat Festival on Sept. 27 near Ann Arbor.

'We're educating people on the economic value of bats and to stay away from areas where bats hibernate,' O'Brien said. The DNR is hoping to get areas like abandoned mine shafts and caves walled away from humans, who the sometimes comforting, pounding rains against our windows, a jolt of lightning followed by thunder can sometimes be as scary to us now as when we were kids.

Lightning is produced in thunderstorms when liquid and ice particles above the freezing level collide, and build up large electrical fields in the clouds. Once these fields become large enough, a giant "spark" occurs between them (or between them and the ground) like static electricity, reducing the charge separation.

As long as a thunderstorm continues to produce lightning, you know the storm still has active updrafts and is still producing precipitation. The temperature inside a lightning bolt can reach 50,000 degrees F., hotter than the sun.

Did you know that thunder is actually caused by lightning? When a lightning bolt travels from the cloud to the ground, it actually opens up a channel in the air. When the light is gone, the air collapses back in and creates a sound wave that we hear as thunder. We see lightning before we hear thunder because light travels faster than sound.

How to help bats

• Stay away from areas where bats hibernate.

 Avoid disturbing bats from hibernation.

· Report any unusual bat behavior to state authorities such as bats flying during the day or not hibernating between September and April.

· Build bat homes.

could potentially spread WNS. "The more human traffic there is from people visiting during hibernation, the more likely bats will die." For those looking to welcome bats near their homes, O'Brien said people can install bat houses where the mammals can roost and work as natural insect deterrents. O'Brien warns that and educated bat houses should be placed away from homes and where pets roam, as a low percentage of bats may have rabies. In cases of bats that invade homes, O'Brien recommends calling professionals for removal.

"We don't want people handling dead bats. Nuisance wildlife contractors can eliminate bats from the house in a nonlethal way."

How far away is the storm?

You can use thunder to tell how far away a storm is. The next time there is a storm, count the number of seconds between when you see the lightning and hear the thunder. Divide the number of seconds by five and that will tell how far away the storm is in miles.

What about rainbows?

You can't have a rainbow without rain. Rainbows appear when raindrops reflect sunlight, breaking white sunlight into colors. As light enters a water droplet, the different wavelength colors bend at slightly separate angles. Some of this light reflects off the back of the droplet and is bent a second time as the droplet emerges from the light beam. Drops at different angles send distinctively different colors to the eye.

To see a rainbow, an observer must have his or her back to the sun, and rain must be falling in some part of the sky.

No two observers will ever witness exactly the same rainbow, because each will view a different set of drops at a slightly different angle. Plus, each color seen is from different raindrops.

Limb Loss Education Day to come to Hurley Medical Center in Flint on May 3 Limb Loss Education Day (LLED), a full day of education and recreation for those with limb loss, will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on May 3 at Hurley Medical Center in Flint. Sponsored by the Amputee Coalition, a national nonprofit serving those with limb loss, the goal of the 2014 regional events is to bring the organization's programs and services to the community. The cost is $15 for the day and is free for children 10 and under. The LLED will include educational seminars, interaction between support groups, healthcare providers, and the limb loss community at large. The Amputee Coalition is collaborating with the Orthotic & Prosthetic Activities Foundation (OPAF) to present "First Swing," designed to teach and encourage the disabled to learn, or re-learn, the game of golf. Preregister for the event by April 28. For more information about limb loss, please call 888/267-5669 or visit the Amputee Coalition website at amputee-coalition.org.

WHAT CAN I DO FOR RED ITCHY EYES?

Eyes that become irritated, red, and predominantly itchy are usually suffering from allergic conjunctivitis. The conjunctiva is the clear membrane over the white part of the eye or sclera. Mildly red itchy eye may be helped with just using cold compresses and/or over the counter products such as Visine or Vasocon-A.

If these do not relieve the symptoms, it is best to see an optometrist. When I see a patient with a red eye, I first take a case history, this will often tell us what is causing the red eye. Then I examine the eyes with a slit lamp. A slit lamp is like a microscope to examine the eyes. This instrument enables me to determine if a red eye is from infection, such as bacterial, viral, toxic, or allergic.

Spring and the fall seasons are the most common for allergy. There are very effective allergy eye drops your optometrist can prescribe that are usually much more effective than the over the counter drops.

So, the next time you get a red irritated eye, call for an appointment and we will find the cause and prescribe the appropriate drops to clear the redness and make you more comfortable.

OWI AND DISORDERLY

At 2:35 a.m. on Saturday, April 19 a Fenton police officer pulled over a vehicle after observing it weave onto the shoulder of northbound U.S. 23, near the Torrey Road exit. When making contact with the driver, a 23-year-old Fenton woman, the officer detected the odor of alcohol. She was arrested for OWI. During her arrest, her passenger, a 24-year-old Fenton Township man, began yelling at the officer. The passenger was then arrested for resisting a police officer and disorderly conduct. The man tried to open the patrol car door for the woman. Both were taken to the police station for processing. While at the Fenton police station, the man behaved irrationally and became agitated, prompting Fenton police to transport and lodge him at the Flint City Jail.

HOLLY MAN'S DRIVING GETS HIM ARRESTED

A 22-year-old Holly man was arrested for driving with a suspended license at 6:30 p.m. on April 21. He was also turned over to Milford police on two outstanding arrest warrants. A Holly police officer observed the man, driving a Dodge Durango, spinning the tires and swerving near another vehicle. During the traffic stop, the man told the officer that the driver of the other vehicle was his stepbrother and that he was just messing around. He was arrested, processed at the police station and released to Milford police.

FIVE TEENS IN CAMARO ARRESTED FOR DRINKING

At 2:50 a.m. on April 20, Fenton police pulled over a 2002 Chevy Camaro for disobeying a traffic light near Shiawassee and Adelaide. In addition to the 18-year-old Fenton male driving the car, he had four male passengers from Fenton, Holly, Grand Blanc and Clarkston. All were arrested for Under 21 Consumption and the Clarkston teen was taken into custody on an outstanding arrest warrant. The driver was also ticketed for possession of marijuana. The teens were held at the police station and released with a May 19 court date for their particular charges.

HOLLY MAN ARRESTED FOR OWI

At about 4 p.m. on April 18, a Holly police officer pulled over a black Ford Ranger after observing it weaving on North Saginaw and switching lanes abruptly. When approaching the vehicle, the officer detected the odor of intoxicants and recognized the 49-year-old Holly man from past OWI incidents. The man told the officer he drank four beers at a friend's home. He also said his driver's license had been suspended and he was not to be drinking. A preliminary breath test revealed a blood alcohol content of .18 percent. He was arrested and lodged at the Oakland County Jail until sober. The man had four prior convictions for alcohol related offenses. Pending the blood test results, a warrant will be requested for OWI-third offense, marijuana possession and driving with a suspended license.

OWI IN LINDEN

At 10 p.m. on April 19, a Linden police officer was conducting radar patrol when he spotted a 2007 Cadillac Escalade stop in the middle of road on eastbound West Broad Street. The vehicle stalled but the driver soon got it started again. The officer initiated a traffic stop to investigate. Upon contact with the driver, a 25-year-old Linden area man, the officer detected a strong odor of alcohol. The driver was found to be over the legal limit and was arrested for OWI. The vehicle was impounded and the driver was lodged at the county jail. His four passengers were released.

CAST IRON BENCHES STOLEN

On April 21, the owner of Villagers Plaza on North Saginaw reported to Holly police that two black cast iron benches that sit in front of a couple of the units were missing. The benches are heavy, but movable and have been there for 10 years. Each is valued at $150. Police have no suspects yet.

DISORDERLY INTOXICATION

At 4:30 p.m. on April 24, a Fenton detective saw a man, later identified as a 32-year-old Fenton resident, walking down the middle of North LeRoy Street with no regard to traffic. Another police officer was en route to the area as the man walked into a gas station. When the man exited the store, he walked back into the roadway, right in front of the patrol car. While speaking with the man, police determined he was highly intoxicated and was endangering himself and motorists. He was arrested for disorderly intoxication and taken to the police station.

POT FOUND IN MAN'S DISABLED CAR

At 11:40 p.m. on April 23, Fenton police responded to a church parking lot on South LeRoy Street when a caller said a suspicious vehicle had been parked in the lot for about 20 minutes. Police made contact with the driver, a 34-year-old Novi man, who said he had been parked there due to car problems. A rear tire had fallen off the rim because of it being flat. There was no registration plate on the car either. The driver appeared confused and intoxicated. A search of his car produced a gram of marijuana. He was arrested and taken to the police station for processing.

DRINKING AND DRIVING

At 1:40 a.m. on April 20, Fenton police initiated a traffic stop on a vehicle near Silver Parkway and Jennings Road, driven by a 31-year-old Fenton on an equipment violation and for weaving in the road lane. The man was arrested for OWI and lodged until sober.

suddenly, a transaction is made in Washington. It may either be declined or placed on a 'warn status' for your protection and to assure any loss is limited."

What that means for you as a customer is that you need to let your bank know when you plan to use your card out of town, so it won't be declined when out of its normal range of usage.

Yourrisk of loss is also being protected by the daily limit placed on your debit account by the bank. At The State Bank, that limit is usually $1,000, so any purchases higher than $1,000 will be declined, unless a prior arrangement has been made with the bank to raise your daily limit for that specific purchase. After the transaction, the daily limit reverts to $1,000.

"It's for your protection, so that no one else can get a hold of your card, even with your PIN and charge more than that amount," said Pingatore.

She adds that there is so much fraud protection on cards backed by major issuers like Visa and MasterCard that customers can feel comfortable using their debit card in most circumstances, where either card is taken. "Just make sure it's a signed purchase, for the most protection," said Pingatore."

Pingatore has been in the banking business since 1975 and said she uses her debit card for convenience most of the time. "As long as you're using a card with a Visa logo on it, you're under the same protection, the Visa Zero Liability Policy, as a credit card," she said.

The only exceptions she sees is when she is using a card for a hotel stay or a rental car, both of which apply holds on a debit card, which can make it difficult to use your card for other purchases while on vacation.

"These are appropriate uses for a credit card," she said. "Rental car businesses and hotels will hold funds until the actual charge takes place and it may take several days for that hold to be removed."

Depending on your own bank's practices, it may be wise to use credit cards when making online transactions, so that you're not liable for unauthorized purchases, or when traveling abroad. However, some sources say that a debit card and ATM is the best way to get money out of a foreign country, with a wholesale rate of currency exchange.

Four FHS seniors named top student journalists

Students who represent the state's top journalists among scholastic media outlets were recently honored at Michigan Interscholastic Press Association's (MIPA) Spring Awards and On-Site Contests in Lansing. Work of graduating seniors is judged by a committee of student media advisers. Of the 15 high school seniors selected for this recognition, four of them are seniors at Fenton High School, including Corinne Beemer, Monica Bradburn, Elizabeth Cowger and

Alexandra Howell. "These 15 seniors not only are outstanding students academically, they are engaged in their schools and their communities," said Jeremy Steele, executive director of MIPA and a faculty member in the Michigan State University School of Journalism. "They serve as further evidence of the potential for student-led journalism to help schools meet academic standards requiring the practical application of writing skills, strong research skills, real-world use of technology and civic engagement."

▶ Students compete in consumer literacy competition in Orlando this weekend

Fenton High School will represent Michigan at an annual national high school consumer literacy championship this weekend. The team from Fenton High School beat out all other teams and captured the Michigan LifeSmarts Championship by successfully fielding questions about real-life marketplace issues at Oakland University in February.

The Fenton High School students heading to Orlando are Jacob Goodman, Alex Garant, Chris Kaniewski, Ross Person, and William Glozier.

LifeSmarts, a consumer education competition that challenges teens in grades 9-12 about personal finance, health and safety, the environment, technology, and consumer rights and responsibilities, is a program of the National Consumers League, the nation's pioneering consumer advocacy group, headquartered in Washington, DC.

"LifeSmarts participants win by learning to avoid common consumer pitfalls, navigate the government, and understand credit card jargon before they have to sign on the dotted line," said Sally Greenberg, executive director of the National Consumers League. "We're proud to have Fenton High School represent Michigan at the 2014 National LifeSmarts Championship in Orlando and wish them the best of luck!"

While in Orlando, state champion teams will have the chance to compete for the national title, as well as individual awards in LifeSmarts topic areas. Winners will win prizes and scholarship money. The final day of competition will be streamed live online at www.lifesmarts.org, the program's new Web site.

Caponigro started a running group for North Road Elementary teachers on March 1, inspired by NBC's TODAY show's "30 Days to a Better You Challenge for America." She emailed her story to TODAY about the running group and producer Samantha Wender contacted her with interest. Wender and a TODAY show filming crew visited the school on March 19, taking footage of the running group. Caponigro then flew to New York for a live appearance on the program, which aired Saturday, March 29.

Her husband, Mike Caponigro, an advertising rep for HOUR Media, LLC in Royal Oak, joined her for moral support and to make it a memorable, extended weekend. On the live segment, Caponigro teamed with TODAY show co-anchors Lester Holt and Erica Hill to participate in a fun, mini-obstacle course against three others who were chosen to partner with three other TODAY show personalities.

Kelly Godmar, 27, a second-grade teacher at North Road, is in Caponigro's running group.

"We hope that every day we inspire our students, but we forget that we inspire one another," she said. "Anne has helped inspire me to improve myself. By running together, she encourages me to push myself, but we also get some stress off our shoulders by just talking and solving the world's problems, one mile at a time." Caponigro involves her students by set-

"They say they want to be healthy 'like Mrs. Cap,'" she said. "At their Christmas party, they planned a healthy snack party with fruits, veggies, cheese and meat, instead of cake, cookies and other junk food."

What would Caponigro's father think of all this?

"He would be extremely proud," she said. In honor of her father, she plans to run in the inaugural Novi

Car enthusiasts transform rust buckets into showpieces axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792 Argentine Twp. — Spring and summer are prime seasons when Ray Frasier enjoys the fruits

WHY THE FANCY HATS?

Extravagant and decorative hats are a fashion tradition for Derbygoers. It's a fun and festive way to celebrate spring, keep the sun out of your eyes and look gorgeous. Traditionally, women wore the lavish hats, but more recently, men have gotten in on the fun, too. The hats are also thought to be good luck, and every bit of luck counts when you are at the track.

POPULAR MEN'S HAT AT THE RACE TRACK

Each year, 20 horses compete in "The Most Exciting Two Minutes in Sports." Despite all the festivities surrounding Derby, the race itself usually takes just over two minutes. Secretariat, the racehorse holding the Kentucky Derby record, ran it in 1:59.

That was in 1973. The track was really muddy for the 1908 Derby, which slowed the horses down. That year, Stone Street won Derby with a time of 2:15. That's right, the span between the fastest and slowest winning Derby times is a mere 16 seconds. The race distance of the Kentucky Derby is 1.25 miles.

WHAT IS THE SONG EVERYONE SINGS WHEN THE HORSES ARE LED TO THE STARTING GATES?

"My Old Kentucky Home," written by Stephen Foster in 1853, was established as the state song of Kentucky in 1928. The song is played by the University of Louisville Marching Band each Derby Day. Everyone sings along, from the crowds of Churchill Downs to revelers at Derby parties around town.

WHO TAKES THE KENTUCKY DERBY TROPHY HOME?

The Derby trophy goes to the owner of the winning horse. Weighing 56 ounces, or three and a half pounds, the trophy is 22 inches tall, including its jade base. Most of it is made of 14-karat gold with the adorning horseshoe, horse and jockey fashioned from 18-karat gold. It is allegedly the only trophy for an American sporting event made of solid gold.

WHAT IS MILLIONAIRE'S ROW?

Millionaire's Row is composed of two seating areas, Millionaire Six and Millionaire Four. Rich and famous visitors are seen on each floor, taking in the Kentucky

Derby. With a balcony view of the finish line, along with tables, food service, a full bar and many other amenities, it is the choice seating area for celebrities and heads of state. Past guests have included Queen

Bush (both Sr. and Jr.) and Donald Trump.

Elizabeth II, Michael Jordan, Jack Nicholson, George

IS DERBY ALWAYS HELD ON HOT DAYS?

The Kentucky Derby takes place the first Saturday in May, whatever the weather may be. It is usually summery and pleasant but, of course, there have been exceptions. In 1959 the temperature was a balmy 94 degrees and in 1940 it was a chilly 36 degrees.

HOW MUCH ALCOHOL IS CONSUMED AT DERBY?

In 2012, over Derby weekend (meaning the race days of Kentucky Derby and Kentucky Oaks combined), Churchill Downs sold approximately 120,000 Mint Juleps and around 425,000 cans of beer. That is a lot of drinks.

WHAT'S IN A MINT JULEP?

- » 2 Cups sugar
- 2 Cups water
- Sprigs of fresh mint
- Crushed ice
- Kentucky bourbon
- Silver Julep cups

Early spring is the best time to find white-tailed deer antler sheds

By Amy Mayhew

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

I have to say, the kid and her dad were pretty excited this last Saturday evening after coming back from a walk in the woods near our place in Canadian Lakes. With a large population of deer and relatively newly melted snow, the two of them had gone out looking for sheds - or that is, the recently discarded antlers of white-tailed deer.

Having never had much luck before, I wasn't prepared for what they would bring back — a long single tine once belonging to a formidable spike, and one side of a rack once belonging to a large 8-point.

While my husband claimed the spike shed, my daughter had the pleasure of finding the larger one. After nearly a half hour of looking for their mates, they gave up and came back to the house.

Every year, the male whitetailed deer takes two or three weeks in January or February to shed his antlers. Unlike the hollow horns belonging to cattle, deer antlers are made of solid, honeycombed bone tissue. From the pedicles, or that is the skin-covered nubs or "buttons" protruding from the young buck's skull, sprout antlers. Each year, the antlers separate from the pedicles, eventually to be replaced by new antler growth throughout the course of the summer and into early fall.

During growth, the antlers are covered with a sensitive skin commonly called "velvet." The "velvet" is actually very important, as it's filled with blood vessels that feed the antlers

The antlers will grow for 2-4 months or so, depending on the buck. After a while, a hardened ring or "burr" will form at the base of each antler, cutting off the flow of blood. While the velvet dries up and begins to fall off on its own, bucks hasten the process by rubbing their antlers on trees the vitamins and minerals necessary for building a nice, healthy rack.

I don't know what they plan to do with their finds, but oh, the things you can make with deer antlers — candle stick holders, book ends, chandeliers, wind chimes, wine racks — the list is endless. And did I mention that outdoor décor isn't my bag? Thank goodness they only found two — I think my walls are safe for another year.

If you're a golfer, you've likely already signed up to play in one of the area's most popular golf events of the year, the Fenton Regional Chamber's "More Than Just Golf" scramble.

Set for Friday, May 30 at Coyote Preserve Golf Club, this annual golf outing is more than just a fundraiser for the Chamber, it's also a full day of fun for the 144 participating golfers. "It's a tradition of more than 20 years," said Shelly Day, the Chamber's executive director. "It's a sellout every year."

What makes this scramble unique is that it changes location every year so that Chamber member golf courses each have an opportunity to host the event. Handling details this year as Event Chairman is Mike Scully.

The all-inclusive golf package includes 18 holes of golf with cart See GOLF on 8B

Opportunities? They are all around us. There is power lying latent everywhere waiting for the observant eye to discover it. — Orison Sweet Marden

One of the many opportunities the Fenton Regional Chamber of Commerce offers is educational and training workshops. In order to give members more opportunity to attend and/or host their own training or meeting sessions, the Chamber Board searched out a new home and considered meeting space as one of the top priorities.

Recently several small successful workshops have been hosted in the Chamber's Boardroom. Subjects such as 'How to use Constant Contact,' 'Build Your Marketing Tool Kit' and 'iPhone training' were presented by our members Nicole Arnold, owner of Little Cottage Services and Chelsea Mills, owner of Behind Your Design and Freeze Frame Photo Lounge.

A maximum of 10 members per training is all our current Boardroom will hold comfortably, allowing for a more personable and interactive training session. Cindy Stroebel, of MLive Media, has been hosting free off-site Lunch and Learns for our Chamber members at the Fenton Community Center. This opportunity allowed for a larger audience and more room to be able to host a luncheon. So far her titled presentations have been, 'The Changing Media Landscape,' 'Using Social Media to Delight Customers,' and 'Getting Found by Search Engines.' She will host one more before the summer break on May 28 titled 'Building Brand Awareness Online.'

Lunch and Learns will resume in September.

One of the first projects in the new building will be to remodel one or more of the rooms and create a meeting space for 30 plus with up to date technology. Our Chamber Board, staff and volunteers continue to work toward enhancing opportunities that promote economic and community growth!

www.tcti From the Chairman By Keith Green

When writing the Chairman's message for the spring edition of the Chamber Journal we are supposed to be welcoming the budding tees, blooming flowers and greening grass. While the calendar says spring has arrived, most of us are still feeling the effects of a long, arduous, bitter cold winter. Warmer days and blue skies of spring will bring more people outside, more home projects to be completed, more children playing and more traffic to local businesses.

While winter tries to linger, it has not stopped the progress of your Regional Chamber of Commerce. The FRCC succeeded in delivering another outstanding Community Expo at the Fenton High School. This continues to be a wonderful event for local businesses looking to increase exposure and the community seeking out the services delivered by our local businesses. We are looking forward to two of our most enjoyed events with the Golf Outing May 30, and Taste in Fenton happening Thursday, Aug. 7.

Your Fenton Regional Chamber of Commerce motto is 'Building Business. Building Community.' Nowhere is this more evident than in our efforts led by Ed Koledo with the Grow Linden campaign. Grow Linden is an effort led by the Chamber, civic leaders and business professionals to unite and promote our local region.

Our most successful achievement this year has been the conclusion of our efforts to find a new Chamber home. We have officially closed on the Leroy Johnson building located at 104 South Adelaide St. We are expecting to be operational at our new facility by June 1. This has been a long time in the making for the Chamber and we are extremely grateful to the Johnson family for making this move possible. Our 1- to 3-year strategic plan outlines services that this new building will allow us to facilitate. We are looking forward to all members and non-members coming to see our new facility.

Planning already underway for parade and other favorite events of the Freedom Festival

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-82282

It was a unanimous decision when two special names nominated as 2014 Fenton Freedom Festival Grand Marshals were brought to the attention of the Festival Committee in January.

Fr. David Harvey, retired senior pastor at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church in Fenton and Pastor Dale Swihart, retired pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Fenton, both will serve as Grand Marshals in the Friday, July 4 Grand Parade of the Fenton Freedom Festival.

"These two men have not only been active in their respective churches, but also in the community as a whole," said Pat Lockwood, chair of the festival committee.

The committee has been meeting every month since January, finalizing plans for the 2014 Fenton Freedom Festival. New this year will be patriotic music set to the fireworks at 10 p.m. on July 4, by a local DJ who will work with Zambelli Fireworks. "He'll be offering his services at no charge," said Lockwood. "He's a Fenton man who wants to give back to his community."

Festival fun actually begins a week ahead of the July 4 date, when members of Zonta crown the Festival Queen on Thursday, June 26 at the Concert in the Park at 6:30 p.m.

Then, just one day ahead of the main festivities, the Silver Lake Ski Show kicks off the festival with a special Freedom Festival Show at Silver Lake Park. On the same evening, the Grand Marshals are honored at an Adult Reception at 8 p.m. at the Fenton Hotel.

On festival day July 4, all the civic groups in the area really go into highgear, offering their best in community service so that special events for families can take place.

The drawing will take place at the close of the Taste in Fenton event on Saturday, Aug. 7, which runs from 12 to 8 p.m.

You can run off those calories in The Freedom Center's 5K Walk/Run, behind the World of Wonder Ellen Street Campus, stepping out at 9:15 a.m. Get in line quickly for one of the largest parades in Genesee County at 10 a.m., enjoying floats, music, marchers, etc. Arts and crafts, the Fenton Lions > Chicken Barbecue, and the popular Rubber Ducky Race by the Fenton Rotarians will draw hundreds to the Millpond at 12:30 p.m.

Kids' Games sponsored by the Fenton Kiwanis, are all part of the afternoon's fun, with inflatables provided by The Freedom Center. "Most of the action wraps up by about 3:30, so families can have dinner and get back into town for the evening fireworks," said Lockwood.

Not only does the Freedom Festival draw the clubs and groups out in earnest, but also city officials, police and firemen, all working together for the good of the community. "It goes way beyond just our small committee," said Lockwood. "It's a total community event."

Special tribute to Action Water Sports on being named the number one MasterCraft Dealer in the Country. Let it be known that it is with deep appreciation for all of the work, commitment, and planning this occasion represents that we congratulate Action Water Sports of Fenton, Hudsonville, Traverse City, and West Bloomfield on being named the number one MasterCraft Dealer in the Country. As members of the community and the people behind this enterprise gather to celebrate, we are proud to add our voice in commending everyone who has worked to make this day possible.

As Michiganders, we love our lakes and boats. Action Water Sports offers the thrill of boating all throughout the state of Michigan. Action Water Sports is here today because of their knowledgeable staff and quality inventory. We wish the best of luck to the owners, management, and staff of Action Water Sports now and in the future.

In special tribute, we commemorate Action Water Sports in Fenton, Hudsonville, Traverse City, West Bloomfield on being named the #1 MasterCraft dealer in the country. May the future bring great success and satisfaction.

upgrade of efficiency and space. The Chamber is pleased to honor longtime businessman and active community booster Leroy Johnson and his wife, Kay. "The purchase price they offered us was very generous," said Day. "They are very excited to have the Chamber housed in their former business location.

The Chamber will be moving from 114 North LeRoy St., where they are tight on space with 1,377 square feet, to their new building boasting more than 5,000 square feet. "It will give us much more room for meetings, training sessions and workshops that we'll be able to hold on-site," said Day.

She added that the Ambassadors are excited to have enough room to convene comfortably in the new space, as well as the Chamber's Board of Directors, which always had to meet off-site because of space constraints. The larger meeting areas will also be made available to Chamber members for business use.

Storage is another huge benefit of this larger space. "Linda Hathaway of Brad Hoffman Insurance has been so generous in letting us store quite a bit of our supplies in their business basement," said Day. "Now we'll have all of our stored items under one roof."

Watch for a Grand Opening Reception at a later date.

ARTWALK

David Tokarsky HEAD GOLF PROFESSIONAL Saginaw Country Club

David Tokarsky competed at National Golf Championships while attending Saginaw Valley State University from 1995 to 2000. Named GLIAC Player of the Year in 2000, he also received an honorable mention from the NCAA All-American. In 2006, Tokarsky was elected a Class A PGA Member.

He joined the Saginaw Country Club in 2008 as the Head Golf Professional, one of the few head professionals under the age of 40.

He has developed six new golf events for the Club, including the Great Lakes Bay Charity Pro-Am. This annual event brings top golf professionals to our region while raising money for area non-profit organizations.

The Rally for the Cure event raised more than $11,000 for breast cancer research. In June 2013, he qualified and played in the PGA Professional National Championship. During that event, he participated in a Pepsi commercial where the Saginaw Country Club was mentioned.

Tokarsky is a Fenton High School graduate. He participated as a table facilitator in the Fenton Regional Chamber's 2013 Boys & Business program.

I am personally excited for the Chamber to have a permanent home and believe that it will allow them to better serve area business. From what I understand, the new facility is considerably larger than the existing space, allowing for more comfortable on site meetings, training, networking, and Board, Ambassador and Committee meetings. The facility will allow the Chamber to grow its staff if needed, as its membership grows as well. Most importantly, it says the Chamber is 'here to stay' and will continue to provide the services valued by its members in the years to come.

> — Ron Justice, president of The State Bank

The Chamber continues to reach its goals through strategic planning of its leadership and the dedication of the membership. Congratulations on accomplishing the long-time goal of owning our own office building and what a wonderful building and location it is!

 Linda Hathaway, Brad Hoffman InsuranceAgency

A Chamber of Commerce gives strength to a community primarily from a business perspective but also from a citizen perspective; giving information about a city, their services and events taking place in the community. A Chamber of Commerce helps city government and creates a forum for problemsolving and settling disputes. Our chamber has succeeded in this role for generations and has continued to grow and mature in this role. Purchasing a building in town is a testament and natural next step in this growth and maturity solidifying that the chamber will carry on in this role for generations to come. Kudos to President Shelly Day and the current Board of Directors for this important move. 77

Meet Madison Dagenais

- Times delivery personFenton High School
- Fenton High School sophomore
- Dancer

By Tim Jagielo tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Madison Dagenais, 16, is about to hit the road in her first car — a 2000 Dodge Caravan, which she chose over a Mustang. "When I first start out, I don't want to be driving a sports car," she said. Dagenais has been dancing since age 3 and delivering papers for the Tri-County Times since she was 11.

What does a newspaper route entail?

I walk to every house and deliver to every door. We get in the car and drive to the next route when we're done. I wake up and I bag all the newspapers, and I get the amount that I need in my carrier bag. My first route is right here, so I walk out the door and I walk to each front door to deliver about 75 in the neighborhood.

What are your other routes?

I have one around here, I have one downtown, I have one over by Park Street, and there's one by Cliffview condos, one by Grant Street and Whisperwood condos is the last one. It's around 700 papers.

When do you have to get up?

I've been waking up earlier, 7:30 or 8, because I've had things to do in the afternoon. But we've been getting 23 stacks of newspaper, and I have to bag each of them.

Is this your first paid job?

Yes. It's actually pretty nice because it's only one day a week and the pay is pretty good, and it doesn't take up the whole week, it only takes a couple hours. And you delivered through this winter as well — how did that work? I had to wear a lot of winter gear and I

I had to wear a lot of winter gear and I just had to walk around all the snowbanks and hoped that people shoveled them, because it was the worst winter ever. Why do you have a job?

I like to spend a lot of money and I like to buy a lot of things, so I like to have my own money to pay for things, like clothes and food. Two of my friends

Do you know what you want to do for college, or a career?

I've thought about being a nurse or a teacher, but I'm not sure. They pound us to figure it out and I'm like, 'I don't know.'

Why be a teacher or nurse? Because since I was little, when we would play, I would always play teacher with my friends and cousins,

Right now my biggest stresser is homework and getting everything done and in on time, and time management, and not being able to drive, having to rely on other people.

At your age do people care about newspapers?

Not really, it's all about social media. I feel like they look at the paper if they're going to be in it, or know someone that's going to be in it.

What issues do teens want to read about?

Stuff that affects them. Sports and driving, those are the main things, social media if there's an article about that.

As sweet as the rides are, the process of transforming a clunker into mean street machine isn't for the uncommitted. Frasier is involved in nearly every detail of the restoration, from assembling engines with original and kit pieces to hunting down the right upholstery.

"You gotta really love it, especially if you do body work. It's not easy," Frasier said.

That labor of love is one Curt Shumaker is well aware of. Has invested up to 2,000 hours into restoring certain cars. A sponsor of the Holly car shows in the summer, Shumaker said working on older cars has gotten slightly easier over the years due to more reproduction parts and catalogues dedicated to rare parts.

Restoring rare antique cars can be big business, as evident by 'Fast 'n Loud' host Richard Rawlings' discovering two prototype Firebirds recently. The New York Post reports Rawlings purchased two 1967 Firebirds for $65,000 and sold them for $650,000, after spending $400,000 in restoration.

For those looking to build a dream machine of their own, Shumaker said the biggest enemy people will face is rust. Rusted panels have to be removed and replaced by patch panels, requiring cutting and welding. To get the most knowledge for restorations, Shumaker recommends attending car shows and getting into the minds of other car enthusiasts.

"The best thing to do is just start going to car shows like in Holly," Shumaker said. "There isn't a car owner there that doesn't know something about restoring cars."

Beyond Wednesday nights in Holly, car shows in the tri-county area occur at Mega Coney Island in Fenton, The Fireplace in Fenton Township and special events like Tune-up for Back to the Bricks. This is where you'll most likely find Shumaker and Frasier this summer, cruising in wheels that grandparents remember from their childhood. "People are into older cars, it's like an antique," Shumaker said. "It's like going back into time. It's fun to work on older cars."

One day at a time

The letter I received from a man in Southwest Africa brightened my day. He's learned the value of starting each day thankful to be alive, choosing to enjoy the beauty of the morning rather than focus on fears about what may come his way before nightfall. In doing so, he's following the advice of Jesus who said we're to live one day at a time (Matthew 6:34).

Millions will spoil today fretting over tomorrow, even though most of their expected tragedies will never arrive. No one has enough information about the future to worry intelligently and encouraging encounters with positive people often appear in time to turn

River Downtown in Holly provides free formal wear to young women

Although they can close their eyes and imagine themselves in a beautiful evening gown, much like they see on TV and in movies, not every young woman can afford to do so

An organization in Holly is changing this and making it possible for eligible young women to select a gown at no charge.

Downtown Gowns is founded on the belief that providing formal wear is simply one way of demonstrating God's extraordinary love to some amazing young women. Downtown Gowns' experience provides far more than a gown for young women who might not otherwise afford to attend their formal event.

From the moment these young women walk through their doors they are greeted with an environment filled with grace, love and respect. Gowns are free of charge to all who qualify.

Need a Gown? Referrals of young women to the organization can only be made by a schoolteacher or counselor, pastor, community or social care agency. For more information please call Tamela Rigg at (248) 328-0490 ext 215 or complete online form at www.hisriver.net/ downtown.

We stood looking out a lobby window into the work area of a tire store; he was a junior in high school and I, an untold number of years his senior. He was watching workmen install tires on his red S-10 pickup while I waited for them to mount ones on my Sable. Seizing the opportunity to share something life changing with him, I simply said: 'Start every day thankful.'

I have no way of knowing what trials my S-10 acquaintance will face in the years ahead but when difficult days arrive, I hope he'll remember our encounter of encouragement. Moving from the window on tire trivia to a glass door showcasing a sunny day, I found myself standing beside a 30-something man wearing a frown.

'Great day!' I exclaimed, trying to brighten his mood.

'About time!' he growled. 'I'm the author of a book in which I open one of the chapters saying if you can rise each morning not being down about money or the weather you're on your way to a good day,' I told him.

'I'm down about both,' he replied.

'What year did you graduate from high school,' asked a fellow customer. And, to my surprise, when I gave my answer he burst into a series of hit songs from that era, attracting the attention of all in the station. But after the songs came a note of sadness, revealing a need of the singer for an encouraging word.

What was the score of the first game played in Detroit Tigers' history in Major League Baseball?

The Tigers overcame a 13-4 ninthinning deficit to beat the Milwaukee Brewers 14-13 at Bennett Park on April 25, 1901.

SPORTS NOTES

LF's Newman within three goals of breaking state career record

Apparently Jordan Newman wants to end the suspense quickly.

After scoring just two goals in the Blue Devils' first three games of the season, Newman scored 11 goals in two games this week, placing her just three goals away from breaking the Michigan state career record for most prep goals scored by a girls soccer player.

She scored five goals in a 10-0 victory against Mt. Morris on Thursday

Newman will get a chance to tie and break the record on Monday when the Blue Devils face Perry at Lake Fenton High School at 4:30 p.m.

Thursday's game ended at the half due to the mercy rule. Also scoring a goal each for Lake Fenton (3-0, 3-0-2) were Kaitlyn Begley, Miranda Quick, Kurstin Porritt, Ashlyn Skidmore, Mackenzie Kato. Porritt and Kato had two assists each, while Begley, Quick, Alexis Cash and Skidmore had one each.

Missy Eggleston and Emily Moore shared time in the net for the shutout.

The Fenton varsity girls track and field team continues to win. And the Tigers are doing it impressively. Fenton defeated Linden 89-48 and Lapeer West 124-12, earning a sweep at the meet held at Linden High School. Linden defeated West 122.5-14.5.

"We are starting to really come together and work hard," Fenton coach Todd Mills said. "You never know when injuries are going to happen, and we just happen to catch Linden with a few girls hurting a little. I'm sure they will bounce back stonger than ever."

The Tigers took home 15 of the 17 overall first-place finishes at the meet with Ellen Sage leading the way with three individual firsts and a relay first. Sage won the 200 (27.60), the 400 (1:03.93) and the high jump (5-2), individually. Meanwhile, she teamed TRI-COUNTY TIMES

Any time he takes to the mound it seems a no-hitter is possible.

Castiglione tossed his second no-no of the season on Thursday, striking out 12 and walking four in a six-inning no-hitter against Brandon. The Tigers won that first game of the twinbill 10-0, but lost the second 8-2.

"He's a good fastball pitcher, but his curveball is unbelievable, and he had it going today," Fenton coach Shawn Lawrence said.

The Tigers blew the game open in the fourth with seven runs on just four hits. Justin Norris, Zach Kostka, Chase Cosselman and Castiglione each had RBI-singles during that stanza. Fenton led 8-0. RBI-singles by John Leaske and Landon Mikulenas in the sixth ended the game via the mercy rule.

Holly's track program sweeps past Creek, Clio

By David Troppens dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Holly — The Holly varsity boys track team remained perfect in the Metro League, while the Lady Bronchos earned their first two conference victories at Holly High School on Wednesday. The Holly boys cruised, defeating Clio 98-38 and Swartz Creek 92-44 in the squad's two duals. Meanwhile, the girls bouned back from two tight losses last week to defeat Clio 97-39 and Swartz Creek 93-44.

The Holly boys won 10 overall firsts at the event, with five different participants winning six individual events. The only Holly athlete to capture individual No. 1s was Javon Barr in the 100 (11.29) and in the 200 (22.90).

The single individual winners were Tre Flores in the pole vault (11-6), Javon Barr in the 100 (11.20), Dilon Lemond in the 1,600 (4:35.0), Matt Porter in the 300 hurdles (42.30) and Kurtis Cooley in the 800 run (2:05.00).

The Bronchos also won all four relays. Holly captured the top spot in the 3,200 relay (8:42.00), in the 800 relay (1:34.00) and in the 1,600 relay (3:34.00).

The Holly girls won all but four events against Clio and Creek. No one had a bigger day than Holly's Maddie Gross. Gross won the pole vault (9-0), the long jump (15-3 3/4), the 100 (13.50) and the 200 (28.80).

Allyssa Copley broke her own school record by tossing the shot put 39-8. She also won the discus (98-10). Others who earned an individual firsts for Holly were Emily Tschirhart in the

Linden baseball sweeps Kearsley

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

The Linden varsity baseball team wants to compete for a Metro League title this season.

So far, they have played the part of a potential league champion.

Linden remained undefeated in league play by sweeping Kearsley 11-2 and 2-1 on Thursday night.

In the second game, Marshael Ryan tossed a two-hitter, striking out three and walking none in a six-inning contest. The Eagles got just enough offense in the contest, getting three hits from Brady Sarkon and two from Adam Tatara. Jake Marshall and Hunter Luchenbill scored runs.

In the opening game, the bats were strong as Linden scored seven runs in the first inning.

Marshall led the offense with three hits, while Austin Buerkel, Sarkon, Cameron Cook and Travis Rinks each had two hits. Marshall scored three runs, while Buerkel, Sarkon, Cook and Rinks scored twice. Marshall had three RBI, while Buerkel had two.

On the mound, Buerkel tossed the first four innings, giving up three hits and one earned run, while striking out two.

Tim Sines relieved, allowing just one hit in three innings of work.

Linden travels to Brandon for a Metro League twinbill on Monday, starting at 4 p.m.

PREP REPORT

BASEBALL

Fenton 10, Country Day 7: The Tigers trailed most of the game, but scored three runs in the fifth and three more in the bottom of the sixth to capture the victory.

In the fifth, consecutive doubles by Justin Norris, Zack Kostka, Chase Cosselman and Mac Hamilton set up the three-run inning. In the sixth, the Tigers used four hits, an error and a sacrifice fly to capture the win. Norris led the Tigers' offense with three hits, while Kostka, Cosselman and Casey McLaughlin-Smith had two hits each. Max Barker was the final of three hurlers and got the win, tossing the final two innings. TENNIS

► Fenton 7, Lapeer West 1: The Tigers won all four singles flights, easily winning the Metro match. Madison Ballard (No. 1), Sydney Phipps (No. 2), Josie Foguth (No. 3) and Corinne Beemer (No. 4) all won their matches in straight sets. Ballard won her match 6-0, 6-Ō.

In doubles action, three flights won their matches in straight sets. They were Ashley Beemer and Hannah Horton (No. 1), Sylee Kiran and Abby Rachor (No. 2), Katie Kurncz and Kendra Praedel (No. 3).

BOYS GOLF

Fenton 165, Clio 194: The Tigers were paced by match medalist John Lloyd, who shot a 39 at the Coyote Preserve. Max Martin carded a 40, while Anthony Flannery and Jack Berry had 43s.

Fenton won the JV match 189-249. Nick Campbell shot a 43.

Linden 163, Lapeer West 171: Tyler Ziccardi captured medalist honors at Spring Meadows with a 39. Zack Sutika and Dylan Elmer carded 41s, while Alec Bond had a 42. GIRLS SOCCER

Lake Fenton 8, Durand 0: Lake Fenton's Jordan Newman scored six goals in the victory. Miranda Quick also chipped in two goals. In net, Missy Eggleston had two saves to earn the shutout.

Linden 7, Carman-Ainsworth 0:

The Eagles (6-3) got two goals from Jessie Magalski and Katie Wilkowski and one each from Alia Frederick, Gabby Freeman and Erica Freeman, resulting in the easy win. Bridget Adams and Madison Paige split time in net for the shutout.

SOFTBALL

Lake Fenton vs. Montrose: The Blue Devils remained undefeated, beating Montrose 3-0 and 7-2.

In the opener, Kim Roe tossed a three-hitter and had three hits, leading Lake Fenton to the win. In the second contest, Roe tossed a seven-hitter while striking out 10 batters. Kayla Ward hit a two-run home run in the first, putting Lake Fenton ahead for good. Melody Draeger and Patricia Whittaker had two hits each.

Fenton vs. Brandon: The Tigers had 14 hits in the opener, earning a 10-0 five-inning victory. Macie Keller led the offense with three hits and two RBI, while Emma Brant had two hits and two RBI. Ellie Cowger also had two hits. Paige Dean tossed a five-hitter, striking out three.

In the second game, Brandon scored five runs in the first inning and never trailed, earning the split. Brant had three hits, while Cowger and Katey Cairnduff had two hits each.

Linden vs. Flushing: The Eagles lost 7-6 and 10-8. In the opener, Rhiannon Morse had two hits (triple) and scored two runs. Emily Williams also had two hits. Morse also had a triple and two singles in the second game. Sydney Jacques had two hits and two runs scored.

Eagles soar to pivotal dual sweep

► Tigers collect split by defeating West

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com

The Linden varsity boys track team is back to its winning ways. A week after being forced to a split, the Eagles earned 11 overall firsts, defeating Fenton 82-55 and Lapeer West 109-5.-27.5 at home Wednesday night. Fenton defeated Lapeer West 105-23.

Kyle Frederick continued his strong performances on Wednesday, earning firsts in four events. He won the 200 (23.69), the 110 hurdles (17.15), the 300 hurdles (42.72) and the long jump (21-4).

Six other Eagles won one individual event. They were Jacob Cox in the 100 (11.99), Blake Bloomfield in the 400 (53.65), Dustin Sack in the 800 (2:11.41), Andy Roberts in the shot put (43-4), Alex Kissel in the discus (139-2) and Justin McKenzie in the pole vault (14-0).

The Eagles also won one relay. The 3,200 relay team of Sack, Andy Bennet, Bloom-field and Hunter Holsinger (8:51.64) earned that first.

The 800 was vital to Linden's win, as the Eagles took the top four positions in the event. After Sack, Bennett (2:11.47), Dave Doyle (2:13.08) and Holsinger (2:13.38) followed.

"It was a very well run meet by our track members," Linden track coach Nick Douglass said. "There were some good performances, most notably in the 800 meter run. That event may have been the swing event so to speak in regards to winning or losing to Fenton. I was pleasantly surprised with Jacob Cox winning the 100 meter dash. I thought going in it would be a close race, but his victory and time were great."

The shot and disc also were big events for Linden. The Eagles took the top six spots in the shot and the discus. Roberts was second in the discus (115-3), while Kyle Korman took second in the shot (43-0) and third in the disc (114-10). Adrew Kost was third in the shot (39-2 1/2).

"We continued to perform very well on the field," Douglass said.

The Fenton Tigers were strong in the relays, winning three of the four events. The 400 relay team of Matthew Shampine, Jason Dietrich, Joel Graves and Nicholas Farella won in 46.72 seconds, while the 800 relay team of Shampine, Greg Brennan, Dietrich and Matt Cubr won in 1:39.40. The 1,600 relay team of Shmpine, Brennan, Mitch Campbell and Cubr also won (3:43.08).

Jacob Lee took the top spot in two individual events. He won the 1,600 (4:47.92) and the 3,200 (10:16.02). Cubr also won the high jump (5-6).

LF boys track crushes Mt. Morris, sneaks by Perry dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789 Lake Fenton — The Lake Fenton varsity boys track team remained undefeated in GAC play with an easy win against Mt. Morris, 83-41, and a tight victory against Perry, 65-63.

The Blue Devils set up their victory by winning three of the four relays during Tuesday's cold and windy day. Mitchell Bollinger, Jason Baird, Mitchell Arens and Tim Symons) earned a victory in the 400 relay and the 800 relay. Meanwhile, Chase Hanson, Caleb Fletcher, Jake Fletcher and Remington Clements took the top spot in the 3,200 relay.

Symons captured first individually in both the 110 hurdles and the 300 hurdles, while Caleb Fletcher won the 1,600. Zach Berdan took the top spot in the shot, and Hanson won the 400.

Lake Fenton girls track vs. Perry, Mt. Morris

The Lake Fenton girls earned nine first-place performances against either Perry or Mt. Morris, but lost to both teams. Perry defeated the Blue Devils 78-46, while Mt. Morris beat Lake Fenton 84-44.

There were three relays that earned at least a first against one of the two teams. The 3,200 relay team of Danielle Schwartz, Sophia Sahouri, Laura Carlson and Abby Smith won (12:45.75), as did the 1,600 relay team of Rachael Herman, Lyndsey Burrough, Reagan Goupil and Sahouri (5:18.22) against Mt. Morris. The 400 relay team of Taylor Palmatier, Rosalyn Symons, Sopohie Hasler and Ryana Thomas also earned a first (58.57).

Individually, there were six other firsts. Thomas (14.53) and Hasler (14.56) finished 1-2 in the 200 dash, while Goupil won the 300 hurdles (55.95) and the high jump. Hasler took the top spot in the 200 dash. Thomas also won the discus (66-1).

Stiles took part in four firsts. She was also a member of the winning 400 relay team with Hannah Sage, Tori Chapin and Bemis (52.40). Individually, she won the 100 (13.0) and the long jump (16-1).

Tatanya Mitchell won the shot put (32-2) and the discus (88-4). Others who took an overall individual first at the meet were Danielle Hack in the 3,200 (12:37.92), Rebecca Mc-Donald in the 100 hurdles (16.36), Katherine Hiller in the 300 hurdles (50.67), and Tori Chapin in the pole vault (9-6).

The distance relays also earned firsts. In fact, Bemis was part of all four winning relays. She also teamed with Mackenzie Figueroa, Emily Battaglia and Hiller to win the 1,600 relay (4:34.31) and also teamed with Figueroa, Emily Kinser and Jenna Keiser in the 3,200 (10:59.91).

"Our relay teams have been switched around a bit," Mills said. "We are still looking for that perfect fit."

Linden took two firsts, both earned by Sydney Elmer. She won the 800 (2:33.46) and the 1,600 (5:48.44).

Lake Fenton's Mitchell Bollinger (left) competes in the 400 meter relay during the Blue Devils' sweep of Mt. Morris and Perry on Tuesday. Lake Fenton's 400 squad won the race.

Tigers closing on battle with Holly, shut out Mustangs

▶ Fenton remains undefeated in Metro action

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789 Fenton — In many ways tennis teams can't complain too much about the weather this spring.

While it's been cold, rainy, snowy and windy for much of the season, at least tennis teams are adept to indoor conditions.

However, even for tennis the indoor facilities can get a bit bothersome.

"The season has gone pretty good so far, when we've been able to play," said Fenton senior Josie Foguth. "The weather has been a factor so far. We've had to play inside for about three to four weeks and that's helped us."

And it seems even when the team can play outdoors, as was the case on Thursday, there's still some sort of weather issue happening during the meet. On Thursday it was the wind which played chaos with serving and return shots all day long. However, those issues weren't severe enough to keep the Tigers from doing what was expected. The Tigers dominated Swartz Creek by an easy 8-0 score.

"It's very frustrating with the wind," Foguth said. "You'll hit a shot and the wind will totally blow it out of the area. I think that's the most frustrating thing right now, because it's not allowing us to play to the best of our ability."

Apparently it isn't keeping the Tigers from contending for a potential second Metro League crown in three seasons, as Fenton remains perfect in Metro action, as do the defending champion Holly Bronchos. That means Thursday's dual meet at Fenton High School between the two foes should go a long way in determining which of the squads capture the 2014 crown.

"That's exciting," Foguth said when it was mentioned the team remains perfect in Metro action. I think we are a very strong team this year. We have a lot of returning players and everyone played over the winter. And we played as a team over the winter. I think that really gives us a lead over everyone else.

"I think we definitely have what it takes (to beat Holly). I think we have a good lineup. Everyone is where they need to be. ... We have to go in with a winning attitude. And if we do that, we'll be OK."

The Tigers certainly had a winning attitude on Thursday, finishing their varsity match with the Dragons in under 90 minutes. All eight flights were won by Fenton performers in straight sets.

The closest match of the night came at No. 4 doubles where Rachel Anderson and Kate Lewandowski were pushed for a bit. However, they still ended up winning by a relatively dominant 6-3, 6-3 score.

Two Fenton flights won by 6-0, 6-0 scores. One was freshman No 2 singles player Sydney Phipps. The other was Foguth at No. 3 singles.

Madison Ballard remains at No. 1 singles for Fenton and earned an easy 6-0, 6-1 decision on Thursday. Mean-

Linden takes advantage of its chances vs. Holly, remains atop Metro after win

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789 Holly — Soccer can be a cruel sport at times. The Holly varsity girls soccer team probably felt that way on Wednesday. In a lot of ways it looked like the Bronabag dominated the first half against the chos dominated the first half against the Linden Eagles. The Bronchos possessed the ball more than Linden did, and it translated into a 6-4 shots-on-goal edge in the opening 40 minutes. And quite a few of those shots resulted in outstanding scoring chances.

However, the Eagles proved to be an opportunistic bunch, scoring twice in the opening half and eventually earning a pretty strong 4-1 Metro victory at Holly's Karl Richter campus.

"In the first half it was just the effort. We told them we had 50 percent emotion. It was just a blah game," Linden coach Kevin Fiebernitz said. "And if we are going to win a Metro League title, you have to be on top of your game day in and day out. It was a little better in the second half."

"We outplayed them. We either outshot them or it was even-up," Holly coach Mike Steibel said.

Linden (2-0, 6-3) took the lead during the fifth minute of the game. Off a lead pass from Jessie Magalski, Katie Wilkowski scored.

"I saw Maddie (Zayan) drop it off to Jessie on the outside," Wilkowski said describing the goal. "I saw an open gap, took off and she played me a great ball."

TRI-COUNTY TIMES I MARK BOLEN Linden's Briana Holscher (front) tries to get by Holly's Amy Scruggs during the Eagles' 4-1 victory on Wednesday.

Holly had two outstanding chances to tie the game within a minute of each other with about 13 minutes left in the half, Holly's Maddeline Huber had a header opportunity, but it sailed just wide. Less than a minute later, Holly had a free kick and it was deflected to Autumn Brendel by Haley Ruff. It was saved, keeping Linden up 1-0.

That lead was doubled with 1:02 left in the half when Erica Freeman scored See CHANCES on 5C on a rebound shot, initially taken by Zayan.

In the second half, the Eagles controlled the game a bit more, and scored two more goals in the first 11 minutes of the period. The first goal came on a shot from Zayan from the top corner of the 18-yard box to the far-side post. Magalski assisted the goal. The final Linden goal was provided by Sarah Ford on a shot 18 yards out to the top left corner of the net.

Holly's sole goal was provided by Megan Kennedy on a corner kick attempt that snuck inside the near-side post with 25:08 left in the contest.

Wilkowski likes what she sees out of the Eagles.

"This team is great. We all work so well together," Wilkowski said. "We all like each other, all want to work and want to win. We want to do our best.

"We have already improved working the ball through the ball and getting it outside. We just need to finish around the box. We can get there, connecting 10 passes, but it's just finishing it. That is what we have to step up on."

Both teams said they were working on new formations. Linden used a 4-3-2-1 formation, while Holly changed its style right before the Linden game.

"I don't know if it was a great idea to do this coming into a game against a great team like Linden, but we were not going to survive doing what we were doing because of the talent mix I have," Steibel said. "I was really happy with what I saw. We out-possessed them, outshot them but didn't outscore them."

TIGERS

Abby Rachor (No. 2) and Katie Kurncz and Kendra Praedel (No. 3) each won their flights by 6-1, 6-0 scores. Finally, the final Fenton victory was posted by the No. 1 doubles team of Hanna Horton and Ashley Bearden, who won by a 6-1, 6-3 score.

Foguth likes the Tigers' team.

"I think everyone gets along very well," Foguth said. "I think there is a good mix of personalities. And I think we have a little freshman who has helped bring the team together, Sydney Phipps.

"I'm very excited to play Holly and very excited to, hopefully, win."

The dual portion of the season is worth 50 percent to the final overall standings in Metro tennis. The Metro meet is worth the other 50 percent. It's unlikely any of the other teams in the Metro will be able to upset Fenton or Holly or keep the pair out of the top two at the Metro meet, so general wisdom makes one think whoever wins Thursday's match could probably do no worse than a co-title, and will have the inside track to an outright championship.

Tigers battle to 2-2 draw vs. Flint Powers ► Evo's second-half goal forces tie dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789 It was a game between two regional champions from a year ago.

By David Troppens

It also was a game with a lot of local ties, as quite a few of Powers' varsity girls soccer team is from the tri-county area as well.

So it shouldn't shock anyone that the Fenton Tigers' nonleague battle with Powers at home ended up as a 2-2 draw.

The Tigers took a 1-0 lead into halftime with Kaleigh Keyandwy scoring the only goal of the first half. It came off a rebound off a throw in during the 21st minute of the game.

In the second half, Powers took over, scoring twice in the first 20 minutes of the period. The girls goal was scored by Gabrielea Guerra on a free kick. About 15 minutes later, Erin

NY ALIGNME

Emmert scored the Chargers' second goal on another rebound shot.

However, the Tigers didn't fold. Senior Hannah Evo tied the game off what was another rebound shot. Her initial shot, off a pass from Chloe Foor, hit Powers' keeper Heather Rolls in the face. It bounced back to Evo, who tied the game with the next shot.

"It was a hard-fought game where neither team held play for more than a couple of minutes at a time," Fenton coach Matt Sullivan said. "It was very physical, but not chippy. Both teams had chances to win it at the end, but couldn't break the tie."

The Tigers return to action Monday with a road Metro League contest against Holly at Karl Richter campus at 6:45 p.m.

If you want to make a commitment to golf and have fun socializing at the same time, league play might just be for you. There are literally hundreds of golf leagues in the tri-county area, and most of them are just getting started, now and in the coming weeks.

'We just got our first league of the vear out on the course this afternoon," said Christopher White of Fenton Farms in Fenton Township.

Some people play for competition, while others enjoy the social aspect of playing golf with friends, enjoying an active sport. Others make deals out on the golf course, putting a relaxing spin on business while > few who have played on this league since 1963."

> > Men still dominate league play at most area courses, but the women are coming aboard. Many clubs offer not only separate leagues for each gender, but also mixed leagues, and even junior golf leagues and clinics.

Senior leagues are popular too, with 50 players coming out on Thursday mornings at Hartland Glen Golf Course. Approximately 18 leagues rotate nine-hole play among the course's 36 holes each month, providing variety and a challenge for each weekly game.

League play also involves different formats, from playing your own ball to scrambles, shotguns, mixed couples and more.

Dressed 'to the nines'

►New golf apparel adds technology for comfort and style

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

While tri-county area golf courses tend to be more casual in dress than private country clubs in larger metro areas, there are still rules that dictate what is proper golf attire — and what's not.

For men, the preferred dress code is "a nice appearance," according to Denis Husse of Tyrone Hills Golf Club in Tyrone Township. "The majority of our golfers dress like golfers." They do allow jeans and tees on the course, but no cut-off shorts or tank tops Technology and drive ...

It's all in the clubs

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

In the game of golf, golf club technology is constantly changing because of new techniques and materials to help golfers improve their distance, accuracy and consistency.

Drivers

The newest buzzword in today's driver is "adjustability," with technology providing golfers an opportunity to custom fit the driver to fit his or her own swing, and where he or she needs to get on the course.

"Not only can you adjust the loft, but also the face angle, the width, the shot shape and more," said Mike Spranger of Dunham Hills Golf Club in Hartland. He's referring to the adjustable Nike Covert Tour Driver with a Kuro Kage graphite shaft, carried in the club's Pro Shop.

According to Golf Magazine, it's important that the golfer be custom fit with an adjustable driver, in order to benefit from these features.

Fairway woods and hybrids

Today's new fairway woods and hybrids contain more innovation than ever, allowing for more ball speed and increased launch angle.

Examples: Adams Tight Lies/Tight Lies Tour $200/$230; Calloway Big Bertha $269.99. TIME FOR GOLF

Today's irons are the workhorses in your golf bag. Manufacturers are using the latest in technology and material to increase and control ball speed.

Irons

With materials and design to help increase ball speed and control flight, today's irons are the workhorses in your golf bag. They've got price tags to match: Examples: Ping S55 $1,000, Taylor-

Made Tour Preferred CB $900. Putters

The Nike Method is an example of putter technology, which features grooves on the putter face to help facilitate more forward roll on putts. Polymer is injected into a slot in the bottom of the putter, filling the space in the putter face grooves.

After the face is machined to create a flat surface, the bottom half of the grooves are removed and filled with metal — this causes the putter to lift up on the back of the ball during impact, eliminating much of the skipping and skidding in the early parts of a putt. Cost: $249.

At Fenton Farms Golf Club in Fenton Township, owner Chris White likes to encourage proper golf attire, especially as he is making facility improvements to his club. He admits, however, that today's golfers are a mix between the "old" and "new" rules. "We don't allow tanks, cut-offs or work boots," he added. "We plan to begin offering prizes for 'Best Dressed' golfers, to encourage more golfappropriate dress."

For women, golfing can be a fashion statement with many of the trendiest golf lines coming from brands like Adidas, Nike Golf and Antigua.

Sheer comfort is the new style for hot, summer golf, as these garments incorporate innovative poly yarns that create softer, smoother and more comfortable fabrics, which also wick moisture more effectively.

Necklines have become more open and fun. Most of the polo shirt designs still use the "dress code-required" collars, but in nontraditional ways.

For men, Nike Golf offers dri-fit technology, tech pants and range of motion construction.

Color trends include neon and ultra-bright hues, especially for women. The new trend this year are "pops" of these bright colors tastefully added in contrast stitching, insets, zippers and tipping.

What's new in golf balls?

New technology creates balls for specific purposes

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Golf balls may not offer the same glamour as a new driver or a new iron, but any golfer who's serious about the game understands just how important it is to optimize their game with the right ball.

Price does matter when it comes to golf balls. "The more discriminating player can feel the difference, especially when you're putting and chipping," said Denis Husse, golf pro at Tyrone Hills Golf Club in Tyrone Township. His personal preferences are Titleist and Bridgestone golf balls. "You can't go wrong with either of these brands."

Golfers may want to look at how technology is changing the way golf balls can impact your game.

The ColdFusion ball —

Golfers playing in early spring with cooler temperatures may appreciate the new ColdFusion ball — designed for use when temperatures dip below 60 degrees.

According to the company, a 10-degree drop in temperature can result in a 2.5-yard loss of distance. To combat that, the ColdFusion is designed to retain its elasticity, and the thicker, soft cover helps enhance feel in chilly conditions. Cost: $30 per dozen.

• TaylorMade's Project — This new ball is designed to bring tour-level technology (multiple layers, urethane cover and increased short-game spin) to average amateur golfers. Less expensive Surlyncovered balls don't check as easily on short shots according to TaylorMade's research department. The soft urethane cover against this hard inner mantle layer creates a lot of spin. Cost: $32 per dozen.

Men's vs. women's golf balls

Every Titleist golf ball is designed for women. The golf ball doesn't know who is hitting it. It doesn't know a golfer's age, skill level, or gender.

The majority of golf balls named "Women" or "Lady" are two-piece Surlyn-covered golf balls that offer long distance, cut-proof durability and a low price. These golf balls are very low spin and do not provide the best scoring performance on shots into and around the green. On scoring shots, low spin See GOLF BALLS on 8C run through the green. When you're trying to play your best, choose a golf ball with more spin and stopping power. Golf balls like Pro V1, Pro V1x, NXT Tour or NXT Tour S all provide outstanding distance and offer more stopping power to help you shoot your best scores. These models also have softer covers than low spin distance balls, offering even softer feel.

GOLF BALLS

How to pick a golf ball • Step 1

Find a golf ball type based on your skill level and personal preferences. Ball types available on the market focus on control, spin and distance. High handicap players will normally focus on a ball that is designed for additional distance or control while low handicap players will want to ensure their ball is designed for additional spin for better scoring in the short game.

• Step 2

Modern golf balls are sold as multilayer, two- or three-piece designs. Three-piece balls are normally produced for golfers desiring additional backspin while multilayer balls are targeted to reducing the effects of spin on the ball.

• Step 3

Select the compression rating for your golf ball. For golfers with a high swing speed that can carry their drives more than 240 yards in the air, compression ratings over 100 are appropriate. For those with slower swing speeds, compression ratings between 80 and 90 are a suitable selection. • Step 4

Assess your overall golf game and weaknesses before making the final choice. If you regularly find yourself 10 to 15 yards short on your desired driver length or on long par 3s, go for a golf ball designed for distance. If you regularly find yourself hitting greens but the ball not sticking, try a ball designed for additional spin.

These three

Many golfers are jumping on the trend of spikeless golf shoes. Many are discovering that spikeless shoes are lighter in weight, more convenient and affordably priced.

Spikeless golf shoe trend accounts for half of sales

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 629-8282 It all started in 2010 when Freddie Couples wore sneaker-like ECCO Street Premieres (without socks) in the Masters. People started calling retailers all over and asked, "What shoe is that, that Freddie was wearing?" This, according to Golf.com, is what spelled the beginning of the end of the traditional spiked golf shoe.

"Spikeless golf shoes are definitely most popular now than spikes," said Denis Husse of Tyrone Hills Golf Club in Tyrone Township.

Further south

in Hartland, Golf Pro Mike Spranger of Dunham Hills Golf Club said that about half his golfers wear traditional spikes, and the other half, spikeless. "Spikeless is becoming more and more popular," he said.

Why spikeless?

Comfort — They're lightweight and comfortable, with no spikes at the bottom. They require little or no break-in period.

Convenience — There are no spikes to clean or replace. They don't require a trip to the locker room to change your shoes before and after your round of golf.

Style — They're also fashionable enough to wear anytime, anywhere, coming in a variety of colors, especially the new brights.Orebrights.

Traction — Their specially designed soles provide traction with nubs designed to support the foot and make the shoes connect to the ground when the golfer swings.

Price — Spikeless shoes are more affordable than classic golf footwear because they don't have spikes on the bottom and don't need replacement spikes. Golfers can even afford to buy a pair or two to alternate in use.

With little or no break-in time required for spikeless golf shoes, they are gaining popularity with golfers.

ZUCCHINI PARMESAN CRISPS

INGREDIENTS

- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup Panko*
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 zucchinis, thinly sliced to 1/4-inch thick rounds
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 2 large eggs, beaten

DIRECTIONS

- 1. Heat vegetable oil in a large skillet over medium high heat.
- 2. In a large bowl, combine Panko and Parmesan; set aside.
- 3. Working in batches, dredge zucchini rounds in flour, dip into eggs, then dredge in Panko mixture, pressing to coat.
- 4. Add zucchini rounds to the skillet, 5 or 6 at a time, and cook until evenly golden and crispy, about 1 minute on each side. Transfer to a paper towellined plate.
- 5. Serve immediately.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am 88 years old and in good health except for a small stroke I had a year ago with no lingering deficiencies. I have had an enlarged prostate for most of my adult life, but a biopsy showed no cancer. I have had problems with urgency. I tried a medication, doxazosin, with poor results, if any. My last visit, they recommended nothing more than medication. Is removing the prostate not advisable because of my age? What's the reason they don't remove it completely? - C.W.S.

ANSWER: Symptoms of an enlarged prostate in men without cancer are common, and the condition is called benign prostatic hypertrophy. BPH can be treated with either medication or surgery. For most men, medication works well. Saw palmetto is used by many men, but well-done trials have shown it to be no better than placebo. Medications like doxazosin, including tamsulosin (Flomax), often are the first ones tried and usually work pretty well, but finasteride (Proscar) and dutasteride (Avodart) are effective as well. A combination is probably most effective of all. However even that doesn't work for some men. The most common prostate surgery nowadays is a TURP (transurethral resection of the prostate). This is far less invasive and has fewer risks than the old open method, and generally has good results. However, as with any surgery, there is never a guarantee of success, and I have seen several men get worse after TURP, even though most get better. Age in and of itself does not necessarily preclude surgery. However, a history of stroke does make surgery a bit more risky. I don't recommend surgery lightly, and since you haven't reported giving finasteride or dutasteride a chance, either alone or in combination, I would recommend a good trial of those before contemplating surgery.

DEAR AMY: I'm a student living away from home. My parents have had some marriage difficulties. About two years ago, they told my sibling and me that they were thinking of separating. Last summer my mother lied about the trip, saying that it was for business, but we soon found out that it wasn't. Since then I have been very suspicious that she is cheating. I have logged on to her Facebook account to read her private messages. I discovered that she is having 'sexy' conversations with a man in town and sending him nude photographs. I'm afraid to bring up this topic with my mother because it involves my disclosing information that I invade her privacy on a frequent basis (to check these Facebook messages). And I don't want to tell my father to save him from this pain. What should I do? — Distressed Daughter

DEAR DAUGHTER: Marriage is complicated. So, sometimes, is cheating. I understand your motives, but you are jumping to conclusions based on evidence with absolutely no context. If you had access to the whole truth you might find: Your father already knows about this, and they are trying to work things out. Or perhaps your father's own Facebook messages are also inappropriate and adulterous. I suggest you tell your mother that you are aware of her activity on Facebook. Assume that she will be appalled at your sneakiness. Tell her you are confused by what they have put you through. This is a big mess, but your parents not you — are going to have to figure things out.

DEAR AMY: Please settle an argument I have with one of my close friends. I believe that husband and wife are still entitled to some kind of privacy. I don't believe in going through my husband's wallets or pockets to find out if he is cheating or hiding something. Nor do I believe that he should go through my purse and open my mail and texts to see if I am cheating or doing something I shouldn't be doing. My friend believes there shouldn't be any privacy between husband and wife. She believes that husband and wife have every right to go through each other's things whenever they like. My friend thinks I've been reading too many books. - Bewildered

DEAR BEWILDERED: I think your friend has been reading too few books. Trust is not defined by rifling through someone's belongings — that is the opposite of trust.

iPad tip of the week

Type with your thumbs on your iPad

If you're holding your iPad with both hands and you know how hard it is to thumb type either in a portrait or landscape view. The good news is that the system gives you an option to split and undock a keyboard.

Touch and hold the "Keyboard" key, then slide to select an option to split or undock a keyboard, and do the same to merge or dock it.

Or use two fingers to stretch the keyboard to split it, and pinch to merge it.
