“The May 2 Fenton Community Orchestra spring concert was wonderful — and free. Such beautiful music. Fenton is truly blessed with a very fine orchestra. I’ll never miss a performance, nor should you!”

“The city of Fenton has a survey asking, ‘Do you like putting tags on your garbage?’ They’re planning to put the charges on your water or tax bill. No more hauling trash to a friends or work to get around idiotic system. What are our taxes being spent on?”

“When is Fenton going to realize that the average person can’t take his family out to one of their ‘nice’ restaurants?”

Dennis Frederick, 59, and his son Brian Frederick, 41, have agreed to plead guilty to federal charges involving faulty welds that were supposed to be part of the government’s Tomahawk cruise missiles.

Lt. Jason Slater of the Fenton Police Department said a uniformed officer accompanied Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) agents when they executed a search warrant at 8:30 a.m. on Feb. 28, 2012 at Precision Metal Spinning, on Fenway Circle in Fenton.

On Wednesday, both men are expected to Fenton — It’s rare that a Fenton City Council work session is standing room only, but this was the case Monday night.

Much of the time, and much of the room was packed with residents who voiced support of a proposed non-discrimination ordinance, which drew emotional, fact and business-based testimony on why it’s needed in the city.

Dodging balls for testicular cancer

► Flint's Banana 101.5 hosts inaugural tourney that raises funds for American Cancer Society

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Fenton Twp. — The "Purple Cobras" took it all at Saturday's The Great Dodgeball Tournament, and "Balls Deep" took second.

Banana 101.5 isn't known for being a sophisticated radio station — a lot of the humor coming out of "Flint's big banana" is downright juvenile and blue collar, but that formula works perfectly for the inaugural tournament, held at The Colosseum.

And the innuendo isn't without merit — this tournament was held to benefit testicular cancer research, a portion of the proceeds going to the American Cancer Society (ACS). Events like Relay for Life are insanely popular — but maybe not with the Banana's demographic — men in their 20s, which both DJ Maggie Meadows of Fenton Township, and Kristy Cook of the ACS acknowledged.

They managed to pull something unique together — an organized, energetic, fun event that got some spirited competition going. While rock of a newer variety shook the AstroTurf, teams lined up for the starting whistle.

When tournament director and Banana 101 DJ Chris Monroe said "go!" the teams sprinted forward, converging on the row of balls in center court, like a collapsing wave, and teams face off, following the standard rules of a four-minute match.

If you catch a ball thrown at you, the thrower is out. You can deflect incoming balls with a ball as well.

It took just under three hours to get to the final four, and then to the final two teams. The final four were the Purple Cobras, Balls Deep, Average Joes, and Skillz that Killz.

In this first tournament, 19 teams registered, meaning 114 participated paying $10 each. Prizes were $200 for the first-place team, $150 for second, $100 for third and $60 for fourth, "and trophies," exclaimed Meadows.

The return was modest after the expenses were recouped — $300 for the ACS, but Meadows hopes for a bigger event next year, with more money raised. "It was a great first year and we as a station are looking forward to this becoming an annual event," she said.

Nationally syndicated
columnist*Sterling tarnished all he touched

Donald Sterling, 80, the now-banished owner of the Los Angeles Clippers, reminds me of every guy I've heard say, 'I can't be racist. I've even dated black women.'

Recordings released by the gossip website TMZ and confirmed by the NBA of Sterling, who is white, making racist comments to his mixed-race lady friend shows how some people can have ample cross-cultural contacts and still sound like a bigot.

Sterling berated his lady friend V. Stiviano for letting herself be seen in public spending time with 'black people.'

Yet Sterling sounds very serious in the tapes that Stiviano should avoid being seen in public with black people, regardless of what she does with 'them' in private — and stop bringing blacks to Clippers games.

To his credit, newly installed NBA Commissioner Adam Silver acted. Quickly. He banned Sterling for life and fined him $2.5 million.

Sterling has made his fortune, estimated by Forbes at $1.9 billion, in a sport dominated by black players. He dates a woman of color. He receives awards from the Los Angeles chapter of the NAACP, which canceled a second 'lifetime achievement' award the organization had planned to give him in May.

In his other life, he is a 'Slumlord Billionaire,' with a 30-year history of charges, complaints and expensive settlements that include sexual harassment and housing discrimination.

The pro sports community is less easily embarrassed. 'Pro sports have their own legacy of ignorance is bliss,' Kevin Blackstone, an ESPN panelist writes in The Guardian. 'The sudden Sterling backlash exposed a mythology that we've allowed to grow in sport's billion-dollar commercial industrialization: sport leads social change.'

Indeed, sometimes it does, as we saw in the glorious example of Jackie Robinson breaking baseball's color barrier. But Sterling tarnishes everybody he has touched. He reveals how easily racism, sexism and other bad behavior can be ignored — until a scandal blows it back in our faces.

FROM THE RIGHT

Cal Thomas

Nationally syndicated
columnist*Hillary Clinton's social gospel

Faith is making a comeback among liberal Democrats, but they still have a way to go. Last Saturday, Hillary Clinton addressed 7,000 women gathered for the United Methodist Women's Assembly. She said that while she was secretary of state her faith prompted her to begin initiatives to combat human trafficking, promote maternal healthcare in developing countries and fight for women's rights.

That's nice, but a person of no faith could be in favor of the same initiatives. What about abortion and same-sex marriage? The same Scripture she uses as marching orders for her worldly initiatives speaks to when human life begins and to traditional marriage, but she ignores those.

Mrs. Clinton said her faith in God was shaped by her grandmother's hymn singing and her grandfather's bedtime prayers. She said she struggled between her father's insistence on self-reliance and her mother's compassion for the needy. Clinton said she reconciled these in the Bible story about Jesus feeding the 5,000.

Theologians believe the feeding of the 5,000 was not an early food bank, or a forerunner of food stamps, but one of many demonstrations by Jesus of Nazareth to authenticate His divinity.

In her remarks to the Methodist women, Mrs. Clinton described an America reminiscent of the Great Depression. She said 'I don't think we can sit back and wait for someone else to step forward and solve these problems.' Was this a shot at President Obama, who promised a stronger economy?

The numerous social programs we have aren't working, as David Muhlhausen wrote in his book, 'Do Federal Social Programs Work?' The social gospel of Mrs. Clinton and her fellow liberal Democrats aims to pile more programs on top of the ones that are not working. Why not try something new, or something old that worked?

How about motivation for starters? The same Scripture from which she quotes also says this about the able-bodied: 'If a man does not choose to work, neither shall he eat.' (2 Thessalonians 3:10). When Bill Clinton signed the Welfare Reform bill 20 years ago, many welfare recipients found jobs.

►Too much sugar can lead to big health problems

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

It's a fact — we all crave sugar from time to time. Besides putting on a few unwanted pounds around the middle, did you know that overloading on sugar can lead to an array of health problems like heart disease, diabetes and high blood pressure?

Aside from sending your energy levels on a roller coaster ride, eating too much sugar also makes your hunger hormones go into the hyper zone. The problem is, your satiety hormones — or that is the ones that tell your brain that you're full, aren't properly triggered, which means you wind up eating more than you need. In addition to that problem, sugar triggers a rush of endorphins — the feel-good hormones. While it sure feels good while it's happening, if you overdo on the sugar too often, you're likely to develop a craving for the sugar rush, which leads to more calories and a worse situation when you step on the scales.

With all of this, it's no wonder that experts recommend that you limit your sugar intake. If you're a woman, limit your intake of added sugars to 25 grams per day. That's about 100 calories, or 6 teaspoons of sugar per day. Men should limit added sugars to 38 grams per day, which is about 150 calories per day, or about 9 teaspoons.

Check the ingredients. If sugar is one of the first three ingredients, think twice before choosing this food. Ingredients are listed by weight, so the ingredients that are listed first make up a greater percentage of the product.

Add 'em up. To determine if a food has added sugars, and how much, you have to do a little math. First, look at the Nutrition Facts panel and the line for total sugars. There are four calories in each gram of sugar, so if a product has 20 grams of sugar per serving, that's 80 calories just from the sugar alone.

Go low. Choose products with the least amount of added sugar. On any product, aim for no more than 2.5 grams of added sugar per 100 calories.

Go natural. Choose fresh fruit to satisfy a sweet craving; it provides vitamins, minerals, and fiber in addition to some hydration, so it will keep you feeling fuller longer.

Time is of the essence. If you absolutely need a sweet, have it in the 20 to 30 minutes after a hard workout.

Choose something different. If you're looking to add flavor to your food, reach for herbs and spices instead of sugar. Cinnamon and cloves add flavor to oatmeal, while oregano and rosemary add flavor to marinara sauce.

The idea was brought forth by Councilman Brad Jacob, in response to requests from constituents. At least one reported they had been discriminated against concerning housing.

Tearfully sharing a painful experience, Marie Tino told the audience and council how she had come out as lesbian to her Fenton workplace 10 years ago, and had to quit under humiliation at the hands of a manager.

"That was 10 years ago and it still bothers me, I barely told anyone it happened," she said through tears.

The Laundry owner Mark Hamel brought facts, passion, and signed support to council.

Currently under state and federal law, discrimination due to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age or disability is illegal, but discrimination due to gender identification and sexual orientation is not.

In Michigan, hate crimes cover extreme cases against the aforementioned groups as well as lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender (LGBT).

Everyone who spoke to the council said that as a whole, Fenton is a loving and welcoming community, but these things still happen.

In the end, the council emphatically agreed all around, they'd like to see an ordinance drafted, but they would first need to meet as a subcommittee in open meeting with city attorney Stephen Schultz.

They'll be looking at other drafted ordinances, how violations are enforced, and what penalties they could carry. They'll also get legal advice from the American Civil Liberties Union.

Precision Metal Spinning was tasked with making welds. According to the FBI's investigation, the Fenton company had difficulties with the welds and subcontracted out the job to an unapproved, out-of-state third party. When the welds were determined to be faulty, the FBI began its investigation by confirming if the Fenton company was doing the work to the government's specifications.

Allegedly the Fredericks told FBI agents that the Fenton business was doing the work, but the FBI learned otherwise.

A sentence of one-and-a-half years has been requested for the Fredericks, in addition to more than $1.6 million in restitution to cover the parts that had to be scrapped.

According to navaltechnology.com, the Tomahawk is a long-range, all-weather, subsonic cruise missile in service with the surface ships and submarines of the U.S. and Royal Navy. Originally produced by General Dynamics, Tomahawk is currently manufactured by Raytheon.

The Tomahawk can strike high value or heavily defended land targets. The Block II TLAM-A missile achieved its Initial Operating Capability in 1984. The missile was first deployed in combat during Operation Desert Storm in 1991.

"People are always changing hairstyles, sometimes just because they have the freedom to do so," said Fyvie, who works at Flaunt Studios. "It all depends on what people like and what they're comfortable with. The hairstyle depends on the person."

Becoming a master of hair in Michigan is no simple feat. The state Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs requires 1,500 hours of training, education and passing state board examinations. Fyvie's education consisted of passing quizzes given by the owner of Flaunt, as well as apprenticing in the studio for two years.

Fyvie described the tests as "nerve wracking," which consist of shampooing, color processing, manicuring and performing a facial on a manikin. Fyvie passed in October and has been a full-time cosmetologist ever since.

"(Haircutting) is so versatile, once you have it no one can take it away from you," Fyvie said. "It's a skill that a computer can't replace."

Those skills are in full force as teenagers flock to barbershops and salons, gearing up to look their best for prom.

At Allure Hair Company in Fenton, Brett Macklin has seen young men ask for pompadours and girls seeking the perfect style for their hair. Whatever people choose to go with, Macklin said new hair is all about honing the right cut or coloring to the right person.

"You want to give people a hairstyle they can manage at home. We try to customize a haircut or color for the person so they don't feel like they're wearing a wig," said Macklin, who became a full-time cosmetologist in August. "You want people to feel comfortable and confident they can pull a hairstyle off."

Macklin took a more traditional route than Fyvie, attending Transition's School of Cosmetology at Mott Community College. Whether the education comes from a classroom or from quizzes in the back room of a salon, all barbers and cosmetologists have to be certified by the state.

Macklin and Fyvie said women mostly populate salons but more men are beginning to come in, ranging from young men looking for hairstyles of yesteryear to older men wanting to blend gray hair with their natural hair color. Whatever the style or request, cosmetologists will be there to transform and mold clients.

"It's an awesome industry, especially for young girls who love hair," Macklin said. "If you love it as much as I do, it doesn't feel like work."

Searching the contents of a cell phone without a warrant — Part I

Here are the facts from two different but related cases.

In case number one, a man named Brian Wurie was arrested by the Boston, Massachusetts Police for distributing crack cocaine. When he was arrested, his cell phones were confiscated. During his detention, one of the phones rang repeatedly and showed 'my house' on the screen. Without first obtaining a search warrant, the police went through the call logs in the phone and linked the 'my house' phone number to a house address.

They obtained a search warrant based on this information, went to the house and found cash, drugs, a firearm, and ammunition. Mr. Wurie was ultimately convicted of various offenses in part based upon what was found in these searches.

In case number two, one David Riley was stopped for a traffic violation involving an expired license plate by a San Diego, California policeman. It was subsequently discovered that he was driving with a suspended license and his car was impounded. During the inventory search of the car, two firearms were discovered under the hood. Mr. Riley was then arrested. During the arrest, the police officer seized Mr. Riley's cell phone from his person. After seizing the phone, police officers performed two separate warrantless searches of its digital contents.

Among the contents were pictures, texts, and communications, indicating gang activity including a picture showing Mr. Riley with a red Oldsmobile. Using this evidence, the guns found in Mr. Riley's car were linked to a drive-by shooting of another vehicle and Mr. Riley was then convicted of crimes related to this incident.

Of course, both of these cases are different but there is the common factor of warrantless searches of cell phones leading to criminal convictions.

These cases have another common factor as both are now before the United States Supreme Court on the issue of the legality of the warrantless searches of the cell phones by the police.

The two cases are U.S. v Wurie and Riley v California and were argued before the Court on April 29, 2014. In next week's column, I will discuss the argument made by the prosecutors and the defendants in yet another example of how the law does its best to keep pace with technology.

Preschool for teachers and politicians

►Local leaders learn about the value of early childhood education

By William Axford

axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Fenton — Educators and legislators gathered last Monday to learn about the importance of preschool education.

State Rep. Joseph Graves (R-Argentine Township), senate nominee Ken Horn, Fenton City council members, school board members and superintendents Timothy Jalkanen and Ed Koledo were among the guests who attended the presentation and tour of the pre-school.

Linda Mora, director of Fenton schools' Early Childhood Learning at the World of Wonder at the Ellen Street Campus, told guests that the first few years of life are some of the most important in a person's development and that education today ignores those needs. "We spend a lot of money at the end. When you look at when a person develops, it really pays to invest early."

Mora's teaching philosophy includes the 'Reggio Emilia Approach,' where teachers encourage collaboration and exploring topics children are interested in. During the tour of the Ellen Street building, guests saw numerous drawing and projects spanning from mythology to nature, all created by children.

For Mora, learning the correct social skills and having a flourishing imagination is a foundation to a better education. In a society focused more on technology rather than personal interactions, Mora sees preschool education as important as ever.

"The self confidence in students is gone, they're not self reliant," Mora said. "They don't know how to work through conflict resolution. All kindergarten teachers want are students who are ready to learn."

Since April is the Month of the Young Child, Mora had local leaders come and see the importance of education for kids ages 0 to 5. The beginning of the day started with a round-table discussion, followed by a presentation and tour of the building. Graves viewed the presentation as informative and thought provoking. "It's essential to invest in our kids," Graves said.

World of Wonder programs are available for kids up to age 5 and welcomes children from any school district. For more information about the program, call (810) 591-8349 or visit the Ellen Street campus at 404 West Ellen Street, Fenton.

almost always open to the public during the day, on evenings and weekends."

The tracks are also open at Lake Fenton, Linden and Holly schools. "Our track is widely used by the public," said Cathy North, athletic director for Linden Community Schools. "A lot of people come out early in the morning or later in the evening."

Tennis courts are also available to the public at Fenton High School, Lake Fenton High School and Holly High School. "They're open to the public all the time," said Wayne Wright, superintendent of Lake Fenton Community Schools.

Other walking/running opportunities abound in the tri-county area, from hiking trails at Seven Lakes State Park and Holly Recreation Area, to Linden County Park with trails along Clover Beach and a paved trail inside the county park area.

For a more organized walking/running activity, there's still time to sign up for the Crim Adult Training Program, kicking off this week for 15 weeks until the official Crim Festival of Races on Saturday, Aug. 23. The outdoor training for 5K, 8K or 10-mile walking/running events takes place in various meeting sites in Flint, Grand Blanc, Davison and Flushing. "It rotates around these different locations," said Clayton Hubnel, Crim adult training coordinator. To register for this training, call (810) 235-3396.

On a more local basis, The Freedom Center church is in its second year of offering a "From Couch to the Crim," training, which begins June 1 and runs every Sunday night for nine weeks up to the Crim race. Last year, more than 80 people participated and Pastor Jim Wiegand is hoping that about 150 will join this informal training program this year.

"We have training for all three races: 5K, 8K and 10-mile, plus levels in each race for those who want to walk, those who want to run/walk and runners who want to train for speed," said Wiegand. "We've got something for everyone, including my wife who likes to drink a milkshake after a run," he said. Cost is $25, which funds water, Gatorade, popsicles, etc. after the training session. To register online for the local training program through The Freedom

Center, visit www.tfcloonline.com and click on "Ministries," then "iGrow."

- Up and down curbs, steps, short stairways, stepping over small obstacles provides a workout for your climbing muscles.
- Starts and stops, dodges, etc. helps maintain your stabilizing muscles, especially as you age.
- Sloped sidewalks and roadsides provide a positive challenge to your balance muscles.
- Positive feelings of revitalization, decrease in tension, increased energy in natural environments.

HOT LINE CONTINUED

THE STOCK MARKET is not the economy. The supposed .1 percent growth in GDP is not good. Just over 62 percent labor participation is the worst in centuries. Giving people years to not work hurts those folks. Given the choice of long-term non-job participation person and someone else, who wins?

FOR THOSE WHO are serious about knowing what is happening with the economy you need to watch Fox Business. If you have an aversion to anything Fox, watch CNBC. They both talk about what is really happening with the U.S. economy and do discuss various strategies.

WHEN I READ that the apple growers in Michigan left millions of bushels of apples unpicked because of a labor shortage, I think about all the unemployed and prisoners. I think they are just too used to migrant farm workers and can't afford to pay other workers. Plan ahead.

WHY IS IT that so many people who have never been poor 'hate' poor people? I think I know. Politics, marketing, distractions to other issues. Poor people need a good PR firm in our country for people to see the reality.

THERE HE GOES again tearing down the U.S.'s 50 straight months of positive job growth. What's next, a reduced dependency on oil?

She's a hero...

►Davisburg mail carrier rescues woman on her route

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Local postal carrier Jennifer Manni knows how to do a lot more than just deliver mail. She became a hero on Feb. 5, when one of her route customers, Joan Badalucco, was shocked by her defibrillator while she was operating her snow thrower on her driveway.

"I was left in the middle of the road," said Badalucco. "Our mail carrier, Jennifer Manni, came to my rescue. She first ran to me to see if I needed 911. When she found out I was OK, she turned off the snow thrower, so it wouldn't set off the defibrillator again."

Manni was recognized Monday, April 28 in a special ceremony at the Davisburg Post Office, where she received the USPS Postal Hero Award on National Super Hero Day.

"Thank you for all that you do," said Badalucco.

Drop-in center to close its doors

►Organizers scramble to save Holly's safe haven for the mentally ill

By Amy Mayhew

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Holly — Whether it's for breakfast, lunch, a game of cards, or simply socializing with others, Holly's North Oakland Drop-In Center has been providing a safe and supportive environment for the area's mentally ill for the last 15 years.

Currently funded through the Oakland County Community Mental Health Authority, general funds were cut earlier this year in anticipation that federal funds from Healthy Michigan, the state's expanded Medicaid program would provide the needed funding and more.

Mental health officials said they're still waiting on Healthy Michigan funds, and that even so, those funds don't cover services to uninsured people, clients behind bars, or those who are insured elsewhere but whose needs exceed coverage.

Operated throughout the week from Holly's Amel-Schwartz American Legion Post 149, 408 S. Saginaw, the North Oakland Drop-In Center will close its doors on May 15 if county officials don't reconsider.

"We typically have 12 to 15 people take advantage of our services every day," NODIC spokesperson and Board Member Catherine Quinn said. "This gives them a safe place to come rather than sitting around staring at the four walls of their apartment or home."

Quinn and others collected more than 1,000 signatures from people and presented them to Community Mental Health. Those in favor of keeping Holly's Drop-In Center open are encouraged to share their opinions with the Oakland County Mental Health Recipients Rights Division at (248) 758-1989.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | AMY MAYHEW

Between 12 and 15 people per day visit Holly's North Oakland Drop-In Center for nourishment, socialization and a general place to go. With a lack of funding, the center is set to close its doors on May 15.

has been charged with first-degree home invasion to a home on Feb. 8. A bond of $50,000 was ordered. This case was bound over to circuit court on March 12.

Liebich was charged with second-degree home invasion at another Fenton Township home on Nov. 30, 2013. Bond was set at $20,000 and this case was bound over for trial in circuit court on April 29.

Liebich's third case involves an alleged first-degree home invasion in Fenton Township on Jan. 22. He was also charged with larceny of firearms and felony firearms. Bond of $20,000 on each charge was ordered when the case was bound over to circuit court on April 29.

He also faces a felony charge of breaking and entering of a vehicle causing damage on Nov. 5, 2013 in Fenton Township. With this case, he was also charged with stealing a credit card and malicious destruction of property. Bond was set at $20,000 on each count.

Liebich's fifth charge is a first-degree home invasion of a Fenton Township home on Sept. 13, 2013. With this case, he was also charged with three counts of stolen credit cards. Bond of $20,000 was ordered on each count.

Genesee County Undersheriff Chris Swanson said detectives believe Liebich's alleged drug problems with crystal meth led to these alleged break-ins and robberies to support his habit. Swanson said it's common for drug addicts, in general, to break into homes, sheds, cars or anything they can. They usually target homes that are unoccupied.

The sheriff's department heightened their investigation after learning that during one break-in, a young girl was sleeping in the home. During the interview, the girl compared the intruder to the "boogey man," which he said is one of the worst nightmares for parents.

Breaking into an unoccupied home is a 10-year felony for second-degree home invasion. If the dwelling is occupied, it is classified as first-degree home invasion, which carries a sentence of 20 years. Even if the intruder enters only an attached garage, and someone is sleeping inside the home, this is still considered first-degree home invasion.

Swanson said when the sheriff's department arrested Liebich at his Fenton Township home, he had just finished cooking up a batch of crystal meth. The drug is potent and highly addictive. "Meth messes with your mind and it destroys brain tissue," said Swanson.

As a warning to parents, Swanson said if they notice any of the ingredients used to make the deadly drug (see sidebar) in their home unexpectedly, or missing, they will want to look into the matter further.

Fenton High School senior Justin Hang, 18, walks down the receiving line at the Genesys Athletic Club Saturday evening with prom date Allie DeBerry. The Disney star had responded to Hang's "promposal," leading to a fair amount of media coverage.

Fenton teen 'can't top' dream prom

►Justin Hang's date with Disney star once-in-a-lifetime event

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Grand Blanc Twp. — After all the build-up, media attention, anticipation, and preparation, a grinning Justin Hang, 18 walked prom date, Disney star Allie DeBerry up the receiving line at the Genesys Athletic Club on Saturday.

If you didn't know it, the two looked just like regular dates, and in some ways it was a regular prom — a group of friends meet up, go to dinner, ride around in a party bus, and are announced before stepping out onto the receiving line, and stepping out for photos.

"I was still letting everything set in," he said, while walking before the crowd. He said DeBerry was down to earth and chilled about everything. "Everything went amazing."

The memorable night was the result of a "promposal" video Hang posted for DeBerry on March 20, which received 1,500 retweets and nearly 15,000 views on YouTube.

The Times photo reached 8,700 people, with 260 "likes" dozens of comments and 30 shares almost in one day. Most were supportive of Hang, even applauded DeBerry for following through on her promise to attend the dance with him.

On Monday, Hang was still abuzz over it, even between assessments he had to take for school. Pictures, the free party bus, dance and DJ were all great for him, his date, and friend group. This was also Hang's first prom. "I was glad it was my first prom because I don't think I can top that, it was definitely a memorable night."

He said his friends and their dates were welcoming of DeBerry, and everyone was pretty comfortable around her. He said his goal was to make sure she wasn't bored — though at first he did forget to open the door for her, at which he "freaked out" a little bit.

The only negativity he encountered was being part of column by Detroit Free Press columnist Mitch Albom, who decried both asking celebrities out to dates, and using the Internet to do so. "What matters in America is Web hits, fame, how much people are talking about you," wrote Albom in a recent column.

"He doesn't personally know me," said Hang. Albom wrote that Hang wasn't really living in reality with this promposal fame. "Everything kind of happened, so it kind of is, (reality)," he said. Hang added that he has real life plans — football and pre-med at Kal-amazoo College.

Moving forward, he expects he'll still see DeBerry online, after building a friendship over the past year. "Maybe I'll hit up Texas someday and visit," he said with a laugh.

Google™ Much more than a search engine

► Cloud capabilities, easy event tracking and virtual maps just to name a few

By Amy Mayhew

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Over the last decade or so, Google has become a household word. Whether you want to know what the best wine is to go with your spaghetti, or where the nearest dry cleaner is located, Google always has you covered.

And if you're looking for a place to easily store and access your documents, Google has you covered there, too.

Google Drive

It's Google Docs on steroids — Google Drive stands out from other cloud storage services by allowing you to store all of your documents, photos, music and other files in one place. Easily synced with your mobile devices and your computer, you can make a change on one gadget, and the change will automatically appear when you go to access it from another device. It's that easy.

If that's not enough, it will track your changes, too. In other words, if you edit a document and save it, you can still go back and look at all of your revisions from the past 30 days.

Google Calendar

Google also offers an online calendar where it's easy for you to keep track of important events all in one place.

FIVE FACTS ABOUT GOOGLE

- The name "Google" was an accident. The original founders wanted to call it "Googol."
- Gmail was used internally for nearly two years prior to being launched to the public.
- The infamous "I feel lucky" button is rarely used. Users wanted it, so it was kept as a "comfort button."
- The prime reason the Google home page is so bare is because the founders didn't know HTML and just wanted "a quick interface."
- Google has the largest network of translators in the world.

The festival was comprised of almost 950 students in choirs and bands from across the U.S. and Canada.

The Ambassador's final performances for the season will be this Friday and Saturday, May 9 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. at FHS's Ruby Zima auditorium. This show will also feature a brand new medley. Tickets are $5 in advance and $7 at the door.

A PERFECT DAY - 68 YEARS AGO

When Fenton resident Rudy Mora, 85, read about some of Fenton pitcher Jamie Castiglione's recent no-hitters, it made him pull out one of his scrapbooks from his prep career.

While playing at Bendle he recalled a seven-inning perfect game tossed by John Meltevier in a 5-0 victory against Mt. Morris on May 10, 1946. Meltevier, who lives in the Grand Blanc area, struck out seven players. Mora played shortstop during the contest. Mora remembers the squad with great pride. And he has reason to. After all, the team beat Fenton twice that season.

DAVID'S DABBLINGS

Here's a note to the Detroit Lions. When you make your first-round draft pick selection during the NFL draft on Thursday, it better not be on a wide receiver, a tight end or a running back. It better be on defense, and I hope it's on a corner back.

The NFL draft is too long. It is now a three-day process. Does anyone really watch all three days? Chances are I'll watch none of it.

Eggelston does a little better than a no-hitter

►Senior tosses eight innings of no-hit ball, earning two victories versus Fenton

By David Troppens

Holly — Drew Eggelston tossed 142 pitches last Thursday, so he knew he was on a strict pitch count during Holly's twinbill against area rivals, the Fenton Tigers.

It mattered little.

Using just 90 pitches, the number of tosses he was going to be used on Monday, the Holly senior tossed the final two innings of relief in the opening game, earning a victory in Holly's 2-1 nine-inning win. In the second game he was even more masterful. He used just 63 pitches to toss six innings of no-hit baseball, earning his second victory against Fenton in a matter of hours.

"I was on a 90-pitch cap because I threw 142 pitches last Thursday," Eggelston said. "The cutter, I call my fastball a cutter, was working, and probably my curveball was working the best. And they were whiffing on the change up too. Pretty much everything was working."

The first game was billed as a potential pitchers' duel against Fenton's Jamie Castiglione and Holly's Joel Perry. It lived to advanced billing. Both teams scored a single run against the other team's ace, but did little else. Perry tossed a two-hitter, while walking three and striking out 11. The only run he allowed came in the third when Chase Coselman singled in Zach Kostka with a single. It looked like Fenton scored another run when Landon Mikulenas hit a double, but he was called out for being out of the batter's box.

Castiglione was his usual masterful self, striking out 13 and allowing just two hits over seven innings. The only run scored against him was unearned. Perry walked and eventually scored on an infield error.

That was all the scoring until the Holly ninth. Eggelston shut Fenton out for his two innings of relief, setting up the winning score. Tom O'Connor singled, moved to third on Peyton Molzahn's single and scored on a

It was the battle of the two final undefeated teams in the Metro League girls soccer season.

That meant the winner would leave with the inside track to the Flint Metro League crown.

Linden ended the night with a 3-2 victory against Lapeer West, earning the Eagles that desired inside track.

Linden (5-0 in Metro action) scored three first-half goals and held on from there, earning the victory.

"It's a big win. Lapeer West is a very good team," Linden coach Kevin Fiebertz said. "They are just as good as we are."

They probably had more shots than us, especially in the second half, but we had some quality opportunities in the first half."

Linden, ranked 10th in the state in Division 2, took a commanding lead in the first half.

The first Linden goal was provided by Katie Wilkowski off an assist from Alia Frederick during the game's seventh minute.

The Eagles' lead grew to 2-0 with 29:56 left in the half when the two players who scored the first goal reversed

Magalski's PK earns Eagles tie with Fenton

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — Jessie Magalski said whenever she gets up to take a penalty kick, she gets a little nervous.

"Usually I pick a corner, but I never know which one until I kick it. I get so nervous usually, so it just goes wherever," Magalski said.

Nervous or not, Magalski executed on a PK with 15:52 remaining, earning the Linden Eagles a 1-1 draw against Fenton in varsity girls soccer action at Fenton High School on Friday.

Fenton enjoyed the bulk load of the offensive attack during the game, but the Tigers were unable to distance themselves from the Eagles, allowing Linden to remain within one scoring chance of a tie.

That opportunity came with about 16 minutes left when Magalski was taken down in the box, setting up the PK. She took the shot, aiming for her left corner post. Her shot made contact with the inside of the post, and then snuck inside the goal.

"That made me so scared," Magalski said. of the ball hitting the post. "I thought I was going to miss, but it went in."

The game was played in an off-and-on rain, but for the most part it didn't seem to bother the Tigers, who enjoyed an 18-5 shot edge, including a 9-2 on-frame lead. That shot advantage resulted in the Tigers taking the early lead. Fenton's Madison Wegener took a shot that initially was saved but the rebound came back to Hannah Evo who pounded it into the net.

"Brennan (Sullivan) had a great cross and we were all working really hard," Evo said. "I just knocked it in the goal."

It looked like that one-goal lead may hold on for the rest of the contest, as Linden had only one strong chance in the first half. It came on a 30-yard shot by Katie Wilkowski, but it was saved.

The Eagles have suffered their share of injuries in recent weeks, with the most noticeable loss being freshman Madeleine Zayan. And her loss was noticed on Friday.

"I thought Fenton had us on our heels most of the game, but I was happy," Linden coach Kevin Fiebert said. "The system we have set up, the pieces would move around a little different if we had our full team. Madeleine Zayan would be up top to force the issue a little bit, but we had to move some things around."

The draw means the Eagles have a win and a draw against Fenton, and remain unbeaten in games at Fenton High School this season. The Eagles also defeated Holly at Fenton earlier this year.

"We are glad we won our Metro game (against Fenton)," Magalski said. "That was the big one. This one was a tie, and a tie is a tie."

"We are learning how to work with each other. Being short-handed makes it harder to learn our new positions, but we got through it and it worked."

The Tigers had to leave the game knowing they dominated action, but were only able to get the draw — kind of a moral victory of sorts.

"It's frustrating, but we are encouraged," Evo said. "We'll come out harder for the next games we have during the season."

"We just need to keep working as a team and working hard because that's when I think we play our best, when we play together."

'Coach O' left his mark on Fenton's swim program

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com

Orley Spees made an impact on people's lives in two specific ways during his lifetime.

He influenced people's lives during his 31 years with the Flint City Police Department, retiring as a Detective Sargent in 1987. He also influenced people through the sport he loved to coach — swimming.

Spees, a Fenton resident, died on April 30 shortly after suffering a stroke. He was 77. Spees was Fenton's varsity boys and girls swim coach from 1988 until 2000, earning regional coach of the year honors in 1990. To his swimmers, he was simply known as 'Coach O.'

"I have had the pleasure of knowing and coaching with Orley since 1980 when he took over the Fenton program after working as Larry Day's assistant since 1985," current Fenton varsity boys and girls coach Brad Jones said. "I became the head coach of Fenton when Orley stepped down in 1998. Fenton swimming has always had a

Linden boys capture Stockbridge Invitational title

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

The Linden varsity boys track team seems to be peaking at the right time.

Actually, the same thing can be said about the girls' program as well.

The Linden boys captured the Stockbridge Invitational meet title on Friday, while the Linden girls placed a strong second as well.

The Fenton boys had three competitors come home with first-place efforts. Justin McKenzie won the pole vault (14-0), while Blake Bloomfield took the top spot in the 400 (52.01). Meanwhile, Kyle Frederick doubled up on his firsts, and also had two seconds as well. Frederick won the long jump (20-11) and the 300 hurdles (42.14), while taking second in the 200 (24.20) and in the 110 hurdles (16.36).

Three other Linden boys came home with individual top-five efforts. Jacob Cox had two of them. He took fourth in the 200 (24.63) while placing fifth in the 100 (11.98). Andy Bennett took home a third in the 800 (2:06.83), while Andy Roberts placed fifth in the shot put (44-7).

"It was a nice win for the boys," Linden coach Nick Douglass said. "We had some good performances, and then when you consider the weather, I think that a couple might have been great performances. We were able to win in spite of not being able to field a 3,200 relay team due to illness, and they would've finished somewhere near the front as well."

their roles on the second. This time, Frederick scored off a Wilkowski assist, giving the Eagles some breathing room. Linden scored its third before the end of the half when Freeman scored off a Wilkowski assist.

Lapeer West also scored a goal in the first half, and added a second in the second half, but were unable to tie the score again.

"We played great," Fiebertz said. "I thought our defense did a great job, weathered a pretty good storm there. Grace Walterhouse, Jessie Magalski, Bri Holscher, Teresa Walterhouse and Sam Hawkins — those girls did a great job. And our keepers did a good job as well. We split time between (Bridgett Adams and Madison Paige) and they both gave up just one goal.

"It was a big win and I'm happy for the girls. Now we just have to look forward to the rest of the season."

The last three Metro contests for Linden are at Brandon on Monday, against Lapeer East at home on May 14 and at home against Swartz Creek on May 19. If the Eagles win two of those three games, they can do no worse than tie for the Metro title. If the Eagles don't lose a game or just tie one game out of the three, then they are assured an outright championship.

"We still have Brandon, Creek and East," Fiebertz said. "On any day, anything can happen. We need to protect those three games."

"We have to keep improving, that's the main thing. We are getting better, but we are still behind a bit."

tradition of excellence, and the Spees family was part of that. I was proud to have the opportunity to become part of that program."

Jones said Spees was the reason he came to Fenton. Prior to that, Jones coached at Swartz Creek in 1989 and from 1996 until 1998. In between his tenure at Swartz Creek, he coached at Flint Southwestern.

To Spees, swimming was family. Three of his children swam at Fenton and eventually swam at the collegiate level.

"Dad was just 'Coach O' on the swim deck," daughter Teena Burchianti said.

"His presence was strong, and he willed us all to look deep inside ourselves to find strength we did not think we had."

Jason Spees recalls trying to break a 20-year-old 100 breaststroke record, and his father would motivated him every day at practice.

"(He would say) 'You can do it with hard work and focus,'" Spees said.

Spees words were true. He broke the record and still holds it.

Orley Spees, also spent time as a Fenton Little League baseball and softball coach. He was a swimming official for over 30 years.

"Orley Spees was a coach that was about kids," Jones said. "He was a mentor and motivator to every swimmer he ever had."

A memorial service will be held at Holy Spirit Lutheran Church in Grand Blanc on Saturday.

In the opener the Blue Devils had just four hits, with Zach Harper providing the lone RBI with a hit. In the second game, the Blue Devils had six hits with Neil Allor getting two. Cody Alexander also doubled.

► Linden JV at Clio Tournament: The Eagles won their first game at the Clio tourney, beating Bay City John Glenn 12-11. The Eagles scored four runs in the bottom of the sixth to get the win. ► Linden JV vs. Clio: The Eagles lost both games of the doubleheader 3-2 and 8-2.

In the opener, Gabe Nosek had the only RBI for Linden on a suicide squeeze bunt. Three errors proved costly for the Eagles. In the second game, Cole Sarkon had a hit, including a double. Linden had nine hits in the twinbill.

The doubles winners were Ashley Bearden and Hannah Horton (No. 1), Sylee Kiran and Abby Rachor (No. 2), Kendra Praedel and Katie Kurncz (No. 3), and Josie Foguth and Kate Lewandowski (No. 4). Winning singles matches were Madison Ballard (No. 1), Sydney Phipps (No. 2) and Corrine Beemer (No. 4). Sara Wakefield lost a tight three-set match at No. 3 singles.

SOFTBALL

► Fenton vs. Holly: Ellie Cowger tossed a three-inning no-hitter in the second game and Paige Dean pitched a three-inning perfect game in the opener, leading the Tigers a pair of wins. Fenton won the opener 19-0 and won the second game 15-0.

In the opener, Emma Brant had three hits, three runs scored and four RBI. Ellie Cowger had three hits, three RBI and three runs scored. Logan Cater and Macie Keller chipped in two hits each.

In the nightcap, Rachel Siekierski had three hits and three runs scored, while Carter had three hits, four RBI and two runs scored. Cowger walked one and struck out four in the second.

passed ball when Jacobson Garber struck out, but the pitch hit the dirt. O'Connor ran for home and scored on a close play, earning Holly the 2-1 win.

"Coach told me it could get interesting, so I ran on the first passed ball I saw, the first opportunity I got," O'Connor said.

In the second game, the Bronchos' bats woke up, and took a quick 2-0 lead off of two hits, a walk and an error in the first inning.

The Bronchos added four runs on just two hits in the fourth. The big blow was a two-run single by Adam Tooley. Holly led 6-1. Fenton's bats never got anything going against Eggleston, but Fenton did manage a run in the third without a hit. Drew Garrison walked and eventually scored on a passed ball strike out. It took Eggleston just 63 pitches to toss six innings of no-hit ball, striking out four batters and walking just one. He also hit a batter.

"It's something you have to be conscious about because you don't want to waste your arm," Eggleston said about his pitch count. "I'll pitch to contact if I get up there and rely on my defense."

Eggleston probably wouldn't have come out to pitch the seventh because he was at 90 pitches after getting the Tigers out in order on just five pitches in the top of the sixth. However, Holly's offense made sure no Broncho would have to pitch during the game again, scoring four runs and establishing the 10-run mercy rule. The big blast during the inning was Frankie Richmond's two-strike bases-loaded home run, ending the contest. Richmond kind of saw the moment happening moments earlier.

individual event top-five efforts, and had a relay place in the top three.

The first was earned by Rebecca McDonald in the 100 hurdles (16.33). Sydney Elmer and Savannah Ferrara had two individual top-five efforts. Elmer took second in the 1,600 (5:30.51) and fifth in the 800 (2:36.29), while Ferrara took third in the 3,200 (12:14.52) and fifth in the 1,600 (5:44.65).

Other individuals with top-five efforts included Samantha Greene, third in the 200 (28.62); Breyanna Tuinspeed, fourth in the 300 hurdles (50.62); and Jessica Daul, second in the shot put (31-0 1/2).

The 800 relay team of Miranda Greene, Samantha Greene, Jordanah Martinsen and Bella Black earned a third-place effort (1:53.52).

Holly at Bay City Western Invitational

The Holly boys earned two firsts and took fourth at the meet.

Dillon Lemond won the 3,200 (9:47.13) individually, while Dino Vianco, Vince Cantu, Kurtis Cooley and Blake Staffne earned a first in the 3,200 relay (8:12.55).

Three others earned top-five finishes. Dakota Thorington took second in the discus (152-3), while Vivanco placed third in the 800 (2:02.84). Barr was fifth in the 200 (24.08).

The Holly girls had three participants earn top-five efforts.

Allyssa Copley placed third in the shot put (37-9) and fifth in the discus (106-10). Emily Alvaredo placed second in the discus (114-3).

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | DAVID TROPPENS

Holly's Frankie Richmond leaps for joy after hitting a grand slam home run to earn the Bronchos an 11-1 victory in the second game of a doubleheader against the Fenton Tigers on Monday.

"I was talking to my friends in the dugout and told him that my dad was behind the left-field wall," Richmond said. "I told my friend I should give (my Dad) the ball (by hitting a home run). I just got in there and made contact."

The Bronchos, who were co-Metro champs a year ago, hope the sweep puts them right back in the thick of the Metro race this year.

"It's nice beating Fenton. When I grew up it was Holly-Fenton," Holly coach Benny Jackson said. "Plus, this puts us right back in the race as well."

Fenton's biggest problem was its offense. Minus the Tigers' third in the second game, Fenton never had more than a hit in any inning.

"For whatever reason, we are not hitting," Fenton coach Shawn Lawrence said. "It seemed we hit the ball hard a couple of times, but it was right at them and they made the plays. You have to tip your hat to them."

KEITH ROACH, M.D.

To your good health

DEAR DR. ROACH: Americans are infatuated with grilling, barbecuing and charring meat — all forms of high-temperature cooking. Isn't charred food carcinogenic, leading to stomach and colon cancers? — S.B.

ANSWER: Yes, charred meat is carcinogenic, at least according to the preponderance of the data. In fact, increased red meat of any kind probably increases overall cancer risk, but high-temperature cooking creates several kinds of toxic chemicals and increases colon cancer risk specifically. There is some evidence that leaner cuts of red meat aren't as dangerous, and also that marinating, especially in wine, reduces the production of the dangerous chemicals. I recommend limiting consumption of high-temperature-cooked red meats.

NEW DVD RELEASES

DVDs and movies released this week

THE ART OF THE STEAL

VERONICA MARS
On the eve of graduating law school, Veronica Mars has put Neptune and her amateur sleuthing days behind her. While interviewing at high-end New York law firms, Veronica Mars gets a call from her ex-boyfriend Logan who has been accused of murder. ### iPhone tip of the week

How to use speed dial on your iPhone

To add a contact to your Favorites or speed dial list:

1. Launch the Phone app and open the Favorites tab, first on the left.
2. Tap the + icon to search for a contact you'd like to add.
3. Select the contact's appropriate number (if there are multiple phone numbers), and which action you want to be able to access quickly for that contact (Voice call, FaceTime call or FaceTime audio call)
4. You can also tap any contact in your Contacts or Recents lists to view their details, and select Add to Favorites from there.
5. Repeat for as many contacts as you'd like (naturally, you'll want to keep this to a handful or so).

Carolyn M. Mawby

Carolyn M. Mawby - age 77, of Grand Blanc, Michigan, died peacefully at her home on Tuesday, April 29, 2014 after a prolonged illness. Carolyn was the daughter of Harold M. and Winona Mawby of Belding, Michigan. Survivors include her sister, Joyce Doty and brother, Harold (Nacny) Mawby of Belding as well as seven nieces and nephews. She was very close friends with Judy Noye, Mary Jo Clark, Sue Mackenzie, Diana Anderson, Bruce Nieuwenhuis and Margie McGuire. She was fortunate to have special neighbors, Myrtle Mae Hamilton, Norm and Barb McDonald, and Roger and Deborah Russell who were always there for her. Carolyn had many other friends throughout her life including a multitude of students she influenced. Carolyn's greatest love was music starting in the fifth grade when she acquired a used cornet. She advanced quickly and played in the senior high school band as an accomplished trumpet player. Carolyn graduated from Belding High School in 1954 and from Michigan State University in 1958 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree. She earned a Masters Degree in Music Education from Boston University. While attending MSU she was introduced to choral music and fell in love with it. Carolyn taught choral music at Grand Blanc High School for 10 years before joining the founding faculty of the Department of Music at U of M Flint where she continued to teach until her retirement in 2000. Her excellence in choral conducting was acknowledged with numerous awards throughout the years. At the time of her death she was still the Conductor of the Carolyn Mawby Chorale, a group originally formed by some of her alumni in 1987 and now a very successful performing group in the Flint area. Following Carolyn's wishes, cremation has taken place and a memorial service will be held on Saturday, May 10, 2014, 11 AM at the First Presbyterian Church of Flint. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the Carolyn M. Mawby Fund at the Community Foundation of Greater Flint or to Heartland Hospice.
