PLAN A VISIT TO 'America's roller coaster'

Cedar Point & Michigan's Adventure

By William Axford • axford@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Head two and half hours southeast of Fenton and you'll come upon a roller coaster paradise. Make the same trek to the western side of the state and you can catch a splash of cool water at Michigan's largest amusement park. Whether it's gravity-defying roller coasters or cooling water rides, Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio and Michigan's Adventure in Muskegon are ultimate summer destinations for thrill seekers.

Here are the must-see rides and what's new at each respective park.

If you haven't made a trip to Cedar Point in a few years, this may be the summer to travel down U.S. 23 south and I-80 east. Two new rides, the Pipe

Scream and Lake Erie Eagles, opened to the public in May. The Pipe Scream is a 302-foot track attraction that spins riders at 43 miles per hour, flying 43 feet above the ground. The ride is a mix of roller coaster and tilt-a-whirl, as the carriage spins in circles while traveling along the track. The second new addition, the Lake Erie Eagles, takes riders to the sky, spinning them as if they were on a carousel.

The top-thrill Dragster, Millennium Force, Maverick and other classic Cedar Point rides also await visitors. To experience the most of Cedar Point, visiting between Monday and Thursday outside of holidays are the best times to hit all of the rides. Weekends draw bigger crowds and longer lines. Holiday weekends like the Fourth of July and Labor Day bring even more people, severely cutting into riding time.

Whether it's speedy roller coasters or catching a wave, Michigan's Adventure and Cedar Point are must-visit destinations for the summer.

The 7 best Summer Skin Tips

Powder your nose

Who wants to go through the hassle of washing your face and redoing your makeup each time you need to reapply sunscreen? To streamline the process, NYC dermatologist Pat Wexler suggests touching up with mineral makeup that contains SPF 50, like the Avene High Protection Tinted Compact SPF 50.

Love your legs

"The trick to great summer legs is to alter the way light reflects off the skin's surface," Dr. Hilary Reich, Noxema's consulting dermatologist, explains. "Exfoliate first with Ahava Dead Sea Salt Softening Butter Salt Scrub or a Clarisonic Brush. Then apply Caudalie Vine Body Butter. For the final touch, rub on Michael Kors Leg Shine to Go."

"The trick to great summer legs is to alter the way light reflects off the skin's surface."

Sip some red wine

White wine is refreshing in the summer, but red wine is healing. Resveratrol, a naturally occurring phenol found in the skin of red grapes can decrease redness from acute sunburns. It has an anti-inflammatory and antioxidant effect. Cheers!

Feed your face

According to Facialist Kate Somerville, the best tool for an even summer skintone is probably already in your fridge. "Cut a large strawberry in half, take a fork and poke at the flesh to awaken the juices, then swipe it across your face in small circles," she says. "Leave it on for about two minutes, then rinse off. This will brighten sun and age spots over time."

Eat your SPF (really!)

"There's some evidence that oral intake of vitamins C and E together can limit potential for sunburn," Dr. Giles notes. A salad with vitamin C rich citrus, berries, tomato, and vitamin E rich nuts is an ideal SPF meal.

Load up on melon

Cantaloupe is the melon of choice for beautiful summer skin, according to Dr. Nicholas Perricone, NYC antiaging dermatologist and proponent of treating skin from within. "The sweet delicious fruit is rich in antioxidants and delivers a unique hydration to the skin, resulting in a radiant complexion." Facialist Kate Somerville, whose clients include Katy Perry, Jessica Alba and Katherine Heigl, likes watermelon in the summer months. "It can actually boost your SPF by several factors," she says.

Take a cold shower

Hot showers after sun exposure further dry skin. Turn down the temperature and you'll pick up a few added benefits. "A cool shower after excess sweating helps keep the skin unoccluded, decreasing acne breakouts," dermatologist Dr. Neil Sadick says.

The Good-Skin Diet: Foods for Healthier Skin

GET GLOWING WITH CHOCOLATE

Cocoa hydrates your skin, making it firmer and more supple

PREVENT WRINKLES WITH YOGURT

The protein from eating dairy helps skin become firmer, so it's more resistant to lines

PROTECT WITH POMEGRANATES

Antioxidants help smooth lines and moisturize

SOFTEN SKIN WITH WALNUTS

Walnuts contain omega-3 essential fatty acids, which can improve skin's elasticity

FIGHT CROW'S FEET WITH PEPPERS

The antioxidants in yellow and orange veggies can decrease skin's sensitivity to the sun

BRIGHTEN UP WITH SUNFLOWER SEEDS

The vitamin E in sunflower seeds keeps your skin supple by protecting its top layers from the sun

The mystery of the missing Bible

When we arrived at church one Sunday, I reached for my Bible and it wasn't in its usual place in the car.

'That's strange,' I thought, feeling sure I remembered carrying this new Bible out of the house to the garage. Later, a search of our house seemed to prove my sometimes faulty memory to be on target.

'Could you have placed your Bible on top of the car when you opened the garage door?' Pauline asked. After praying for guidance in our search, we began retracing the route to church, driving slowly and watching both sides of the road. Rain was predicted and we were eager to find the lost Bible.

'There it is!' I exclaimed, after about a mile of scanning pavement and ditches. Someone had found my Bible and placed it on top of an old kitchen stove that was for sale beside the road, expecting the owner would come looking for it.

Why all this concern over a Bible? Don't I have other Bibles? Of course. But this new one was a gift of love from the woman I love; a fitting gift because the Bible has been our guide throughout our life. We read the Bible together the morning after our wedding and it has been an important part of our lives ever since.

But there's another missing Bible mystery. Why do people allow this wonderful Book to be missing from their lives when its powerful teachings bring so much good to those who allow them to be their guide?

We all go through dark days and the Bible is an unfailing source of light for these tough times. 'Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path,' said the Psalmist (Psalm 119:105).

In times of grief, loss, confusion and depression, millions have found their way out of deepening darkness by reading and believing the Book of light.

Helen Keller, who was born blind and deaf, said, 'Somehow the mystery of language was revealed to me. I learned, for instance, that the word 'water' meant that wonderful cool something that flowed over my hand. Now I know the living Word — God's Word — awakened my soul, gave it light, hope, joy and set me free. The Bible seems to me like a river of light flowing through my darkness and it has kept my hope of accomplishments bright when things seemed too difficult to overcome.'

When death invades our homes, the Bible offers hope beyond the grave. This Book of comfort has dried the tears of grieving people everywhere when all other comforters have failed.

President Woodrow Wilson said we deprive ourselves of the best there is in the world when we deprive ourselves of the Bible. Still, some could lose their Bibles and never miss them.

And that will always be a mystery to me.

MICHIGAN VOTES

MichiganVotes.org is a free, non-partisan website created by the Mackinac Center for Public Policy, to provide concise, non-partisan, plain-English descriptions of every bill and vote in the Michigan House and Senate. The Legislature has adjourned for an extended summer break. Due to the volume of activity this week, a supplemental report next week will contain more votes. This report was released Friday, June 13.

House Bill 5615: Make buying ephedrine for meth a RICO crime. To include purchasing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine knowing it will be used to illegally manufacture methamphetamine, and closely related offenses, in the list of "predicate" crimes that come under the state racketeering law (RICO), which among other things would allow the seizure and sale of a violator's assets, with the proceeds going to law enforcement agencies. Introduced by Rep. John Kivela (D). Passed 107 to 2 in the House
Rep. Joe Graves (R-Argentine Township)
☒ YES ☐ NO

House Bill 5414: Reduce, then end "driver responsibility fees." To gradually reduce the so-called "driver responsibility fees" (a.k.a. "bad driver tax") imposed for certain traffic violations, ending them for most offenses as of Oct. 1, 2019. These fees were adopted in 2003 to avoid state budget spending cuts. Reportedly, thousands of low-income individuals have lost their licenses due to inability to pay these penalties. Senate Bill 633 would authorize doing "community service" as an alternative in many cases. Introduced by Rep. Joseph Haveman (R). Passed 37 to 0 in the Senate
Rep. Joe Graves (R-Argentine Township)
☒ YES ☐ NO

Senate Bill 667: Ban minors from using "e-cigarettes." To prohibit minors from using electronic cigarettes, making it a misdemeanor crime punishable by a $50 fine, community service, and being ordered into a health promotion and risk-reduction program. Senate Bill 668 adds e-cigarettes to the law prohibiting merchants from selling tobacco to minors. Introduced by Sen. Glenn Anderson (D). Passed 94 to 16 in the House
Rep. Joe Graves (R-Argentine Township)
☒ YES ☐ NO

House Bill 5314: Senate vote on education budget. The final education budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1, 2014. The bill authorizes $13.870 billion for K-12 public schools, a $509 million increase. It also appropriates $1.516 billion for state universities, compared to $1.430 billion this year; and $364 million for community colleges, up from $335 million. The bill increases per-student "foundation allowances" for higher-spending K-12 school districts by $50, and by $125 for lower-spending ones. However, distributions to school districts are understated by around $400 per student compared to pre-2012 budgets, because the state is now depositing a portion of their pension costs directly into the pension system (rather than the previous practice of sending it all to the districts to deposit). Reportedly, the gap between funding levels at the highest and lowest spending districts has decreased to $848, compared to around $2,300 when the Proposal A school finance overhaul was approved in 1994. Introduced by Rep. Bill Rogers (R). Passed 21 to 17
Sen. Jim Ananich (D-Genesee County)
☐ YES ☒ NO
Sen. Dave Robertson (R-Genesee County)
☒ YES ☐ NO

Senate Bill 789: Revise concealed pistol license procedures. To eliminate county concealed weapon licensing boards, and transfer the responsibility for administering and issuing concealed pistol licenses to county clerks, with the State Police still performing the background checks required by the law. The bill also lowers the application fee and revises a number of other details in the CPL law, including details of mental health disqualifications. Introduced by Sen. Michael Green (R). Passed 24 to 13
Sen. Jim Ananich (D-Genesee County)
☒ DID NOT VOTE
Sen. Dave Robertson (R-Genesee County)
☒ YES ☐ NO

Senate Bill 850: Exempt public safety from no-contract "step pay hike" ban. To exempt law enforcement and fire department employees from a 2011 law that banned automatic seniority-based automatic pay hikes for individual government employees ("step increases") during the time when a government employee union contract has expired and no replacement has been negotiated. Specifically, the bill would exempt public safety workers covered by a 1969 compulsory arbitration law. Introduced by Sen. Patrick Colbeck (R). Passed 27 to 10 in the Senate
Sen. Jim Ananich (D-Genesee County)
☒ DID NOT VOTE
Sen. Dave Robertson (R-Genesee County)
☐ YES ☒ NO

Senate Bill 536: Expand real estate development tax breaks. To authorize property tax exemptions of five to seven years for property owned by a non-profit organization whose purpose is real estate development, if the local government agrees, and if the organization is approved by the political appointees on the board of the state agency responsible for granting and overseeing selective tax breaks and subsidies to particular corporations or developers (the "Michigan Economic Development Corporation," an arm of the "Michigan Strategic Fund"). Introduced by Sen. John Proos, IV (R). Passed 70 to 39 in the House
Rep. Joe Graves (R-Argentine Twp.)
☐ YES ☒ NO

House Bill 5314: House vote on education budget. The state education budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1, 2014. See Senate vote above for description. Passed 60 to 50
Rep. Joe Graves (R-Argentine Twp.)
☐ YES ☒ NO

House Bill 5313: House vote on state budget. The House vote on the state government budget for the fiscal year that begins on Oct. 1, 2014. See Senate vote above for description. Introduced by Rep. Joseph Haveman (R). Passed 100 to 10

A-Team Gutters

Local home improvement company adds storefront

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

A-Team Gutters has been a local company since 2011, but owners Todd and Stacey Mrazik have taken their business to the next level with a new storefront.

Their new location at 1490 Torrey Rd., Building A in Fenton now has a showroom and display for customers to view all their new products.

"The biggest misconception with gutters is that they are an unattractive part of your home's exterior," said Todd, who has been installing gutters for 15 years. "If done right, they can actually add architectural detail to your home, in addition to being functional."

A-Team Gutters primarily creates custom gutters for customers, for example, gutters that look like crown molding. "We can make gutters that either blend in to your home's exterior, or ones that add a decorative feature," said Todd, whose company also offers other home improvement services. In addition to gutters, they also promote three different kinds of gutter covers for leaf protection.

Deriving their company name from Todd's reputation as a top worker on a work crew many years ago, A-Team Gutter takes pride in paying attention to every detail. Todd's wife, Stacey, takes care of office duties and scheduling A-Team's seven employees.

CEREC DENTISTRY

CEREC is a state of the art, high tech, CAD/CAM dental technology that gives my dental practice the ability to provide life-like, ceramic inlays, onlays, and crowns. CEREC is the latest in technology for fixing teeth. As discussed previously, there is a tremendous difference between a filling and a restoration. Restorations, such as inlays, onlays and crowns are much stronger, providing reinforcement to the tooth and therefore last much longer than fillings. Before the advent of the CEREC system the only way to provide crown and inlay/onlay restorations for patients was with the help of an outside dental laboratory. This involves multiple dental office appointments, dental impressions, temporary restorations, etc. What makes the CEREC system so revolutionary? It is that you can have a crown or inlay/onlay restoration completed in a single dental office visit; NO messy impressions, NO problematic temporaries, NO inconvenient second or more appointments. The dental work is finished, complete, done, over with in one visit, more comfortably, more convenient, more life-like, more conservatively. I find that if patients are going to take time out of their lives to come to the dentist; they really appreciate having the work done in a single visit - Very cool! If you want to learn more about high tech CEREC dentistry please call for your

Veterans face new battle against bureaucracy

We recently observed the 70th anniversary of the Allied invasion in Normandy that so changed WWII. It is hard to imagine the courage of men who surged from landing craft into the battle.

We owe much to the grit that those men — and those who have served after them — displayed.

Now our veterans are fighting a new war — a battle against bureaucracy and delays in obtaining medical care. We have all heard of the delayed medical care by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, including screening tests that catch disease at its early stages.

I believe the federal government is sincere in making changes to accommodate veterans who have been waiting for treatment. The VA is scrapping bonuses, considered as one of the reasons veterans were being kept on waiting lists.

I introduced resolutions urging the federal government to make medical care for veterans a priority. It's appalling that veterans who put their lives on the line should be dying because they cannot get screening tests. Every veteran who needs medical care should receive it, even if that means in non-VA facilities.

Imagine if the heroes of D-Day had waited until the beaches were clear of enemy troops before coming ashore. The results of WWII would have been different. They knew there was an immediate need for action — the same kind of immediate need many of those veterans have today. I intend to keep pushing for reforms in the VA system so all veterans receive the medical care they so deserve.

'When you get them in front of a horse, they light up'

► Retired career horses find new purpose, companions at Tanglewood

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Tyrone Twp. — Walking onto the green of a horse pasture can change almost anyone's mood.

"You feel the stress level drop immediately when you walk in the barn," said John Strayer, who owns Tanglewood Assisted Living with his wife, Gail.

This barn, and these horses are an extension of the assisted living facility, where both animal and human receive therapy from the interaction.

Instead of "horse hospice," Strayer sees it as assisted living for horses. A more accurate term might be "horse retirement."

"This is generally their last stop," said Strayer. Their calm temperament is perfect for interacting with the elderly residents of Tanglewood.

The compound is on 28 acres with a barn, pastures, fences and all parts of Tanglewood Assisted Living.

The Strayers bought the property in 1993, and obtained their license in 1995. The intent was always to have horses, as they have always been a part of Gail's life.

There are two 10-acre parcels, with a pasture in both, and some woodlands also. It took a couple more years for the barn and fences, built around 1998. Since then, they've had approximately 15 horses come through.

Four horses are housed here currently. One is actually too young to train, and will leave when old enough to start a career.

The others are retired. Two of the horses prefer to sleep in the barn every night, while two stay in outboard stalls.

The last horse passed about two years ago, in its 20s. Usually, a horse's career ends in its teens, and then it can live another 10 years after that.

Many of the horses that came through Tanglewood had competed in their past.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Layla, a 21-year-old horse, is fitted with a saddle by Morgan Loomis, 17, assisted by Jewel Gansley, 12, (right) and Jessie Gansley, 14. The horse barn has minimal staffing, but more is needed on activity days.

Most recently a dressage horse that in the prime of his career, took ill with a debilitating nerve disorder. He was even an extra in the movie "Real Steel."

"He probably would have continued to do great things in competition," he said.

Other horses that competed in many jumping competitions, like human athletes, wear out their joints and have to retire. Strayer said many owners, once they have to retire a horse, want their beloved equine to have a great life after competitions.

At the barn, staffing is light. Gail has one full-time helper all year long, with some part-time help during the spring and summer.

Every morning and afternoon, the horses are fed and watered, and they graze on the variety of grasses planted in the summer. The Strayers grow and harvest their own hay, as well.

The routine for residents is to get outside during the horses' feeding time. They can help with the feeding, grooming, or just be near the horses in

"I think it has something to do with the size of the horse, something about the attachment. You feel a real connection between you and the horse."

John Strayer

Jim Crass enjoys the horses, and also just sitting by the pasture.

a relaxed atmosphere.

Alzheimer's and patients with dementia benefit in surprising ways. "We get responses from some residents who are completely unresponsive," said Strayer, even to their own family members. "When you get them in front of a horse, they light up. We've seen that on several occasions."

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Maggie Cox, who has dementia, tends to smile and brighten when interacting with the horses. Here she is assisted by Tanglewood manager Angie Bostwick, and Assistant Manager Toni Dill. Residents also like to sit out on the deck.

Michigan's Adventure is Michigan's largest amusement and water park, offering more than 60 attractions. Excitement for all ages awaits at Michigan's Adventure and WildWater Adventure, with seven roller coasters and more than 20 water rides, including the world-class Shivering Timbers wooden roller coaster.

ROLLER COASTER

If you prefer gliding down water slides to the summer heat, make the drive onto I-69 east to I-96 east into Muskegon. There lies Michigan's Adventure, which boasts 53 different rides and is owned by the Cedar Point company. The WildWater Adventure portion of the park features water slides of various speeds and heights, from the slow-moving Lazy River to the 300-foot Funnel of Fear slide. Tidal waves, a children's area and multiple-person raft slides round out the rest of the water rides at Michigan's Adventure.

Although not as massive as the rides in Sandusky, Michigan's Adventure has enough roller coasters to justify at least one trip for thrill seekers. The park has its own version of the Corkscrew, a 70-foot, 45-mile-per-hour ride that has two corkscrew inversions. The wooden, 5,383-foot Shivering Timbers consistently ranks as one of the top roller coasters in the country by the magazine Amusement Today. The Thunderhawk may be the park's most impressive roller coaster. With an 85-foot drop at 50 miles per hour and three loops, only the dedicated will take pleasure in the ride.

Each amusement park is roughly 160 miles away from the city of Fenton and takes less than three hours of driving time.

A one-day pass to Michigan's Adventure is $29.99; a two-day pass runs $49.99.

For Cedar Point, admission varies. Purchasing a ticket three days in advance will cost $47.99. A single-day ticket costs $49.99. A two-day pass runs $87.99.

For those who will be making multiple trips to both parks, a $200 season pass is the way to go. The pass is good for both parks and will last into the fall. For more information on rides and prices, visit Cedarpoint.com and Miadventure.com.

Cash-strapped couple worries best friend

DEAR AMY: I am worried about my best friend and her husband. They are always short of cash and do not have any savings. Their electricity has been cut off twice. What troubles me the most is that they have two young boys who are growing up quickly. I resent these people for having these children without being able to give them everything they will need. It breaks my heart knowing the boys will never have all of the opportunities most ‘normal’ kids would. This is a sensitive topic. We rarely talk about it, but should I confront them about their lack of finances and my worry for the boys’ futures? — Worried

DEAR WORRIED: What you should not do is judge these parents for having children. It is possible for these parents to give their children a nice, quality life without having lots of material advantages, although the chaos that comes with poor financial management is definitely not good for them. There is no point in you confronting these parents about their poor financial choices. What you should do is point them toward resources that might be helpful and encourage them to change. They would benefit from a ‘boot camp’ approach to household financial management. They must go through this process together (otherwise one will undermine the other’s efforts). You could also hope to inspire them by giving them the book ‘The Total Money Makeover: Classic Edition: A Proven Plan for Financial Fitness’ by anti-debt guru Dave Ramsey (2013, Thomas Nelson). Among Ramsey’s common-sense ‘baby steps’ to reduce debt is to make a list of all debts and pay off the smallest amount of debt first. Having an early modest victory can inspire people to build on their success.

DEAR AMY: Do you think it is any less appropriate, less mean-spirited and less intrusive for a woman to comment that another woman is too thin and needs to put some meat on her bones than it would be for her to state that a woman is too fat and needs to lose some weight? — Amazed

DEAR AMAZED: Honestly, unless a person states ‘I’m worried about my weight. Do you think I’m too fat (too thin, too muscular, too whatever),’ no one should ever volunteer a corrective opinion or suggestion about another person’s body shape or weight. Weight is a tender and intimate issue. Unsolicited comments can do more harm than good.

iPhone tip of the week

Get your iPhone’s flash to blink when you get a message

If you find that the vibration or sound that your phone makes when you get a message is not always enough to attract your attention, there’s another element that you can add to the alert – light. By going to Settings > General > Accessibility and scrolling down to the ‘Hearing’ section (this feature is designed for people with hearing impairments), you can turn on ‘LED Flash for Alerts’. Now every time you get a notification, the flash next to your iPhone’s rear-facing camera will blink.

KEITH ROACH, M.D.

To your good health

DEAR DR. ROACH: Can you tell me why there is so much emphasis on small portions for diabetics or prediabetics? If you are watching carbs and are extremely underweight, is there still a reason to limit portion sizes? — C.

ANSWER: The majority of people in North America with diabetes and prediabetes are overweight or obese, so limiting portion size makes sense for most people. However, for the minority of people with diabetes or prediabetes with normal or below-normal weight, portion size no longer has the importance it does in overweight people. A careful diet is important for everyone with diabetes. I would be cautious about the term ‘carbs,’ since there are several different types of carbohydrates. Simple sugars and starches are the problem for diabetics, since they are rapidly converted to blood sugar. However, fruits, vegetables and whole grains are much more slowly turned into blood sugar, and along with high-quality protein and healthy fat, form the basis of a healthy diet for everybody — diabetics and non-diabetics alike. Being underweight with diabetes should raise the possibility of Type 1 diabetes, which is caused by autoimmune destruction of the cells in the pancreas that make insulin. Type 1 diabetics have no or almost no insulin, and absolutely need insulin by injection. Most people with Type 1 are children or adolescents, but it can happen in adults. Type 2 diabetes is caused by resistance to insulin. Most Type 2 diabetics have normal or even high levels of insulin. Insulin helps bring sugar from the blood into cells, but it also acts as a growth hormone. That’s one of the reasons Type 2 diabetics have trouble losing weight, since the high insulin levels promote fat deposition. Type 2 diabetes is more common in adults, but as North Americans continue to have increasing rates of obesity, Type 2 diabetes is showing up at younger and younger ages. The situation is even more complex than I have made it here. There are people with elements of both Type 1 and 2 diabetes, and even rarer types. I believe Type 1 diabetics should be managed by an endocrinologist. Sophisticated blood tests, including insulin, C-peptide and insulin antibodies, occasionally are necessary to sort out what kind of diabetes is present. Diabetes is a serious, lifelong condition that can affect almost every part of the body.

MORNING PIZZA

Prep Time: 15 minutes

Cook Time: 40 minutes

Yield: 6 servings

INGREDIENTS

- 1 lb. refrigerated pizza dough
- 1 T. olive oil
- 1-1/2 cup shredded Sharp Cheddar cheese, divided
- 1/3 cup sliced green onions, divided
- 1 plum tomato, sliced
- 6 slices of bacon
- 4 eggs

DIRECTIONS

1. Heat oven to 375 F degrees. Spray a baking sheet with cooking spray.
2. Pat and stretch dough into a 14 x 6 rustic rectangular on the prepared baking sheet. Brush with olive oil.
3. Top with 1 cup cheese and half of the green onions, leaving four 3-inch areas of the dough untopped (eggs will be placed here).
4. In a bowl, crack eggs one at a time and gently slip onto untopped space on dough.
5. Top dough with bacon, tomatoes, remaining cheese and green onions, being careful not to avoid topping the eggs.
6. Bake for 23 to 25 minutes or until crust is golden brown and eggs are done.
