Here's how to choose the best bird for Thanksgiving

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Presenting the perfect turkey on Thanksgiving Day starts way before the bird goes into the oven. It actually begins at the grocery store, when you select the turkey that will best fit your cooking style, your family's preferences and budget.

With Thanksgiving less than two weeks away, it's time for every cook to make the decision about which kind of bird to buy. The choices are endless — frozen, fresh, natural, organic, kosher, to name just a few. But when it comes down to the vast majority of turkey purchases, the main decision is fresh vs. frozen.

Fresh vs. frozen

Frozen turkeys are widely available and are the least expensive option. There may not be an appreciable difference in quality between a fresh and frozen turkey, depending on where you buy them.

If you buy your fresh turkey at a local farm, your bird will have a more true turkey taste and roast-like fall-apart texture. But it will also come with a higher price tag.

Think beyond the bird

It's not always “all about the turkey” when it comes to enjoying a Thanksgiving feast. If you want to spend less time in the kitchen and more time visiting with family and friends, maybe you'll decide to spend a couple of hours dining out at a local restaurant that's open for Thanksgiving. If you do decide to cook at home, maybe you'll want to try a different meat other than turkey as your meal's “main attraction.”

While turkey is by far the most popular Thanksgiving Day entree, many other meats prepared in special ways can create a memorable meal.

RECIPES

Spiral ham with orange-mustard glaze

Succulent spiral ham is brushed with a glaze of tangy orange marmalade and sharp Dijon mustard, and then roasted until it has created a delicious caramelized outer layer.

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 jar (12 oz) orange marmalade
- 3 T. Dijon mustard
- 1 fully cooked 7-8 pound spiral-sliced bone-in half-ham (shank or butt)

PREPARATION:

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Line a roasting pan with nonstick foil. Mix marmalade and mustard in a small bowl. Place ham in roasting pan. Brush on some of the glaze. Cover loosely with nonstick foil and bake according to package directions, brushing on more glaze halfway through baking time. Serve ham with remaining glaze to drizzle over slices.

They are located in the St. Marys River joining Lake Huron and Lake Superior, where ships rise and fall 21 feet to continue their journey. It takes 22 million gallons of water to lift a boat. CHEERING ON THE LIONS EVERY THANKSGIVING

The Lions' Thanksgiving Day Game was the brainchild of G.A. Richards, the first owner of the Detroit Lions. The Lions were the new kids in town and had taken a backseat to Tigers baseball. Richards had convinced the NBC Radio Network to carry the game coast-to-coast (94 stations) and, additionally, an estimated 26,000 fans jammed into the University of Detroit Stadium while thousands more disappointed fans were turned away. Despite the Bears winning the inaugural game, 19-16, a classic was born. Since 1934, 69 games have been played with the Lions holding a series record of 33-34-2.

WILD HISTORY

THE DETROIT ZOO was the first zoo in America to feature cageless, open-exhibits that allowed the animals more freedom to roam. In the 1880s, a circus came to Detroit, but while there, it went bankrupt. A Detroit philanthropist purchased the animals and started the zoo. Just a year later, the zoo closed, but in 1911, a society formed to re-open it. That occurred in 1928, when the zoo moved to Royal Oak, and Detroit became the first city in the United States to have a "cageless" zoo.

Taming the beast behind your teeth

Have you said something you regret? You're not the first to do so.

Through the centuries, careless and cutting words have wounded hearers and brought regret to those who spoke them. Churches have been divided, family ties broken and friendships torn apart by unkind words harshly spoken.

One of the saddest stories of the power of wounding words I have heard relates to a marriage that suffered a verbal blow shortly after the wedding. The couple stayed together for years, but the husband never recovered from a cutting comment made by his bride and named this as one of the main causes of their ultimate divorce.

The Bible calls the tongue a fire that can cause hellish destruction (James 3:5). Experience agrees.

In his book, 'The Tongue - Angel or Demon?' George Sweeting warned, 'A fiery tongue is like a burning match in a gasoline tank. The tongue ignites a great fire. A word of hate inflames opposition. A mocking word incites bitterness. An evil word may kindle a career of sin. A foul word heard on the streets, in the shop, in the school, may start fires burning within until nothing is left but ashes.'

'Contentious tongues have hindered the work of God a thousand times over. Critical tongues have broken the hearts and health of many pastors.'

On the other hand, the tongue has immense potential for good. Most of us remember when someone has come along at a critical time in our lives with just the right words to help us through some difficulty. Looking back, we know this was no chance encounter. These encouragers arrived right on time because this was part of God's plan and the result of His love.

We have all spoken words we'd like to recall. Sometimes we've made enemies or offended people when we didn't intend to do so. But these verbal blunders do not mean we're to live with regret for the rest of our lives, the victims of our own voices. We can be forgiven...and change.

Consider Peter. Three times, just before the crucifixion, he denied that he even knew his Lord and emphasized these three infamous denials with profanity. Still, his troubling lapse of faith and shameful conduct did not render him useless for life. The same tongue that had been profane under pressure demonstrated the proof of his faith when surrendered to God, making him one of the most influential spokesmen of the first century church.

So there is hope for you. God forgives and wants to become the Lord of your language. You've not been able to control your unruly tongue, but God can. He will cause your words to heal instead of hurt, to build up rather than tear down.

But this change must begin in your heart. When God is in control of your life, that wild beast caged behind your teeth will be tamed and you won't have to live with regret anymore.

Bacon-wrapped pork loin

This bacon-wrapped pork loin is finished with a delicious brown sugar glaze. Serve this flavorful roast with mashed potatoes, corn, and a tossed salad.

INGREDIENTS:

1 (5-6 pound) boneless pork loin
4 to 6 slices bacon

Rub:

1 t. chili powder
½ t. paprika
1½ t. salt
½ t. coarse ground black pepper
½ t. ground cumin
1 t. ground cinnamon

Glaze:

1 c. light brown sugar, packed
2 T. flour
2 T. cider vinegar
½ t. dry mustard

PREPARATION:

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Place pork loin in a roasting pan. Combine the rub ingredients and rub over the pork. Cut each strip of bacon in half crosswise and lay them over the pork loin. Roast for about 1½ to 2 hours or until the pork registers 150 degrees. Combine brown sugar, flour, cider vinegar, and dry mustard in a saucepan. Bring to a simmer and simmer for about 1 minute. Spoon over the pork and return to the oven. Roast for about 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until pork registers 160 degrees. Serves 6 to 8.

Beef tenderloin with red wine sauce

The Bordelaise-style sauce is made with red wine and beef broth, along with mushrooms and seasonings. Use a meat thermometer or instant-read thermometer to keep a close eye on this roast's temperature.

INGREDIENTS:

1½ to 2 pounds beef tenderloin
1 clove garlic, halved
Salt and pepper
2 T. olive oil
4 to 6 ozs. mushrooms, thinly sliced
1 shallot, chopped, or 2 green onions
1 clove garlic, finely minced
3 T. flour
1½ c. dry red wine, such as Pinot Noir or Cabernet Sauvignon
1 can (10-½ oz.) condensed beef broth
¼ t. dried leaf thyme
Salt and pepper, to taste

PREPARATION:

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Rub roast with garlic cloves; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roast the tenderloin in an open shallow pan for about 30 to 35 minutes, to about 125-130 degrees for medium rare to medium. Remove roast to a warm platter and let rest. Add oil, mushrooms, chopped shallot or green onion, and minced garlic to pan drippings; place over medium heat and sauté until tender. Stir in flour until well blended; add the red wine and broth. Simmer until reduced by about 1/4 to 1/3. Add thyme, salt and pepper to taste. Serve alongside sliced tenderloin. Serves four.

THANKSGIVING

When you purchase a fresh turkey at the grocery store, the difference between fresh and its frozen counterpart is the fact that the fresh one has never been frozen. It may, however, have been chilled to as low as 26 degrees, which may result in a drier bird.

"I was told years ago that the frozen ones are probably fresher than the fresh ones, because they are immediately frozen at peak flavor," said Craig Leppek, meat manager at Holly Foods. "Some people don't like to bother with thawing a frozen turkey. We've got something for everyone, but Spartan frozen turkeys are by far our biggest seller."

At VG's Grocery, Meat Manager Mark Russell says you'll pay about 54 cents per pound for a Spartan frozen turkey, and about $1 per pound for a fresh turkey. "About two-thirds of the turkeys we sell at VG's are Spartan frozen turkeys, although we do sell Butterball and HoneySuckle."

Chris Hawk, meat manager at Alpine Marketplace in Linden, said that in his 30 years as meat manager, he has never had a single complaint about a Spartan frozen turkey. "That's what we serve for Thanksgiving at our house."

Because today's commercial turkeys are bred to grow bigger in less time and on less feed, they have less fat when fully grown, and fat is what provides meat with juiciness and flavor. Most frozen turkeys are pre-basted, meaning that turkey growers are returning flavor and fat into the bird to season the meat and keep it moist.

One advantage of frozen over fresh turkeys is that you can get just about any size of bird you're looking for. When you're buying fresh from a farm, you have to take the sizes that are available. With fresh turkeys, you don't have to find freezer space for storage, but you can't pick them up from the store more than a couple of days ahead of your roasting time.

Free-range

If you're interested in a free-range fresh turkey, it may already be too late to order one from a local farm. Patricia Roeske of Hartland Farms said that all their fresh turkeys were reserved back in August and September, but that frozen ones from their summer flock weighing 29-31 pounds are still available. "We sold out earlier than ever this year," said Roeske. "The frozen ones taste just as good, because they're raised the same; free-range and pasture and grain fed." These turkeys are priced at $3.25 per pound.

Thompson Creek Turkey Farm in Flint still has fresh, free-range turkeys in the 12 to 14 pound size range through their Mill Road store, priced at $2.29 per pound, according to Assistant Manager Kristin Oskey. "Date and time slots for picking up fresh turkeys are filling up fast," she said.

What size of turkey should you buy?

The rule of thumb is one pound of uncooked turkey per person, which provides

Why do we eat turkey for Thanksgiving?

Although turkeys are the main cuisine of today's Thanksgiving celebrations, these birds were not the most popular centerpieces on the first Thanksgiving tables. In 1621, when the Plymouth colonists and Wampanoag Indians celebrated the first Thanksgiving, they were gobbling up much more than turkey. Since lobster, goose, duck, seal, eel, and cod were plentiful during this time, these foods were most likely the main courses of this first feast. Deer meat and wild fowl are the only two items that historians know for sure were on the menu of this autumn celebration.

So how did the turkey become the main attraction of modern-day Thanksgiving, if we don't know that turkeys were at this first feast?

One story tells of how Queen Elizabeth of 16th century England was eating roast goose during a harvest festival. When news was delivered to her that the Spanish Armada had sunk on its way to attack her beloved England, the queen was so pleased that she ordered a second goose to celebrate the great news. Thus, the goose became the favorite bird at harvest time in England.

When the Pilgrims arrived in America from England, roasted turkey replaced roasted goose as the main cuisine because wild turkeys were more abundant and easier to find than geese.

enough for everyone to have a generous serving, with leftovers for the weekend.

If your family wants mostly white meat, consider cooking an additional turkey breast. If your family prefers dark meat, cook two smaller turkeys instead of one large one. They'll cook faster than a larger turkey and are easier for one person to handle. Plus, it doubles the drumsticks and wishbones.

If you don't have time to cook, you have many other options. You can buy a whole roasted or fried turkey from Thompsonville Turkey Farm for $54.99 or a complete dinner "with all the trimmings" from there or local grocery stores. Many restaurants are also open on Thanksgiving Day, but you'll need to make reservations soon.

ESA/INT

Shown here is a still image from animation of Philae separating from Rosetta and descending to the surface of comet 67P/Churyumov-Gerasimenko on Nov. 12.

Space exploration project hopes to learn more about the Solar System's infancy

By Christopher Jones

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Nov. 12 marked an important milestone in space exploration, as the Philae lander of the European Space Agency (ESA) touched down on a comet after a tense seven-hour descent from its mother craft.

Philae's mother craft Rosetta had been orbiting the comet for the past three months, in fact marking its own milestone as the first spacecraft to rendezvous with a comet. This landing marks the historical end of a 10-year flight from Earth that began on March 2, 2004 and spanned 6.4 billion kilometers.

Matt Taylor, one of the project's scientists said that the main goal of the project is to better characterize a comet from the surface.

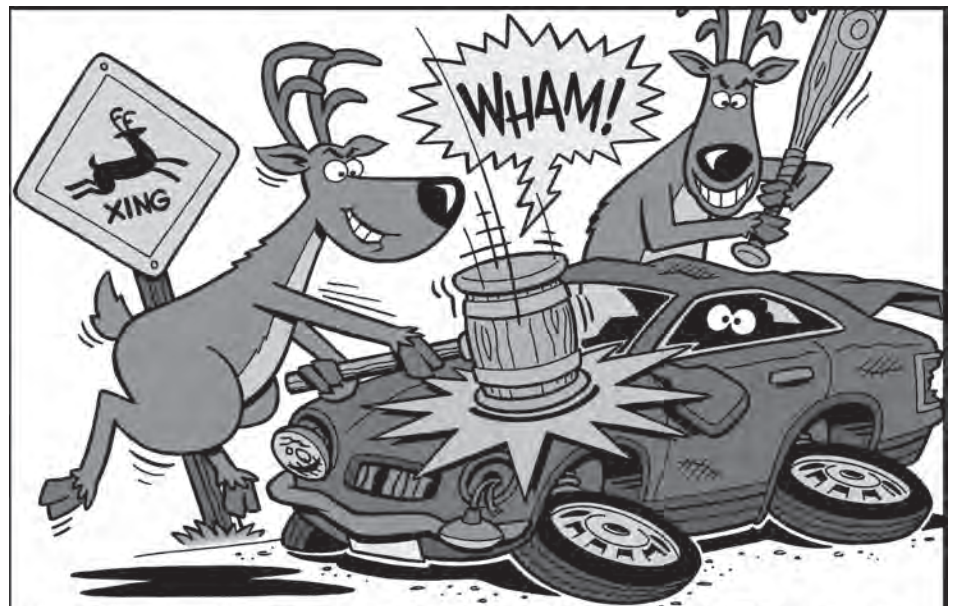

The ESA reports that Philae's scientific exploration will range from on-the-spot analysis of the surface composition to collecting samples from a depth of 23 meters with a drill for scanning on an onboard computer. Low frequency radio signals beamed between Philae and Rosetta through the nucleus will probe the internal structure.

Comets are the byproducts of the formation of the Solar System, referred to by Taylor as "time capsules." With Philae's eye finally on the surface, with experiments to continue for at least a year, the projects leaders believed they have opened a door into the beginning of the Solar System and a better understanding of what has changed since then.

"I'm really glad that they were able to land," said Holly High School science teacher Lachelle Lemmons, "Hopefully they can get some good data." Lemmons had talked about the landing with an independent-study student, and the power issues the lander has been having.

"Right now it's my understanding that it's in too much shadow," said Lemmons. "Hopefully they can get it positioned so that they can do a full mission."

The health benefits of quitting smoking can start in as little as 20 minutes. Smokers are encouraged to begin their smoke-free lifestyle during the Great American Smokeout on Nov. 20.

Within 20 minutes after your last smoke, you could feel better

►Stop smoking for the Great American Smokeout

By Yvonne Stegall
ystegall@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Thursday, Nov. 20 is the day of the Great American Smokeout, and ironically, after 20 minutes of not smoking you'll already start to feel the benefits.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the effects of quitting start to set in immediately and in less than 20 minutes after your last cigarette your heart rate will already start to drop back toward normal levels.

After just two hours without a cigarette, your heart rate and blood pressure will have decreased to near-normal levels, your peripheral circulation may improve and the tips of your fingers and toes may start to feel warm. The bad part is this is when the nicotine withdrawal symptoms will start.

Some of these symptoms include intense cravings, anxiety, tension or frustration, drowsiness or trouble sleeping and increased appetite.

In just 12 hours after quitting smoking, the carbon monoxide in your body decreases to lower levels, and your blood oxygen levels increase to normal.

Smokers face a 70 percent higher risk of heart attacks than non-smokers do, but just one day after quitting that rate begins to drop.

After three days, the nicotine will be completely out of your body, but this is also the time when withdrawal is at its worst. Some of these withdrawal symptoms include headaches, nausea, or cramps in addition to the emotional symptoms previously mentioned.

After a couple of weeks, circulation will improve and lung function will improve significantly. This makes for easier breathing and the ability to walk and exercise without becoming winded. In addition, it's around this time that withdrawal symptoms will start to fade.

After about a month, the cilia, tiny, hair-like structures that push out mucus, will start to repair themselves. They help to reduce infection, when they are working properly. In addition, your now healthier lungs will help decrease coughing and shortness of breath.

After one year smoke-free, the risk of heart disease is lowered by 50 percent.

After five to 15 years of living smoke-free, the risk of having a stroke is now the same as someone who never smoked.

Quitting also reduces the risk of cancer. After 10 years smoke-free, the risk of lung cancer drops half that of a regular smoker and your risk of other cancers also decrease.

If you want to live longer, stop smoking now. "Half of lifelong smokers will die from smoking-related diseases," said Valerie McLeod, manager of Pulmonary Rehab at McLaren and tobacco treatment specialist.

McLeod pointed out that even a limited level of exposure to cigarettes is unsafe, so only smoking once or twice a day/week is still just as unhealthy.

McLaren offers free quit classes twice a month, she said.

“If you’ve smoked for over 25 years, you’ve decreased your life span by about 14 years.”

Valerie McLeod
Manager of Pulmonary Rehab at McLaren

Stopping smoking is associated with the following health benefits

- Lowered risk for lung cancer and many other types of cancer.
- Reduced risk for coronary heart disease, stroke, and peripheral vascular disease.
- Reduced coronary heart disease risk within one to two years of quitting.
- Reduced respiratory symptoms, such as coughing, wheezing, and shortness of breath.
- Reduced risk of developing chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), one of the leading causes of death in the United States.
- Reduced risk for infertility in women of reproductive age.

Stepdaughter lacks life skills to thrive

DEAR AMY:

After being single for over 15 years, I married a very kind man with a daughter. She is now 18. Everything is supplied for her immediately upon her demand. There is no 'earning it,' nor any expectation of thanks or gratitude. On top of it all, she attempted to kill herself about a year ago and this has her father running even more scared. I have tried to talk to him about having her take more responsibility for her actions. She has no life skills. He says that I need to stay out of it and to trust him to parent his daughter the way he sees fit. This is the only thing that my husband and I argue about. Any advice? — Interloper

AMY DICKINSON

DEAR INTERLOPER:

You think this young woman needs preparation for living on her own.

How optimistic of you! Simply stated, she will never live on her own unless her father makes a personal and determined commitment to her well-being — and to you (because you are his wife, and also because you have good instincts). Unless all of you receive professional help and work very hard to change the dynamic, it will continue — and get worse. Your stepdaughter should receive a mental health evaluation immediately. Her father needs parenting coaching. You two need professional support to strengthen your marriage.

INGREDIENTS:

- 2 corn or wheat tortillas
- 1 red onion, finely chopped
- 1 garlic clove, finely chopped
- 1-2 chili peppers, finely chopped
- 3 tomatoes, chopped
- 1 avocado
- 1/2 – 1 C. feta cheese
- 2 eggs
- A handful of chopped fresh cilantro
- Salt and pepper

DIRECTIONS

1. In a small pan, sweat onion and garlic in olive oil over medium heat. Add the chili peppers. If you don't like it too spicy, then remove the seeds from the chili peppers first. Stir-fry for about five minutes, then add the tomatoes. Let everything simmer over medium heat for about ten minutes. Season with salt and pepper.
2. Meanwhile cut the avocado lengthwise, remove the pit and the skin and the cut the avocado into strips and set aside. Roast the tortillas one by one with a little bit of olive oil in a pan over high heat on both sides until they become a little brown.
3. Place the tortillas on a plate. Arrange avocado and the tomato sauce on top. Crumble some feta cheese over it and then place a fried egg on top. Garnish with fresh cilantro.

John's Restaurant & Pizzeria

Landmark Fenton eatery celebrates 50 years this week

You don't have to say anything more than "Johnny's" and local residents will know exactly what restaurant you're talking about.

John's Restaurant and Pizzeria, whose name is synonymous with the Delio Barletta family, will celebrate its 50th Anniversary with special discounts on Wednesday, Nov. 19 (Delio's birthday) and a huge Anniversary Open House on Friday, Nov. 21 from 6 to 10 p.m.

"It was a dream of Dad's to celebrate 50 years of Johnny's," said Sandy (Barletta) Zdenek, who is now operating the family restaurant. Her father, Delio Barletta, passed away unexpectedly on Sept. 23, 2013, leaving behind a family and community who loved him.

"What better way to honor my dad than to have the party and celebrate with our customers?" she said.

The Wednesday, Nov. 19 birthday event will offer customers a special discount, "Buy One Entrée, Get a Second Entrée (of equal or lesser value) 50 percent off." Barletta would have been 78 years old this year, according to Zdenek.

The Anniversary Open House on Friday, Nov. 21 will include free food, free photo booth photos, cash bar, D.J. a 50/50 drawing, silent auction and other prizes with some of the proceeds going to the Nash Schupbach Memorial Fund.

"My dad left big shoes to fill," said Zdenek. "Our employees and our customers have been like family to us. We want to celebrate with everyone together."

JERSEY BOYS

Clint Eastwood's big screen version of the Tony Award-winning musical tells the story of the four young men from the wrong side of the tracks in New Jersey who came together to form the iconic '60s rock group The Four Seasons. Their trials and triumphs are accompanied by the hit songs that influenced a generation, and are now being embraced by a new generation of fans through the stage musical. R, 1 hr. 49 min

LET'S BE COPS

It's the ultimate buddy cop movie except for one thing: they're not cops. When two struggling pals dress as police officers for a costume party, they become neighborhood sensations. But when these newly-minted "heroes" get tangled in a real life web of mobsters and dirty detectives, they must put their fake badges on the line. R, 1 hr. 49 min

HOW TO TRAIN YOUR DRAGON 2

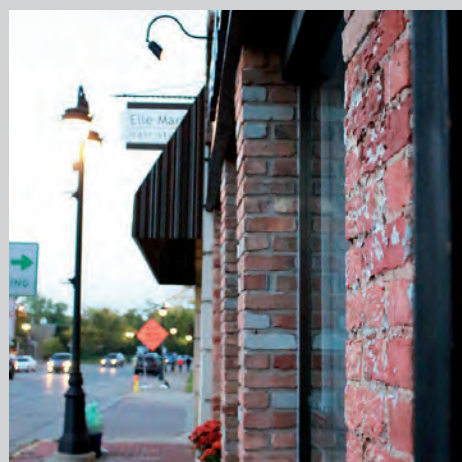

DreamWorks Animation returns to the world of dragons and

Vikings in this sequel to their successful 2010 outing How to Train Your Dragon. The original film followed the exploits of a Viking chief's son, who must capture a dragon in order to mark his passage into manhood and prove his worthiness to the tribe. PG, 1 hr. 45 min

THE PRAYER
to the Blessed Virgin Mary (Never been known to fail). Oh most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, blessed mother of the son of God, Immaculate Virgin. Assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the sea, help me and show me you are my mother. Oh Holy Mary mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth. I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity. (You make your request). There are none that can withstand your power. Oh Mary conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee. (3 times). Holy Mother I place this prayer in your hands. (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days. Publish it, it will be granted to you. In loving gratitude. ST
