Fire destroys building housing classic cars

 Firefighters work for hours to put flames out

By Yvonne Stegall

ystegall@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792 The Fenton Fire Department was dispatched to a fire at 2426 South Long Lake Rd. at 2:59 p.m. on Monday, March 2. Employees were reporting a fire in the business.

Fenton Fire Chief Bob Cairnduff said they arrived on location to find heavy fire in the ceiling and roof area of the business.

All employees were out of the building and they had removed most of the vehicles in the business prior to the arrival of fire crews. Fenton firefighters were assisted on scene by the city of Linden, Fenton Township, Mundy Township, North Oakland County Fire Authority (NOCFA), and Hartland area fire departments.

Cairnduff said, "The fire was difficult to extinguish as there were multiple layers of roof on the building." He explained that there was an original steel roof, and then a wood roof over top of that. This made extinguishment challenging as the fire had many concealed areas.

There were no injuries to any of the employees or firefighters on scene.

The road was closed to traffic as the firefighters worked at putting out the fire and any hot spots. The road opened back up at 8 p.m.

The fire is still under investigation.

Event sets goal of $75,000 to help end childhood hunger

► Event is sold out — again

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282 Everyone can relate to seeing photos of starving children from across the world, in India, Africa, etc., and wondering what they can possibly do to eliminate the suffering.

Many people may not realize, however, that poverty and hunger actually take place much closer to home. In Genesee County, 32 percent of children live in poverty and do not have basic necessities, including food, according to the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan.

A Fenton Township couple, Tony and Margie Shard, has dedicated themselves for the last four years to help change that through Shard Financial Services' partnership with the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan's BackPack program.

This program is designed to provide backpacks full of food for kids to take home over the weekend, when schools can't help provide for them. One backpack of food includes two breakfasts, two lunches, two dinners and several snacks. Adonation of $100 will pay for backpacks of food for a child for an entire school year; $150 will fund backpacks and summer nutrition bags. Since 2011, the BackPack Night Fundraiserhas raised more than $113,000 to help support the

How Democrats lost white voters

While talking to black and white Republicans recently about the Grand Old Party's outreach efforts to voters of color, I wondered: What are Democrats doing to reach working-class whites?

Much has been said and written — some of it by me-about how desperately Grand Old Party leaders seek to woo voters of color back to the GOP.

The surprisingly robust exodus of Hispanic, Asian, unmarried women and young voters, too, in Mitt Romney's racially lopsided 2012 presidential election loss convinced GOP chairman Reince Priebus and other moderate GOP leaders that, yes, maybe it's time to spend serious time and dollars on expanding the party's voting base.

After last year's surprisingly large Republican victories, Democrats are asking themselves a similar question: How can the fabled 'party of labor' expand its outreach to its own largest bloc of demographic defectors, working-class whites?

What happens to the black vote after President Barack Obama leaves the White House? Will Democratic gains in presidential elections be offset by Republican gains in mid-terms? Hillary Clinton looks strong in national polls but has a history of snatching defeat out of the jaws of victory.

Today's partisan racial divide took shape a half-century ago as the hard-won victories of the civil rights revolution coincided with the decline of high-paying, low-skill industrial jobs. As long-overdue opportunities opened up for women and minorities, they began to dry up for workers who lacked much education beyond high school.

Where, many reasonably asked, were the affirmative action programs for white workers? Many Democrats still ask why so many working-class whites 'vote against their economic interests?

As the Republicans' post-2012 autopsy found, working-class voters understand their interests. Obama's victory was helped not only by voters of color but also by working-class white voters who switched to Obama or didn't vote at all.

It is important to ask why voters don't vote their economic interests. But I think the most important question in politics, regardless of race, creed or color, is simply, 'Who's on my side?'

Who loves America?

Rudy Giuliani, the former mayor of New York City, is taking some heat — and winning praise in some quarters — for remarks he made at a private dinner last week at which he questioned President Obama's love for America.

Speaking at Manhattan's upscale '21 Club' at a gathering of economic conservatives hosting potential Republican presidential candidates (Wisconsin Gov. Scott Walker attended this one), Giuliani said: 'I do not believe, and I know this is a horrible thing to say, but I do not believe that the president loves America. He wasn't brought up the way you were brought up and I was brought up through love of this country.'

The White House fired back, agreeing with Giuliani that it was a horrible thing to say.

Giuliani refused to retract his comment in several subsequent TV interviews, but he added that the president seems to spend more time apologizing for America and criticizing the nation than he does praising it. That is legitimate commentary, but questioning the president's love for America is not.

'My country, right or wrong' is a sentiment long attributed to Commodore Stephen Decatur, one of the fathers of the U.S. Navy. In 1804, he led an expedition that succeeded in freeing sailors aboard the USS Philadelphia, which had been seized by Barbary pirates off Tripoli. Decatur later set sail for North Africa in command of nine ships that effectively destroyed the pirates' operations and resulted in a treaty.

On returning home in 1816, Decatur was celebrated as the Conqueror of Araby. At a banquet in his honor he said, 'Our country! May she always be in the right; but right or wrong, our country!'

We should have a debate on what has made America great and worth loving and not on whether the president loves the country. Debate the president's policies, yes. Ascribing motives to him gets us nowhere.

There is — or ought to be — a difference between jingoistic expressions of love for America and the kind of love that can admit error while celebrating the virtues that make people want to come here.

Fenton First Presbyterian celebrates 175 years

►A tribute to family and church's Scottish heritage

By Emily Stocker

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282 Fenton — On Saturday, Feb. 28, the Fenton First Presbyterian Church began the celebration of their 175th anniversary. Originally organized as the "First Presbyterian Church of Fentonville," on Feb. 28, 1840, it is one of oldest houses of worship in Fenton.

The current sanctuary was dedicated in 1863; the original building, which stood at the corner of Adelaide and Rockwell, was destroyed by fire in 1863.

Over the last 175 years, Fenton First Presbyterian has had 32 pastors. With the recent retirement of Rev. Dale Swihart Jr., the church had two interim ministers both participating in the weekend's events.

The celebration's presentations included William Murray, a bagpipe player, Hodgkin Highland Scottish dancers, the Dibbleville Dolls playing Scottish music, and historical games. A video paying tribute to the church's history played throughout the afternoon in the sanctuary. Interim minister, Rev. David Eshleman said of the celebration, "You'll notice the Scottish influences in many areas of our celebration. The success of the weekend event was apparent as every seat was filled during the dedications and presentations. The warm greetings and kindness of the congregation made for smiles on those in attendance.

Scottish roots

Most Presbyterian congregations can trace a Scottish connection. When capitalized, the term "Presbyterian" is applied exclusively to churches that trace their roots to Scottish churches that held the name, and English political groups that formed during the English Civil War. Beginning during the period of colonialism, Presbyterianism has had a strong presence here in the U.S. shaping the religious and political life of our newly established nation. The only Christian minister to sign the Declaration of Independence was Rev. John Witherspoon, a Presbyterian.

MAN CRASHES VEHICLE, FLEES A 21-year-old Fenton Township man has an April 13 court date for operating a vehicle while intoxicated, failing to report a crash and possession of marijuana. Lt. Jason Slater of the Fenton Police Department said at 2:35 a.m. on Feb. 27, an officer observed a 2002 GMC Denali that had crashed into a concrete retaining wall near the 1100 block of Torrey Road. There were no occupants, however, tracks led to the Georgetown apartment complex and a witness told police they saw a man running in that direction. Fenton police were assisted by deputies with the Genesee County Sheriff's Department in locating the driver. The driver, who appeared to be highly intoxicated, was located. A preliminary breath test (PBT) revealed a .19 percent blood alcohol content (BAC). Marijuana cigarettes were recovered from the man. Follow-up PBTs at the police station revealed a .20 BAC. The man admitted to driving and crashing the vehicle.

House Bill 4110: Revise school aid budget

To shift funding sources in the current year school budget to compensate for lower than expected balances in the state general fund. This is due to higher than expected payouts to corporations granted selective "tax credit" deals (often cash subsidies) by the previous administration. The unexpected draw-down of some state accounts comes despite revenue collections actually rising faster than spending this year. The bill also reduces spending to reflect lower than expected school enrollment, and suspends payments intended to "catch up" on underfunding of the school pension system.

schools to offer healthier snack foods for children, while limiting junk food. These standards apply to all food and beverages, as well as vending machine snacks that are available in the school.

This means no fundraiser foods that are ready-to-eat. According to the rules, things like Girl Scout cookies, frozen pizzas and cookie dough are exempt, because they are not meant for immediate consumption. These standards do not apply to fundraisers held during nonschool hours, on weekends and off school campuses.

State Rep. Phil Potvin, R-Cadillac, is trying to make a change and get school bake sales back in schools. He has introduced House Bill 4230 and a resolution in the Michigan House of Representatives that would make Michigan exempt from the federal Smart Snacks in School standards.

Federal law allows states to pass exemptions to determine if a set amount of in-school food fundraisers will be allowed, but currently Michigan is not one of the 21 states that do allow this.

If the foods at the bake sale fit into the requirements of the Smart Snacks in School program they can be sold. Some of the standards include being whole grain-rich, no more than 200 calories and contain 10 percent of the recommended daily allowance (RDA) of potassium, calcium, vitamin D or dietary fiber.

Assistant Superintendent Julie Williams, at Lake Fenton schools said, "When the new requirements were released for healthy school lunches, it included language about any type of food items available during the school day. We have had to stop bake sales, candy-gram fundraisers and had to do some research to change the products we use for popcorn sales in the buildings."

These are many changes, especially when many school programs rely on the money they make from fundraisers and bake sales for trips and uniforms.

The circulation desk on the main floor is all new, with the project including some new furniture and other pieces that have been re-purposed.

The biggest "wow" factor? "The space is so much more open and functional," said Librarian Chris Heron. She said that her staff is thrilled with the updates, even though 250 boxes of checked out materials remain to be sorted and re-shelved.

"I think's it's great," said Library Assistant Jason Bias. I love the openness, that you can see around everything. I also like how the look has been all updated, while keeping the historical integrity. It still feels like a cool old building."

The public response was very positive during the library's "soft opening" on Monday, which gave library staff a chance to get acclimated to the surroundings, while showing off the new interior to visitors. "Isn't it beautiful?" said Bev Juip of Fenton who stopped into the library while doing some errands.

Some of the first people through the doors on Monday included City Manager Lynn Markland and Assistant City Manager Mike Burns.

to send a text in an emergency situation. Not letting an intruder know your whereabouts, a text message could quietly alert authorities of your need for help. These and others may be cases in which texting 911 would be a better option than a call. The new service will also be helpful for those who are deaf or hearing impaired.

Holly Village Police Chief Michael Story said, "Anything that comes along with the services of Oakland County, our residents will get, and the cost for the changeover was negligible."

Even a text of "help" will generate a response. Your location will be triangulated with local cell towers, just as phone calls are now. Because of the cooperation with service providers like Verizon wireless and the technology already in place, there will be no additional expense to operate text-to-911.

Mel Maier, chief emergency management operations for the Oakland County Sherriff's Office said, "There is no extra cost for the county to incur on this."

Last year, 84 percent of the 911 calls to the Oakland County Sheriff's Office came through cell phones, Maier said. An increasing number of phones offer video and image transfers. The sheriff's office is already trying to prepare staff for what's to be a "huge change" in dispatch, thinking about such changes as whether to put dispatchers face-to-face with people using video-streaming apps for help.

was a quiet event, a Grand Opening for the public has been set for Thursday, March 19 from 6 to 8 p.m. "We'll have tours and refreshments, plus entertainment by Boogie Woogie Piano Man Matthew Ball," said Heron.

The $340,000 project was funded primarily by the Fenton DDA which supplied $310,000, plus $10,000 from the city's general fund and $19,000 in donations.

Heron praised the cooperation of all the people who were involved in the project. "It really took a lot of entities to make this happen," she said. Holly's transition to Oakland County dispatch appears to be heading into the technological future of 911. Recent history of Holly dispatch

Until the summer of 2013, the Holly Police Department had their own 911 dispatch center for the village of Holly. That spring, the Holly Village Council held several meetings and discussions, considering contracting dispatch services with the Oakland County Communications Center, for $100,000 in annual savings. After much impassioned debate, the Village Council voted to close the local dispatch, which was outdated according to Michigan law, and contract instead with Oakland County.

Next Generation 911 is an Internet protocol system that allows digital information for not only voice and text messages, but also photos and videos as well to seamlessly inform the public, through the 911 network and on to emergency responders. While the technology is now available, the implementation is much more involved. ECONOMY Continued from Front Page

Pizza sales increase when more people have jobs, according to Patrick Doyle, CEO of Ann Arbor-based Domino's, Inc., in a recent news story about the economy in The Detroit Free Press.

Locally, Mark Rummel of Mancino's Pizza & Grinders said that pizza sales are up close to 20 percent this year at his Fenton Township business. "While pizza sales don't suffer as much in a bad economy because it's still an affordable dining out choice, sales really increase during good economic times. People just seem to have more money in their pocket, especially with lower gas prices."

Obviously, pizza isn't a formal indicator of an area's strong economy. The state's lowering unemployment rate, and low gas prices that fuel auto sales and put extra cash in people's pockets have a lot to say about Michigan's economic direction in 2015. Real estate is also a strong indicator of the economic health of the tri-county area.

"There are 137 pending sales of residential homes in the Fenton, Lake Fenton and Linden markets," said Patrik Welty of Legacy Realty in Fenton. "There's high demand, but still a lack of inventory. Prices are going in a positive direction and people are willing to pay more to live in this area."

University of Michigan economists predict nearly 60,000 new jobs for 2015 and another 73,000 in 2016. The state added 39,000 new jobs from November 2013 to November 2014.

Here are five key trends that experts expect for the Michigan economy this year: • Gas prices will power additional Local people benefitting from this addition will be arts and cultural groups, service organizations, youth groups, seniors and area businesses, according to Lockwood. Programming opportunities slated for the new addition include the visual arts, many forms of dance, various music instruction, professional workshops, community gatherings and intergenerational arts programs, to name a few.

In fact, a series of art workshops sponsored by the Lakes Area Arts Council will be starting at the Fenton Community Center in March, according to Lockwood. For more information on art activities taking place at the center in coming months, visit LakesAreaArtsCouncil.org.

spending and jobs. The Detroit Three automakers, with many products in the bigger vehicle truck and SUV market, are expected to benefit as shoppers head to local showrooms.

• Tourism will fuel job growth. Michigan's hospitality sector — hotels, resorts and tourist destinations — are flourishing, especially in the northern part of the state. This sector is expected to add about 9,000 jobs this year.

• Manufacturers won't add many jobs, as the auto industry can handle most of the demand for new cars with its existing plants. The manufacturing sector is expecting to add only 6,000 jobs in 2015, according to U-M economists. By comparison, it added 77,000 manufacturing jobs from 2011-13.

• Investors will seek out downtown Detroit. Economic development officials report a renewed interest from prospective investors in downtown Detroit, following the resolution of the city's Chapter 9 bankruptcy. With a plan in place to overhaul city services and drastically reduce blight, Detroit has a much greater appeal to investors. Most investment will concentrate in the central business district, not reaching out to the city's poor neighborhoods.

• The temporary staffing sector will continue to grow. Temporary jobs and contract positions have represented an estimated 36 percent of Michigan's job growth since 2009, according to federal figures. Employers are leaning heavily on temporary jobs to create flexible workforces, making it easier for them to shed jobs as the economy shifts. More companies will add temporary jobs in 2015.

third Metro League championship in the process. Fenton had quality and Linden posts upset vs. Tigers

Beats Fenton for first time since 2003 with 62-52 victory

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789 Fenton — The last time the Linden Eagles defeated the Fenton varsity boys basketball team was on Dec. 19, 2003.

On that date the Eagles defeated Fenton 62-52 to earn Linden's first victory of the season.

The Eagles' 22-game losing streak to their fierce rival finally came to an end on Friday in Fenton's home gym.

Trailing 36-33 entering the fourth quarter, Linden hit on 7-of-13 shots in the final eight minutes and had the Tigers' offense questioning itself all period long as the Eagles pulled off a 48-42 victory at Fenton High School.

"It's a huge win," said Johnny Campbell.

Lake Fenton — It was a learning season for the Lake Fenton varsity girls basketball team and for its first-year head coach Brian VanBuren.

VanBuren got the job in July, and for that reason the Blue Devils started a bit behind most area prep girls basketball squads.

But through it all, the learning process was mostly a positive one, as VanBuren found a place he'd like to call home for awhile.

Bronchos end Metro season perfect 14-0

► Holly makes it two straight league championships

By Jordan Climie

dtroppens@tctimes.com

Holly — A win against Brandon on Friday night would be icing on the cake for the Holly boys basketball team, and the 48-28 victory couldn't have tasted sweeter.

"It's for the community and the fans, the ones who come out every game on Tuesdays and Fridays and whenever and support us," senior guard Parker Rowse said. "It's really special. It's a special bond."

That bond between the team and the fans saw both relish in the victory over the Blackhawks to go 14-0 in the Flint Metro League, the ninth program in the league to ever accomplish an undefeated league season.

For Holly, however, it was the first time in their history that it went undefeated in league play.

According to Rowse, this was a feat waiting to happen.

"It's a program," he said. "The coaches and staff here do a great job building raw talent."

That talent was comprised of seven seniors, three of which were four-year starters for the Bronchos, a group that included Rowse, Morgan Baylis and Isaac Casillas. Jake Daniels is also a four-year starter, with two of those seasons coming at Holly.

Holly head coach Lance Baylis says "the key word is maturity" for this senior group.

"Physically, mentally, it's all there," he said. "They played together growing up, in AAU, they play together yearround. They know each other.

"They play as a unit, and when you do that, you play as a team."

Only six players from the Bronchos scored Friday night, but the stat sheet doesn't tell the whole story. From experienced senior to fresh-on-the-floor sophomore, the Bronchos dominated from end to end, scoring when they felt the need and defending like their life depended on it.

"We knew we could score with anybody," Baylis said. "At practice, the majority we spend on defense."

It showed. No Blackhawk reached double-digits in scoring. For the Bronchos, Daniels had 11. But it was junior Ian Hodges that led the game with 14 points, 11 of those coming in the second half.

It was that trickling down of talent that makes the Bronchos deadly, and the seniors know how to make sure they bring out the best in the underclassmen.

"Experience helps tremendously," Rowse said. "We know what it's like to be here. We help them."

For Baylis, it's all about knowing your role on the team. "The younger guys understand their roles," he said. "They're going to get to show it next year."

But for this season, there's still a long way to go. Holly has one more regular season, non-league game, and then they step into the playoffs.

always-passionate The Baylis won't let them rest on their laurels, and a 14-0 league record is nowhere near the best they can do.

"Our motto is 'we gotta get better," he said. "We have to keep getting better."

league. We did that this weekend. This is still a very young team and will continue to get better."

The Tigers had a trio of swimmers earn two individual league event titles. Sophomore Zac Miceli won the 200 individual medley with a league record and state-qualifying time of 2:04.10, while also winning the 100 butterfly with a state-cut time of 54.64 seconds. Meanwhile, Austin Landis, a junior, had two state cuts of his own. He broke a league record en route to his first-place finish in the 100 backstroke (56.38), and also had a state cut in the 100 freestyle (49.69) in the preliminaries. He captured first in the finals with a time of 49.84 seconds.

Finally, freshman Kyle Banner had firsts in the 200 freestyle (1:55.43) and the 500 freestyle (5:12.07).

Two relays won league titles. The 200 medley relay of Landis, team Noah Sizemore, Michael Fabatz, and Miceli posted a time of 1:46.08, while 400 freestyle the relay team of Miceli, Banner, Fabatz and Landis earned a state-cut and a league record with a time of 3:24.21. Miceli also began the race with a time of 48.54 seconds, setting a new league record in the 100 freestyle.

But the firsts weren't the only story. The depth was a good chunk of it too. The Tigers had 15 other performers qualify in individual events into the finals. Those that earned top-five performances included Sizemore, fifth in the 200 freestyle (2:02.79) and third in the 100 breaststroke (1:09.68); Ian MacPhail-Fausey, third in the 200 individual medley (2:15.68) and fourth in the 100 butterfly (1:00.90); David Parker, third in diving (323.15); Adam Kildow, fourth in diving (290.85); Fabatz, second in the 100 butterfly (59.92) and second in the 100 backstroke (1:01.56): and Mark Vuillemot, fifth in the 500 freestyle (5:43.39). The 200 freestyle relay team of Joey Perrera, Brennan Henson, Banner and MacPhail-Fausey also took a second (1:37.49). Every performer listed in this story is an underclassmen.

Tuesday, and when you are coming off of Goodrich, Flushing and Carman, it's like we had to find a way to stay up. And then we came into this game playing our rivals. ... They keep battling, and that's a testament to them."

Tigers' rebounding sparks victory

The Tigers only hit on 21-of-58 shots (36 percent), but the offensive boards made up for the low shooting percentage. Emma Evo grabbed a team-high 15 rebounds, while Sarah Cummings had 12 boards. The pair were able to convert those rebounds into points. Cummings led all scorers with 18 points, including 12 in the second half. Meanwhile, Evo had 14 points, with 12 coming in the opening three quarters.

"That really is the game," Linden coach Ben Varner said. "That's what I told them. They just killed us rebounding and that was at least half of it. If we rebound a few times on their missed free throws in the first half, we are not losing at halftime. We are up two or tied, something like that. And if we are up or tied, you never know what happens in the second half."

PROUDLY PRESENTED BY

Linden is a short team. It's expected the Tigers are going to out-rebound the Eagles, but no one would've expected the difference seen on Friday. Fenton scored 12 points on 18 offensive boards in the first half. That helped the Tigers take a 24-20 lead into the half. In the second half, things didn't get much better for the Eagles as Fenton continued to score on second- and third-chances.

"That third quarter they basically played volleyball on their offensive end," Varner said. "They had four shots, five shots. It was tough."

It wasn't until the third quarter that the Tigers, who lost to Linden earlier this season at Linden, blew the game open. Fenton opened the second half on a 10-1 run. During the spree, Evo had two putback hoops for buckets. The final two points of the run came on one of those putbacks. By the time Linden called time the Eagles trailed 34-21 with 1:39 left in the third quarter. For good measure, the Tigers scored four more points off offensive boards before the quarter was over. See TIGERS' on 12

TIGERS'

Continued from Page 11 The first two resulted in Cummings going to the line and netting two free throws. The final second-chance points came when Chloe Foor rebounded a miss. Eventually that board became a Katey Cairnduff assist on a Cummings hoop. Carly Granger capped the quarter with a steal and a layup, giving the Tigers a 40-22 lead entering the fourth. Linden (8-13) never seriously threatened the lead in the fourth.

Cummings also had three assists to go with her 18 points and 15 boards. Katie Conroy had seven points and three steals, while Granger had six points. Foor had eight rebounds, while Emma Brant had seven rebounds.

Linden was paced by Taylor Smith, who netted a gamehigh 20 points. Sterling De-Gayner had 13 points. No one had more than three rebounds for Linden.

Fenton begins Class A action at Holly against Brandon at 5:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Linden lost to Grand Blanc in its district opener on Monday 55-45. Check elsewhere in this edition for more details on the Eagles' district contest.

"I've learned a little more about the community and am getting to know the families and the administrators that have been out to support us," VanBuren said. "That's a big deal to me and the girls because I want to be here for awhile. This isn't a situation where I'm planning on jumping ship after one, two or three years.

"I think we have kids that ... want to put basketball as their primary sport or their main sport. I think we can build a program that kids will be prideful about, and make them say that they are a basketball player and they can be proud about it."

The Blue Devils (5-16) experienced their share of ups and downs during Monday's contest. Led by Tyesha Bowers, the Lady Knights jumped out to a 12-0 lead. Bowers scored five of those points and forced two of Southwestern's three steals during the run. Before the Blue Devils knew it, they trailed 21-5 after one quarter.

Lake Fenton settled down after that. After turning the ball over 13 times and not hitting a field goal in the first quarter, the Blue Devils turned the ball over just five times and hit on an efficient 7-of-12 from the field, helping the Blue Devils cut the gap to 29-20 at the half.

At the start of the third quarter, Lake Fenton took charge of the contest and had its best moments of the game during it. Amanda Beardsley hit on two free throws and Sydney Sheyachich assisted a Lauren Oppenheiser jumper, cutting the Southwestern gap to 32-24. The run continued until Lake Fenton's Sierra Arroyo hit an inside hoop, cutting the Southwestern lead to just 32-27 with 5:51 remaining in the third quarter.

However, that was as close as Lake Fenton came to the lead. Southwestern ended the quarter with a 19-4 run, raising the gap to 51-31 entering the fourth period. Lake Fenton never seriously threatened in the fourth.

Arroyo led the Blue Devils with nine points, while Sheyachich and Oppenheiser had seven points each. Kim Roe and Autumn Beardsley had six points each. Kaitlyn Begley had five points and six rebounds.

Class A Holly District

Grand Blanc 55, Linden 45 It was a good start but a tough ending for the Linden Eagles (8-13).

The Eagles led by as many as 15 late in the second quarter, but Grand Blanc put together a strong second half, leading the Bobcats to the Class A district victory at Linden High School on Monday night.

Linden led 25-16 at halftime. However, Grand Blanc scored 39 second-quarter points to take over control in the second half. It started with a three-pointer at the start of the third quarter, and never ended.

The Eagles were paced by Taylor Smith's game-high 6 points. Megan Kenney chipped in 10 points and a team-high 10 rebounds. Sterling De-Gayner was held to just six points and seven rebounds. Alexis Brandt netted five points.

know when the last time Linden beat Fenton was. "It feels good because we've played them the last three times and really played with them. Last year it was a tie game in the fourth here. At our place, we had a chance to win at the buzzer. Earlier this year we had a chance to win. It's great for my seniors and great for the community for the guys to play like that in front of a lot of people."

The contest was a back-and-forth affair all night. Fenton jumped to a 10-0 lead to start the game. A three-pointer off a dish from Dillon Gardner capped that run. However, by the end of the first, Linden was trailing just 14-10 and was right back into the game.

Fenton's final decent lead came at 36-30 with 49 seconds left in the third quarter on a nice Ben Hajciar dish to Chris Gilbert for a trey. However, the Eagles responded just 12 seconds later when Kevin Hoeberling drove, scored on a layup and converted a free throw after being fouled on the play. Linden trailed just 36-33 entering the fourth.

It didn't take Linden long to take the lead, as the Eagles scored the fourth quarter's first 13 points. A layup by Gold off a Hoeberling dish cut the gap to 36-35. Before the quarter was a minute old, Logan Steiert tied the game up with a free throw. Linden took the lead for good when Gold hit a putback hoop with 6:32 left in the game. Linden led 38-36. The run continued off another Gold putback hoop, making it a 40-36 lead. A breaking layup by Campbell off his own steal continued the run as did a Hoeberling pass to Gold for a breaking layup. The run finally ended with Gold's dish to Kyle Korman for a layup, making it a 46-36 Linden lead with just 2:44 left.

Fenton (9-5, 10-9) cut the gap as close as 48-42 on a three-pointer by Austin Bossenberger with just under a minute left, but couldn't get any closer, missing five straight treys to end the game. Fenton struggled mightily from the field, hitting just 14-of-52 shots (27 percent).

"Offensively we did not execute one single thing we were supposed to," Fenton coach Tim Olszewski said. "We took it upon ourselves to do other things. The few times we actually executed, we got a layup, we travelled going for an open layup or had an unforced turnover. The quick threes — that was not in the game plan."

Gold's fourth quarter was pivotal. Another big key may have been a victory against Swartz Creek a week earlier. That victory gave Linden (2-12, 3-16) its second win of the season, and some much needed confidence for the Fenton game.

"It means a lot because if I can do that in the fourth quarter when it's crunch time, I can do that in every other quarter of the game and help my team to victory," Gold said. "We definitely know what we are capable of now. This really helps."

Campbell led the Eagles with 12 points and four rebounds, while Korman had 11 points seven rebounds, two blocks and two assists. Gold followed with his 10 points. Steiert had eight points, five rebounds and two steals. Hoeberling had five rebound and four assists.

Fenton was paced by Ebert's 10 points, eight rebounds and two blocks. Alec Thomas and Gardner chipped in nine points. Beau LePage had six points.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING IMPROVEMENTS TO EAGLES WOODEN PARK MARCH 23, 2015

Notice is hereby given to the general public that a public meeting will be held to discuss and take comments on the proposed improvements to Eagles Wooden Park located on West Broad Street just west of North Bridge Street in Linden. The City of Linden is applying for a Land Water Conservation Fund grant from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to make the following improvements:

- construct accessible two-occupant restrooms and drinking fountain adjacent to the gravel parking lot at Eagles Wooden Park
- connect the restrooms via a sidewalk to the sidewalk recently constructed with Community Development Block Grants

The grant application is for $50,000 and the City of Linden is providing matching funds from its General Fund.

The public meeting will be held on March 23, 2015 at 7:00 PM in the Council Chambers on the lower level of the Mill Building at 201 N. Main Street, Linden, Michigan. This is the same time as the normal monthly Council meeting.

WEDNESDAY JUMBLE

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Having second thoughts could be a good thing, even if you're determined to go through with your plans. You might find it worthwhile to take a fresh look at how things have been set up.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Financial matters could continue to be a problem until you're able to straighten out some of the more pesky situations. Once that happens, the rest should be easier to unsnarl

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Family matters once again take center stage, and should be dealt with competently and quickly. And, again, insist on others taking on their fair share of the responsibilities

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your creative pursuits seem to be running into a roadblock. But rather than blame outside factors, look within to see if you might be holding back your efforts for some reason.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Keep that keen Cat's Eye focused on relevant aspects of this new situation in your life. Don't be distracted by trivial matters. You need the pertinent facts before making a decision. VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) As much as you prefer doing things on your own, continue to accept help if you still need to resolve the problem affecting your project. Some cheerful news is about to come your way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) While you might begrudge the added time it will take to get your project from point A to B to C, etc., you could benefit from the facts that will emerge over this expanded time span.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Regarding your workplace suggestions, be prepared to produce the facts to counter reactions from skeptics who feel your approach is unreasonable or even impossible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Savvy Sagittarians will look for workrelated answers on their own rather than rely on unproved assumptions. It might take more time to do so, but the payoff is worth it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Your aspects continue to favor family issues, with special emphasis this week on changes in and around your home. Get everyone to suggest what he or she would like to see done.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) A matter you thought had been settled might still produce surprises. Best advice: Continue to gather facts to bolster your position just in case you need to produce them quickly.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) While your instincts are usually right when discerning 'twixt truth and deception, you could benefit from doing more research on the new "prospect" that you've been pitched.

Untreated hearing loss tied to lower earning potential

Maximizing one's ability to hear well should be part of any smart career strategy. Individual performance in an organization is found to be directly related to listening ability or perceived listening effectiveness. In fact, listening is one of the top skills employers seek in entry-level employees and in those being promoted. People who both hear and listen well are also more likely to establish positive working relationships with bosses, clients, and colleagues.

An alarming new study by the Better Hearing Institute (BHI) reveals a direct correlation between unaddressed hearing loss and earnings. The national survey, entitled "The efficacy of hearing aids in achieving compensation equity in the workplace,"clearly demonstrates that hearing loss has a signifi cant impact on people's ability to earn a livelihood. The study underscores how critically important it is for workers to treat hearing loss early in order to maximize their job performance and earning potential.

According to Sergei Kochkin, PhD, author of the study: "The real tragedy in delaying hearing loss treatment is that when left unaddressed, hearing loss negatively affects individuals and their families for the rest of their lives in the form of lost wages, lost promotions, lost

Key Study Findings

People with untreated hearing loss lose as much as $30,000 in income annually.

opportunities, lost retirement income, and unrealized dreams. But when people with even mild hearing loss use hearing aids, they improve their job performance, increase their earning potential, enhance their communication skills, improve their professional land interpersonal relationships, stave off depression, and improve their quality of life."

■ Use of hearing aids was shown to reduce the risk of income loss by 90%–100% for those with milder hearing loss, and from 65%-77% for those with severe to moderate hearing loss.

■ There is a strong relationship between the degree of hearing loss and unemployment for those who do not use hearing aids.

Why 22 million Americans delay trying a hearing device to solve their hearing problem

Inadequate Information. Most people lose hearing gradually and may not realize they have signifi cant loss. Your family and friends adapt by speaking to you more loudly and clearly.

Stigma and Cosmetics. Some people reject hearing aids because they are concerned of what other's will think. This does not need to be a barrier to improving your hearing. With advances in technology your hearing solution can be nearly invisible to others. Once your quality of life is improved, cosmetics will be of less concern to you.

Not Realizing the Importance of Hearing. Another reason for rejection of hearing aids is that people have forgotten how important hearing is to their quality of life. However, untreated hearing loss can lead to anxiety, stress, fatigue, withdrawal from family and friends, impaired memory, reduced alertness and personal safety, reduced job performance and earning power and diminished overall health

Cost. Your hearing solution will be based on your type of loss and lifestyle. Many factor's go into your hearing aid purchase and will affect the price. Which type and style is best for you? What features do you need? What's included in the price? (Warranty, 30-day trial period, Free cleaning and adjustments). Your hearing health care provider should present to you clear and easily understood pricing options as well as financing options. Be sure to freely ask any questions that will help you make an informed decision.

Miracle Ear®

Seniors who have untreated hearing loss may be at an increased risk for developing dementia, a loss of brain function that can affect memory, thinking, language, judgment and behavior. This is the finding of a study conducted by researchers from the Division of Otology at Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

The study included 639 people whose hearing and cognitive abilities were tested over a period of time, starting in 1990 and concluding in 2008. Researchers found that study participants who had hearing loss at the beginning of the study were significantly more likely to develop dementia by the end of the study. How might hearing loss and dementia be connected? Investigators aren't sure, but they think a common pathology may underlie both conditions, or possibly the strain of decoding sounds over the years may overwhelm the brains of people with hearing loss, leaving them more vulnerable to dementia.

The article concludes that, whatever the cause, these findings may offer a starting point for further research as to whether interventions, even as simple as hearing aids, could delay or prevent dementia by improving patients' hearing.
