Two local women share why they love their motorcycle hobby despite the danger

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Michigan is a popular place for motorcyclists, with the changing colors of the seasons and warm, summer weather.

One Fenton Township resident, Marcie Gormley, 53, has been riding for nine years. She used to ride on the back of her ex-husband's bike, and eventually took a training course at

Local motorcyclist

"I told myself if I pass it, I would get a bike. If I didn't, I would get a Mustang convertible," she said. She currently has two bikes: a Dyna Low Rider and a Heritage Softail, but she's looking to sell the dinomorider.

At least once a week she takes her bike for a ride. "I'd like to ride more but all my friends are working too much," she said. They're going to Muskegon Bike Time, one of the biggest motorcycle rallies in Michigan with concerts, vendors, and motorcycle stunts. It takes place throughout July.

Gormley enjoys the freedom of riding. "It feels good to be out in the fresh air. The thing I like the most is the smells of the outdoors. If it's in the fall, the leaves. In the summer it's mostly pollen. Until you come by road kill, then it doesn't smell as good," Gormley said.

"It's like that joke, you've never seen a motorcycle in front of a therapist's office."

She's part of a motorcycle group, the Slap a Ho Tribe, and also rides with her son.

One thing people think is that "bikers are kind of scary, but they're not," she said. "There are some gangs that are scary, but I ride with a bunch of ladies. People kind of look at us like they're scared of us when we walk into a restaurant. Everyone ends up loving us when they start talking us. Everyone loves to have their picture taken with us."

For the group's latest trip, 10 of them rode to Harbor Springs and visited Charlevoix and Petoskey in the last weekend in June. "We do it every year. Sometimes we take a fall trip, too," Gormley said.

She wants to ride to Sturgis in South Dakota on her own bike.

"Why all the household dust?"

For years, Power Vac, Inc. has been mounted system. In reality, they have a low improving the community's health one household at a time. "Did you know that half of all illnesses come directly from dirty indoor air? In fact, our indoor air is up to 90 times more polluted than the air outdoors," explained Keith Meadows, Power Vac

Owner and Operator. "More than 90% of the phone calls I receive are from distraught people complaining about dust in their homes. They tell me they will dust the house Friday, but by Sunday it needs to be done again, and they're not sure where these dust piles are coming from. Let me tell you, you're not a bad housekeeper.

All you need to do is have your ducts cleaned. This simple step will drastically reduce the dust in your household. The reason for the dust is your cold air returns. You see, cold air returns suck in dirty air. Over time it builds up in your ducts until the debris resembles what you would find in your vacuum bag."

See for yourself! For an actual photo of the debris that is pulled from a typical home's ducts, visit our website www. callpowervac.com.

"Cold air returns are also the reason new homeowners experience excessive dust. While work was being done in the home, your cold air returns sucked all the dust through the system. It settled on the bottom of the duct lines and little by little, that debris is being blown back into your home," Keith continued.

"Here's a test. Take a walk down into your basement, and look up at the ceiling for thin sheets of tin nailed between your floor joists. These are your cold air return lines. Give them a good pounding. Do you see puffs of dust seeping out of the edges? That, my friends, is the reason you have uncontrollable dust problems, and this debris cannot be removed without the help of a professional.

"This brings me to my next point: choosing an air duct cleaning company. Most companies use portable units, which are essentially like a Shop-Vac that you would vacuum your car with. Then there are companies who claim they have a truck-

Men's Auxiliary

1148 North LeRoy St., Fenton

(810) 629-3700

■Local VFW Post is there to help veterans and their families with an array of services

The VFW Men's Auxiliary is seeking new members who wish to support, and be of service to our war veterans and want to make a difference in the community through volunteerism. Members are the brothers, sons and grandsons of those who have served our country on foreign soil during war time.

The VFW's primary mission is to support and serve the war veterans of this Post by maintenance work and preparation of meals, according to Jack D. Wiegand, VFW-Post 3243 president.

Members seek out ways to be of service in the community through local churches and other organizations. For example, Wiegand said, recently, a church group made articles of clothing for the Haiti Relief Effort but had no way to ship the containers. The Post donated postage money so that the packages could be sent to Florida for consolidation for a large shipment to Haiti.

A few years ago, one of the Post's members decided to assist an aging veteran with personal care in his home and he gave 7,500 hours of time in the effort. Another member volunteers to drive needy people to their nonemergency medical appointments. He has volunteered many hours and driven his personal vehicle more than 4,700 miles assisting people to doctor and hospital visits.

The Post's World War II veterans are passing at an alarming rate and more recent war veterans commit suicide at a national rate of 22 per day, according to Wiegand. Often, this happens because needed help is not readily available or because many in our society are too busy to express gratitude.

Opportunities to serve exist within the VFW for war veterans and for women in the Ladies Auxiliary. The Post is asking for men who are relatives of war veterans to join their group to help. More information is available by calling Mike Zach, secretary/treasurer at (810) 730-3605. The Post will help members with their entitlements, and with servicerelated injuries. They have a service officer available who provides help with funeral dinners, and many other community-related services, such as family aid of departed veterans. The Post has an active honor guard and service officer with legal advice available every Friday at the Post. For more information, call (810) 629-3700.

Berries offer variety of options for COOL TREATS

Entertain your family, guests with colorful desserts

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823 Add a little fun to your summer celebration with some easy-to-make desserts.

BERRY KABOBS

Thread four blueberries, two minimarshmallows and two raspberries on each of five 10-inch wooden sticks. On the remaining seven sticks, thread four raspberries and three marshallows to create this all-American treat.

CREAMY BERRY PIE

For the crust, you will need 6 tablespoons unsalted butter, 12 graham cracker boards, finely crushed, 1 tablespoon sugar and a pinch of salt.

For the filling and berries, ingredients include one package unflavored gelatin, 3 tablespoons of water, one 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened, one 8-ounce container sour cream, 1/3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 1/4 cup strawberry jelly, one 6-ounce package raspberries, 1 cup blueberries, 1 cup strawberries, hulled and halved or quartered, 1/2 ounce white chocolate and 1/2 teaspoon vegetable oil.

To make the crust, melt butter in the microwave on high for 20 seconds. In a medium-size bowl, stir graham cracker crumbs, sugar and salt. Add butter; stir until crumbs are evenly moistened. Press up sides and into bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Use the bottom of a glass to firmly pack crumbs. Refrigerate crust while making filling.

To make the filling, in a small microwave-safe bowl, sprinkle gelatin over water. Let stand for 3 minutes. In a large bowl, combine cream cheese, sour cream, sugar and vanilla. Beat with an electric mixer until smooth.

Transfer softened gelatin to microwave; heat 15 to 30 seconds on high. Stir until smooth. With mixer running, pour gelatin into cream cheese mixture and beat until smooth. Pour into chilled crust and smooth top. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate at least three hours or overnight.

Melt the strawberry jelly in microwave for 10 seconds. Gently toss with berries in large bowl. Remove plastic from pie; top pie with berries. Microwave chocolate and oil on high for 20 seconds. Drizzle over pie. Slice and serve.

BLUEBERRY ZABAGLIONE

The ingredients for this delicious-looking dessert include six large egg yolks, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1/3 cup Riesling wine, 1 cup heavy cream, 1/2 pint blueberries and fresh mint and berries, for garnish.

Stir yolks and sugar in top of double boiler over simmering water until thick, scraping sides with rubber spatula, until 160 degrees for five minutes. Add wine. Continue stirring until thick enough to coat back of spoon, about 3 minutes. Scrape into bowl; cool to room temperature, stirring often.

In bowl, beat cream until stiff peaks form. Fold into egg mixture. Cover; chill 30 minutes. Fold in blueberries. Cover and refrigerate for one hour or overnight. Serve in dessert dishes. Garnish. Source: familycircle.com

The village of Holly has a lot of heart. On June 23, members of the Holly VFW Post 5587, some of whom belong to Chapter 180 of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, were honored when the Holly Village Council agreed to issue an official proclamation designating the community

a Purple Heart Village. "The consideration of this resolution was voted on without hesitation and was unanimously approved by the council president and all council members," said VFW member Art Ingraham.

"Designating the village of Holly a Purple Heart community is yet another way we can honor the men and women who were injured or killed in service to our country," said Holly Village President Ryan Bladzik. "We are proud to partner with our VFW post to bring this distinction to our community, and we are thankful for the service of all of our veterans and active service members."

"Plans are also underway to establish a fundraising campaign to obtain the funds needed to purchase and erect a monument depicting Holly as a 'Purple Heart Village'," he added.

While a person's name sometimes coincidentally meshes with a profession (think of Dr. Faris P. Atchoo in Mt. Pleasant), last names in the U.S. are often passed down from their English ancestry.

There are about 45,000 different English surnames, but most had their origins from one of these seven categories.

Occupation — occupational names identified people based on their job or position in society. Calling a man "Thomas Carpenter" indicated he worked with wood for a living. Other occupational names include: Archer, Baker, Brewer, Butcher, Cook, Dyer, Farmer, Hunter, Potter, Smith, Weaver, Woodman, to name just a few.

In researching this writer's own maiden name of "Shotwell," it looks as if it may have come from the small town of Shott in Lanarkshire, Scotland, where the main industry was the mining of coal and the production of lead shot. The process involved the pouring of liquid metal through a specialized screen, where the molten shot passed into a well of water for cooling. This evolved into the surnames "Shat(s)well, Shatteswell, all evolving from Shotteswell, many of whom are found in the English shire of Warwickshire.

Another theory is that "Shotwell" means "cool spring with some connection to Scott's Spring."

Were you always interested in working for a library? When the kids were in school, before we moved to Holly, I used to walk them there and helped the teachers out. They didn't have a library. One day I walked into a room and there were boxes filled with books. I called a friend and said, 'Let's put in a library together.' How have things changed in the library over the decades? Technologically, definitely. We can hardly keep up now that there are computers, audio books and downloadable books. The number of people visiting the library has changed, too. There are fewer people because they can order books from the library online from home. We have about 2,000 DVDs here, but people aren't coming as much for those either because of Netflix and others. The building itself also has changed. When the library was built in 1972, it was a house. Since then we've had five additions put on. What do you like to do in your spare time? and in the back of our Holly home. And, of course, I want to spend time with the babies.

What other activities are you involved in? My family started the 'Angel Haven Foundation' 17 years ago. We help people in the Appalachian Mountain town of Vansant, Virginia. It is 'back, back, back' in the hollers. A lady from church connected us with one of the ladies she knew from there. This is a town where nine coal mines closed, leaving thousands of people unemployed. They are extremely poor and don't have churches with food pantries. We fill a great big trailer, go down four times a year, and give them food, used appliances, clothes, boots, coats and more. We are now collecting for school supplies. Many of these people are sick, suffering from cancer and other diseases. Their air is bad, the water is bad. Last December, they had an ice storm that took out their power. They didn't get power back until mid-March. They almost died were it not for the volunteers on ATVs who ran oxygen and other essentials up and down the mountain. We have various ways of collecting donations for these people. We are planning our big annual yard sale that will take place the third week in September at our East Holly Road home.

What would you like to say before retiring from the library? I have had a wonderful staff, three of whom have been here for 25 years. I couldn't do this without them. It's a great place to work and employees just stay. They do an excellent job. The library board is wonderful and has backed me for 39 years.

Shawn Murray-Laursen of Fenton was an a compassionate student nurse caring for a very ill homeless patient nine years ago when they bonded over their shared love of pasta.

Knowing that Christmas 2006 was going to be her patient's last Christmas, Murray-Laursen made her a special gift of homemade pasta, recreating Christmas designs and images using special touches of fruits, vegetables, spices and food colorants.

When her patient opened the gift, she said it was the "prettiest pasta" she'd ever seen and she hoped her nurse friend would share it with the world.

From 2006 to 2014, Murray-Laursen refined and elaborated the process which enables the designs and images to remain on the pasta through the boiling process. Prior to 2013, the only pasta available throughout the world consisted of only a few colors and shapes.

Now, Pretty Pasta Company's designer pasta has actual edible images, words and photographs which can withstand the boiling process, and Murray-Laursen currently holds a Patent Pending on her unique product.

Murray-Laursen opened the doors to Pretty Pasta Company across from The Weed Lady in Grand Blanc on Sept. 11, 2014, choosing that date to launch her brick and mortar business in memory of a friend who perished during the World Trade Center terrorist attacks.

Pretty Pasta Company is the only company in the world which allows consumers to design their own pasta for their life events at their Grand Blanc pasta studio, and creates corporate marketing pasta products for companies around the world. The company has hand delivered pasta to Lady Gaga in New York City, George Stephanopoulos on Good Morning America and it's the second year for Eddy Money to enjoy Pretty Pasta designed for him at the DTE Energy Theater.

Bill Clinton was the first former U.S. President to appear on pasta when he received Photoccini Brand pasta from Pretty Pasta Company during his Flint visit last October.

Pretty Pasta Company products are sold in four Michigan malls: Twelve Oaks in Novi, Partridge Creek in Clinton, Laurel Park Place in Livonia and Briarwood in Ann Arbor. Williams-Sonoma stores also periodically invite Pretty Pasta Company to come into their stores to promote their company and products.

The company was one of 30 companies from the U.S. and Canada to include products for the News & Documentary Emmy Awards in September 2014. "We ship all over the world," said Murray-Laursen. "We're already receiving orders for Christmas. I knew eventually this concept would make its way, but I didn't realize how quickly it would take off." Oh, the pasta-bilities...

Karyn Johnson of Fenton, who's been riding since she was 5 years old. She now rides a 2004 S4R Ducati Monster 996. Her parents started her, along with her four older brothers and one twin brother, out young on motorcycles and dirt bikes. They rode on trails and did motocross.

"As we got older, they made sure each one of us had a motorcycle," the 46-year-old said. She said she loves "The freedom, the wonderful Michigan roads. It's been a family hobby for so many years. I can't imagine not riding."

Growing up in Holly, her dad was a mechanic who taught them how to do maintenance on their bikes. People would bring their bikes over at night for him to work on. Her mother, Kaye Johnson, is in the American Motorcycle Association. Even Johnson's boyfriend, Steve, became interested in motorcycles when they got together.

Johnson is a fitness trainer and manages an estate for a local doctor, but aims to go on at least 20 rides in the summer. She participated in the ninth annual Fallen Soldier event at Kensington Park on July 11. They participate in poker runs, which are charity runs for children with cancer.

Johnson wants to ride along the outskirts of Michigan, along the water and possibly to the U.P. The farthest she's ridden is Copper Harbor, one of the most northern places in the U.P., about nine hours away.

MOTORCYCLE SAFETY

Marcie Gormley has had a couple close calls with deer. She said you have be careful at dusk, even in Fenton. "In the nine years I've been riding, I've noticed a huge difference in the amount of people not paying attention when they're driving their cars. It's scary," she said, adding she always looks at the driver's eyes to see where they're looking. People are on their phones too much, whether they're texting, calling or emailing. "It's not just kids, it's older people too," she said.

Her son, Cramer, 25, was hit by a car on North LeRoy in 2012. "As a mother, you don't want to get that call," she said. Gormley said he was very fortunate and only had a bruised spleen because he was wearing his helmet, jacket, jeans and boots. "People are coming over in your lane all the time," she said. "If they're not texting, or on the phone, they're plucking their eyebrows."

Karyn Johnson takes many safety measures She hasn't seen or been in any accidents, she said, save for a few scrapes when she was young and did motocross.

"It's about respecting your bikes and experience." She doesn't go riding at night because of animals. "One of our main rules is ride with bright lights on during the day," she said. She also uses her horn a lot to alert drivers.

Argentine cemetery to receive historical marker

Dedication for pioneer families takes place August 15

By Hannah Ball

The Argentine Township Historical Commission has purchased an historical marker for the Argentine Cemetery to honor the pioneer families, history of the township, and the people buried at the cemetery.

A dedication will take place on Saturday, Aug. 15 at 2 p.m. at the cemetery, which is just west of the Argentine Township police station. The Gaines Community Band will play at the event, said Beth Carr, president of the Argentine Township Historical Commission. The local VFW will do the Pledge of Allegiance.

Afterward, the public is invited to a cake and punch reception at the Argentine Township Hall. Guests can purchase books that highlight the seven pioneer families, along with a list of the people buried in Argentine Cemetery. Argentine historical memorabilia will be set out for viewing.

"If anyone has anything they want to show, they can do it," she said. Carr has tracked down a few of the pioneers' relatives and a few of them are bringing some important items relating to their SUMMARY heritage. Earlier this year, with only a few people and about $1,200, the commission was able to purchase the marker with the help of Argentine Township. Carr said they're expecting to get it by the end of July in time for the dedication.

HISTORY OF THE ARGENTINE TOWNSHIP HISTORICAL COMMISSION

The commission formed in January 2002 and met monthly for a while. Only about 10 people are in the group. Carr said, but they'd love for more people to join. Now, they meet twice a year once, two Saturdays before Memorial Day to put out flags for the veterans, the other time is in August. If anyone has questions, they can call Carr at (810) 730-2353.

He offered burial plots for others until 1843, when he donated the land to Argentine Township. Graves located here include those of pioneer families, such as the Murrays, Lobdells, Sutherlands, Algers, Lahrings and McCaslins, as well as veterans of seven different wars."

MichiganVotes.org is a free, nonpartisan website created by the Mackinac Center for Public Policy to provide concise, non-partisan, plain-English descriptions of every bill and vote in the Michigan House and Senate. With one click, you can approve or disapprove of key votes by your legislators using the VoteSpotter smart phone app. This report was released Friday, July 10.

While the legislature is in a twoweek recess with no votes to report, the Roll Call Report examines some recent constitutional amendment proposals of general interest.

Senate Joint Resolution I and HJR L: Repeal homosexual marriage ban

Introduced by Sen. Rebekah Warren (D) and Rep. Jeremy Moss (D), respectively, to repeal Section 25 of the Michigan constitution, which states, "To secure and preserve the benefits of marriage for our society and for future generations of children, the union of one man and one woman in marriage shall be the only agreement recognized as a marriage or similar union for any purpose." Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

Senate Joint Resolution D and HJR D: Equalize school district funding

Introduced by Sen. Rick Jones (R) and Rep. Joel Johnson (R), respectively, to require that all school districts get the same amount of state and local tax revenue for school operating purposes. Current funding levels are based on a complicated formula that since 1994 has set a minimum level for all districts and has gradually closed the gap. The measures do not specify whether high-spending districts' funding would be cut or low-spending districts increased, and if the latter, where the new money would come from. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

2015 House Joint Resolution N: Protect "electronic data and communications" from unreasonable search and seizure Introduced by Rep. Jim Runestad (R), to add "electronic data and communications" to the state constitution's provision that recognizes the right of the people to be secure from unreasonable government searches and seizures of their "person, houses, papers, and possessions." Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Joint Resolution R: Require legislative consent for new regulations

Introduced by Rep. Gary Glenn (R), to prohibit any new administrative regulations from being imposed and enforced by state agencies if a majority of the House and Senate pass a resolution rejecting them. Approval of the governor would not be required. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

Conscientious co-worker is frustrated by slacker

DEAR ΔΜΥ:

I have been working at my company for six years. I have shown selfless dedication to my job and can count on one hand the number of days I've called in sick. Last year, due to changes in our business, I switched positions and started working in a different department. My new colleague is challenging. She suddenly becomes "sick" toward the end of every workweek and is constantly complaining of some new (presumably imagined) malady. This either requires her to take time off or leave work early. I (and others here) are almost 99 percent certain that this is all made up, or a product of mental illness. Her absences are through the roof. As someone with a very strong work ethic and who has always prided themselves on their attendance, I am becoming very resentful, particularly since this has been going on for ages and there has been no disciplinary action taken.

ASK BY AMY DICKINSON AMY DICKINSON

I have compassion for people who are (genuinely) sick, but how do I deal with these feelings against her? - Totally Fed-Up

DEAR FED-UP

Does this co-worker's behavior and frequent absences have a direct impact on your own productivity and job performance? Does it disrupt the important work flow in your unit? If so, you should go to your supervisor or HR department and discuss it. Otherwise, it is useless (and actually counterproductive) to speculate, criticize and gossip about this person behind her back. Doing so just provides a negative distraction. Think of it this way: Every single day, she has to be her — with illnesses (real or imagined), and with an attitude toward work that would never satisfy you. On the other hand, you get to go through the day being you. If you let your resentment get the upper hand, then you are handing over your own esteem to someone who doesn't deserve it.

Breakfast, Lunch Leave Man Dazed

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am 71, with high blood pressure, COPD, diabetes and spinal stenosis. I smoke.

After I eat breakfast or lunch, I rapidly fall into a daze during which I can hardly hold my head up. Sleep seems to be the only solution, but I still feel tired and listless the rest of the day. I have had this condition for over a year, and it is making me very depressed. I have read about CFS and autoimmune conditions, and the prognosis is not good. There must be some treatment for me. — A.P.

ANSWER: Fatigue

is a common symptom, but it is perhaps the most nonspecific one we deal with in medicine. The specific condition of chronic fatigue syndrome, by definition, is unexplained after a clinical evaluation. In your case, I would consider some important

#heartoffenton

possible causes. Although COPD and even spinal stenosis certainly can cause fatigue, the association with eating makes me wonder about your blood sugar levels, since poorly controlled diabetes can cause fatigue. Smoking doesn't cause fatigue, but quitting smoking certainly will help your COPD from progressing. All sleep disorders, but especially obstructive sleep apnea, cause fatigue that might not improve with sleeping. Depression certainly may cause fatigue, but it is also common in people whose primary issue is a medical cause of fatigue. If after a thorough evaluation your diagnosis turns out to be chronic fatigue syndrome, the most effective therapies are cognitive behavioral therapy and a graded exercise program. Since your symptoms happen after eating, it might be wise to see if certain foods are more likely to cause it by keeping a food diary. Many people have come down with the mysterious illness chronicfatigue syndrome.
