No butts about it — no tobacco on township property

Fenton Twp. — Tobacco is banned on all Fenton Township-owned property, starting Jan. 1, 2016.

The Fenton Township Board of Trustees approved the resolution at its Monday meeting.

Michigan law made it illegal to smoke inside public buildings since 2009.

“This also means they can’t smoke outside on the grounds,” said Fenton Township Supervisor Bonnie Mathis. “We want it to be a clean area.”

Mack Fuller, 40, of Holly was killed when the car he was driving struck a tree in Holly Township early Sunday morning.

At 1:20 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 4, troopers from the Michigan State Police Metro Post (Groveland Detachment) were called to a single vehicle crash on North Holly Road, near Lahring Road.

Their investigation revealed that the driver, identified as Fuller, in a 2006 Buick Allure, was travelling north on Holly Road when he lost control of the vehicle and crashed into a tree.

Local musicians ‘Get back’ to Beatles rooftop concert

By Tim Jagiello
jagiello@tctimes.com

Fenton — On Friday, the wind blew the sound of a live concert across downtown Fenton, hinting at the good-natured fun being created on the roof top seating area of the Fenton Fire Hall restaurant.

For about an hour, a rotating group of musicians played a list of Beatles songs (sometimes in character) with historical significance — the mini-concert mirrored The Fab Four’s last public show together, on Jan. 30, 1969.

The Beatles performed on the rooftop of their label’s London headquarters, and was eventually an inspiration for the songwriting duo Paul and John.

The concert was a reenactment of The Fab Four’s last public performance together.

Area police chief selected for FBI training

Argentine Twp. — Instead of working behind a desk all summer, Argentine Police Chief Daniel Allen has been chosen to spend 10 weeks at the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy doing physical training and taking specialized classes.

At a Marine Corps Base in Quantico, Virginia, Allen will receive executive police management training from July 11 to Sept. 16, 2016.

“It’s the very best training in the world,” he said. “It’s my slot. I just have to go through all the steps.”

The training he’ll receive is for police executives, runs four times a year, and accepts about 220 people for each section.

Allen will take classes and do physical training, which he’s excited about.

“There’s all kinds of different courses that are available. Some are for crime scene management and investigation, some are for media relations, and varying classes,” he said.

According to the FBI, classes are offered on law, behavioral sciences, understanding terrorism/terrorists mindsets, and cyber issues.

The sound of a siren instills a deep sense of dread if that siren is for you, and that dread may follow you around for months if you don’t take care of the ticket. Along with a fine of over $100, points are added to your driver’s license when you receive a ticket.

Tickets can be dealt with two ways: paying it or fighting it.

Not all tickets for the same violation cost the same.

Five facebook ‘no no’s’

By Vera Hogan
vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

While Facebook is a great way to stay connected with old and new friends, family members and other acquaintances, there are some things that should not be shared for safety reasons.

1 DATE OF BIRTH

While we all love getting “happy birthdays” from our friends on our Facebook wall, the problem is when you list your birthday you are providing identity thieves with one of the three or four pieces of personal information that is needed to steal your identity. It’s best to not list the date at all, but if you must, at least leave out the year.

2 YOUR RELATIONSHIP STATUS

Whether you are in a relationship, it may be best to not make it public knowledge. Stalkers would love to know that you just became newly single. If you change your status to “single” it gives them the green light they were looking for to resume stalking now that you’re back on the market. It also lets them know that you might be home alone since your significant other is no longer around.

3 YOUR CURRENT LOCATION

There are a lot of people who love the location tagging feature on Facebook that allows them to let people know where they are 24/7. The problem is that you have just told everyone that you’re on vacation (and not at your house). If you add how long your trip is then thieves know exactly how much time they have to rob you. You can always upload your vacation pictures when you get home.

4 THE FACT THAT YOU ARE HOME ALONE

It is very important that parents make sure their children never put the fact that they are home alone in their status. You wouldn’t walk into a room of strangers and tell them you are going to be all alone at your house so don’t do it on Facebook either. We may think that only our friends have access to our status, but we really have no idea who is reading it. Your friend may have had their account hacked or someone could be reading over their shoulder at the library. The best rule of thumb is not to put anything in your profile or status that you wouldn’t want a stranger to know. You may have the most stringent privacy settings possible, but if your friend’s account gets compromised than those settings go out the window.

5 PICTURES OF YOUR KIDS TAGGED WITH THEIR NAMES

Most people would do anything to keep their kids safe, but many people post hundreds of tagged pictures and videos of their kids to Facebook without even giving it a second thought. Probably nine out of 10 parents posted their child’s full name, and exact date and time of birth while they were still in the hospital after delivery. We post pictures of our kids and tag them and their friends, siblings, and other relatives. This kind of information could be used by predators to lure your child. They could use your child’s name and the names of their relatives and friends to build trust and convince them that they are not really a stranger because they know detailed information that allows them to build a rapport with your child.

If you must post pictures of your kids

Making something private on a public site

By Hannah Ball

“Now it’s official! It has been published in the media. Facebook has just released the entry price: $5.99 to keep the subscription of your status to be set to ‘private.’ If you paste (I said paste not share) this message on your page, it will be offered free, if not, tomorrow all your posts can become public. Even the messages that have been deleted or the photos not allowed. After all, it does not cost anything for a simple copy and paste.”

This message went around Facebook a few weeks ago, prompting many users to post it on their wall in fear of their posts, pictures, and profile becoming public.

It’s a hoax. Facebook remains free for “private” use and posting this status did not protect your privacy at all. As another lesson of not believing everything on the Internet, it did raise the question of

Welcome to Reverend Trump's church of emotional economics

Donald Trump would not tell reporters whose advice he received in creating his recently unveiled tax plan, but I hear a familiar voice in its three-and-a-half pages. It sounds like Jeb Bush. Bush released his own tax reform plan a couple of weeks earlier in September than his fellow Republican presidential candidate Trump. I’m not saying Trump plagiarized, but — all of the Republican candidates sound similar in their strong desire to cut taxes and spending — and in their vague notions about how to raise revenue.

But Trump, for all of his robust bragadocio, sounds more vague than most. Trump’s plan sounds similar to Bush’s, except it cuts taxes more, raises less revenue and ends up, according to economic experts on the left and right, deeper in debt.

For example, Bush would cut the income tax rate for the highest incomes to 28 percent. Trump would cut it to 25 percent. Bush would trim the corporate tax rate to 20 percent. Trump would whittle it down to 15 percent. Bush would take $15 million Americans off the income tax rolls. Trump would take off 75 million — all of those accord- ing to Trump, ‘will be able to send the Internal Revenue Service a one-page form that declares, ‘I win.’

That’s an echo of a promise Trump made at a Sept. 9 rally. ‘We will have so much winning if I get elected that you may get bored with the winning.’

Which says a lot about why Trump seems so effortlessly to have turned his celebrity into frontrunner status among Republican nominees. He has tapped into an angry segment of the population that adores the Trump brand, which stands for a willingness to fight, regardless of whether the goal is clear, a con- tempt for media and political elites in both parties and, above all, ‘winning.’

To those who think Trump’s plan sounds so brilliant, congratulations. Do you think Trump himself would ac- cept a business plan that ends up with less money than it had when it began, unless all the stars line up for a robust economy over the next 10 years? That calls for a huge, huge amount of faith.

OBAMA IS A Chicago crook and uses the horrific Oregon attack with ‘The guns must go’ diversion. Meanwhile in Chicago, last weekend, 50 people were shot in a city with our country’s strictest gun laws.

SOMEONE WANTED TO know who on the Benton City Council voted in favor of going to the new and costly garbage cans. It’s not easy to get that information, but I finally did. The vote was unanimous.

THE SUPREME COURT struck down the definition of marriage, so, what law did the Kentucky clerk defy? Courts can’t pass laws so how can a judge jail a person if no legal defini- tion exists.

MIKE McCARTHY is running for Speaker of the House. He was asked what he accomplished. He claimed his speech Benghazi committee leader tapped the poll numbers of Hili- lary Clinton. Here I thought the goals were to seek the truth.

EVERY TIME I read a Hot Line ask- ing how long are you going to blame the left, I have been right. Failure to pay Trump’s ceiling and the ‘wall’ Trump, that’s one of the few in government who have the ability and want to help you. God bless them.

Please WAIT UNTIL I am dead to allow the government to collapse. I already know how horrible, selfish and uncharitable people can be. You are a fool not to be able to see all the good the government does in spite of the few in government who have the qualities stated above.

APPLES AND OR- ANGES? The comment about Obama failing to enforce certain laws, which he swore to uphold when he took the oath of office, does not make him any less guilty than Kim Davis, court order or not.

SO, THEY RIPPED up new sidewalks around the Cornerstone? Great planning skills, Benton.

SO, THE NEW church being built on Main Street required tearing up Main Street. What I don’t understand is al- lowing the repair to be so shoddy that it actually requires a sign that reads ‘BUMP.’

WHY NOT BUILD a parking ramp in the parking lot already attached to the Cornerstone building? It could have the same brick face and look like it belonged and was built as part of the original project.

NOT SURE WHICH hospital the 91-year-old woman was at but my recent experience at Genesys was outstanding. If there were a longer wait time I would tend to believe the Obamacare law is to blame. Those people do care and want to help you. God bless them.

I WENT TO the Benton Tigers football game last night. I am happy to report that the teens there were respectful to me. Also, I felt sorry for the girls in the homecoming court who had their pretty gowns, with no coat. Brrr. The band looked sharp, as usual.

Joaquin and Obama: two forces of nature

Hurricane Joaquin dumped large amounts of rain on the East Coast, but another ‘force of nature’ flooded the country with so much rhetoric it was difficult for most people to keep up.

Before any facts were known, there was President Obama on camera (when isn’t he?) making a 12-minute address — a relatively short time for him. And what? undergraduate with experience at Roseburg, Oregon. He talked about the need for ‘common sense’ gun laws, and yet in the case of the Oregon shootings, as in so many other similar tragedies, he never mentions the responsibility and moral guilt of the shooter.

Someone intent on killing other human beings will not be deterred by more gun laws. Law-breaking is what criminals do; otherwise they would be law-abiders, a word that applies to re- sponsible gun owners. And those ‘gun free zones’ are just advertisements to potential killers.

He also chastised Congress for its failure to pass a budget, ignoring the real obstructionists, the Democrats, with their filibusters and manipulation of Senate rules.

Before the president called for an increase in the debt ceiling so we can ‘pay our bills.’ But, in 2006, when he was a senator and George W. Bush was president, Obama voted against raising the debt ceiling. At the time he said, ‘The fact that we are here today to debate raising America’s debt limit is a sign of leadership failure. I therefore intend to oppose any effort to increase America’s debt limit.’

So it was a failure of leadership then, but not a failure of leadership now?

And let’s not even start on this administra- tion’s multiple failures with Russia and in the Middle East.

If President Obama were paid ac- cording to the number of words he uses, he would be a multi-billionaire. If that pay were reduced by the number of untruths he told — from ‘climate change,’ to federal spending and the debt ceiling and budget, to the sup- posed effectiveness of more gun laws — he would be broke and in debt, like the nation he so poorly leads.

Knights host ‘USA-Michigan’ world volleyball champs

Fenton — The Fenton Knights of Columbus gave a warm welcome to the USA-Michigan Special Olympics volleyball team at an open house in Fenton on Saturday, Oct. 3.

The 12-member team and their coaches were invited to the Knights of Columbus Hall at the St. John School for an afternoon of fellowship, great food and certificates of achievement.

The team members, who are among the students with intellectual disabilities at the Elmer Knopf Learning Center at VanSlyke and Maple in Flint, traveled to California in August for the Special Olympic World Games in Los Angeles.

They returned to a hero’s welcome after taking the gold at the games. A total of 6,500 athletes representing 165 countries competed in Los Angeles this year.

According to Coach Sheila Gafney, the team competed in six games during the 13-day trip.

“We had to beat Japan and Uruguay,” she said. “They then had to play each other. We won the gold by beating Uruguay.”

Gafney was assisted by coaches Cheryl Barnhart and Giuseppe Finateri. She has been coaching and teaching adaptive physical education at Elmer Knopf for the past 30 years.

To pay for the trip, they had to raise $30,000, Gafney said. They get the money through fundraisers and donations from individuals and organizations such as the Knights of Columbus, who help pay for travel, food and lodging.

Their fundraisers have included car washes, Zumba dances, staff luncheons at school, sweatshirt sales and more.

Gafney referred to one of the team members, Drew Callahan as their floor mop. “He slides everywhere,” she said.

It was obvious that the young people in the room enjoy each other’s company. When asked what they would be

Fenton Zonta Club rallies to raise awareness

They say you always hurt the ones you love — but far too many take that to the extreme with domestic violence being the painful and too often deadly, end result.

Members of the Fenton Zonta Club continue doing their part to raise awareness about domestic violence, and human trafficking. On Sept. 29, they hosted a rally at FirstMerit Bank in Fenton.

Anne Kita, crisis counselor coordinator for the YWCA’s Domestic Violence and Sexu-

According to Denise Keipert, past president and current director for the Zonta club, approximately 75 people attended the rally.

Rally supporters placed nearly 640 flags on the front (Caroline Street) and back lawns (Silver Lake Road) of First-

OCTOBER IN THE HUTCH

October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Fenton Zonta Club and rally supporters place nearly 640 flags on the FirstMerit Bank lawns in recognition of the number of domestic violence and human trafficking victims in Genesee County from January 2014 through September 2015.

Fenton Zonta Club and rally supporters place nearly 640 flags on the FirstMerit Bank lawns in recognition of the number of domestic violence and human trafficking victims in Genesee County from January 2014 through September 2015. This situation could involve a human trafficking operation involving young girls brought here for the purpose of prostitution and other exploitation," said Genesee County Prosecutor David Leyton in early 2014.

The spa, which was believed to have ties to organized crime in Chicago, was shut down.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE FACTS

Domestic violence is a pattern of behavior used to establish power and control over another person through fear and intimidation, often including the threat or use of violence. The following are statistics provided by the YWCA of Greater Flint:

- Every nine seconds in the United States, a woman is assaulted or beaten.
- One in four women will experience domestic violence during her lifetime.
- Domestic violence is the leading cause of injury to women, more than car accidents, muggings and rapes combined.
- Over 15 million children in the U.S. have witnessed partner violence in their home this past year.
- Nearly 38 percent of all murdered women are killed by an intimate partner compared with 6 percent of murdered men.

The YWCA Domestic Violence Sexual Assault Services in the last year has provided shelter to 335 women and their children. The crisis line call has received over 1,200 phone calls. Over 2,000 individuals have received victim advocacy services and crisis counseling services. Nearly 250 personal protection orders were filed through our victim advocacy program.

A recent change in the law

Since I first became a lawyer in 1976 there have been many changes in the law.

Although I don’t have a specific number, I can with some degree of certainty estimate that the changes just in the State of Michigan number in the thousands. Some have been minor changes, some major and some totally eliminating certain laws.

When I say this, I refer to the fact that since 1976 we have had 39 years of our legislature passing new statutes, local units of government passing new ordinances, and our Michigan appellate courts interpreting the meanings of statutes, ordinances, and previous case law.

Of course I can’t list all of these changes here, but to cite just one from a number of years ago, in 1976 almost all traffic violations were considered criminal offenses. This meant that if you were found guilty or pled guilty to even a minor traffic violation it was considered a criminal conviction. This was then subsequently changed by the legislature and many minor traffic violations became civil infractions.

With the theme of changes in the law in mind, I now present a recent change regarding the offense of carrying a concealed weapon.

For many years, it has been against the law to carry a concealed pistol. The requirements for a conviction were basically that a person knows that he or she is carrying a pistol and it is concealed on or about their person.

Without going into all of the possible defenses to such a charge, since 1992 and as announced in the Michigan Court of Appeals case of People v Gardner, if a defendant could show that the pistol was inoperable or unusable, a conviction could not be sustained. Indeed, there is a criminal jury instruction which says this very thing.

On Sept. 15, 2015 the Michigan Court of Appeals in the case of People v Humphrey held that this was no longer the law and the defense of inoperability is no longer valid.

Whether this case will be appealed to the Michigan Supreme Court is uncertain, but what is certain is that for now the law in Michigan has been changed.

We should always remember that life is change.

Ticket prices vary depending on the district. Genesee County 67th District Court decides the fees for the Fenton area.

Speeding on U.S. 23, I-496, I-75, or I-747 in Genesee County starts at a $140 ticket for going 1-5 mph over the posted speed limit. Driving 6-10 mph over is a violation that costs $150 with one point on your license. An 11-15 mph over ticket costs $165 with two points, a 16-25 mph over ticket costs $195 with three points, and going 26 mph and over is worth a ticket $240 and four points.

Conviction zone tickets and school zones cost $10 to $100 more, with additional points.

Tickets can be paid off, but they remain on your record for seven years, and points remain on your license for two years.

In Michigan, motorists may receive 12 points on their license within two years before their license is suspended. However, depending on the violation and a person’s driving history, a traffic court can allow someone to take a Basic Driver Improvement Course and the ticket and points may be dismissed.

Insurance companies usually charge more if someone has points on their driving record.

Tickets must be paid within 20 days of being issued, unless an extension has been requested from the court.

To receive an extension, you must sign the back of the ticket, admitting fault, attach a note requesting an extension, and mail it to the court. You can also request an extension in person at the court. Fenton’s district court is located at 17100 Silver Parkway.

Tickets can be paid with a money order, cash, or a debit/credit card.

You can pay your traffic ticket online at go.michigan.gov or in person at the district court.

“Fines are paid to the court. Depending on the charge, they can be paid by mail or in person at the court. Some charges require a court appearance,” said Fenton Police Chief Susan Allen. “A portion of your fine and court cost money will be returned to the city, a portion will go to the court and a portion goes to the State of Michigan.”

Once the ticket is paid, the Secretary of State receives the information and puts it on the person’s driving record.

Fighting a traffic ticket requires a court hearing to plead “not guilty.” Not responding to a traffic ticket in time automatically results in a “guilty” plea and the state will suspend the driver’s license.

The Department of Motor Vehicles (dmv.com) recommends hiring a traffic ticket attorney if you want to fight the ticket.

If you’ve lost your traffic ticket, contact the Fenton District Court. You’ll need your full name, driver’s license number and license plate number.

CRASH Continued from Front Page

He lost control in a curve and the left the roadway, striking a tree and rolling over. Fuller, who was alone in the car was trapped inside.

The North Oakland County Fire Authority (NOCFA) responded and Fuller was pronounced dead at the scene.

Witnesses said Fuller’s car was traveling at a high rate of speed before losing control on the wet pavement and crashing.

State police say that speed was a factor in the crash. It is unknown if alcohol was a factor. The investigation continues by the Metro Post.
Right to Life North West Oakland County joins 90 Michigan cities in Life Chain

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

Holly — Sunday afternoon, a small group of protesters stood quiet, letting the signs speak for them as traffic passed.

Language ranged from “pray to end abortion,” to “Defund Planned Parenthood,” all with the same silent anti-abortion message.

Passers-by weren’t so silent — some honked their support, ignored them or they silently protested back with a middle finger.

Diane Ducat stood with her red sign, waving and looking drivers in the eye.

“As long as no one throws anything, I’m OK,” she said.

As in previous years, they prompted support, disdain and indifference.

Margot Gelderman of Holly participated despite two severely arthritic knees.

The sign of Judy Wood of Holly read, “Adoption is Love” and comes from her own perspective of being adopted.

Most of the individuals in the group were affiliated with an area church, such as St. Rita’s Catholic Church, or Calvary United Methodist Church, but it wasn’t just one church’s effort. Right to Life North West Oakland County coordinated the event, which it holds annually at the corner of Grange Hall Road and Saginaw Street.

While the group in Holly was only about a dozen, they were part of a national event. In Michigan alone, 90 cities participated, and Fenton also had their own demonstration on Silver Parkway.

The idea of this Life Chain protest is to combat the practice of abortion in the U.S. According to their website, “It is a visual statement of solidarity by the Christian community that abortion kills children and that the Church supports the sanctity of human life from the moment of conception until natural death.”

Township property includes the Civic Community Center park, beaches, the Department of Public Works building, and others. (See sidebar)

Trustee Shann Smuaker asked how they’re going to enforce the ban. Mathis said they can’t.

“At least it tells people we don’t want it close to the building,” she said.

People will smoke in their car, and then walk up to the township building, put the cigarette out right by the front door, and leave the remnants on the ground.

Fenton Township Clerk Bob Krug said he hopes the ban will encourage their employees to quit smoking as well.

“We’ve had two experiences from employees who have suffered from potential tobacco-related issues,” he said. He hopes the employees will take advantage of the Jan. 1 date to receive treatment. “It gives them almost three months.”

There was discussion over allowing tobacco use in an enclosed car while it’s on township property.

“I’m not into telling people what they can or cannot do on their own property,” Trustee Mark Goupil said.

Trustee Vince Lorraine agreed. “I’m not a smoker but I worry about second-hand smoke. Even on that beach, I want nobody smoking a cigarette on township property where there are kids. When you’re talking about someone’s personal property, that’s a line that I sometimes don’t want to cross.”

After more conversation, the board unanimously passed the resolution to ban tobacco use on Fenton Township property, expect in an enclosed vehicle.

Property owned by Fenton Township

While Fenton Township owns 56 parcels, not all will be affected by the tobacco ban. Most lots are places people don’t frequent, like vacant lots, tax-foreclosed properties, or sewer pump stations, according to Tom Broecker, deputy clerk/operations manager. House Bill 4193: Allow electronic “proof of insurance” for drivers

To revise the state’s no-fault insurance law to allow “proof of insurance” documents that motorists are required to have when driving to be an electronic communication from the insurance company visible on a mobile device. If asked, a driver could be required to forward the information to a designated site.

To appropriate $7.725 million to settle a lawsuit over injuries sustained in a critical water chemical being a risk to public safety, and also make a $100 “placeholder” appropriation related to the possibility of changing Flint’s municipal water supplier to the Detroit system (which serves most communities in the metropolitan region).

House Bill 4713: Require “culpable mental state” for criminal conviction

To establish that (with some significant exceptions) if a law does not indicate whether a “culpable mental state” (“mens rea”) is required to establish guilt, the presumption will be that this is required, meaning that prosecutors must show that the defendant violated the law “purposely, knowingly or recklessly.” This would not be the case if a law explicitly imposes a “strict liability” standard. Under current law, many complex “administrative” offenses authorize criminal penalties for actions that a regular person would not know are illegal.

shut down by police.

A Joyful Noise Music Studio coordinated the concert, and 24 musicians shared instruments and performed as six different bands. Joyful Noise co-owner Lisa Bayer said that setting up the concert was one of her first thoughts when she saw the new restaurant’s rooftop seating area. The concert has been in the works since last spring.

“They wanted it to be as much like the original concert as we could,” she said. They played the same set list, played on a rooftop, and even had a couple of guys in police costumes “break up” the concert.

They also used a local film crew to get crowd reaction, as the Beatles did for their film “Let It Be.” This concert footage will eventually be used for a tri-county area promotional film.

Just listening, observers probably couldn’t tell that the seasoned musicians hadn’t rehearsed together at all. “It turned out great and we had a ton of fun,” said Bayer, who played keys and coordinated the event.

They may have their sights on another concert, maybe July 4, as the real goal was to reach the ears of foot traffic below, versus having a small party on the roof of the building.

Learning online

By Sally Rummel

The virtual classroom has gone mainstream for today’s students

While traditional classroom settings are still the norm for most students in the U.S., especially in K-12 schools, online learning has become a mainstream reality for most college and university students today.

The trend toward online learning prompted the Michigan Legislature to pass a law in 2006 to require all Michigan high school students to take at least one online course during their high school career, with the goal of preparing students for this virtual style of learning.

Today, more than 80 percent of public universities and half of all private colleges offer at least one fully online program. Approximately 30 percent of all college students take at least one online course and almost three million are earning their degree entirely online, according to the National Center for Education Statistics.

Education analysts estimate that eventually, one-third of college students will study fully online, one-third will study only on campus and one-third will do both.

Business is the most sought after online degree at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Despite the popularity of online learning, the campus environment still remains the main hub of daily life for most students. Students taking online classes must often visit a campus to obtain materials, join study groups or do research. It becomes a hybrid approach to learning, offering the best of both worlds for many students.

Professional fields such as business, information technology, nursing and criminal justice have the largest online enrollments, but online degrees are now available in more specialized studies — from aeronautics to radiology.

Central Michigan University emerged in a tie with State University of New York College of Technology at Delhi for the top spot for online bachelor’s degree programs, rated by U.S. News & World Report.

The online graduate business program at Indiana University at Bloomington ranked first. Rankings for all online programs were based on peer reputation, student engagement, faculty credentials and training, student services and technology and admissions selectivity.

How to get the most out of an online education:

STEP 1: Read the syllabus

Highlight and record due dates for assignments and threaded discussions.

STEP 2: Plan weekly study times

Plan a regular study time, blocking off set time.
Tips for choosing a major

Choosing a major is an important decision for college students. The right major can set students on a path to a rewarding and successful career, which can lead to a more fulfilling life.

The gravity of such a decision is one reason many college students delay choosing their majors until after they enter college. Students often find entering college as an undecided affords them the opportunity to explore various courses of study without committing themselves to any particular subject. Though that approach can work while students are still undecided, many advisors recommend students choose a major before their third year of college. The following tips can help students ensure they make the right decision about which path to take for the remainder of their college careers.

VISIT YOUR SCHOOL’S CAREER CENTER

College career centers are a great resource for college students as they narrow down their options concerning a major. Many career centers have programs in place designed to match students’ interests and personalities with courses of study. Utilize these programs if you are having trouble matching an interest with a major.

TAKE ACTION

Classrooms can be great places to discover a passion for a particular field of study, but lectures or entry-level courses are not always enough to spark interest. If there are particular fields of study that interest you, find extracurricular clubs that are associated with those majors. Such clubs may host speakers or seminars that can give you greater insight into the field than you might glean from the classroom. Attend such events when possible, and bring any questions you might have about the course of study they are associated with.

SPEAK TO UPPERCLASSMEN

Underclassmen may make up the majority of students in entry-level courses, but you may encounter some upperclassmen who have already chosen their majors in such classes from time to time. Such students can be valuable resources for other students looking to gain greater insight into courses of study. Ask about particular classes and professors who upperclassmen found particularly engaging and encouraging.

PURSUE AN INTERNSHIP

The hands-on experience provided by an internship is a great way for students to learn if a particular line of work is for them. Internships can provide an insider’s look into particular professions and industries. While internships might once have been designated for older students, many businesses now have more relaxed eligibility requirements regarding their internship programs, making it possible for students of all grade levels to gain some practical professional experience while still in school.

Choosing a major is one of the most important decisions young students will make. Taking a careful and thoughtful approach to such a decision can help students select majors that lead to rewarding careers.

Enrolling in an undecided major affords students the opportunity to explore various courses of study without a total commitment.

Bronchos’ special teams lead Holly by Flushing, 23-20

It’s become apparent the Holly Bronchos want to prove they are still a major player in the Flint Metro League football race. The Bronchos (3-1, 4-2) remained just one game out of first place by knocking out one of the preseason favorites, Flushing, on Friday night. The Bronchos defeated Flushing 23-20 at Flushing High School.

A big part of the victory had to do with special teams, as Holly blocked a field goal, two extra points and a punt. “Special teams really are (special),” Holly coach Ryan Culloty said. “They are the shining part of our team.”

“Coach David Tooley asked me if he could try some stuff out with the kids. It’s something I don’t work a lot on, so I said, ‘Go right ahead.’ They’ve been great for our team.”

Flushing took a 6-0 lead into the half on a Nolan Martin run with 1:14 remaining in the second quarter. However, the Bronchos blocked the extra point, keeping it at 6-0.

The Bronchos dominated the second half, putting together key plays on offense, defense and special teams. Holly tied the game with its special teams, when Matt Barnett blocked a punt and Javon Barr recovered it and ran it in the end zone. The contest was tied 6-6 with about 10 minutes left in the third quarter.

Holly took the lead for good early in the fourth quarter. Set up by a 30-yard pass from Garrett Stapleton to Barnett to end the third quarter, Collin Dallwitz capped the drive with a one-yard TD run. Amy Scruggs made her first of two extra-points, giving the Bronchos a 13-6 lead with 11:27 left in the fourth quarter.

The Bronchos’ defense got into the mix when Adam Tooley recovered a fumble.

Fenton’s attack too much for Holly, 4-1

Holly — Constant pressure on a team can make their players eventually crack.

That’s what the Fenton Tigers provided against the Holly Bronchos on Monday, and the Tigers came out with a 4-1 Metro League varsity boys soccer victory at Karl Richter Campus. Chase Coselman scored two of the Tigers’ four goals, helping lead Fenton to the win and a spot tied atop the Metro League standings with Brandon. Both teams are tied with 13 points, one point ahead of third-place Linden. The Tigers have games with Flushing (today) and Linden remaining on the Metro League schedule.

“I definitely think we can,” Coselman said when asked if the Tigers can win the Metro League crown. “I think the sense of unity in all of our play, we know each other. Our brotherhood lives up to that really well. It starts with the coaches and stretches down right to every player on the team. It’s a team to be proud of, and it’s really awesome to be part of it.

“Performances like this are a good start. We have to keep on building as we go on. We have Fenton’s Adam Gornick (front) heads a ball while Holly’s John Kusilski battles Gornick for the ball. The Tigers (4-1 in the Metro, one loss being a shut-out loss) attacked throughout the game. And frequently, when it appeared Holly was the squad on attack, the Tigers were able to present a counter-attack that either created dangerous scoring chances or actual goals. That’s what happened on Fenton’s first goal. The Tigers got out in transition, enabling Coselman to score his first goal, giving the Tigers a 1-0 lead with 24:59 left in the opening half.

“The first one was me and Scott (Cubr), our other forward, running and he kind of opened the space. All of a sudden there was a pass from him (and I scored),” Coselman said.

With 10:26 left in the opening half, the Tigers made it 2-0. Adam Gornick drove to the Holly net and scored from a pretty extreme angle off after receiving a pass from Liam Adams. The Tigers earned some breathing room with a third goal with 4:12 left in the half when Coselman scored again.

Barr led the Bronchos on the ground, collecting 62 rushing yards. Tooley finished with 51. Stapleton completed 4-of-8 passes for 53 yards. Cristian Diaz led the Bronchos’ defense with 12 total tackles.

Holly has now won three straight games and are just four points away from being undefeated. The Bronchos only losses were tough one-point defeats to Williamston and Linden in back-to-back weeks.

“Our kids have bought into what we are talking about and they have a whole new attitude and mindset,” Culloty said. “We have a lot of great senior leadership. Our kids have responded since those losses. And it’s not like we were getting blown out. They were two tough losses to two teams who will probably make the playoffs.”

Young was the primary target, catching five passes for 86 yards. Young also rushed for 45 yards on eight carries. Aaron Steedman ran for 62 yards on 19 carries, while Sarkon had 47 rushing yards on 13 carries.

“Offensively we moved the ball up and down the field and we had two drives we probably should’ve scored on, but instead had to settle for field goals,” Linden co-head varsity football coach Denny Hopkins said. “We didn’t tackle very well in

“We had two real defensive mistakes that put them up, and that third goal really hurt,” Holly coach Mark Diskin said.

“In the first half we thought we had a lot of good chances, too. ... The scoreboard didn’t reflect the game. We were down 3-0. It was just two simple mistakes in the first half.”

The Tigers enjoyed a 12-4 edge with shots in the second half, with both teams scoring once. Fenton made it a 4-0 lead when Cubr dribbled with the ball before sending a cross to Brady Young, resulting in Fenton’s fourth goal with 2:29 left in the contest. Holly enjoyed its only goal on a set play. Allen McCarthy sent a through ball to Lucas Setzke inside the Fenton box. Setzke had time and a half open, eventually just dribbling the ball into the Fenton net. Holly trailed 4-1 with 2:24 remaining.

Holly keeper Lorenzo Rodriguez made 12 saves. Fenton keeper John Leaske made five saves.

LAKE FENTON

and, from the Blue Devils’ view, after a few questionable calls on the football field. Lake Fenton lost a tough 27-26 overtime Genesee Area Conference Red Division contest against the Bucs on Friday.

Beecher overcame a 20-7 deficit with 4:05 left in the third quarter to capture the victory, frustrating the Blue Devils and their fans in the process.

The Blue Devils looked poised to ice the contest with 5:10 remaining when Beecher was unable to convert a fourth-and-5 play from its own 43. However, appearances can be deceiving. After Trent Hillger ran two plays for 22 yards, the Bucs’ defense responded with what may have been the play of the game. Lake Fenton fumbled on the next play and Beecher’s Malik Ellison recovered. He started a return and when he was about to be tackled, made a pitch to teammate Jordan Roland for a 60-yard TD return. Beecher’s deficit was just 20-13 with 3:56 left.

Beecher’s defense came up big again on Lake Fenton’s next possession, forcing the Blue Devils to punt — just four plays later. Beecher was forced to start the game-tying drive at its own 20 with just 2:19 left. That’s when Beecher quarterback Marcus Wright took over. He scrambled for gains of 6, 18 and 12 yards before completing a 14-yard pass to Ellison to the Lake Fenton 26 with about 30 seconds remaining. On the ensuing play, Lake Fenton’s Mitchell Arens appeared to have iced the game with an interception in the end zone, but the Blue Devils were flagged for pass interference, and then two misconduct penalties. Suddenly what looked like a Lake Fenton pick became a Beecher first down at the Lake Fenton 6. Two plays later Wright scrambled to the left side for a seven-yard TD run. Jose Zaldívar’s extra-point kicked the contest at 20-all, forcing overtime.

Beecher scored on its overtime possession on a nine-yard inside slant pass to Jordan Roland, capped by Zaldívar’s extra-point. Lake Fenton took just two plays to score on Hillger’s three-yard TD run. The Blue Devils went for the two-point conversion but failed as Hillger was tackled. He pitched the ball to Bryce Andres in desperation, and Andres appeared to score, but Hillger was whistled down, meaning the Blue Devils failed the conversion and lost a tough 27-26 OT verdict.

“We certainly could’ve played better. We could’ve made some plays we didn’t make, but we felt we played well enough to win the game,” a frustrated Lake Fenton varsity head coach Eric Doyle said.

“We feel like we had this one taken away from us. “But we’ll have to bounce back from this one. We have Goodrich next week and we can’t afford to let this loss become two losses. We need to move on and get ready for Goodrich.”

Lake Fenton never trailed until the overtime. Beecher looked poised to possibly score first, but a Chris Bell interception at the Lake Fenton 2 gave the Blue Devils the ball with 10:14 left in the half. What followed was an impressive 98-yard drive on 15 running plays with Hillger scoring on a 23-yard run. Dylan Hillger made the extra point, and Lake Fenton led 7-0 with 2:41 left in the half.

However, Beecher (4-1, 5-1) answered back with a TD drive of its own, going 70 yards on 10 plays. The drive was kept alive on two Lake Fenton pass interference calls, including one in the end zone on a pass that may have been uncatchable. However, Beecher eventually scored on a seven-yard TD pass to Ellison from Wright. It was tied at 7-all at the half.

The third quarter was all Lake Fenton. A 43-yard completion from Trent Hillger to Trevor Wright set up Hillger’s second TD run of the game. This one came from two yards out. The extra-point made it a 14-7 Lake Fenton lead with 10:19 left in the third quarter. Beecher drove the ball to the Lake Fenton 54 on its next drive, but an incomplete pass gave the Blue Devils the ball back on downs. Just three plays later, the Blue Devils scored on what was their best play of the night — a reverse pass from Bell to Wright for a 62-yard TD. Lake Fenton led 20-7 with 4:05 left in the third quarter. However, the lead wouldn’t hold.

Fenton’s Jacob Martin (right) and Holly’s Ethan Postma battle for the ball in the Tigers’ 4-1 victory on Monday.

Fenton’s Dylan Crankshaw (left) scored four touchdowns in Fenton’s 55-0 homecoming victory against Clio on Friday night.

TD pass to Kevin Lack. Fenton led 21-0 after one quarter.

If that wasn’t impressive enough, the Tigers one-upped themselves in the second quarter, scoring four TDs. Crankshaw had TD runs of 1, 27 and 34 yards, while Czarnota had a 46-yard TD run.

With the continuous clock running through the entire second half, the Tigers scored just one more TD. It came on a nine-yard run by Shane Kolinski.

The Tigers finished with 367 rushing yards. Crankshaw ran for 143 yards and the four TDs, while Czarnota had 96 running yards on just four carries. Kolinski had 84 rushing yards. The Tigers’ defense held the Mustangs to just 96 total offense and five first downs. Clio converted just one of seven third-down plays.

“It was a good homecoming game,” Setzke said. “Everyone got to play. It was a full team effort by everyone.”

privacy in an ever-growing, easy-to-share online world.

One thing that’s important to remember is that once you put something on social media, it’s not private, no matter your settings. Social media is a public space, according to National Public Radio (NPR).

Your friends can share your status and then all of their friends can see it.
It allows for the rapid exchange of news and pop culture information, but not everyone wants their statuses shared.

There are certain privacy settings that can help users avoid disseminating information to many people.

To get to your privacy settings on Facebook, click the down button in the upper right hand corner of your Facebook page that looks like a lock.
This is the ‘Privacy Shortcuts.’

You can do a privacy checkup that takes you through a few things.

● It’s very cool to share pictures of your cool is sharing photos of your breakfast, lunch and dinner and anything else you share a great recipe. Most people like to acquire a fresh new recipe to make at home.

● It is wonderful to be able to ask for who have loved ones and pets who are sick, dying, have died — and more prayers for when they are on the mend.

What’s not cool is to ask people to share specific prayers or religious poems in order to gain a million dollars in 24 hours, for example, or something similar. Or threaten that if they don’t share, something horrible will happen.
That to most people is just sacrilegious.
