Weekly, summertime dances featured superstar entertainers — before they were household names

What does a young girl from Holly have to do with some of the biggest names in rock and roll history? A lot when you consider that she, her siblings and friends hung out with them from the mid-1960s to 1970, when a host of bands made their way to the Mt. Holly Ski Resort to perform to crowds of between 350 and 1,000 teenagers every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night.

WTAC, an AM radio station at the time in Grand Blanc had a program director named Bob Dell, See BANDS on 6B

• Alice Cooper
• Bob Seger
• Chuck Berry
• Ted Nugent
• (The Amboy Dukes)
• Grand Funk Railroad
• The Frost
• The Lettermen
• The Ides of March

Some of the bands that performed at Mt. Holly

Alice Cooper performed at the Mt. Holly Ski Lodge in 1970. It is rumored that there was a bootleg CD created from that concert.

THINGS YOU DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT...

The following are some “fun facts” about the rockers with Michigan ties, who performed during the mid-1960s at Mt. Holly.

Sources: Clashmusic.com, Asx.com; Cbslocal.com; wideopenspaces.com

Chuck Berry

• Between 1948 and 1955, while beginning his career as a musician, Chuck Berry worked as a janitor at the Fisher Body auto assembly plant, trained to be a hairdresser at the Poro School, freelanced as a photographer, and assisted his father as a carpenter.
• Berry once opened a restaurant called The Southern Air in Missouri. According to a former waitress, Berry wired the women’s toilets with a video camera and recorded approximately 200 unsuspecting patrons using it. Charges were dropped when Berry agreed to compensate financially the victims of his “potty cam.”
• Berry’s famous “duck walk” dance originated in 1956, when he attempted to hide wrinkles in his rayon suit by shaking them out with his now-signature body movements.

Bob Seger

• Bob Seger co-wrote the Eagles’ number one hit “Heartache Tonight.” Glenn Frey of the Eagles had his first studio gig singing back-up on Seger’s “Ramblin’ Gamblin’ Man.”
• In April 1976, Seger and The Silver Bullet Band released the album Live Bullet, recorded over two nights in Detroit’s Cobo Arena in September 1975. In June of 1976, he was a featured performer at the Pontiac Silverdome in front of nearly 80,000 fans. The next night, Seger played before fewer than a thousand people in Chicago.
• “Shakedown” off the 1987 film “Beverly Hills Cop II”s soundtrack, became Seger’s first and only number one hit on the pop singles chart. The song was originally intended for Frey, but when he lost his voice just before the recording session, he called in Seger to take his place.
• In 2001 and 2002, Seger won the prestigious Port Huron to Mackinac Boat Race aboard his 52-foot sailboat “Lightning.”

Alice Cooper

• When people see Alice Cooper play in concert, they can expect to see electric chairs, demonic baby dolls, decapitations, fake blood, giant snakes, and a singer who is painted up like a demon himself. Yet, Alice Cooper was raised in a religious family. His father was actually a preacher for the Church of Jesus Christ, a branch of the Latter Day Saints Mormon religion. Cooper himself was active in his church as a child.
• The fact that Alice Cooper was the original shock rock icon was really just an accident when it originally started. The incident that started it all happened at the Toronto Peace Festival, a concert that also included John Lennon and The Doors. During the show, someone in the audience threw a live chicken on the stage. Cooper thought the chicken could fly and tossed it into the air. It landed in the crowd and died, blood spraying everywhere. The incident spread like wildfire, with everyone embellishing what happened, and a legend was born.
• While most rock stars are not that interesting in athletic competition of any kind, Cooper happens to be a fantastic golfer. He actually wrote a book called “Golf Monster: My 12 Steps to Becoming a Golf Addict.” Cooper has a handicap of seven and started golfing to help battle his alcoholism.

Ted Nugent

• Whether you know him as “The Nuge” or “Uncle Ted,” this man is a well-known subject not only in the music scene, but in the outdoor industry as well.
• Besides his music, people know him for his conservative political views and his support of the NRA.
• You may know he hunts, but did you know Ted Nugent owns a game ranch in Texas? Nugent also hosts hunting trips for sick and terminally ill children.
• Before he became famous Nugent grew up in a strict environment created by his Army sergeant father. He is today the father of three daughters and two sons.
• Nugent once participated in a jam session tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr. with Jimi Hendrix.

With concussions now a big topic on the news and among parents, schools and athletes, Advanced Physical Therapy Center has begun to offer balance baseline testing and a cognitive assessment for concussions at its Grand Blanc office. “The test only takes minutes and the cost is minimal,” said Karen Strader of APTC. “It helps take the guesswork out of tough return-to-play decisions for parents and coaches, and helps physicians know where the patients are in the recovery process.” The Grand Blanc office is located at 10809 South Saginaw St., telephone (810) 695-8700. Holly man named local Mason of the Year

Eric M. Crawford, Worshipful Master of Holly Lodge No. 134, was recently named 2016 District 16 Mason of the Year.

Crawford was selected from amongst candidates of District 16 Lodges — Linden, Fenton, Grand Blanc, Goodrich, Holly, Onortonville, Clarkson, Oxford and Lake Orion.

A native of White Lake and veteran of Operation Desert Storm in the U.S. Army Reserves and National Guard, Crawford joined the Masonic orders in Kansas while serving as a police officer and explosive K9 handler. He returned to Holly in 2009. “I’m truly humbled,” said Crawford. “Holly Lodge has given me many opportunities for leadership and to be involved in the community, and I’m looking forward to what the future will bring.”

As a District Mason of the Year, Crawford is eligible for selection as the State Mason of the Year, which is presented at the annual meeting in May.
Fond memories of Mt. Holly dance days

Some people remember the fun times they had at the Mt. Holly dances. Jim Murray of Fenton is one of them. “I’m not sure what year they started, but I went to them as early as 1964,” he said. “They had top name featured bands there. It was great, they really packed them in.”

“I remember a group called ‘The Kingsmen,’” he added. “I still have their album somewhere.”

Jim Sitko said he enjoyed going to the Mt. Holly dances on Friday and Saturday nights. “I was a GMI (now Kettering) student between 1964 and 1968 so it was reasonably close,” he said. “It was a great venue for getting together and meeting people.”

Mark Tibbitts, general manager for Mt. Holly for many years said he was too young to have gone to the dances, but said he has been privy over the years to stories, and said the room in which these dances took place is still intact.

“I’ve had multi-year class reunions out here for Lake Fenton and almost always take people on a tour of the old dance room,” said Tibbitts. “I secretly call it the Bob Seger room.”

Tibbitts said through the network of Michigan entertainers performing at Mt. Holly, Dick Wagner of The Frost, wrote several songs for Alice Cooper, the most notable of which is “Only Women Bleed.” “I met Dick at his book signing a year and a half ago at then-Raymo’s and he told me that,” said Tibbitts. “Dick has since passed away.”

A league makes you get out there to play, and helps you meet people.

Tri-county area boasts hundreds of golf leagues for fun and competition

By Sally Rummel

Bernell Wood of Tyrone Township has continued her active lifestyle and social life through the game of golf.

“It’s the most difficult sport I’ve ever played, yet the most enjoyable. Just look at me — I’m 76 and still golfing three to four times a week, when the weather’s right.”

As co-chair of the Chicks with Sticks Golf League at Spring Meadows Country Club and secretary of the Birdie and Bogie League at Dunham Hills Golf Club in Hartland, she takes the game seriously, while still having fun.

“A league makes you get out there to play, and helps you meet people,” said Wood, a retired physical education teacher. “You play in different formats, like best ball or a scramble, and it can be competitive or just fun, depending on the league.”

There are literally hundreds of golf leagues in the tri-county area, not only separate men’s and women’s leagues, but also couple’s leagues, senior leagues and junior leagues.

Some people play for competition, while others enjoy the social aspect of playing golf with friends, enjoying an active sport.

Some people play for competition, while others enjoy the social aspect of playing golf with friends, enjoying an active sport.

Others make deals out on the golf course, putting a relaxing spin on business while still getting work accomplished. Leagues put a lot of the “fun” in golf, with special events, prizes, trophies, end-of-season banquets, etc.

“The demand for leagues is overwhelming,” said Christopher White of Fenton Farms Golf Club in Fenton Township. “I honestly think it’s because people are beginning to negotiate time for themselves on their calendar — some ‘me time.’ ”

GOLF LEAGUES

FENTON FARMS takes its leagues very seriously. “We do a whole week of League Appreciation Week in mid-season, so our league golfers know how much we appreciate them,” said White. “We’ll provide food all week for them. It’s a way for us to say thanks.”

COYOTE PRESERVE GOLF COURSE in Tyrone Township also has a lot of new leagues. “We’re pretty full for the season,” said Jason Raney, general manager. “We’ve got a waiting list for leagues,” he said.

All of Coyote Preserve’s leagues are in the late afternoon and early evening. “It’s mostly for fun,” said Raney. “It’s a night away from work. Our restaurant and bar cater to our leagues, so it’s a full evening after the golf game.”

SPRING MEADOWS COUNTRY CLUB in Linden has several leagues in its private club setting, including Chicks with Sticks for women, an Early Bird Golf League, starting April 5, Boys of Summer, beginning in August and a Men’s League. “We’ll have 72 women out there in the Chicks with Sticks league, taking up the whole course,” said Jeremy Hibbard, assistant golf pro.

“We’ll all get together afterward to eat,” added Wood. Senior leagues are popular too, with 50 players coming out on Thursday mornings at Hartland Glen Golf Course in Hartland. Approximately 18 leagues rotate nine-hole play among the course’s 36 holes each month, providing variety and a challenge for each weekly game.

More than 20 leagues dominate the course at HEATHER HIGHLANDS GOLF CLUB in Holly, according to Debbie Niemiec, manager. “We do have some openings, including room for a league on Friday. Most of our leagues play Monday through Thursday.”

Summary

Most golf leagues start up in mid-April or early May. Call your favorite local golf course to find out how to sign up.

8 WAYS TO IMPROVE YOUR GAME

- CHOOSE THE RIGHT CLUBS: There is more to selecting clubs than pulling any old iron out of your golf bag and whacking away. Wind, hazards and obstructions in landing areas should influence your decision of which club to use. Novice golfers may want to rely on their caddies to make club recommendations, and as they become more confident in their abilities they can start to make their own choices.

- ANCHOR YOUR FEET: Anchor your foot behind the ball to drive the ball further. Right-handed players will keep the right foot anchored, and lefties will do the opposite. Do not lift your foot prematurely otherwise, you can lose power and distance.

- IDENTIFY YOUR WEAKNESSES. As with any hobby, identifying those areas that need the most work can help you become a better golfer. Keep track of each shot you take, and then look at the results to see which areas of your game need the most work.

- FIX YOUR ALIGNMENT. Align your shots by aiming the target from behind the ball. Then set the clubface behind the golf ball and aim it with the target before you enter your stance.

- USE YOUR TORSO FOR POWER. The torso is essential to a solid swing. Practice rotating from your core to control your backswing and then maintain the same spine angle and posture on the downswing.

- USE THE WIND. Not every golf game will be played in perfect weather. A good player knows how to make adjustments for the wind depending on the shot. Use the wind to your advantage when you can, and adjust your swing when hitting into the wind.

- BECOME A BETTER CHIPPER. Many players put too much emphasis on their backswings and putts shots that they fail to devote any practice to chips. All shots are important for golfers trying to shed strokes off of their scores.

- KEEP FIT. Maintaining or improving your physical strength and overall health can help your golf game. Exercise and eat right, and you will have more endurance on the links.

Sisters crush one another by not ‘being there’

DEAR AMY:
I have three sisters. We have no brothers. We are all over 60. In 2013 and 2014, two of my brothers-in-law died and I went to their funerals, paying for airfare and motels. Last year, my husband died and two of my sisters did not come to be by my side. I wrote them each a letter explaining how I felt. I can’t get past this hurt. I thought we’d always “be there” for each other. You are always telling family members to mend disputes and to move on. I can’t get past the fact that they hurt me. I’m just thankful we live in different states and don’t have to see each other. — Sad

DEAR SAD:
I’m so sorry this has happened. You did the right thing to contact your sisters to let them know how their behavior affected you. This feeling of disappointment compounds your loss and sadness. It’s a true fact that your siblings have a lot of power; they have known you your whole life — they are the only people who know your parents the way you did. They are witnesses to your life’s story: They are there for the birthdays and weddings and — they should be there for the losses, too. But sisters seem to have a special ability to crush and disappoint one another. You don’t say how your sisters have replied to your letter — or if they have replied. It is hard to imagine any excuse or explanation that could possibly be adequate. Their behavior reflects very badly on them, just as your behavior during their time of loss reflects very well upon you. You should not have to beg them for connection, and unfortunately you may have to find a way to move forward and deal with this loss — on top of your other loss. It has been my experience that these monumental losses often bring about a splintering of family connections, instead of a coming together. I hope you are attending a grief group. Communicating with other grieving people, you will learn that sometimes, unfortunately, death brings out the very worst in people. If they don’t know what to do, they do nothing, and there is nothing worse than doing nothing when someone else is hurting.

Barriers to getting shingles vaccine

DEAR DR. ROACH:
I am 61 years old, and was anxious to get a shingles vaccine shot. I have regular exercise, good sleep) may help. However, the most important thing for you and others who have’t been vaccinated will be to recognize shingles early and get treated immediately. Being treated early, before the blisters have formed, within 24 hours of the rash, can reduce the duration of symptoms. Shingles usually starts with pain, burning or itching on one side of the body, in a particular location, called a dermatome. This might be a band around the torso, the top of the arm or part of the face. The classic description of the rash is a clear, fluid-filled blister on reddened skin (“dewdrop on a rose petal”), but it does not always look so classic. See your doctor immediately after any painful rash shows up in a single area of the body.
