The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is working on installing temporary signals that will allow it to maintain a single lane of alternating traffic on Lahring Road over U.S. 23 in Fenton Township.

On June 17, the Lahring Road bridge was struck by a tractor-trailer hauling excavating equipment, resulting in extensive damage to five of the eight beams on the bridge.

The magic — or curse — continues

■ Fenton's Open Book celebrates J.K. Rowling's latest Harry Potter book this weekend

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Witches, wizards, and muggles of all ages are invited to a midnight release of the latest Harry Potter book "Harry Potter and the Cursed Child" this Saturday night, July 30, at Fenton's Open Book.

"The crazy is back. If you've never been to a book opening, it's huge," said storeowner Karen Piacentini. "Anything Harry Potter is big. What's good is when these books came out, J.K. Rowling got the whole world reading."

This is her most popular year selling Harry Potter books.

"It's never really stopped but this year it's gone crazy," she said. "The new generation is coming through."

This is Rowling's latest book in the Harry Potter universe. It's a script of the play that's premiering in London this week.

According to Entertainment Weekly, the play follows grown-up Harry Potter, who now works at the Ministry of Magic, and his youngest son, Albus, as the past comes back to haunt them.

The book goes on sale Saturday night at midnight. Sunday, July 31, is the official release day.

Piacentini has the boxes of books, but she isn't allowed to open them until July 31. They aren't even allowed to take them out of the box yet.

"We've pre-sold 50 or 60 copies, which is great for me, a small independently owned business," she said. "The book is in script form. It's a little bit different. I was kind of leery at first but I think we'll be OK."

Activities at Fenton's Open Book will go from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday night to early Sunday.

"We're going to have some butter beer coffee coming in, some chocolate frogs," Piacentini said. "We're going to have all kinds of activities going on at the store." Butter beer is a popular drink in the Harry Potter universe, and chocolate frogs are a popular candy.

People can play board games with magic themes, and get Harry Potter themed decals and temporary tattoos. Piacentini said she was thinking about showing one of the Harry Potter movies leading up to the release.

She's also been selling Harry Potter merchandise, like Harry and Hermione's wands, little time turners, and a small stuffed owl that resembles Hedwig.

“I think it's going to be a great night. I'm excited and I think the whole town will be, too.”

Massage Therapy

► A benefit most of us are not aware of

Many people are not aware of a benefit that we all share as drivers who live in Michigan. Michigan state law provides medical care for those injured in an auto related accident. Under Michigan law, people who have been injured may be entitled to receive therapeutic massage as part of their rehab.

We contact other professionals following an auto accident, such as family physicians, auto insurance companies and body shops.

Sometimes an important step is often overlooked.

Most people are unaware that their auto insurance company will, in most cases, pay for massage therapy.

Therapeutic massage is very complimentary to other forms of care you may be receiving and I am happy to work with other health care professionals, in a team approach, to help maximize our outcomes.

Pain following an auto accident often includes not only physical scars but also emotional wounds. I will work to relieve these injuries in order to bring a feeling of calm and normalcy back into your life.

Depending upon your individual condition, I will personalize treatment techniques aimed at eliminating your deepest sources of pain by taking the time to evaluate and treat symptoms related to your injury including helping to manage your pain, increasing movement and flexibility and improving sleep.

A prescription from your treating physician is required in order for you to receive massage therapy and he/she will know if it is safe for you.

To be eligible you must have an open claim with an auto insurance company. I will provide for the billing to your auto insurer. There will be no out-of-pocket expense to you. It does not matter how long ago your injury occurred, however, the sooner you begin receiving therapeutic massage the better the chance of injuries not becoming chronic or worsening. If you have an open claim and are currently experiencing chronic pain, therapeutic massage may offer the relief you are looking for.

I am Board Certified in Therapeutic Massage and Bodywork with 10 years experience. I welcome any questions and would be happy to explain how massage therapy can relate to improving your condition. Ultimately, the shared goal will be to help you regain control and assist you in becoming an active participant in taking steps toward better health and well-being.

Take that first step and give me a call.

Call when you can, text when you can't

● Fenton and Holly now offer this upgraded technology option

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Texting can be a dangerous distraction in many situations, but it also may save your life.

With the new technology of the Federal Communication Commission's text-to-911 service, emergency dispatchers in some tri-county areas can now accept a text message, in addition to phone calls.

Local municipalities now using this service include the city of Fenton, the village of Holly and surrounding Oakland County communities. The service is currently not offered in other Genesee County communities that use the countywide emergency dispatch system.

In Fenton, this month of July is the first time that the public is being made aware of local text-to-911 services, according to Samantha Sturgis, ENP (Emergency Number Professional), dispatch supervisor for the Fenton Police Department.

Sturgis said that the city of Fenton has eased into using text-to-911, so their dispatchers could get familiar with the process.

"Up until now, it has been used for outgoing text messages to the public. For example, if we get a 911 hang-up and try to call the person back, they usually don't answer," said Sturgis. "We can now text them and ask if there's an emergency. A lot of people quickly respond that it was accidental. If you were to text 911 today in the city of Fenton, you can reach us."

“Voice phone calls are still the preferred method of 911 communications, because they provide much more information. ‘Call if you can, text if you can’t’ is the slogan.”

Samantha Sturgis

Dispatch supervisor for the city of Fenton

Sturgis adds that text messages sent near the outskirts of city limits may be routed to neighboring jurisdictions, some of which have texting capabilities and some that don't.

"If your text is routed to a jurisdiction that can't receive texts, you'll get a message back from your phone carrier telling you to make a voice call," she said.

Text-to-911 can be lifesaving in some situations when a voice phone call may put a caller in more danger, for example, in a domestic abuse situation or a home burglary. Perhaps a person's vehicle is stuck "in the middle of nowhere" with a cell phone signal that an emergency call for help won't get through, but a text likely will.

The text-to-911 service works much like any text-messaging conversation, with the operator using a web browser to respond within seconds.

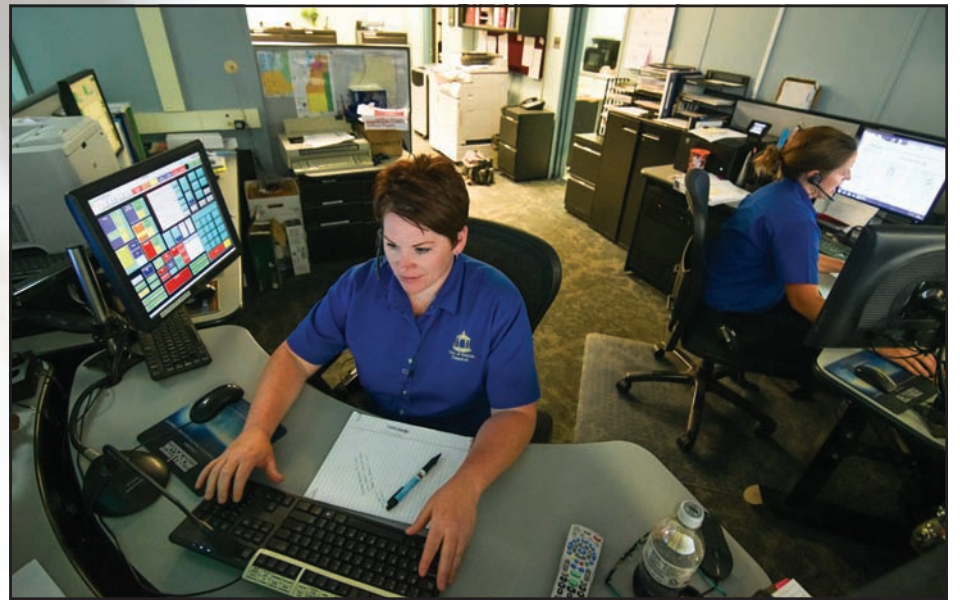

SUMMARY

Text-to-911 has just opened its services to the public in the city of Fenton, with emergency dispatchers responding to texts when voice phone calls aren't safe or feasible.

We prefer voice calls. We use the National Emergency Number Association slogan, "Call if you can, text if you can't," as more agencies become able to use text-to-911.

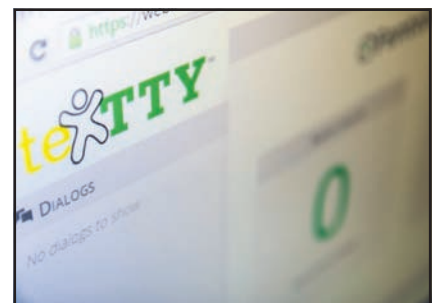

Voice phone calls are still the preferred method of 911 communications if the caller is in a position to do so.

"We'd much prefer you call us," said Jaime Seling, quality assurance supervisor for Oakland County law enforcement. "When we answer your phone call, we can hear the background; there may be something going on like screaming or fighting. Phone calls are much safer for everyone, because they provide more information. However, if for some reason you can't call, then text us."

Voice phone calls also are geography-based, so people can be easier to find. Texting is based off cell location "faces" which may or may not be geographically accurate to where you are.

Text-to-911 is especially helpful for the deaf, who typically have to rely on a relay service such as Text Telephone (TTY) to make a 911 contact. "Using a text message cuts out that middle layer and saves huge amounts of time," said Seling. "Just recently, we were able to help a deaf person whose home was on fire."

Michael Brown's legacy

For the last 20 years, crime has drastically reduced in America's 50 largest cities, primarily due to the deployment of innovative police techniques. In the two years since Michael Brown was killed by a police officer in Ferguson, Missouri, murder in those same cities has increased by 17 percent.

After two full decades of employing proactive police techniques, whose greatest beneficiaries were the residents of poor minority neighborhoods, officers suddenly found themselves surrounded by jeering, dangerous crowds each time they attempted to interview or arrest a suspect.

To no one's surprise, the cops soon began to withdraw from their proactive policing techniques. Rather than questioning a suspicious person who they knew was likely to be carrying a gun, they disengaged and the result was a dramatic increase in crime. The victims were overwhelmingly the black residents in the poorer neighborhoods. The same crowds that surrounded and jeered at them for making an arrest were now the victims of the crime the police had formerly stopped.

The reason the police disengaged is very simple — the press, the politicians and the race hustlers. For months following the death of petty thief and bully Michael Brown, nearly all the mainstream media ignited unrest and anger by constantly citing the fact that blacks were more likely than whites to be stopped and questioned by police officers.

Lacking in their reporting was any mention of the wildly disproportionate black involvement in crime. In 2012, blacks were responsible for 58 percent of the robberies and 60 percent of the homicides in Missouri, despite the fact that they represent less than 12 percent of the population.

The result of this 'war' on the police has been devastating to all law-abiding citizens, especially those who live in inner cities and are most vulnerable to the thugs that now roam their streets and neighborhoods at will.

In Cleveland, homicides for 2015 were up by 90 percent. In St. Louis, by the end of April 2015, shootings were up by 39 percent, robberies were up by 43 percent, and homicides were up by 25 percent. By May 2015, shootings in Chicago increased by 24 percent and homicides increased by 17 percent. An even 100 Chicagoans were shot in the first 10 days of January 2016. Murders in Nashville rose 83 percent. Baltimore suffered its bloodiest month in 44 years with 45 murders in the first 30 days of July 2015. All but two of the murder victims were black.

In August 2015, a 9-year-old girl was killed in Ferguson when gunfire from roving gangs ripped through her house as she was doing homework on her mother's bed. Yet, I'll wager not one of you know her name. Yet, we all know the name of Michael Brown — the thug who robbed a store and attacked a police officer, yet was canonized by the media for profit.

Today's 'civil rights' activists, including Barack Obama, are not really social justice warriors. They are simply progressive racists with an agenda to enrich themselves at the cost of the lives of the very people they claim to be saving.

Stoking the fires of racism for profit will surely bring all involved to meet in hell one day, where the media, the race hustlers and the politicians can all likely say hi to their benefactor, Michael Brown.

Drum and Bugle Corps blast into Troy

■ Nine Linden High School students to perform as part of national tour

With drums pounding, trumpets blazing and flags fluttering, nine Linden students will be among more than 600 musicians from across the country performing in a drum and bugle corps competition on Saturday, July 30 at Troy Athens High School.

The Legends Drum Corps Invitational, open to the public, will feature seven corps from the U.S. and Canada. Troy Athens Band Boosters sponsor the event with Kalamazoo-based Legends Drum and Bugle Corps.

"In addition to the students from Linden, nearly one-third of Legends' 146 members hail from southeast Michigan, so this is a chance for hometown supporters to see a performance," said Marla Janness, event chair for the Troy Athens Band Boosters.

Performers from Linden include Brooke Bloomfield, Elizabeth Draeger, Gibson Gillett-Behrens, Ryan Johnston, Charles Novak, Trevor Shannon, Emily Thomas, Fletcher Ward and Tyler White.

Drum corps shows are musical marching productions made up of brass, percussion and color guard with choreography and dance on the field.

"Each corps' performance tells a story that draws you in through movement, music and artistry," Janness said. "Drum corps and marching band fans in metro Detroit will appreciate the amazing talent of these groups."

Drum corps members range in age from 14 to 22. They train and prepare at weekend camps throughout the school year and spend their entire summer rehearsing, traveling and performing throughout the country.

Performing in Troy will be Legends, Kalamazoo; Spartans, Nashua, New Hampshire; Seventh Regiment, New London, Connecticut; Raiders, Burlington, New Jersey; Les Stentors, Sherbrooke, Quebec, Canada; Lake Shoremen, Taylor, and the Diplomats, Windsor, Ontario.

Gates open at 5 p.m. and the show begins at 7 p.m. Tickets range from $10-45 and may be purchased in advance or at the gate. Visit dci.org for details.

CRUST opened its current location on Caroline Street in Fenton in 2012. The owners are seeking a tax abatement for expansion.

Council considering IDD for popular downtown bakery

■ 'Industrial Development District' could result in tax break for one to 12 years

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

In April, Mark Hamel and Chad Brennan, owners of CRUST, at 104 Caroline St. in Fenton, announced plans to expand their popular bakery/eatery by another 8,500 square feet, bringing the total square footage to 12,500.

Once the building expansion is completed, another 50 employees will be added to their current staff of 70 over a two-year period.

These plans were discussed at a City Council meeting, when Hamel and Brennan requested a land swap whereby CRUST would get the land they need, a parcel that was leased from The State Bank for its customer parking.

In return, Hamel and Brennan would give the city property they own on Mill Street across from the Fenton Post Office.

The swap, if approved, would allow CRUST to remain in downtown Fenton, according to Hamel.

"This seems to be our last ditch effort to stay downtown," Hamel said in April.

On Monday, the Fenton City Council voted to hold a public hearing at its Monday, Aug. 8 meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m. The public hearing will be on the city administration's request to establish an Industrial Development District for 104 Caroline St., the home of CRUST.

According to Assistant City Manager Mike Burns, "CRUST is asking for an Industrial Facility Tax Credit (Tax Abatement) for their expansion on the site.

"State statute allows this credit for manufacturing of baked goods," he added. "However, before that can be done, state statute requires that Industrial Facility Tax Credit can only be allowed for facilities inside an Industrial Development District.

"The only Industrial Development District in the city is the (Fenton Business and) Industrial Park," Burns said.

"If City Council agrees to establish the district then they would need to consider CRUST's request for the Industrial Facility Tax Credit shortly thereafter."

The Fenton City Council could vote to give CRUST a property tax break for one to 12 years.

According to the Michigan Department of Treasury, the statute (P.A. 198

Red Fox Outfitters is denied its five-year, tax-free request

The Fenton City Council approved a five-year tax abatement for Red Fox Outfitters in October 2015. But, according to Assistant City Manager Mike Burns, the state denied the abatement because construction on the project had already begun before council approved it.

If it had been approved, they would have gotten a 100-percent tax abatement under the state's Community Redevelopment Act. This would have saved Red Fox from having to pay a total of $62,328 in property taxes.

The city has never provided this type of abatement, said Burns in October.

Burns said the abatement is allowed under Public Act 255 of 1978 to encourage the replacement, restoration and new construction of commercial property by abating the property taxes generated from the new investment for a period of up to 12 years.

A tax abatement possible through the Commercial Redevelopment Act is different from the Industrial Facility Tax Credit. Besides the fact that it is a different type of business and use, the IFTC only allows for a 50-percent tax abatement.

According to MDOT, three of the beams are potentially salvageable and crews began repairing those beams on Thursday, July 14.

MDOT successfully used heat to straighten a few of the beams.

"When the bridge was hit several beams were damaged," said Jocelyn Hall, of MDOT Communications. She added that two beams have to be fully replaced, and those will be ordered, manufactured, and installed at a later date.

"In the meantime we need to get one lane of traffic opened, so we heat straightened a beam that would give us enough strength on the south side of the bridge," she said. "I believe that makes it the eastbound lane of Lahring Road. We will allow both directions of traffic to share that one lane, so the temporary signals will change allowing each direction of traffic to pass safely."

The signal will be set up like a three-way because the intersection of North Road and Lahring Road is too close to where the signals are set on the west side of the bridge, Hall said. This could potentially make it hard for North Road traffic to turn onto Lahring Road.

"Signals are generally set to run on a timer that allows the signal to serve the traffic best, so if one direction of traffic tends to be heavier, the signal allows more time for that direction of traffic to pass," she said.

Peak travel times will be accommodated. This signal has stop bars and is an actuated signal, meaning it has a standard signal timing programmed in.

"But if traffic has cleared one direction, the signal will take the liberty of changing sooner so the other directions of traffic do not sit waiting to pass when there is no need," Hall said.

Crews are currently working on setting up a concrete barrier wall to prevent people from driving on the closed side of Lahring that's not cleared for traffic.

"We expect to have the barrier wall in place by the end of this week, so as long as that goes according to plan, we will have that one lane of Lahring Road opened to traffic," she said.

Hall said they do expect to have one lane open for traffic by the time school starts.

MDOT will seek full reimbursement from the trucking company once the full costs to repair the bridge are determined.

“We will allow both directions of traffic to share that one lane, so the temporary signals will change allowing each direction of traffic to pass safely.”

CITY OF LINDEN, when are you going to pave Main Street, the street that the police department and post office are on? Main Street's potholes are outrageous. Proposed paving was to be for 2016 with money already designated. Now you say it will be 2018. Really? The street sweeper has been fixed so why are all the curbs and sewer covers in the city not cleaned? They are still full of debris.

"I've always been a reader of Men's Health," said Swanson. "I picked up a copy of Men's Health when I was at the airport with my son, on our way to a mission trip to Chile in June," said Swanson. "While I was waiting for our flight, I read about the contest and immediately submitted three photos, answered five essay questions and put it out there on social media."

His persistence has paid off. Last Tuesday, Swanson got an email from Men's Health that his entry made it into the quarterfinals. Now he's nearing the Top 10 category.

"It's humbling to even be #12," he said. "I'm the only one from Michigan." He's asking for votes (see sidebar) before the deadline of Monday Aug. 1.

Swanson's day job as Genesee County Undersheriff already puts him on the local spotlight, but he's excited about sharing his passion for health and wellness on a national basis through this Men's Health contest.

While he's not protecting the people of Genesee County, Swanson is helping transform people's lives in mind, body and spirit.

Swanson began body building in his early 30s and has completed four Iron Man Triathlons. That experience led him to write a book, "From Timman to Ironman," and also an inspirational talk show

He's also a popular speaker for a number of corporations and organizations, from Life Leadership to 3M, and is the national spokesman for an international charity, All Grace Outreach.

An active member of The Rock Church in Tyrone Township with his wife, Jamie, Swanson has gone on four mission trips to the Dominican Republic, Granada, Haiti and Chile. "My gift is Right now, however, Schrock, who his family has affectionately nicknamed "Superman," needs the community's prayers.

PRAYERS

On Saturday, July 23, Schrock's life changed forever. He was taking a morning bicycle ride on Ripley Road in Linden, as he has done so many times before. While biking, Schrock hit a pot hole, causing him to go over the handle bars and land on his neck.

He broke his neck and suffered a severe spinal cord injury that led to an emergent helicopter flight to Ann Arbor for immediate surgery.

On Sunday, Schrock told his family that he was determined to walk out of the hospital and to take his 11 grandchildren to the zoo.

Family of Schrock had created a gofundme page at <https://www.gofundme.com/2g77mdf4>.

67th District Court

Ask the judge

Sentencing juveniles convicted of life offenses

There is little question that murdering another person is a crime that not only evokes many emotions, but has serious permanent consequences as well.

Indeed Daniel Webster once said that every unpunished murder takes away something from the security of every man's life.

Society has long abhorred the unjustified killing of another and we have laws that provide for the punishment of those found guilty of such offenses.

Unfortunately, as our society has grown more violent, the number of murders has increased including murders by those who are classified as juveniles.

Historically, there have been many issues surrounding juveniles who have been charged with murder or other life offenses and recently the Michigan courts have had to consider the question of who should determine the sentence for convicted juveniles — a judge or a jury?

This is not an easy question to answer as the Michigan Court of Appeals had previously reached two different answers with one three-judge panel saying it should be a jury and another a judge.

By way of brief background, this question came to a head due to a series of United States Supreme Court cases, which recognized the unique status of juvenile defendants including a general lack of maturity. In the touchstone 2012 case of Miller v. Alabama, the Supreme Court ruled that a sentence of life in prison without parole should only be imposed when the juvenile is incapable of reform.

A court analysis of a number of factors including a juvenile's background is required before a juvenile can receive the maximum sentence.

In response to Miller, the Michigan legislature enacted a new sentencing statute for under 18-year-old juveniles providing for lesser penalties under certain circumstances and after a full hearing.

The Michigan Court of Appeals resolved the sentencing conflict on July 21 in the closely watched Genesee County case of People v. Hyatt and ruled that a judge not a jury should render the juvenile's sentence, finding that the Michigan statute fully allows a judge to take into account all relevant information and thus impose an appropriate punishment subject to appeal.

This decision is very important, as there are reportedly 367 Michigan juveniles eligible for resentencing pursuant to a January 2016 Supreme Court decision.

ELECTION

Here's what they said:

Argentine Township

Argentine Township Clerk Denise Graves says there are 5,193 registered voters in the township. She has sent out 348 absentee voter ballots and has received 212 back as of Monday.

"I expect a turnout of 20 to 23 percent," said Graves.

Graves reminds Argentine Township voters that the office will be open on Saturday, July 30, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. for absentee voting.

Fenton City

There are 9,575 registered voters in the city of Fenton, according to Clerk Renee Wilson.

She said 302 absentee voter ballots were issued and as of Monday, 158 have been returned.

"I expect turnout will be in line with the past primaries due to the low amount of absentee ballot requests," Wilson said. "Historically, the average turnout for the last three August primary elections has been less than 15 percent."

Wilson reminds city of Fenton voters that the polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and all precincts vote at St. John's Activity Center. The city offices will also be open on Saturday July 30, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. for anyone needing to obtain an absentee ballot. Saturday at 2 p.m. is the last day and time an absentee ballot is allowed to leave the clerk's office.

"Absentee ballots can be voted in person, at the clerk's office, until 4 p.m. the day prior to the election," Wilson said.

Fenton Township

According to Tom Broecker, deputy clerk and operations manager for Fenton Township, there are 12,934 registered voters in the township. He said this number may differ slightly from the "official" number as of the July 5 registration cutoff.

As of Monday, July 25, 457 of the 757 absentee voter ballots were returned.

Voter turnout for August Primary Elections in presidential election years were 22.87 percent (2004), 16.76 percent (2008) and 15.85 percent (2012).

"I am estimating 20 percent, although that may be somewhat optimistic," Broecker said. "For Fenton Township voters there are only three contested races on the entire ballot."

Those contested races include the Republican state representative and county commissioner, and Democrat county sheriff.

This tends to keep voter turnout low, Broecker said.

Fenton Township voters are reminded that Lahring Road is still closed at the U.S. 23 overpass. They will have to use other routes to get to Lake Fenton High School.

"Also, we plan to have a shuttle cart operating on Election Day to transport voters between the parking lot and the school entrance," said Broecker.

Holly Township

Information from Holly Township was not available at press time.

Rose Township

According to Clerk Debbie Miller, there are 4,985 registered voters in Rose Township.

Of the 403 absentee voter ballots mailed, 190 have been returned as of Monday.

Voter turnout for the March 8 Presidential Primary was 37.22 percent in Rose Township, according to Miller.

On voter turnout for Aug. 2, she said, "My guess is 37 to 40 percent."

Miller also said, "I would like to remind voters that in a Primary Election, they can only vote in one party section, which means they cannot cross party lines or 'split their ticket.'"

"They must vote either Republican or Democrat or their partisan section will be rejected and none of the partisan votes will be counted," she said.

Tyrone Township

Marcella Husted, clerk for Tyrone Township said there are 8,512 registered voters in the township. She sent out 849 absentee ballots and 421 have been returned as of Tuesday.

"The typical voter turnout in a state primary is about 18 to 20 percent, but it is difficult to speculate what the voter turnout will be for the August primary election," said Husted. "The trustee and precinct delegate positions are the only positions with opposition in Tyrone Township and there are three proposals on the ballot for voters in Fenton and Linden school districts, and one proposal on the ballot for voters in the Hartland school district which may bring more voters to the polls in August."

"At the county level the prosecuting attorney position has two Republican candidates on the ballot and the winning candidate will appear on the November ballot," said Husted.

Fenton's Carter carries our softball team

■ Work ethic has sparked Carter to our Softball Player of the Year honor

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Logan Carter was a good softball player her sophomore season.

She earned Metro League honors and enjoyed a strong performance with the Fenton Tigers.

However, something happened between her sophomore and junior years. The Fenton catcher saw her bat explode. Not only did she end the season as a first-team All-Metro selection, but she also was a Division I First-team All-State pick.

She was an easy selection to make when it came to picking the 2016 Tri-County Softball Player of the Year.

"She is an extremely hard worker. Obviously you can tell that being she made All-State," Fenton varsity softball coach Stefanie Roberts said. "Her hard work has paid off.

"It doesn't happen like that. Usually you make honorable mention as a junior and then get All-State as a senior. It's a tremendous feather in her cap. ... Especially at a position like catcher; that's tough to do. That speaks volumes about the stats she put up. They were through the roof."

"She's an extremely hard worker. ... Her hard work has paid off."

Carter finished her junior season leading the Tigers with a .495 batting average, a .555 on base percentage and a .952 slugging percentage. Eleven of her 52 hits were home runs, meaning she missed the school's home run record by one. She also led the team with 11 walks and 48 runs batted in (RBI). In short, when you faced Fenton, it was Carter's bat you feared. And more often than not, she showed why averaging nearly two hits or free passes in each game she played during Fenton's Metro League championship season.

"I guess I was more confident going in there," Carter said. "It was my junior year and it's not like my freshman or sophomore year when you are an underclassmen. I now have two years behind me and I'm used to high school softball. I have confidence."

Hard work

It seems to be the constant theme when one looks to find out why Carter has improved. Currently she's with her summer softball team in Georgia, playing with Finesse. Also on the squad are her younger sister Erin Carter and Lake Fenton player Kalani Lau, both All-Tri-County players in their own right.

"I feel I have been working so

After one year hiatus Tour des Lacs is back

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

For 12 years it became a fixture during the first Saturday in August in the streets around the tri-county area.

And last summer it took a one-year hiatus.

However, the Tour des Lacs Charity Bike Ride is returning for its 13th season on Aug. 6 with new leadership.

For 12 years Kim Foerster was the event's coordinator. During that time the event donated over $23,000 for the University of Michigan's C.S. Mott Children's Hospital to help congenital heart disease research. And now Southern Lakes Parks and Recreation (SLPR) has taken over the reins and hopes to continue to raise money not only for the Mott Children's Hospital, but also for the LAFF Pathway.

"We are happy to bring it back," athletic administrator for SLPR Harrison Cypher said. "The original director Kim Foerster started it herself and over the course of 12 years it grew to having 200 riders every year. It was too much for her to run it herself, so we have taken over with a lot of help from CycleFit."

The bike ride isn't a competitive event. It's a leisure ride. It consists of four bike routes consisting of four different route sizes. The smallest is six miles and the longest is 62 miles. In between there is a 15-mile route and a 31-mile route.

Cypher said the routes are very similar to the ones that were run in the past. Along the routes there will be hydration stations where cyclists can take a break, get hydrated, eat and enjoy some '80s-themed music and activities.

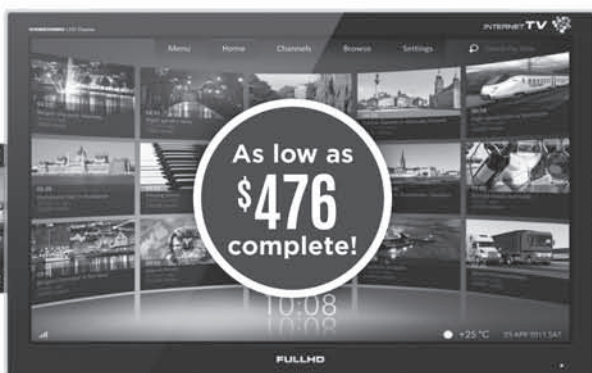

The event begins and ends at the Fenton Community and Cultural Center. Day much on softball because it is my main sport,” Carter said. “Since my freshman year I have definitely improved in many aspects in the field and at the plate. I’ve improved at the plate because I work on it a lot and being in the field is something you need to be mentally strong enough to do.”

“Her dedication to the sport is very helpful,”

Roberts said. “She plays year round and she doesn’t stop practicing even when she is playing other sports. She dedicates at least a few hours or more a weekend to hitting or catching. She’s one of our catchers for our pitchers over the winter.”

The work is making her one of the state’s elite, even at catcher.

“She’s improved 100 percent since her freshman year,” Roberts said. “We’ve seen her grow and grow. When a ball gets by her it’s almost like a shock because it’s very rare. She is so solid behind the plate you just never expect it. She is that solid behind the plate.”

“about 4 or 5.” It only made sense she would end up playing because her mom, Sherri Carter, has a history with softball as well.

“I played T-ball and got into it,” Logan said. “My mom played college softball so I was introduced to it at an early stage and thought it was something I’d be good at because it was in her blood. She played at (the University of Detroit Mercy).”

Carter ended up being right. Apparently, her younger sister is pretty good herself. During her freshman year Erin batted .491 and led the team with 11 doubles, two more than her older sister. She also had three triples and three home runs.

“I liked it,” Logan said about playing varsity softball with her sister.

“It was her first high school season so it was great playing together. We’ve played together in Little League and stuff like that, but it was nice to play at such a high level and go through it together.”

It looks like Carter will follow her mother’s footsteps in terms of playing collegiately. She already has verbally committed to Western Michigan University to play softball.

“It’s exciting to already know,” Carter said. “I have friends who are going through the stress having to figure out where they are going, so it’s nice (to already know).”

Lake Fenton’s Jack Reece Miller carded his first ace of his golf career on Thursday.

Miller, Pegg post recent area hole-in-ones

Jack Reece Miller thought he made a good shot. He didn’t realize just how good until he got to the ball.

Miller, who is going to be a junior this fall at Lake Fenton High School, carded an ace on the 192-yard fourth hole at Hudson Mills Golf Course during a Kensington Junior Tour event on Thursday. The 16-year-old used a 4-iron to record his first ace of his career. He shot an 88.

“Right off the tee, I knew I hit a great shot,” Miller said. “I watched it roll. It just rolled. I thought it disappeared off the green. It turned out to be in the hole. It feels great, honestly.”

Jim Pegg

Jim Pegg carded his first hole-in-one of his career on Aug. 15 at the IMA Brookwood Golf Course during the Rohmann Iron Golf Outing.

Pegg, a Linden resident, used a 5-wood to ace the 151-yard eighth hole. The ace was witnessed by his wife Jenn Pegg, Tom Gross and Kathy Gross.
