Sign of a winner

■ Fenton man wins poker tournament; names street 'Paletta 7 Pkwy' for a year

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

Like many people, the number seven is Joshua Paletta's lucky number. The Fenton father of five was this year's winner of the Col. Fenton Texas Hold 'em Poker Tournament at the Fenton Hotel Tavern & Grille.

This year's 11th annual event was sponsored by the Fenton Education Foundation (FEF). Proceeds from the fundraiser benefit Fenton Area Public Schools in the areas of arts, academics and athletics.

Although the event took place in March, Paletta's road sign finally became a reality this summer. He chose "Paletta 7 Pkwy," which will ceremonially appear on sections of LeRoy Street for approximately one year.

Paletta said the "7" symbolizes the number of people in his family — Dad, Mom and five kids.

In addition to the ceremonial street sign, Paletta won $1,000 in cash and a bracelet from Medawar Jewelers, which sponsored the event with the Fenton Hotel Tavern & Grille.

"The bracelet can be categorized as a unisex," he said. "It has a plate that can be engraved."

FEF Board President Mike Senyko said, "We've really enjoyed the event every year and are really proud to host it at the Fenton Hotel.

"Its success is a direct reflection on the nature of our community — everyone gives,"

he added. "The money we raise from this event goes directly back to outreachers to help offset district costs. This year we raised about $5,000. And we are already looking forward to next year's event."

According to Fenton history, in the mid-1800s, founding fathers Col. William Fenton and Robert LeRoy played a poker game. The winner would have the town named after him. The loser would have the main street in town named after him, and other streets in town named after his family members. Obviously, Fenton won the card game.

Jack Sawyer of Bancroft grew up in Fenton, and has built a business around innovating machines for a niche market. His flagship device, the JS-2 (foreground) easily fills plastic tubes with epoxy for clients in the aerospace, concrete repair and construction businesses.

From high school dropout to CEO

■ Jack Sawyer may actually be 'the most interesting man in the world'

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Jack Sawyer is the first person to admit that most people at Fenton High School didn't think he'd amount to much when he dropped out of school in the 10th grade.

But this white-haired, ponytailed 64-year-old has built a global career out of specialty machine building that affects industries as varied as construction, aerospace, even your visit to the dentist office.

materials like epoxy,” said Sawyer, whose family home and garage in rural Bancroft serves as Filling Solutions’ company headquarters. “One example is the material at your dentist that makes impressions for braces, implants, etc. We make the machine that puts that paste into the cartridge.”

In the construction business, roofers once had to buy cases of filled cartridges with caulking or tar materials in bigger quantities than some jobs required. Now they can fill their own cartridges as needed, saving on smaller quantities and storage. Concrete repair is another big user of Sawyer’s specialty machines.

“Jack has really impacted the tubal cartridge industry,” said Brad Jacob of Fenton, the company’s main machinist, along with Jack’s son, Zym. He has been with Filling Solutions for two years, about the time this company really began to take off.

Jacob, a Fenton City councilman, and Sawyer became acquainted through music. “He’s the bass player in my band, ‘Playing with Jacks,’” said Sawyer, who has been making music since he was 13. “I’ve always had an armload of songs and words.”

With a customer list of about 30 global companies, Sawyer’s machines are shipped out daily to Canada, Switzerland, all over Europe and of course, the U.S.

By Hannah Ball

A new statewide public threat alert system, which will alert Michigan residents via mobile phone and other technology about active threats, will take effect in September 2016.

Gov. Rick Snyder signed the bill into law on Tuesday, July 26.

Public Act 235 gives the state police the power to create and maintain a public threat alert system by sending information about ongoing public threats via television, radio, and text messages to residents.

“We will be utilizing existing technology that sends emergency alerts to mobile carriers, similar to AMBER Alerts,” said Michigan State Police First Lt. Michael Shaw.

Breaking news: Dad solves worldwide teenage boy communication problem

I had the following conversation with my son Henry, the teenager, in the car the other day.

Me: 'How was school, buddy?'

Him (mumbling, half-asleep against the backseat door): 'Er-rahg.'

Me: 'What?'

Him: 'Er-RAH-guhrahg.'

Me: 'What?'

Him: 'Er-rah-gharagh. Slrrvuh-mrrblp!'

Me: 'Listen, I can't ... your blp was er-rahged? Is that what you said?'

Him (more emphatically but still not lifting his head):

'Brrda gimguh-frrrm! Dartanya-flob!'

Finally, I turned to my wife, the lovely yet formidable Marcia, and said, 'You getting any of this?'

'Of course,'

she said. 'He said school was fine but he's tired. And hungry. And he wants you to stop at Taco Bell and get him tacos.'

'You got all that from 'er-rah-gharagh slrrvuh-mrrblp?'

'Sure. I speak caveman.'

Ah, caveman. I should have recognized it. First son Sam spoke caveman. Between the ages of 15 and 18, I never understood a word he said. Then, all of sudden, when he turned 18 and graduated high school, as if on cue, he stopped and went back to speaking English.

Now Henry's doing it.

'Maybe you need a translator,' Marcia said.

A translator? Lightbulb moment! Of course that's what I need. That's what every father of a teenage boy needs — someone who can turn 'trzzziflps' into 'Oh, I forgot to tell you, I realize it's six in the morning but I need a new graphing calculator for my quantum trigonometry bio-engineering final in first hour.' (He actually did this.)

Or 'drrrrr-ffff-blrrrdim' into 'Henry hungry. Feed Henry.'

Or 'ugh' — the most commonly used word in caveman — into 'Gawd, I can't believe what an utter tool you are, Dad. Can I borrow the car now?'

A translator would be incredibly useful. I would pay for that. Millions of dads would. Unfortunately, there's no business that hires out caveman translators, far as I know.

Nor has Rosetta Stone come out with learning language software for caveman, which is odd. What's more useful in the real world — learning teenage caveman or Italian? C'mon. Not even close.

I suppose I could hire another teenage boy to translate when Marcia's not around (how she learned it, I'll never know. I never do.). But you know how that goes — the second you need him he'll be at soccer practice or something.

What I need is an app — something I can have on my cell phone — like Siri — that I can hold up to Henry's face that will tell me what he just mumbled.

'He said he wishes you'd stop holding your phone near his face.'

But such an app does not exist. So I will have to create one.

Here is my plan:

1) Hire app developer and create catchy app name. (Leading contender: 'What'd He Say?')

2) Go on 'Shark Tank,' and get a zillion dollars in funding from Mark Cuban, who has a 6-year-old son, meaning he'll need this in about eight years.

3) Sell trillions of apps.

4) Become rich and buy one of the lesser Hawaiian Islands.

I asked Henry what he thinks of the idea. He said, and I quote, 'Brrblmmgaltrrfoom.'

Which I'm pretty sure means, 'Love it! I'm so lucky to have you as a Dad!'

Or something like that.

CONSPIRACY THEORY? NOT at all. Documented facts of treason, scandals, money laundering, bribery, anything and everything that is treason, Obama and the Clintons have been involved in.

THE DDA HAS drank the Kool-aid about Fenton becoming a destination town like Frankenmuth. Many citizens prefer living in a community, not a tourist attraction.

WE WILL HAVE a new president in 184 days. Jan. 20, 2017 will be the end of an error.

TO THE JUDGE, would somebody ask him if the people on the Supreme Court are above the law or just think they're above the law?

TO THE PEOPLE picking on Hillary, I wonder what your background is. What are you hiding?

I FIND THAT I am able to tolerate some words that the King finds bad. Like crotch, bulbous, and Nixon. But the word I do find so vile and intolerable is the word Clinton.

CAN SOMEONE TELL me how I can get a bumper sticker that says 'All Lives Matter?'

I WAS SURPRISED to see that the state of Ohio has an open carry law and I would like to see such a movement start in Michigan. I think it's a great idea and I believe there would be a lot less crime if we had it here in Michigan.

I WAS HIT by a red light runner at Adelaide and Silver Lake. The overgrown shrubbery on the southwest corner was definitely a contributing factor. I'm sure it's the same thing in other traffic incidents.

TOO BAD OBAMA is subject to term limits. He cleaned up the banking crisis, ended the illegal wars in Iraq, created millions of jobs, saved GM and Chrysler, ended 401k losses, reduced unemployment. Great legacy. All facts, all truths.

IF AMERICA NEEDS to change leadership, we should start with getting rid of the do-nothing Congress, and the conservative Supreme Court who sold us out to the rich via citizens united. We will be lucky if we get a common sense and decent president like the one we have now.

ALL THE BIG name college football teams play smaller teams, partly to build up the revenue for the smaller teams.

YEAH, YOU GO show the Democratic Party how smart you are and vote for Sanders. You'll feel the 'Bern' when Trump gets elected and you have to have four years of him.

THE ONLY THING for a dollar in the dollar store is penny candy.

VERA HOGAN'S ARTICLE on pharmaceutical TV ads was right on point. Medical journals have also criticized this rampant selling of both illnesses and medicine — it can be harmful.

TRUMP SAID IT best when he summarized Hillary Clinton's legacy. Death, destruction, terrorism and weakness.

SEVENTY-FIVE PERCENT of Americans say that our country is on the wrong track. Of course, Hillary has been a part of that project. Trump outlined his vision of America, his vision of leadership.

AFTER WATCHING THE fantastic RNC convention, the highlights and the stars were Trump's children. Such love and respect for their father.

HEY DING DONG, Sanders isn't even running for president anymore.

GOVERNOR SNYDER QUOTE — 'There's a lot more dog ears left in this dog.' I believe him, the most tax-happy SOB ever elected in Michigan.

TO THE LADY who went into the pizzeria on Friday with a large group and gave the server a hard time about the bill. I was there as a customer and was appalled at the way you were talking to her, and then I hear that you didn't leave a tip. I over tipped her to try to make up for you.

Police&Fire report

POSSESSION OF HEROIN IN HOLLY TOWNSHIP

On July 25, at approximately 9:30 a.m., troopers assigned to the Michigan State Police-Metro North Post were dispatched to Alex's Market in Holly Township for a male sleeping in his vehicle at the gas pump. When they arrived, troopers observed a silver Chevy parked next to a gas pump with a white male sitting in the driver's seat, and he appeared to be sleeping. Before waking up the male, troopers stood outside his vehicle and looked through the windows. Sitting on the passenger seat was a small syringe and a spoon that appeared to have been burnt or tarnished. Contact was made with the driver, a 30-year-old male from Bentley, at which time he was arrested for possession of heroin. A search of the vehicle located approximately 1 gram of heroin. The driver was processed and released pending prosecutors review.

BICYCLIST AND STREET SWEEPER COLLIDE

A bicyclist was hospitalized after colliding with a street sweeper Thursday morning. Lt. Jason Slater of the Fenton Police Department said officers responded to the collision at the intersection of Shiawassee Avenue and Adelaide Street at 6:26 a.m. The privately owned street sweeper, driven by a 31-year-old Swartz Creek man, was eastbound on Shiawassee. After briefly stopping at the red traffic light, the driver proceeded through the intersection. The small street sweeper was not cleaning the streets. As the street sweeper passed through the intersection, a 51-year-old Fenton Township man on his bicycle struck the side of it as he was northbound on Adelaide. The bicyclist sustained visible injuries and was transported to Genesys Health Park by STAT EMS for evaluation. The driver of the street sweeper was ticketed for disregarding a traffic device.

HEADSTONES DAMAGED

Damage to several headstones was reported to Fenton police on July 21. Lt. Jason Slater said an Oakwood Cemetery board member observed damage to three headstones in the Old Prospect Hill area of the cemetery. Someone had tipped them over, causing them to break. Cost to repair or replace was estimated at $1,000. Another headstone was knocked down, however, cemetery workers were able to set it back up. The

Argentine Township burn ban lifted

■ Residents may now have campfires and burn leaves if they have a permit

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Argentine Twp. — The burn ban in Argentine Township was lifted as of July 14.

The ban was enacted in early July due to dry conditions and hot weather.

During the Argentine Township Board of Trustees meeting on Monday, Fire Chief Matt Lafferty said, "Luckily we've been getting some precipitation that's been helping out a bit. We're still telling people just because of the extreme heat, still use caution. We're still keeping track of it."

Lafferty said he decided to lift it on July 14 because they had enough rainfall that he felt comfortable with people burning again.

"I was talking with the surrounding communities, as well. Pretty much everyone was on board with the same thing," he said.

He said people can have campfires and burn leaves following the township ordinance. "If they're not registered, they still need to register with a burn permit through the fire department," he said. "As long as they call and get a permit number, they can (burn)."

damage occurred sometime between 4 p.m. on July 20 and 3 p.m. on July 21. Slater reminds everyone that there are strict rules with the cemetery and people are only to be in there to pay their respects to loved ones. There are to be no games, food or alcohol in the cemetery.

FAULTY HEADLIGHTS LEAD TO ARREST

Just after midnight on July 21, a Fenton police officer observed a vehicle with just one high beam light on as it traveled on Owen Road near U.S. 23. A traffic stop was initiated the vehicle with three occupants. One passenger, a 26-year-old East Tawas resident, had multiple arrest warrants from several police agencies. He was taken into custody and transported to the Genesee County Jail. He was later turned over to Iosco County deputies. The female driver and other passenger were released from the scene. The driver acknowledged that her headlights were not working properly.

LAUVE'S HOLLY HOME "PICKED" FOR TV SHOW

AMERICAN PICKERS

The "American Pickers" TV crew spent June 30, 2016 in Holly at John Lauve's historic home on North Saginaw Street. The stars, Mike Wolfe and Frank Fritz, paused to meet and greet the enthusiastic fans from the Holly area throughout the day. Wolfe has a Tennessee historic building preservation project and applauded John Lauve's record of saving the Mill and other Holly buildings.

They analyzed his classic vehicle collection and his father's automotive archives and original artwork.

His father, Henry S. Lauve, was a top General Motors car designer in the '40s and '50s, designed and styled Buicks including the "49" Riviera. He was instrumental in the prototypes of the emerging electric car, the Silver Volt. The American Pickers made purchases that will be on their TV show in October.

A large crowd gathered as people recognized the show's large van parked in Lauve's driveway. When the date is announced the community can share the experience.

$50,000 memorial fund established in honor of Archbold brother

■ Family of 1985 FHS grad said he did things out of the 'goodness of his heart'

By Vera Hogan

Student musicians will benefit greatly from the generosity of the Archbold family, who earlier this year established the Robert "Bob" Archbold Memorial Fund and Scholarship for Fenton High School.

The family, the Fenton Education Foundation (FEF) and Fenton High School band have created a $50,000 multi-year fund that will enable the Fenton band, under the direction of Andrew Perkins, to provide an annual scholarship, contribute to the marching band's uniform efforts and help provide funding for individual band members and events.

This memorial fund was created to remember Bob Archbold, Fenton High School Class of 1985, who passed away from heart-related complications in 2015. He was only 48 years old.

"Bob absolutely loved the band and music his entire life," said his brother Roger Archbold, senior strategic alliance manager for Microsoft. "We miss Bob and hope that this fund will help out students who share Bob's passion and love for music."

Pat Lockwood, of the FEF Board of Directors said, "The Fenton Education Foundation is grateful to Roger Archbold and Microsoft for this generous donation to benefit Fenton's Band Program."

"Over the next 10 years, students will have the opportunity to continue their musical education through this scholarship and additional contribution to the overall needs of this successful program," said Lockwood. "Our sincere thank you to the Archbold family, who acknowledge the importance of music in the overall growth of our students."

Perkins said, "Roger and the Archbold

“Mom would get calls from the neighbors asking if Bob had been outside playing, because they came home and found the hose was running and had flooded their yard, or the flowers had been pulled out — or weeded as Bob would claim.”

family have been incredibly generous to the FHS Band Program. I was overwhelmed with the way they are choosing to honor their brother by supporting the program that was so important to Bob.

"Our purpose in the band program is to create positive life-changing experiences for the students, and Roger and the family really seemed to embrace that vision," Perkins added. "Their donations and support help in a tremendous way, and we're honored that they are choosing to remember their brother in this way."

Who was Bob Archbold?

The Archbold family moved to Fenton in 1964.

"My father got a production job at the recently opened General Motors (GM) Truck and Bus plant on Bristol Road," said Bob's brother, Roger. "At that time there were five children — Joleen, Mona, Kendra, Richard and myself. Bob and (twin sister) Barb would not join the family until 1966."

"Initially we moved into a house two doors down from (Tomek) Eastern Elementary; then we moved to Fifth Street and finally to South Holly Road where we spent most of our lives.

"Dad worked production so money was short back in those days at GM ... my dad would be laid off for a couple of months in the summer."

The Archbold parents always made ends meet, but it was a struggle for them raising a large family on a limited income, said Roger.

"Bob often would look back on his childhood growing up in a small community like Fenton, and what it was like being a part of a large family," said his sister, Mona (Archbold) Knapp.

Roger said, "In retrospect growing up in Fenton during those days was almost idyllic — but you did not realize it at the time. Bikes were the main

ASK THE MECHANIC

Chris Wilkinson,
Certified Mechanic

Q: Hi, I recently had my brake shoes changed on my Buick Century because they were squealing. Since they've been changed I still hear the squealing! The mechanic who changed them said it's a little rust but, eventually I won't hear it. Is that true or is there a problem still?

- Mela

A: Mela, The answer to this is yes, it is common for brakes to make noise first thing in the AM. The reason for this is that your rotors will develop a slight amount of rust when sitting even just overnight, more so when it is wet or humid out. This is nothing to worry about if the noise goes away after the first few stops. Semi metallic brake pads will do this slightly more than ceramic pads, but again it does not indicate a problem or faulty workmanship. I noticed that you mentioned drum brakes and this does happen from time to time on drum brakes but a good cleaning and adjusting will normally cure this. If not, try a different brand of brake shoe. My choice is Monroe and Riveted if they are available.

LINDEN KIWANIS CLUB MAKES DONATION TO LINDEN POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Linden Kiwanis recently donated $700 to the Linden Police Department for the purchase of a new bulletproof vest. Police Chief Scott Sutter let the Kiwanis Club know there was a need for a new vest because of a recent change in personnel. "Each vest is tailor made for an individual officer," said Sutter. The donation was made possible from the public support of the Kiwanis Chicken Barbecue held May 21 in downtown Linden. "This is the kind of thing our Kiwanis Club does," said Don Rajsich, club secretary. "We are able to help when an unexpected need arises. When people support our fundraisers, the money they donate goes right back to the community."

1975: James (Jimmy) Riddle Hoffa, one of the most influential American labor leaders of the 20th century, disappears in Detroit, Michigan, never to be heard from again. Though he is popularly believed to have been the victim of a Mafia hit, conclusive evidence was never found, and Hoffa's death remains shrouded in mystery to this day.

1990: Iraqi forces invade Kuwait, Iraq's tiny, oil-rich neighbor. Kuwait's defense forces were rapidly overwhelmed, and those that were not destroyed retreated to Saudi Arabia. The emir of Kuwait, his family, and other government leaders fled to Saudi Arabia, and within hours Kuwait City had been captured and the Iraqis had established a provincial government. By annexing Kuwait, Iraq gained control of 20 percent of the world's oil reserves and, for the first time, a substantial coastline on the Persian Gulf.

Lying in a pool of blood on the living room couch, Andrew's face had been nearly split in two. Abby, Lizzie Borden's stepmother, was found upstairs with her head smashed to pieces. The Borden, who were considerably wealthy, lived with their two unmarried daughters, Emma and Lizzie. Since Lizzie was the only other person besides the housekeeper who was present when the bodies were found, suspicion soon fell upon her. Because of the sensational nature of the murders, the trial attracted attention from around the nation.

Rheault, Commander of the Fifth Special Forces Group in Vietnam, and seven other Green Berets have been charged with premeditated murder and conspiracy to commit murder in the summary execution of a Vietnamese national, Thai Khac Chuyen, who had served as an agent for Detachment B-57. Chuyen was reportedly summarily executed for being a double agent who had compromised a secret mission. The case against the Green Berets was ultimately dismissed for reasons of national security when the Central Intelligence Agency refused to release highly classified information about the operations in which Detachment B-57 had been involved.

Harish 'Harry' Vekaria works on a vehicle Thursday morning. His 31-year business survived the difficulties Streetscape presented to some downtown business owners.

Vek's Auto Service is here to stay

■ Owner says they are 'not budging' for at least another five to seven years

By Vera Hogan
vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

Loyal Vek's customers have become accustomed to being able to drop off their ailing vehicles on a Sunday night, leave a note under the wiper blades briefly outlining the problem, and usually pick it up good as new after work on Monday. They should be happy to know the service will still be available to them.

Harish "Harry" Vekaria, who owns Vek's Auto Service with his brother, Hemant, said they are going to stay in business at their "prime location" at the corner of South LeRoy Street and Shiawassee Avenue.

"We are going to be here for another five to seven years, or maybe longer," he said.

Vekaria said he is aware of "talk" that some people want them off that corner because of downtown redevelopment.

"Right now, we're not budging," he said. "We're not moving and nobody is going to kick us out."

SUMMARY

■ The owners of Vek's Auto Service say they are going to stay put at their downtown Fenton location for at least another five to seven years.

Vekaria said he is not saying anything negative about the city or the DDA (Downtown Development Authority) or anyone. "They have been very good to us," he said.

Earlier this year, however, Vekaria said he was considering moving his shop and submitted a closed bid for the old F.A.A.R. property on Mill Street.

Vekaria said he did place a bid, but lost to the highest bidders, Mark Hamel and Chad Brennan, who are currently renovating the building to accommodate a taco stand and speakeasy bar in the back.

According to city of Fenton records, Hamel Brennan Properties LLC, purchased the property for $100,000. Hamel and Brennan also own The Laundry and CRUST, both in downtown Fenton.

Vekaria also said he was willing to relocate about 10 or 12 years ago. He spoke at a public meeting, which was attended by a Tri-County Times representative, and said he would be willing to move if he got some help from the DDA.

Nothing ever came of that, he said.

Vek's Auto Service has been in business at its current corner location downtown for 31 years, Vekaria said.

"We have one customer that has been coming to us for 29 years," he said. "Now we have second and third generations coming to us for repairs."

"We're not moving and nobody is going to kick us out."

He said criteria and policy for the new system has not yet been established.

The bill allowed State Rep. Brandt Iden (R-District 61) to acknowledge the victims of the Kalamazoo shooting, as well as the survivors and their friends and family. Six people were killed and two were seriously injured when Jason Dalton went on a shooting rampage at three locations in Kalamazoo on Jan. 20.

“As of July 25, Americans have witnessed 207 mass shooting sprees across the nation in just 2016,” Iden said in a statement. “We cannot control what others do, but as lawmakers we can prepare our citizens with the right tools to allow them to be proactive and not reactive in an emergency situation involving mass shootings or acts of terrorism.”

Iden said the state needs to ensure that it is taking advantage of all current technology to equip residents will essential and potentially life-saving information.

“My hope is that other states will follow Michigan’s lead on implementing the public threat alert system and introduce similar legislation.”

Fenton Police Chief Rick Aro said, “A system like this could be very helpful in an emergency. Providing accurate, timely information can be critical in a life-threatening situation. I’m anxious to see how it works.”

New $10,995 device to save lives

■Auto Pulse is newest tool to help firefighters on cardiac arrest calls

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Fenton Twp. — Ninety percent of people who suffer from cardiac arrest when they’re not in the hospital die, according to cpr.heart.org.

However, if cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) is performed within the first few minutes of cardiac arrest, it can double or triple that person’s chance of survival.

A new device purchased by Fenton Township for the Fenton Township Fire Department is increasing those odds. The fire department recently acquired the new device that would perform chest compressions on people experiencing cardiac arrest.

Fire Chief Ryan Volz said the Auto Pulse, a belt that covers the chest and does compressions on the whole chest, increases someone’s chances of survival by 10.8 percent.

At a recent Fenton Township Board of Trustees meeting, Volz said they have a lot of “full arrests,” meaning cardiac arrests, in the township. They respond to an average of 25 to 30 full arrest calls per year.

Since they’ve gotten the machine, they’ve responded to two full-arrest victims. The victims, however, were deceased prior to arrival in both cases.

It’s recommended to do 100 chest compressions per minute to get blood flowing through their body, but this machine does about 80 compressions per minute. Volz said the Auto Pulse performs more accurate and steady compressions, which is better “It gives you an accurate compression every time,” he said.

Because it covers the whole chest, and not only doing compressions on someone’s sternum, the compressions don’t cause internal damage.

Volz said they’re good to have because you can use fewer responders. Approximately five people are required to properly perform CPR, Volz said, and this machine does a lot of the work. It’s also helpful in tight quarters where four of five firefighters might not fit.

“They work. They’re worth every penny. If you can save one person, it’s worth it,” he said.

The Auto Pulse cost $10,995, and is carried in the chief’s vehicle. Volz hopes to purchase more in the future for every rescue vehicle.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | HANNAH BALL

Fenton Township Fire Chief Ryan Volz unpacks the new Auto Pulse machine from his vehicle. This new device does chest compressions on someone who’s experiencing cardiac arrest.

They also paid $4,895 for four new automated external defibrillators (AEDs) — one for the chief’s vehicle, one for each rescue vehicle, and one for the station.

“We just hope it (the Auto Pulse) saves somebody,” he said. “Can you put a cost on a human life? I can’t.”

At the meeting, Trustee Vince Lorraine asked if the compression device works with the AEDs.

Volz said, “Yes, you put your pads on first from the defibrillator and then you lock the vest over top of them and go. It’ll beep when you’re supposed to give them breaths.”

Supervisor Bonnie Mathis told a story of when she was at a restaurant the previous weekend and a young girl started to pass out. She said two Fenton Township firefighters happened to be in the restaurant at the time, and they got her into a wheelchair and outside.

“The one fireman had all the equipment in his car, I was never so impressed. He was dialing 911, everything,” she said.

Volz said, “Our firefighters are scattered throughout the community, they’re everywhere. A lot of our guys carry their own equipment with them.”

Volz also reminded the board that the fire department has approximately 100 carbon monoxide detectors available for people who want them.

After six members of the Quasariano family were found dead in their Fenton Township house in February due to carbon monoxide poisoning, family and friends started the “Q Project.” This project is aimed at fundraising in order to buy carbon monoxide detectors to avoid a dangerous situation. The fire department has them at the station.

“They’re for anyone who would wish to come pick one up,” he said.

“We just hope it (the Auto Pulse) saves somebody. Can you put a cost on a human life? I can’t.”

"As commissioner, I will fight to achieve better value for our tax dollars. Not only do we pay the most - we receive the least in services."

THIS IS WHERE I STAND ON THE ISSUES

I want to:

- Bring our tax dollars back to Southern Genesee County.
- Keep the 67th District Court in Fenton.
- Continue to reform Animal Control countywide.
- Improve transparency and communication from the Board of Commissioners — we should know what our elected officials are doing.
- Give Southern Genesee County the strong representation it deserves.

FOR KIDS

Have child's vision checked before school starts to maximize classroom learning

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Good vision is one of the most important aspects of your child's success in school and on the sports field. That's why children need vision screenings and eye exams before starting school.

The state of Michigan requires parents of a child enrolling in kindergarten to provide evidence their vision has been tested once since the age of 3.

Nearsightedness (myopia) is one of the most common vision problems in children. More than a third of U.S. children from age 12 to 17 are nearsighted, studies show.

Equally interesting is that increasing time spent outdoors may be a simple strategy for reducing the risk of developing myopia and its progression in children and teens, according to a study by the National Institutes of Health.

THE IMPORTANCE OF SCREENINGS

The American Academy of Ophthalmology suggests that school age children get a vision screening every one to two years by a doctor, school nurse, optometrist or ophthalmologist.

Five to 10 percent of preschoolers and 25 percent of school-aged children have vision problems, but 40 percent of children in the U.S. have never undergone a vision screening to detect these issues.

That's one of the reasons for the success of the Fenton Lions Club free vision screenings called "Kids' Sight," which takes place every year at the Fenton Community Expo. If they notice a child has a vision problem, they refer parents to further vision screening/testing with a qualified professional.

Children won't often complain about not being able to see, because they don't realize what their vision should be like. Here are some signs you may notice with your child's vision:

- Squinting when looking at a distance
- Sitting too close to the TV
- Recurring headaches when reading

Early identification of a child's vision problem can be crucial because children are more responsive to treatment when problems are diagnosed early.

When should children have their first exam?

According to the American Optometric Association, infants should have their first comprehensive eye exam at 6 months, followed by exams at age 3, then just before they enter first grade, at about age 5 or 6.

The AOA recommends school-aged children then have an eye exam every two years, if no vision correction is required. Children who need glasses or contacts should have annual exams or as recommended by their optometrist or ophthalmologist.

GOOD VISION IS IMPORTANT FOR LEARNING AT SCHOOL AND NEED THE FOLLOWING BASIC VISION SKILLS:

- Near vision
- Distance vision
- Binocular (two eyes) coordination
- Eye movement skills
- Focusing skills
- Peripheral awareness
- Hand-eye coordination

Basic dental hygiene for keeping your teeth in line

■ How to take care of your pearly whites

By Grant Cislo

intgern@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

Nobody loves going to the dentist, but it is something that must be done. If you want that healthy white smile, then you need to keep up on your dental checkups.

According to the American Dental Association (ADA), how often you see your dentist it depends on the person. Some people may only need to visit their dentist once or twice a year while others may need to visit more than that. It all depends on the individual.

An easy way to maintain your teeth between dental visits is to keep up on your brushing and flossing.

According to the ADA, you should brush your teeth twice a day at minimum with a brush that fits your mouth allowing you to reach all areas of your mouth with ease. Also, make sure you replace your toothbrush every three to four months.

The ADA says that flossing is essential for taking care of both your teeth and gums and you should floss at least once a day if not more. Flossing helps remove plaque from areas between your teeth that a toothbrush cannot normally reach.

It also prevents both gum disease and cavities.

And let's face it, not everyone has perfectly straight teeth and braces may be something to consider.

If you suffer from a bad bite or your teeth are crooked, it may be a good idea to get braces. Braces will not only improve your smile and make your teeth straighter, but they can also improve both dental and overall health because orthodontic problems can make it hard to bite and chew, which may interfere with eating.

Sports physicals vs. wellness physicals

■ One clears for sports while other is much more comprehensive

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

All students who play organized sports must be cleared to play by passing a physical.

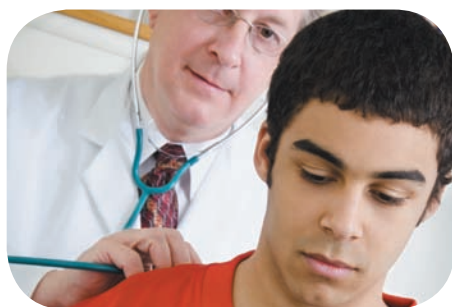

These sports physicals are different from physicals you get at a clinic or your primary care physician's office, which are often called wellness checks or simply well checks.

According to the Austin Diagnostic Clinic, parents shouldn't rely on only sports physicals.

Sports physicals exist as a clearance purpose for children who want to play sports. They evaluate the child's general health, current fitness level, physical well-being, and risk of injury.

At well checks, the patient, or child, and parent consult with a physician and go over the child's growth, development, school performance, mental and behavioral health, immunizations, and the child undergoes a complete physical exam.

Well checks are much more comprehensive. Check with your school's athletic department to see if well checks can also clear your children to play sports.

There are better ways to keep your kids in the yard!

Kay Jewelers, the fourth store planned near Target is on hold for now, according to Mike Reilly, building and zoning administrator for the city of Fenton.

Reilly confirmed that an unnamed, new owner is proceeding with a restaurant and deli market business in the former Luigi's restaurant on North LeRoy Street.

"They are currently framing the project and there is no anticipated open date as of this moment," said Reilly.

The construction on Silver Lake Road, adjacent to Silver Arbor Apartments is coming along.

Wilson Lahoud, owner of Inca Realty, LLC of Grand Blanc, and his partners are constructing a brick, two-story commercial building, with 5,760 square feet of space on each floor.

There will be a basement with daylight windows and the second floor will feature a terrace, Lahoud said.

"We want it to be very trendy," Lahoud said.

Lahoud said the building will feature mixed uses, with offices on the second floor, and retail and possible restaurants, including take-out, on the lower level.

According to Reilly, Lahoud's foundation is completed and they are proceeding with site work, including Downtown Apparel is geared toward women wanting a mix of clothing, accessories and handbags that reflects their personal style at affordable prices.

POSTERIOR COMPOSITES

A posterior composite is a "white filling" placed in a back tooth. Until fairly recently, the most common restorative material for restoring posterior (back) teeth was silver/mercury amalgam. Today, posterior composites are becoming more and more popular. Silver/mercury amalgam has been used, by dentists, since the mid-1800's. It's relatively inexpensive, easy to work with, and it performs well over time. Composite resin material (white filling) was first developed in the 1960's. It's highly esthetic and blends in very nicely with the surrounding tooth structure and has been used since it's development for the restoration of teeth in the front of the mouth. It becomes almost invisible when properly placed. The reason for composite resin material being used primarily in the front of the mouth was that early formulations of the composite resin material were not as strong as amalgam and didn't hold up to the tremendous stresses of biting and chewing that occur in the posterior areas of the mouth. Today's modern formulations have greatly enhanced composite resin's physical properties making it as strong if not stronger than amalgam. Composite resin is more costly, and is technically more demanding and challenging and time consuming for the dentist to place. However, because composite resin is bonded in place, the seal between composite and tooth is much greater creating internal reinforcement for the tooth with much less post-operative sensitivity when compared amalgam. And a popular benefit with my patients is the far greater esthetics of posterior composites over amalgam. All things considered, posterior composite resin is now the ideal treatment of choice over silver/mercury amalgam for both me and my patients for routine filling of back teeth.

Argentine police to buy two AEDs

■ Devices may save the life of someone experiencing cardiac arrest

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Argentine Twp. — The Argentine Township Police Department will put up matching funds to receive two Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs) from a Mobile Medical Response (MMR) grant.

AEDs are used when someone experiences cardiac arrest. It measures the heart's rhythm and if necessary, delivers an electric shock, according to the Red Cross. MMR provides ambulance response teams for Genesee County and other Michigan counties.

Police Chief Dan Allen told board members at the Board of Trustees meeting on Monday that the police department has been selected by the MMR Matching Grant Review Committee to receive two AED units for the department's patrol cars.

"The AEDs will be available for pickup or delivery in October," he read from a letter by the MMR.

The police department will match funds in the amount of $1,450 to purchase the AEDs.

The board unanimously voted in favor of allowing the chief to accept the grant.

"We definitely need AEDs," Allen said.

MICHIGAN VOTES

LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITY

MichiganVotes.org is a free, non-partisan website created by the Mackinac Center for Public Policy to provide concise, non-partisan, plain-English descriptions of every bill and vote in the Michigan House and Senate. This report was released Friday, July 15.

The House and Senate held pro-forma sessions last week with no votes. Therefore, this report continues its series of describing some of the interesting bills that have been introduced in the current Legislature.

Senate Bill 662: Require Detroit school district forensic audit Introduced by Sen. Coleman Young, II (D), to require a forensic audit of the Detroit school district's financial operations and records. A "forensic audit" means an audit designed to determine whether there has been any violation of law or generally accepted accounting principles. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

Senate Bill 678: Let Detroit water system "cross subsidize" residential customers Introduced by Sen. Coleman Young, II (D), to allow the Detroit water and sewer water authority to charge higher rates on customers who use higher volumes of water. This would be a method of subsidizing residential customers by charging business and industry more per gallon. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

Senate Bill 703: Repeal new restrictions on taxpayer-funded tax hike electioneering

Introduced by Sen. Dale W. Zorn (R), to repeal a provision of a law passed in 2015 that prohibits taxpayer-funded communications from local governments and school districts that reference their own property tax hike or other ballot measures during the 60 days before the election. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5171: Require drivers over 75 to renew license at SOS office

Introduced by Rep. Ben Glardon (R), to require drivers age 75 or older to renew their license in person at a Secretary of State office. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5180: Give subsidies to some grocery stores

Introduced by Rep. David Pagel (R), to authorize selective state subsidies for grocery stores in "underserved" communities. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5200: Repeal concealed pistol "gun-free zone" provision

Introduced by Rep. Lee Chatfield (R), to repeal the "gun-free zone" provision of the concealed pistol permit law, which prohibits those who have received a permit after meeting the background check and training requirements, from carrying a pistol in schools, day care facilities, sports stadiums or arenas, bars, restaurants, places of worship, colleges, hospitals, casinos, entertainment facilities and courts. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5209: Exclude emergency managers from liability waiver

Introduced by Rep. Peter Lucido (R), to require emergency managers appointed to run fiscally failed municipalities or school districts to post a performance bond, and to not include them in the immunity from personal lawsuits that generally apply to other school and local government officials acting in their official capacity. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5218: Give new school employees 401(k), not pensions

Introduced by Rep. Tim Kelly (R) to close the current "defined benefit" pension system to new school employees, and instead provide 401(k) benefits. Employees could contribute up to 5 percent of salary to their account, and the local school district would have to contribute an amount equal to 80 percent of this. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

House Bill 5234: Exempt feminine hygiene products from sales tax

Introduced by Rep. Sarah Roberts (D), to exempt feminine hygiene products from sales tax. Referred to committee, no further action at this time.

'The Michigan Window' now available exclusively at D & W Window

D&W Windows, headquartered in Davison, announced that their trademarked "The Michigan Window," a window engineered and built specifically for Michigan's weather extremes is now available.

"D&W has been working to engineer a window crafted to combat the coldest winters and hottest summers," said Vice President Mark Wood. "We take pride of providing top quality craftsmanship and installation services for our customers here in Michigan. The Michigan Window is the next step in providing our customers with a better window at an even better price."

What makes The Michigan Window different and more energy-efficient? It is the only window built in Michigan featuring Owens Corning Air Sealing Technology, reducing air infiltration by up to 24 percent over traditional windows.

"We have partnered with Owens Corning to make our current window even more energy efficient by using its patented Air Sealing Technology," said

Mark Wood. "It is also the only window manufactured in Michigan that provides energy saving E-Z Foam filled frames and sashes."

Other exclusive features include "Sun shield" vinyl for exceptional performance and patented all-foam, no-metal Super Spacer warm edge technology.

The Michigan Window meets or exceeds Energy Star 6.0 specifications and is the only window made in Michigan backed by the Good House keeping seal of approval.

"We believe a replacement window should be an upgrade to your home," said D&W President Dave Wood. "D&W has been in the window business for over 60 years and The Michigan Window is the culmination of decades of experience and craftsmanship."

D&W's manufacturing facility and showroom is at 8068 E. Court St. in Davison, with a second showroom in Saginaw's Fashion Square Mall. For more information on "The Michigan Window" and D&W visit www.dwwindows.com.

The alleged shooter, Jacquelyne Faye Tyson, 54, was a resident at Grand Oaks Apartments. She was charged Friday morning with first-degree, premeditated murder, assault with intent to murder and two counts of felony firearm. She is lodged in the Genesee County Jail.

If Work dies, Tyson will likely face a second murder charge.

Before the shooting, Genesee County Prosecutor David Leyton said Tyson is reported to have said to a third person, before telling her to leave the leasing office, "I am not here for you. I am not here for you."

Work, who currently lives in Grand Blanc, was pregnant at the time of the shooting and an emergency C-section was performed to deliver her baby seven weeks early. The baby girl, Marley, is stable and the prognosis is good.

Grand Blanc police officers responded to 11284 Grand Oak Dr., the leasing office at Grand Oaks Apartments, on reports of two females being shot at 3:45 p.m. on July 26.

Leyton issued a press release Friday morning saying that police and emergency personnel were dispatched to the scene after witnesses reported a woman had shot two women in the head. When authorities arrived, one officer observed Tyson outside the apartment office and clubhouse building throw what appeared to be a handgun into a bush. She then raised both hands in the air and lay down on the ground.

Tyson was arrested without incident.

When officers went inside the building, they discovered Johnson and Work each lying on the floor with gunshot wounds. Both were transported to Hurley Medical Center where Johnson was pronounced dead and Work was put on a life support system.

The JS-2 was an improvement on an existing industry standard, said Sawyer. His goal is to make machines simpler, and safer to operate

His career as a machinist started in his 20s when he worked for an auto supplier doing tubular assemblies. “From there, I was a blacksmith for 21 years, then was in appliance repair. I’m handy. It’s a curse.”

He admits he was a “poor student” during his academic years, but always had confidence in whatever opportunity for work that came his way.

Now he’s the CEO of a successful company that has earned an international reputation. “There aren’t many others who do what I do,” said Sawyer. That acclaim is bringing about a move to a larger machine shop building in Fenton this summer to accommodate the company’s growth.

“I’ve always been independent and done all the work myself,” said Sawyer, who’s now stepping back a bit and letting a new generation take over. He’s still the front man, meeting with business owners all over the world, sometimes on his own plane, a two-seater Cessna 150.

“I was the kid with cardboard wings on my bike,” said Sawyer when asked about his love of flying. “I’ve been flying since ’97. Now I fly wherever I want.”

Music and a love of flying have been a part of Sawyer’s life for many years, but nothing has grounded him more than his 37-year marriage to his wife, Arleta. She has just recently stepped down as office manager to give her daughter-in-law, Mindy, the reigns and herself more time to spend with the couple’s four grandchildren.

“I love my life and what I’ve been able to do,” said Sawyer. “I’m an inventor and I’ve even invented myself.”

mode of transportation, newspapers or WJR (radio) were the way you received your information and a long distance call was important.”

Mona said, “Bob’s first ‘real’ job was at the Southside (Johnny Greer’s) grocery store in Dibbleville.

“Our parents taught us all to not take money but do things out of the goodness of your heart,” she said. “That was something Bob did throughout his life, helped others out of the goodness of his heart.

“Everyone in the neighborhood looked out for each other,” said Mona.

Mona said her brother enjoyed being with people of all ages, but had a big soft heart for kids. Throughout his life, Bob was encouraging kids to be the best they could be.

Music was always playing in the Archbold house, either on the radio or on the record player. Doing plays and practicing their acting skills was another activity, according to Mona.

“Bob liked that one. He could be a bit of a ham,” she added.

“Growing up as a family we were pretty close,” said Roger. “There was a large field behind our house so we would play family ball games, go fishing in the millpond, and in the winter we would ice skate on the pond or go sledding in the hills across the street.

“Bob was an active kid and always seemed to be in some sort of harmless trouble. Mom would get calls from the neighbors asking if Bob had been outside playing, because they came home and found the hose was running and had flooded their yard, or the flowers had been pulled out — or weeded as Bob would claim.”

Roger said Bob’s fourth-grade teacher got him involved in music and drums.

“Bob played all the way through high school and played in the Jazz ensemble at Central Michigan University. As he got older and his health began to deteriorate he would still pick up pencils and drum on the table or counter top.

In offering condolences upon learning of his passing, one post stood out that clearly described Bob, said Mona. “In life you run across a few people that you’re glad you met, you were honored for them to take time for your own struggles, it made you better that your paths crossed, and in passing, they left all that with you forever.”

Tigers' 7-on-7 sessions over, squad preparing for beginning of season

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — It's been a busy summer for the Fenton varsity football team.

But on Wednesday, the summer portion of their season was coming to an end at Fenton High School.

Wednesday was the last day the Tigers were hosing a 7-on-7 passing camp involving themselves and three other schools. And when the camp ended around 8 p.m. at the football field, so did the summer sessions for the Fenton football squad. It's a summer that included weight sessions, the 7-on-7s and trips to Notre Dame for their annual 7-on-7 passing tournament. Yes, it's been a busy time. While not involved in the passing sessions on Wednesday, the Fenton linemen also were on hand discussing blocking tactics while Fenton, Hamady, Grand Blanc and Walled Lake Northern used the football field. They've been just as busy.

"We've been working out and doing some speed and agility drills," Fenton senior lineman Jarrett Smith said.

"We've been going over technique and drills just getting ready for the season and getting us ready for two-a-days."

"We've been working pretty hard," Fenton senior running back Dylan Crankshaw said. "We are just doing our regular thing."

But while the players may not want to say it, Fenton varsity football coach Jeff Setzke did. He's glad to see the summer end. He's ready to get beyond this chapter and move to the official start of football practice on Aug. 8.

"It's been a typical summer and

■ About 150 golfers enjoy summer season at course

Tyrone Twp. — It was the last day of the Tyrone Hills Junior Golf Program and 8-year-old Lilah Finley was looking at her score after finishing her final hole of the day on Thursday morning.

Her score was 23. It was an improvement of 14 strokes since her first round of the season during three-hole junior golf action, putting a smile on her face.

Thursday probably had many personal best rounds as the 39th annual Tyrone Hills Junior Golf Program came to a conclusion for another summer. Tyrone Hills' Head Professional Denis Husse has run the program ever since he came to Tyrone Hills Golf Club. This season's event, which included elementary-age children to high school players, involved about 150 participants.

"Our numbers were down from our peak seasons, but it was a really good number for us," Husse said. "It was a more manageable number for us."

Depending on age and ability, golfers are categorized in three-hole, six-hole or nine-hole divisions. Lilah and her group were some of the young members competing in three-hole competition. Groups compete on the course with the help of parents and grandparents who keep score. Rich Felker was the scorekeeper in Lilah's group which included Addison Acker and Nathan Clarke. He was the one to remind Lilah about her stroke improvement since the start of the year.

"Just seeing the kids play at their ages is great," Felker said. "The job they do here is incredible. I don't think there is anybody better in the area. To get the kids this young is a treat. I love it."

"I enjoy it because I get to see my friends and I like swinging things," Addison, 8, said. "I like swinging the club a lot."

Lilah likes swinging the club as well, but she had another reason she enjoys playing golf.

Messner defends his Libbers Cup title

■ GVSU golfer holds big goals for his college season

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Bryce Messner didn't know where he stood last year as he finished the final hole at Tyrone Hills Golf Club Libbers Cup Men's Open.

It was only after everyone finished he found out he won the Libbers Cup for the first time ever.

But this year the sophomore at Grand Valley State University and Hartland resident knew where he stood as he defended his title. Messner shot a 69-72-141 to win the 36-hole tournament that ended on Sunday afternoon.

"This year, I had a two-shot lead going to 18, so I knew I pretty much had it wrapped up," Messner said. "Other than that, it was me and Darren (Husse) battling toward the end. I was trying to beat him because I know he's a really good player."

Here's a quick look at the 2016 Summer Olympics

The 2016 Summer Olympics hosted in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil begins Friday, Aug. 5 and will continue until Aug. 21. In between those dates there will be more than 10,500 athletes from 207 countries competing in 306 events in 28 different sports. We thought it was time to give people a quick look at some facts and what you may see happen during those three weeks.

Some U.S. Olympians to watch

Over the years the Olympic Summer Games have made many people household names. Two in these games are swimmer Michael Phelps (yes, he's back) and volleyball's Kerri Walsh Jennings. Here are some others you may know as well a month from now.

Simone Biles

At 19, Biles is bringing power into gymnastics in an eye-popping way. She will be the talk of Rio.

Tom Shields

Shields has beaten Michael Phelps in the 100-meter butterfly in the past. Can he do it in Rio?

Jordan Wilimovsky

Despite water pollution issues, Wilimovsky will look for gold in the 10K open swim event.

Trayvon Bromell

Despite injuries some think Bromell may be the person who can beat Usain Bolt in the 100 meter dash.

Claressa Shields

The Flint native won a 2012 boxing gold. She's also working on a movie about her hardships growing up.

So is there anything new?

Every Olympics there are a few new events. Here are this year's newbies.

□ Golf

Golf was featured in the Summer Games in 1900 and 1904, but one of the world's favorite summer sports hasn't been in the Olympics since.

This year's event will feature a 72-hole stroke play tournament for each gender. There will be a three-hole playoff if there are any ties for any of the three medals. Men will compete Aug. 11 to Aug. 14 while the women will compete from Aug. 17 to Aug. 20.

□ Rugby sevens

Rugby sevens is a variant of regular rugby using seven players on a team and using seven-minute halves. Usually a contest has 15 players on each team with 40-minute halves. There will be 12 teams for both genders in each event. This will be the first time since 1924 that any version of rugby will be a part of the Summer Games. The United States will have teams for both genders. Rugby sevens will be played from Aug. 6 until Aug. 11.

□ Kitesurfing

Kitesurfing will replace windsurfing in the 2016 games. With its inclusion in the games, the sports and its athletes will get a chance to show a worldwide audience a little about the sport. The sport does have a tendency to cause high numbers of injuries. Of course, the windsurfing fans were not happy with this news when their sport was left off the Olympic roster.

Other tidbits

● Will there be any Russians competing?: The World Anti-Doping Agency (WADA) recommended all Russian athletes be banned as they found evidence of a state-run doping program across the majority of Olympic sports. At least eight sports Russian athletes won't be banned. Five have partial bans.

● How many Americans will compete: There is expected to be 555 U.S. athletes with 292 being women and 263 being men.

● Didn't Brazil host another big event recently?: Yes. Brazil hosted the 2014 Men's (soccer) World Cup.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

The Tigers conclude action at Wednesday's 7-on-7 practice with a cheer of "family" at Fenton High School's football field.

"we've done our normal things," Setzke said. "But now players are getting bored and are ready to start practicing, and so are our coaches."

The Tigers should be an exciting team to watch this fall. Most of the offense returns, including first-team all-league quarterback Josh Czarnota. As a sophomore he was a first-team All-Metro selection.

"From a 7-on-7 standpoint we have all of the kids back other than (graduated) Kevin Lack," Setzke said. "We have nine starters back, so it's a real good thing. Our first-team all-league quarterback is still only a junior and Dylan Crankshaw is a returning all-league running back, so they are all back. It's just matching them with the juniors and getting our juniors to grow up over the summer so they are ready to contribute to our program."

The squad feels like team unity will be a key this season.

"We've bonded as a team pretty early," Smith said. "We know each other and we trust each other. I think we will be good on the field. I think we will have a lot of teamwork. We don't have to worry about anyone playing for themselves. We are all playing for the same goal, to win."
