Area shelters make sure your new pet is the right fit for your home and family

By Hannah Ball

Adopting a pet isn't a long, difficult process, but it isn't easy either.

You can't just walk into an animal shelter or adoption clinic and just pick out a pet.

At Adopt-A-Pet, Director Jody Maddock said there are rules and interviews people must first pass before adopting a pet. "Everything we require and go through with the potential adopters is always in the animal's best interest," she said.

When someone wants to adopt a new furry friend, they visit the shelter or another adoption company and find an animal that interests them.

They meet with an employee who will ask about their living conditions.

Maddock said some people who had great homes were turned down because it would not have been the best environment for that particular animal.

See ADOPT on 5B

“We’ve had many people upset that they have to bring the animal back because they didn’t know they weren’t allowed a second pet.”

I AGREE WITH the comment regarding the speeders on South LeRoy. I have complained many times and all the police want to do is put the cart out there. In Holly you know not to speed. In Fenton, it's a free for all. No one cares.

HILLARY DONATED $1.4 million to charity. Guess which charity? Clinton Foundation is her charity of choice. It buys her clothes, travel expenses, and Chelsea's $3 million salary for running the foundation.

DOES HILLARY KNOW the definition of lies? Can anyone believe her false promises? I only believe her when she said, 'I will raise taxes on the middle class.'

THE FIX IS in. The Bush and Clinton corruption to hand off U.S. sovereignty to global interests will be complete after Hillary wins. All outsiders (Bernie and Donald) never had a chance.

PLEASE SPEND THE time to research and listen to all types of news media. If you are a Democrat, you are carefully being spoon-fed propaganda by the small number of corporations that own the news media.

TO THE PERSON who said he speaks for the majority, the pedestrian traffic is good for the town. Without business, you have nothing but a desolate wasteland, like in the 90s when the town was blocked off with the not so brilliant decisions which preceded that.

HILLARY'S ECONOMIC PLAN sounds like Socialism that failed in Greece, Cuba, and Venezuela. She is 100 percent wrong. Is Communism next?

ANY WOMAN WHO votes Hillary because she is a woman is a self-absorbed fool. Vote best for country — not self. That type of thinking has already led us to political disaster. I am a woman and can clearly think beyond self for greater purpose. That's a real woman.

I WANT TO build a business in Fenton. Problem is I don't have enough money. If it's not too much to ask could I get a loan from my tax dollars at a ridiculous rate?

AS A RESIDENT of Argentine Township, I use the township supervisor's property as a gauge to determine my property maintenance protocols. If anyone thinks his property looks good, mine should have no trouble passing any inspection

WE HAVE NO choice other than over-the-air or satellite — not real choices — other than Charter but we are endlessly subjected to Charter ads.

I TRY TO read a chapter a day in the holy book, the Bible. It's the least we can do to worship God. It's full of secrets. Everyone has trials and tribulations. If you want to feel better, read it.

I'M SCARED TO death of that Trump. I wish the other Republicans would have stuck in there.

WITH ALL THE stupid stuff that Trump says, the media doesn't have to make anything up.

TIPS TO IMPROVE YOUR MEMORY

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Do you frequently forget where you put your car keys? Do you forget someone's name even when they just said it? Do you always have to look at a recipe for something you've made numerous times?

Your life would be so much easier if you could simply remember more things in your day-to-day life.

Here are 10 tips to improve your memory:

Source: mayoclinic.com, helpguide.org

STAY MENTALLY ACTIVE

Your brain needs exercise just like your body. Staying mentally active exercises your brain and helps improve memory. You can do this by learning a new language, reading books, doing crossword puzzles, taking a different route to work, anything that makes you think.

SOCIALIZE

Studies have proven that social interaction helps ward off depression and stress, which both play a factor in memory loss. Take more opportunities to hang out with friends, go to brunch with Grandma, and go to local events.

ORGANIZE

If your work desk or home desk is cluttered with random things, you're more likely to forget things. Keep a planner and a calendar for events, organize one drawer for all writing utensils, and sort your folders alphabetically.

Your memory will fixate on more important things if you aren't straining yourself to remember mundane things.

GET ENOUGH SLEEP

Sleep deprivation plays a huge role in memory loss. Most adults need seven to eight hours of sleep a night. Sleeping more will help you remember more.

WATCH WHAT YOU EAT

A healthy diet is as good for your body as it is for your brain. Fruits, vegetables, whole grains, low-fat protein sources like fish and lean meat, can all help improve your memory. Dehydration and too much alcohol can lead to memory loss.

GET ACTIVE

Physical activity increases blood flow to your entire body, including your brain. The Department of Health and Human Services recommends getting at least 150 minutes of moderate aerobic activity, like brisk walking, or 75 minutes of vigorous aerobic activity, like jogging, per week.

WATCH THE STRESS

Chronic stress destroys brain cells and damages the hippocampus, the region of the brain where memories are formed and retrieved, over time. Watch your stress levels if you feel like you can't remember as much as you should.

LAUGH

It's true that laughter is the best medicine. Laughing engages different parts of the whole brain, and understanding humor engages your brain even more.

Furthermore, the more emotion associated with a memory, the more likely you are to remember it.

REPEAT

Repeating, visualizing, and grouping together information all helps you remember information.

LISTEN TO YOUR DOCTOR

If you think you experience abnormal memory loss, get tested for depression, kidney or thyroid problems.

Various medications can also impact memory, so ask your doctor if the pills you take are affecting your memory.

“That means we try to recommend another animal who would be a better fit,” she said.

Certain animals need a different environment than others. For example, some dogs need fenced-in yards, some dogs aren’t good with active kids, and some kittens have so much energy that they need a family home or to live with another companion.

Adopt-A-Pet also requires that the potential adopters speak to a landlord or bring in the pet agreement to see if they have breed-size/amount of pet restrictions.

“We’ve had many people upset that they have to bring the animal back because they didn’t know they weren’t allowed a second pet,” she said.

Maddock said they also require the animals in the home be spayed or neutered and up to date on their shots and other medical matters.

“If they can’t keep their current animal up to date, how will they keep a second one,” she asked.

Adopt-A-Pet requires everyone in the home to know about or be on board with getting the animal. Maddock said bringing home a new family member is the quickest way to cause stress in a relationship.

“Sadly, the animal is the one who typically suffers the stress and potentially being returned,” she said.

Maddock recommends bringing in the other pets in the house to introduce it to the new animal.

Adopt-A-Pet employees make sure the potential adopters have done their research on what breed of animal they want, what it takes to own that pet, the cost, how much exercise that animal needs, how much training, and the level of commitment.

The guidelines at Genesee County Animal Control are similar.

Amy Warner, volunteer and special events coordinator, said they gather information on potential adopters like what animals they already have and if they have small children.

They also make sure the animal the person wants to adopt is a good fit for their home.

“The dog’s evaluation is used for this process. For example, a dog that is a jumper or overly hyper may not be a good fit for a family with small children,” she said.

All dogs up for adoption are temperament tested.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Adopt-A-Pet often has litters of puppies with their mother, sometimes recovering from a neglectful home situation.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Adopt-A-Pet volunteer Lisa Walker holds Luke, a 3-month-old rescue kitten on Wednesday.

“This tells us if they are cat and dog friendly, food or toy aggressive and how they may react to a toddler,” she said. “All homes with dogs require a ‘meet and greet’ between animals. If there are cats, only dogs passing the cat test are considered. Dogs with a high prey drive, those not passing the cat test, should also avoid farms with smaller animals.”

People can only adopt cats and dogs if they are spayed/neutered. GCAC offers the service.

“If they are not fixed already we offer a pre-pay program. An unfixed dog/cat can be prepaid after the stray hold has expired and dogs have passed the temperament test. Prepays are cash only and the animal must be picked up the day after the spay/neuter,” she said.

Warner said if the fit is right and adoption is possible, the fee to buy the animal covers the spay/neuter, a parvovirus/bordetella, distemper booster, rabies shot and license, and treatment for fleas and worm.

After the adopters pass all inspections, they can take home their new best friend.

ASK THE MECHANIC

Chris Wilkinson, Certified Mechanic

Q: I have a '93 GMC Sonoma that ran out of gas. I put gas in it and it will not crank. I changed the spark plugs and the fuel filter and still nothing, but it is getting gas and firing.
- Nick

A: Nick, The problem you may be having now is low fuel pressure due to the pump getting hot from running low on fuel. On a new and healthy pump this may not happen right away, but on an older fuel pump you want to be careful not to run it low on fuel too often. You can check this with a fuel pressure gauge. However, you will need to know the specification for your vehicle.

You can get the specs from most parts stores or call me at 248-634-5730 with the vin # and I can give this info to you.

Threatened coach leaves kids in gym

DEAR AMY:
I am a high school teacher and fifth-grade basketball coach. I was recently coaching a fifth-grade practice when a disgruntled parent walked into the gym with 10 minutes left to go and started harassing me verbally. He got into my face, and started yelling at me with foul language. The parent was a rather large individual, and I did not want to start a physical altercation, so I handed him the ball and walked away. I did not want to try and negotiate with him because I didn't know how he would react. The children's safety was not at stake, but I felt mine was. I left the gym and sat in my truck because I didn't have access to a phone inside the gymnasium. There were about five or 10 parents and children who were on the sidelines who witnessed the event. Afterward, the parents told me that the disgruntled parent just yelled at the kids to go home. No one was hurt. The school superintendent charged me with leaving the kids unsupervised for a period of 10 minutes. I felt I handled the situation best by walking away, keeping my distance from the parent, and not trying to negotiate. Do you feel that this is how most reasonable people would have reacted? Does the school have the right to charge me with leaving the children unattended for 10 minutes, when my own personal safety was at stake?
— Upset Coach

DEAR COACH:
I am very sorry this happened to you. I do happen to agree with the school's reprimand, however. If there were a different sort of episode that frightened you (a lightning storm, power outage, etc.), would you have left these fifth-graders unsupervised (by school personnel) in the gym?

DEAR DR. ROACH:
Three months ago, I slammed the fingertip of my left index finger in a drawer. The fingertip is still swollen and painful. My doctor sent me for an X-ray, and there is no fracture. I can bend it at the joint, but cannot put pressure on the fingertip. I looked online, and read something that said a fingertip crush injury can take six months to a year to heal, and the swelling may never go away completely. Can this possibly be true? Why does it take so long? Is there anything I can do to help it heal? I can get along OK without using the finger for everyday functioning, but I am a guitar player, and I really need to use that fingertip to play. Is there hope that I will be able to play again someday? I would be very sad to have to give it up. — D.L.

ANSWER:
Crush injuries to the fingertip often do take months to heal completely, due to the fact that there isn't a lot of room in the fingertip and that there are many important structures in the fingertip, and that a little bit of inflammation can cause pain and loss of function for a long time. Fortunately, most people do regain complete use of the hand,

Obviously not. You should have asked a witnessing parent to please call school security (or the police) while you tried to deal with the parent.

DEAR AMY:
I am a 56-year-old woman. I married at 36 and have always kept my baptismal name. Everyone knows me as "Patricia J. Clarke." I never adopted my husband's name. Recently, we received an invitation to a very good friend's daughter's wedding. The invitation was address to "Mr. and Mrs. David Smith." What is up with that? Is there some law that says you have to address wedding invitations to "Mr. and Mrs.?" When I said to my friend that the only Mrs. Smith I know is my husband's deceased mother, she laughed at me. I asked her if she was unclear that my name was my own and not my husband's. She blew me off. Her response ticked me off. I did make sure to write both of our full names out completely on the response card. Given that we have been friends for more than 25 years, she should have shown me more respect. Am I being too sensitive?
— Pattie

DEAR PATTIE:
When people are trying very hard to host a formal wedding, they sometimes resort to antiquated practices, such as the father "giving" the daughter away, or inviting married people using the formal style of "Mr. and Mrs." There is no "law" stating that this is necessary, but it is old-fashioned and, strictly speaking, "correct." Like you, I have kept my given name for my whole life, but I think it's sort of sweet to occasionally be referred to as "Mrs." You seem to have responded to this in a way which your friend found embarrassing, which is why she is blowing you off.

and I wouldn't sell your guitar just yet. Think about what Pete Townshend of the Who did to his hand, and he's still a pretty good guitar player.

DEAR DR. ROACH:
My 18-year-old grandson has just been diagnosed with superior mesenteric artery syndrome. It sounds extremely serious. Would you be able to tell me more? I am very worried. — G.D.

ANSWER:
The superior mesenteric artery is one of the critical arteries that supplies blood to the intestines. Directly underneath the SMA is the duodenum, the first part of the small intestine. In SMA syndrome, loss of the normal fat around the duodenum causes the artery to constrict the duodenum, causing a compression of the duodenum and an obstruction to food going through. Serious weight loss due to medical illness, surgery or anorexia nervosa is the most common cause of SMA syndrome. It's a difficult diagnosis to make, and there is some controversy about what criteria are used for diagnosis. If weight loss is the underlying cause of SMA syndrome, then nutritional support and weight gain become the primary treatment. Surgery is sometimes necessary.

ANGRY BIRDS
In the 3D animated comedy, The Angry Birds Movie, we'll finally find out why the birds are so angry. The movie takes us to an island populated entirely by happy, flightless birds—or almost entirely. In this paradise, Red (Jason Sudeikis), a bird with a temper problem, speedy Chuck (Josh Gad), and the volatile Bomb (Danny McBride) have always been outsiders. But when the island is visited by mysterious green piggies, it's up to these unlikely outcasts to figure out what the pigs are up to.
PG, 1 hr. 35 min. Rude Humor & Action

GOD'S NOT DEAD 2
A high-school teacher (Melissa Joan Hart) fights for the right to discuss Jesus in her public classroom. This sequel to the 2014 faith-based box office hit God's Not Dead also stars Jesse Metcalfe, David A.R. White and Ray Wise.
PG, 2 hr. Drama

Fern's
Blueberry Coffee Cake

INGREDIENTS
BATTER:

- 1/3 cup butter
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 1 Tbsp baking powder
- 2 eggs
- 3/4 cups milk
- 2 cups blueberries

FILLING:

- 8 oz cream cheese, softened
- 2 Tbsp lemon juice
- 1/2 cup sugar

TOPPING:

- 1 cup flour
- 1/3 cup butter
- 1/4 cup sugar
- Dash of cinnamon

GLAZE:

- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 2 Tbsp of water
- 1 tsp vanilla

INSTRUCTIONS
Combine all batter ingredients except berries. Spread in a greased 13x9 baking pan. Sprinkle with 1 cup of blueberries.

Mix the filling ingredients until smooth and spread on top. Sprinkle with remaining cup of blueberries.

Mix the topping ingredients until crumbly and sprinkle on top.

Bake in metal at 375 degrees or in glass at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

Mix glaze and drizzle over top of the cake while warm.

SUNDAY SCRAMBLER
Unscramble the letters within each rectangle to form four ordinary words. Then rearrange the boxed letters to form the mystery word, which will complete the gag!
