■Mother of murdered jogger paints picture of daughter's life

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

When "Zeus" first joined the Brueger family in Rose Township, he had a little separation anxiety, said Nikki Brueger,

Because he was her daughter Ally's dog, they purposely made it a deal to have him see her leave the house in the morning, and come home later in the day. He got used to the routine and knew that when her car was outside, Ally was home.

Today, Zeus is confused. Ally's bedroom door is open but she is not in it.

"Now he sees her car down there all the time and doesn't understand why she's not in her room," said Nikki.

Alexandra "Ally" Brueger, 31, was a writer and poet, registered nurse, runner and lover of her pet dogs, Zeus and Taz.

Alexandra "Ally" Brueger, 31, was murdered on July 30. She was on her daily 10-mile run that Saturday afternoon, when she was gunned down by a still unknown assailant.

A writer and poet

Ally loved poetry, according to Nikki. In fact, when she was 17 years old, in 2002, she entered the William Stafford Poetry Contest in Rosebud Magazine and was one of 10 winners.

Van Gilders miss their grocery years at VG's

■ Retired since 2008, Russ and Shirley have created a new life

By Sally Rummel

news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Everyone remembers shopping at VG's Grocery in Fenton when Russ "Buzz" Van Gilder was at the helm, working side by side with his wife, Shirley, son, Rusty, and daughter, Lisa.

The Van Gilders knew the grocery business from the shelves up, with Russ starting in the business as a carryout boy at Fenton's Comber &

Fox Supermarket when he just was a teen. Working seven days a week, the Van Gilder family knew your name when you walked through the doors, and likely hired your teenaged son or daughter for a summer job.

VG's in Fenton is the flagship store of a grocery empire the Van Gilders grew to 17 stores in mid-Michigan. Russ handled day-to-day operations, while Shirley did most of the store design and book-keeping, while raising the couple's three children.

“I really miss it,” said Russ, now 82 and retired after selling their business to Spartan Foods in 2008, when daughter Lisa was unable to continue her role as chief executive officer for health reasons. “My hobby was working seven days a week. I wish I could still do it. It was never boring. There was never a day I didn't want to go to work. I still went in every day, even when Lisa and Rusty were there.”

Shirley recalls when Russ first retired. He watched her in the kitchen while she was peeling potatoes, and told her she shouldn't do it that way because she might cut herself. She immediately handed him the knife and the potatoes for him to finish the task. “The look on his face said it all,” she said. “He was a meat cutter at work, but home was still my domain.”

■ The Fenton Relief & Resource Co. brings back the secrecy of prohibition

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

History has come alive again in downtown Fenton with the opening of The Relief & Resource Co. at 113½ Mill St.

Opened by Mark Hamel and company, The Relief & Resource Co. is a good old-fashioned speakeasy, much like those that were in town in years past during the prohibition years.

Speakeasies also were called “blind pigs” and “blind tigers” back then.

During a 1997 interview, former Fenton Mayor Leo Weigant (died 1998) talked about the “blind pigs” in downtown Fenton, but he couldn't quite recall exactly where they were located.

Hamel, who along with his partners owns The Laundry and CRUST, said, “We do love history here at The Laundry and love when we can educate our community about things.”

Outlawing booze

In 1920, the U.S. Congress passed the National Prohibition Act, which outlawed the sale of “intoxicating beverages,” which were defined as any drink containing 0.5 percent or more of alcohol.

That law backfired, however, since no amount of legislation could transform all Americans

Donald Trump's meeting with Mexican President Enrique Peña Nieto was private. But I managed to get my hands on a secret transcript. Here's what transpired:

Nieto: 'Ah, so you are the loud, orange man I have heard so much about. Welcome to Mexico. My, you really are orange, aren't you?'

Trump: 'Thank you, yes. It's a spray tan. It takes my butler a full hour to apply every morning. He's very thorough. He even does the armpits.'

Nieto: 'So to what do I owe this visit?'

Trump: 'Well, Enrique, it's like this. I've come for the check.'

Nieto: 'Ah, for your famous wall, I gather.'

Trump: 'Of course. I think $20 billion ought to cover it. So if you don't mind getting your little check-book out, I'll be on my way.'

Nieto: 'Surely, you are joking?'

Trump: 'No, I'm not, and don't call me Shirley.'

Nieto: 'Excuse me?'

Trump: 'It's an old bit from the movie Airplane. You haven't seen it?'

Nieto: 'Um, no, I'm afraid not.'

Trump: 'You do have movies here, right? That technology has reached here?'

Nieto: 'Of course, but, look, I cannot and will not give you any money for your wall. It is out of the question.'

Trump: 'You will or else.'

Nieto: 'Or else what?'

Trump: 'Or else when I'm elected president I will invade.'

Nieto: 'That's preposterous and you know it.'

Trump: 'Trade sanctions?'

Nieto: 'Also preposterous. You need us as much as we need you.'

Trump: 'How about this: I'll talk really mean about your country.'

Nieto: 'You already have. We're still here.'

Trump: 'Fine, then I'll fire you.'

Nieto: 'This isn't The Apprentice, I'm afraid.'

Andrew Heller
FEATURED COLUMNIST

Trump: 'OK, look, let me level with you. You know I can't build a wall, and I know I can't build a wall. I mean, come on, it's thousands of miles over mountains, deserts, valleys and rivers. It's ridiculous. It would bankrupt the country. But I made a promise and if I don't deliver, the crazy people in my party won't support me anymore and I won't get elected. So can you throw me a bone here?'

Nieto: 'How do you mean?'

Trump: 'I mean just give me a check. Make it one of those over-sized ones like with Publisher's Clearing House. We'll pose for the cameras, you can maybe let me throw you in a playful headlock and give you noogies. Then later we say it bounced when I tried to cash it and I denounce you for tricking the American people.'

Nieto: 'You seriously do not believe I would do this, yes?'

Trump: 'Why not? C'mon, I'll make it up to you somehow when I'm president. How does a discount coupon to one of my golf courses sound, or maybe a free stay at one of my hotels, mini-bar included. Or how about some nice steaks? I have real nice steaks. They're huge, believe me. Just name your price, Enrique. Do we have a deal?'

Nieto: 'You are loco, my friend — muy loco.'

Trump: 'Yeah, but it's worked so far. By the way, can I get some tacos to go?'

Low birth rates can't sustain population

■ U.S. could see a major decline in population if birth rates continue to decline

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Some online sites have been speculating that the U.S. is overpopulating.

One site, worldpopulationbalance.org, claims the U.S. population is growing by more than 25 million people per year, which is about 285 per hour, and there isn't enough food to sustain everyone.

Chris Douglas, a University of Michigan-Flint professor of economics disagrees, and said it's hard to make the claim that the U.S. is overpopulated.

"None of the signs are there for the U.S. For countries like India, it's a different story," he said.

Douglas said for a country to be considered overpopulated, it has to experience widespread starvation.

"If there's not enough resources to support the population," he said. "Like India and Africa, they just don't have the resources to support the number of people."

Douglas said in the U.S., it's the opposite problem.

"For every story of starvation in the world, there's a hundred stories of obesity in the U.S.," he said.

Only 10 percent of the land in the U.S. is developed, Douglas said, so it's not like we're running out of room to put people.

He said if the U.S. was overpopulating, we'd see starving people in the streets and widespread homelessness.

"We'd need to have some sort of social welfare program to stop that. That would cost money and that course would hurt economic growth," he said.

Some major cities, like San Francisco and New York City, which attract a lot of people, experience housing shortages and traffic problems.

However, this doesn't mean the country is overpopulating, especially because of the low birth rate in the U.S.

The U.S. birth rate, which is the number of babies a woman will have in her lifetime, was 1.9 in 2014, and that number is declining.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and National Center for Health Statistics, the birth rate dropped to 1.87 in 2015, and it's expected to decline even more.

"A couple has to have over two kids on average for the population to grow," he said, adding that our current birth rate cannot sustain the current population.

"If we didn't have immigration, the population would start to fall," he said.

Other countries, like Russia and Japan, are experiencing this issue. Douglas said in Russia, they have public programs aimed at encouraging people to have more kids.

ASK THE MECHANIC

Chris Wilkinson,

Q: Do I need to recharge my AC every year or only when I notice that it is not blowing cold enough air any more?

A: You do not need recharge your A/C every year, but when you notice it not cooling as well as it should there are a few things that you should do. First check your cabin air filter and the A/C condenser for any restrictions. The condenser is the part in your grill that looks like a radiator and can easily get filled with leaves and other debris that can cause this. Next is to have a qualified repair shop do an inspection, recycle and recharge making sure that they pull a good vacuum on the system to get out all of the moisture that can accumulate over years of service. Most shops use some form of dye in the oil or refrigerant these days to detect small leaks, and a refrigerant leak detector for larger leaks. With the cost of refrigerant going up so fast and the harm to the atmosphere, it is important to make sure there are no leaks in the system.

News briefs

Civil infraction ordinance will change in Argentine Township

At the Monday meeting, the Argentine Township Board of Trustees adopted a package of ordinances giving the township more authority to deal with civil infractions. Under these ordinances, the people who have the authority to write tickets for municipal civil infractions now include all police officers, the building inspector, the fire chief, and the code enforcement officer. Tickets for activity considered criminal, such as assault and drunk driving, would only be issued by the police department. Municipal civil infractions are violations of municipal ordinances that were once criminal misdemeanors and have been decriminalized to civil infractions, according to gc4me.com. They have civil penalties, not criminal ones. By decriminalizing a few ordinances and making them municipal civil infractions, these offenses are now punishable by fines, which can be dealt with at the local district court in Fenton. According to Argentine Township Clerk Denise Graves, municipal civil infractions can carry fines of $50 to $500 for the first offense, and $100 to $2,500 for subsequent offenses, in addition to other related costs. Increased civil fines may be imposed for repeated violations.

OPERATION C.A.R.E. IN EFFECT OVER LABOR DAY WEEKEND

During this Labor Day holiday weekend, the Michigan State Police (MSP) is reminding motorists to make safety a priority during their holiday travel. MSP troopers will join their counterparts from across the country in the international traffic safety initiative, Operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort). The official Labor Day weekend began at 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 2, and ends at 11:59 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 5. Last year, 12 fatal traffic crashes resulted in 15 deaths over the Labor Day holiday weekend. Operation C.A.R.E. was formed to deter three causes of highway fatalities including aggressive driving, impaired driving and failure to use occupant restraints.

PANTY THIEF

A 16-year-old Holly female filed a larceny complaint with Holly police on Aug. 29. She said at 10:45 on Aug. 28, she was doing laundry in the laundry room at her apartment complex. She left for a short time. When she returned at 11:10 p.m., she noticed the dryer door was open. The teen noticed that a pair of pink and white Victoria's Secret underwear was missing from the rest of her laundry. There are no suspects at this time.

CAR WINDOW SPRAY PAINTED

At 5:40 a.m. on Aug. 24, Holly police were dispatched to a home on Sherman Street to investigate a malicious destruction of property complaint. The homeowner reported that someone had spray painted black paint on the left rear panel, back window and back trunk lid of his silver 2008 Dodge Charger. The man said his son had been having ongoing problems with an ex-girlfriend and that she had thrown a brick through the window of his son's car several weeks ago. There were also notes left under the windshield wiper of his son's car. The homeowner is not positive that his son's ex-girlfriend did the damage. Police took photographs of the damage. The case is closed pending new leads.

COMPLAINT LEADS TO ARREST

On Aug. 15, Holly police were sent to a home in the 500 block of North Saginaw Street to investigate a larceny complaint. Upon arrival, police made contact with a 29-year-old Swartz Creek man. Police soon learned that the man had arrest warrants from Gaines, Burton and Michigan State Police. The man was arrested, handcuffed and placed in the patrol car. The man was later turned over to Burton police. The knives that the man had in his possession legally were placed in safekeeping at the Holly police station.

WOMAN DID NOT FILE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

The Holly Police Department received an identity theft complaint on Aug. 29. The woman told police that while she was working, her boss had asked her if she had filed for unemployment benefits. She told her boss 'no.' The woman showed police the letter from the Michigan Unemployment office dated Aug. 23 explaining her benefits for unemployment. The letter contained the woman's date of birth and Social Security number, but not her home address. It is unknown who filed for unemployment using the Holly woman's name and personal information.

CREDIT CARD OPENED IN HOLLY WOMAN'S NAME

Holly police received an identity theft complaint on Aug. 29. The 48-year-old victim told police that she was notified by her Discover credit card company about an address check for their credit card. The credit card company told her that the address showing on her account was in Louisville, Kentucky, the location where her estranged husband lives. The woman told police that she did not open an account with a Kentucky address. Police advised the Holly woman to go to Social Security Administration office to either obtain another card number or a new one and to notify them of her identity theft.

GLASS DOOR DAMAGED

On Aug. 29, at 9:50 a.m., Holly police responded to a home in the 800 block of Elm Street to investigate a malicious destruction of property complaint. The 31-year-old victim said she noticed the glass doorwall at the rear of her home was damaged and the outside window pane was broken. There are no suspects or witnesses.

Teddy is easily recognizable because he has a shriveled left ear. The Kullis' have raised Teddy since he was about 14 days old. He has never been separated from his mother, brother and sister.

Where's Teddy?

By Sharon Stone

sstone@tctimes.com; 810-433-6786

A Holly family is desperately trying to find their beloved cat, Teddy.

George Kullis said Teddy was taken from his family's home at 601 E. Maple St. at approximately 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, Aug. 25.

Holly Police Chief Michael Story said the Kullis' filed a police report for the theft of their cat. "Pets are considered property under Michigan law," said Story. Police continue to investigate.

George told police that the cat liked to lay on the ground under the bushes near the road and rarely left the yard. At 11 a.m. that morning, Kullis' neighbor observed a small black SUV, possibly a Ford Escape pull into the Kullis' driveway. She observed a white female, around 40 years of age with shoulder length blonde or strawberry blonde hair pick up the cat. She lost sight of what was happening and then the woman drove away. She couldn't say for sure what happened to the cat.

"Our neighbor saw her, but didn't think anything was wrong at the time until I posted that we couldn't find Teddy," Kullis said.

The neighbor called Kullis a few minutes later.

"She felt horrible knowing she had seen the lady take him and didn't get a license number," he said.

"We rescued Teddy and his siblings along with his mom just when he started opening his eyes," Kullis added. "My wife (Diane) is just heartbroken, and I feel helpless as I've always been the one to fix things."

Teddy is easy to recognize with a shriveled left ear. He is declawed on all four paws and weighs about 11 pounds.

"He is very affectionate," Kullis said. "Bear, his brother, still walks around looking for him and sits on my pillow at night meowing for him. I know it sounds crazy but animals know when something's is wrong."

Anyone with information that will help find Teddy is asked to call (248) 431-1894. A reward is being offered for information that brings the cat home.

Fenton Community Drum Circle to perform 9/11

The first performance of the new Fenton Community Drum Circle will take place at 5 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 11, at the downtown gazebo. It is a gift to the community and free and open to the public, according to Lisa Pearson, hand drum facilitator for the Fenton United Methodist Church. The Fenton Parks Board at its August meeting approved the new endeavor at Millpond Park. A drum circle is a community of people coming together to express themselves through the creating and sharing of rhythms, said Pearson. It is their vision to provide an environment where people of all ages, ethnicity and walks of life can express themselves. They also aim to make a difference in the lives of people by inspiring unity and wellness, Pearson said. Drumming promotes growth in interaction skills, enhances self worth and self-esteem, reduces anxiety and stress, and enhances creative expression. The physical benefits of drumming include the increase in fine and gross motor movement and upper and lower body movement, according to Pearson.

Hamilton Physical Therapy works collaboratively with local physicians and offers free assessments. “We are also a ‘Veteran’s Choice’ provider, offering special programs for eligible veterans,” said Hamilton.

Before opening his own practice, Hamilton managed the Urban, Health and Wellness Center at the University of Michigan-Flint. He and his wife, Carrie, also a physical therapist, have lived in Fenton since 2001, with their 11- and 8-year-old sons.

LOOKING BACK

at this week in
NATIONAL HISTORY

COMPILED BY VERA HOGAN

SEPT. 5

1975: President Gerald R. Ford survives an attempt on his life in Sacramento, California. The assailant, a petite, red haired, freckle-faced young woman named Lynette “Squeaky” Fromme, approached the president while he was walking near the California Capitol and raised a .45 caliber handgun toward him. Before she was able to fire off a shot, Secret Service agents tackled her and wrestled her to the ground.

SEPT. 6

2012: In a case that generated national headlines, former Illinois police officer Drew Peterson is found guilty in the 2004 murder of his third wife, Kathleen Savio. Savio’s death originally was ruled an accident after her body was discovered in an empty bathtub at her suburban Chicago home; however, the 2007 disappearance of Peterson’s fourth wife, Stacy, led authorities to reopen the Savio case and eventually label her death a homicide.

SEPT. 7

1813: The United States gets its nickname, Uncle Sam. The name is linked to Samuel Wilson, a meat packer from Troy, New York, who supplied barrels of beef to the United States Army during the War of 1812. Wilson (1766-1854) stamped the barrels with “U.S.” for United States, but soldiers began referring to the grub as “Uncle Sam’s.” The local newspaper picked up on the story and Uncle Sam eventually gained widespread acceptance as the nickname for the U.S. federal government.

SEPT. 8

1974: President Gerald Ford, who assumed office on the heels of President Richard M. Nixon’s resignation, pardons his predecessor for his involvement in the Watergate scandal. Congress had accused Nixon of obstruction of justice during the investigation of the Watergate scandal, which began in 1972.

SEPT. 9

1966: President Lyndon Johnson signs the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act into law. Immediately afterward, he signed the Highway Safety Act. The two bills made the federal government responsible for setting and enforcing safety standards for cars and roads. Unsafe highways, Johnson argued, were a menace to public health.

SEPT. 10

1897: A 25-year-old London taxi driver named George Smith becomes the first person ever arrested for drunk driving after slamming his cab into a building. Smith later pleaded guilty and was fined 25 shillings.

Argentine limits health care to retired employees

■ Resolution is in response to old, vaguely worded ordinance that could have been costly to taxpayers

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Argentine Twp. — In a 4-1 vote, the Argentine Township Board of Trustees passed a resolution, limiting which township employees it would provide health care to after they retired.

The resolution states that only full-time employees who are 60 years of age or older, and worked for the township for at least 30 years can participate in the township health care plan after retirement.

Elected officials are not considered full-time employees.

Supervisor Bob Cole cast the dissenting vote. He said the new plan hurts one of their employees, who hoped to retire soon.

"The biggest problem I have is the 60 years and older. We have an employee right now that has 36 years with this township. She has talked about it that in the next year and a half, she wants to retire," he said, adding that this ordinance would hurt her because she is not yet 60.

Argentine Township Trustee Teresa Ciesielski said the township has set up retirement plans for township employees. "That's really what everyone has gone to. It's very rare that a township will contribute to someone's health care for the rest of their life," she said.

Clerk Denise Graves said they passed this resolution because of the vague wording in their old health care plan, which would have allowed for any township employee to receive a wide range of benefits.

Graves said this new resolution would save the taxpayers a lot of money by reducing Legacy Healthcare costs.

SUMMER'S OVER

FOR AREA STUDENTS

Each school and each district had open houses and/or orientation days for their incoming students, happening early this week.

LINDEN

Linden High School welcomed a class of 240 freshmen to its halls on Monday, in an all-day orientation session, facilitated through the Link Leader program. More than 20 groups did team activities in different classrooms and took a tour of the building. The various teams donned equally silly hats and costumes to better identify each other in the unfamiliar halls. The goal of the whole event was to relieve anxiety in incoming students.

FENTON

Fenton Area Public Schools helped their incoming elementary school students prepare for their new classrooms and buildings with open houses this week. All three elementary schools held their open houses Tuesday evening. Students and parents roamed the halls, and met their teacher and found their desks. They exchanged updated contact information and families went home with some reading materials. Andrew G. Schmidt Middle School and Fenton High School will hold their open house events on Sept. 14 and 15, respectively.

LAKE FENTON

Lake Fenton Community Schools also spent the week getting students up to speed. The new teacher orientation was Monday, and the high school open house was Tuesday evening. New elementary students visited their schools on Wednesday afternoon and middle school students in the evening.

HOLLY

Holly Elementary held a "Back-to-School Meet and Greet" on Thursday, Sept. 1. Students were able to meet their new teacher and drop off school supplies. A Senior Parent Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 7 at Holly High School.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Linden High School's orientation on Monday culminated into a final assembly in the gym, where organizers gave the new ninth-graders words of encouragement and then sent them off to lunch. Linden's first day of high school is Sept. 6.

Web Leaders ease anxiety at Linden Middle School

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Linden—Going from elementary to middle school, and middle school to high school can be stressful for young students. However, local school districts have programs to help students transition from one school to the next.

On Thursday, Sept. 1, hundreds of Linden sixth-grade students roamed the halls of Linden Middle School for the first time, their place of learning for the next three years.

The students will be more prepared for school on Tuesday, their first day.

As a way to help students transition from elementary school to middle school, approximately 60 eighth-graders acted as Web Leaders and took the sixth-graders through a day of activities at the school.

One of the Web Leader organizers, Michelle Steelman, who's a teacher consultant for Linden schools, said this is the first time these students are meeting the other sixth-graders from the other elementary schools.

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

Linden Middle School Web Leader Chelsea Babinger, 14, takes a group of new students through the halls on Thursday. While each group is given its own silly theme, they also learn important facts like who the principal and secretary are.

"Web leaders took them into classrooms and they did some more team building activities to get to know each other's names, learn more about each other, some strategies they can learn in middle school, make them feel a little bit more welcome so their anxiety is lessened a little bit more," she said.

The eighth graders made it fun by having themes for their groups. Some students roamed the halls as pirates with pirate hats, some wore nerdy glasses, and some wore fake moustaches while taking a tour of the school.

Steelman said the event helps the sixth-graders so they know more people by the time school starts.

Sixth-grader Jase Grundy, 11, said the activities have been his favorite part.

"It's going really good. I'm just really excited. We've been talking about what you do at middle school and how not to be afraid because a lot of people think that middle school is scary but it's not," he said.

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

The trust you deserve, the experience you need!

"We had a terrific experience working with the John Wentworth group when selling our home. It went on the market on Friday, we had 25 showings, a huge open house, multiple offers and the house was under contract in 3 days - it was fantastic! Working with the various talented members of the team was great - we highly recommend the John Wentworth group if you want to sell your home."

- DR. SONBOL

"I was very pleased with John's knowledge of what I should list my home for. He was spot on and our home sold in three days. The team he has working for him are amazing. The buyer's agent he recommended I used helped us out every step of the way and we were able to find the house of our dreams. I like that John strictly lists homes and has agents that strictly help individuals buy homes. John's tactics work and he knows what he's doing."

- JAMIE WARD

"We thought about putting our house up for sale and called John Wentworth III for an appointment. He came to the appointment prepared with comparable house sales in our neighborhood and shared his professional viewpoint of the current market, economy and the best price to market the house. He also made recommendations of how best to present our house to the buying public. He shared how he would advertise and market our house. His team was organized using professional photographers, newspaper adds, and realty magazines. He and his staff worked hard and were always very responsive to any questions we had. His plan was solid and very successful. We sold our house 72 hours after signing and I might add way over our asking price. I would highly recommend John and his team to anyone thinking of buying or selling a home. He and his team far exceeded our expectations."

- BOB DZIATCZAK

"In fifty years of buying and selling real estate John has been the most professional realtor. His staff pays attention to detail. All four of our closing went very well. His recommendation to have two of the homes staged was the most helpful."

- CLAYTON DEGAYNER

"John and his associates showed the utmost care and courtesy to me throughout the entire process. They were all very professional in every way, and were very helpful in providing the expertise I needed to get my house in tip top shape to sell."

- BOB WORLEY

"I had John Wentworth list my home. He gave me a price that he thought it would sell for, and I didn't agree. I wanted 50K more than what he said so he disagreed but still listed it. It sat for a few months with a few showings. John said to trust him and to lower the price to what he thought it should be, and I disagreed, and only brought it down half way between what he said was the selling price and what I thought my home was worth. John sold the house after negotiation for the same exact price John said to list it at. I should of listened to him in the beginning. Very knowledgeable and he never swayed me wrong. The John Wentworth Group and John Wentworth know their stuff. Trust him.... He won't steer you wrong."

- RONNY MEDAWAR

"We had an excellent experience working with John Wentworth III and Todd Warda. Not only did they help with the listing and sale of the house, but all of their associates were always available to answer any questions we had. Three days after the showing we had received two good offers. They discussed the offers with us in detail which helped us make up our mind which would work best for us. After our decision was made, everything went smoothly in completing the sale. We couldn't have asked for better service from John Wentworth III and Todd Warda. John and his associates work together as a "total package" in getting a home sold. We will definitely recommend their company to friends and associates."

- DIANE STRATMAN

"I had been very impressed and pleased with the people who work at the John Wentworth Group and I was very pleased with all the caring and all the information that was passed onto me. The team taught me a lot and I feel I've gained new friends. It's been a great experience and I will be happy to tell anyone to work with John Wentworth and his team. He told me my home would be sold in the week and it was sold within a day and a half which was very impressive to me. It was amazing and I am very happy, thank you for everything!"

- FREIDA SUTTON

"My wife and I talked to John back in November and our experience with John and his staff Jennifer, Tony, and Brooke has been fabulous. We sold the house and purchased a house. I would not go with anybody else but the John Wentworth Group and I really liked the friendly staff."

- MICHAEL KESKES

"I just recently moved into Fenton thanks to the John Wentworth Group. They helped me to sell my other home and I am really excited to be in the Fenton area. I had the most positive experience and I could not recommend the John Wentworth Group more!"

- STARR CORNELL

"The John Wentworth Group provided lots of communication which was big on our list. We had lots of showings. We have a unique home and they had to figure out how to target the buyer that would really appreciate the home the way that we did. We knew that would take some time but we found somebody and we are super happy!"

TRAILER PARK

residents of Fenton (Township) to improve the park and improve the town. We have a vision of what we want it to look like when it's all said and done."

Neighbors of the Lake Ponemah Trailer Park brought their concerns to the Fenton Township Board of Trustees on several occasions, and complained about blighted properties in the park, roofs caving in, trash and other factors they said harm living conditions.

In July, Fenton Township Supervisor Bonnie Mathis read reports from Fenton Township Fire Chief Ryan Volz, Ordinance Enforcement Officer Tom Hosie and Building Official Dave Gibson, stating that the park passed all inspections.

Neighbors were still not happy.

Vaughn said he wants to change the park's image by evicting the problematic tenants. They've already served 15 eviction notices.

"Unfortunately, throughout the years, they haven't been very selective of who they let into the park. I think there's a handful of tenants that cause a bunch of the issues," he said. "Our goal is going to be to tighten up on some of the rules there, get some of the unwanted tenants out, the trouble-making tenants out, and improve the quality of life for people there."

Vaughn said they aren't interested in accepting money from residents facing evictions.

"We will have those open spots," he said.

For those trailers that will be vacant, they will decide to rehab the trailer or bring in a new one. They're also looking for community input.

"If we have a better indication of people's interest, it makes our decision a little easier," he said.

Currently, the rent is $400 to live in the park.

Vaughn said, as far as he knows, it's the cheapest place in Fenton Township, and the residents have lake access and they can also rent dock space.

"The $400 a month is insane, not just with Fenton but with anywhere," he said. "I think it's being taken for granted right now. You can't rent anything on the water for under a grand."

He said he doesn't want to price any people out, but if they clean the park up, it could be a high demand place for people to live. "I don't want to raise the price of the park but I do feel that we can raise the quality of the park where the rent matches more of the market," he said.

Both Vaughn and his mother have been in the income property business for decades.

Vaughn first heard about the park 15 years ago when he was looking for a place to live in the Fenton area. After his mother bought it this July, he went and talked to the residents and said he was surprised at how many long-term residents live at the park.

"We have residents here who met their current spouses on that property," he said. "There's a lot of history there."

Vaughn said improving the park will be a collaborative effort between them, the residents, and the community.

"We're pretty excited about it. We think there is a lot that can be done there. We will definitely be improving the aesthetics of the park and overall appearance. We will be updating a lot of the trailers and bringing in new trailers where appropriate," he said.

Vaughn added that he hopes the park will attract new tenants.

"The park will be much more marketable and I think people will start looking at it as an inexpensive place to live in Fenton, and hopefully a quality place to live in Fenton," he said. "Long term, I think the park is going to go through a major transformation."

Fenton Township Supervisor Bonnie Mathis

hasn't been able to meet with the new owner yet, but she said she thinks they will take the park in a positive direction. She's hoping to meet with them next week.

The neighbors

Neighbors of the park, Sharon and Terry Garfield, attended Fenton Township meetings for months, telling the board about all the problems. They're frustrated with the township and continuing poor conditions, Sharon said on Wednesday.

"We have been so disillusioned with our local unit of government. It's like the only people who matter are the people in the trailer park," she said.

The park is still facing issues even with new owners, she said. About two weeks ago, a woman who was only wearing pants and a bra ran up and down the street, according to Sharon. The woman grabbed a raft from someone's lawn, put it in the water, and tried to jump on it three times. The woman then went to a neighbor's house, and when the neighbor gave her a shirt, the woman took off her pants.

Sharon said recently, a man ran through her yard, cursing and screaming at someone on a boat in the water. The man climbed on their boat and jumped off it.

"(The new owner) built a fence, a rolling fence, in front of the dumpsters but he didn't leave enough room for them to put their urine-soaked mattresses, broken TVs, and crap there. They're not mowing the grass, nobody has cleaned anything up other than to build the fence," she said. "And we have to look at all that."

Sharon said they're tired of fighting it. "We gave it our best shot. I don't know what they're going to do but they win, I'm leaving," she said. "I'm saddened by the treatment that we have gotten from the township, and they can say they've done all they can do, but they haven't. They care way more about the folks at the park than any of us. We would have liked to see balance. All we wanted them to do was clean it up and keep it cleaned up."

JOGGER

According to Nikki, Ally was the youngest entrant in the contest, facing off against the writings of many adults, including published authors.

Her poem, called "Pacifier" was published in Rosebud's issue 25 in 2002.

A 2003 graduate of Holly High School and a registered nurse at Providence Park Hospital in Novi, Ally would have earned her master's degree in Creative Writing in April of 2017.

"Nursing was her profession," said Nikki. "Writing was her passion."

Since her daughter was brutally taken from her, Nikki has heard from one of Ally's master's class professors. He emailed one of Ally's papers and said it was one of the best he had ever read.

"He said he was sure she would have become a published author," Nikki said. "She was pretty private about her writing. She kept several notebooks and I asked her once if I could read some of her work and she said 'no.'"

"The police took her notebooks and that incensed me because I have not seen them," Nikki added. "I know I'll get them back though."

Nikki said Ray Bradbury was a favorite author of Ally's, but she had many and liked all genres.

Passions included running and beloved dogs

Since Ally was an only child, mother and daughter were best friends. "We watched a lot of reality TV shows," said Nikki. "When she was younger she liked 'Seinfeld' and other comedies of that nature."

Nikki said Ally started running right after graduating from high school.

"She wanted to make a change. She wanted to get healthier and lose some weight," said Nikki. "She's been running 10 miles a day, every day, she was so devoted. I think she missed one day in the winter because it was too icy."

Ally was interested in traveling but had not yet had a chance to do much of it.

"One of her nurse coworkers had moved to Italy," said Nikki. "She talked about visiting that person with another coworker next year."

Ally's love for dogs was not limited to Zeus.

"Ally always lived in a house with dogs from the time we brought her home from the hospital," Nikki said.

The dog before Zeus was a boxer, "Taz," named so because he ran around the house like a Tasmanian devil.

After the dogs they had previously, they were looking for one that wasn't too high maintenance, said Nikki.

"I was walking around an antique store in Holly and this dog kept following me around," Nikki said. "I thought that's kind of cool, maybe we should investigate that."

One thing led to another and when she went to look at the puppies, she brought Ally along and the rest is history.

Taz died in October of 2015. They got Zeus a few months later.

Mom's thoughts

Growing up, Nikki said Ally never gave her a reason to get punished or spanked. As a teenager, she never got a ticket, never got into a car accident. "She wasn't a drinker and didn't do drugs," Nikki said. "I couldn't have asked for a better daughter."

"That's why it's so hard. That's why it's so hard for me to wrap my head around that someone did this," Nikki said.

"She was our only child. There will be no wedding, no grandchildren," she added.

Nikki said she used to love to watch crime shows like Criminal Minds.

"I can't watch people get shot, I can't do it anymore," she said.

No suspects in murder of Ally Brueger

Victim's mom urges students to be aware when waiting for school buses

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

Ally Brueger's mother, Nikki, hates it when she hears or reads that her daughter passed away.

"She didn't pass away. She didn't have cancer or get hit by a car. She was murdered," said Nikki.

Ally, whose entire name was Alexandra Nicolette Brueger, was 31 years old when she was murdered on July 30. As she had for the last 12 years, Ally was on her daily 10-mile run on Fish Lake Road in Rose Township, when she was gunned down by a still unknown assailant.

Because the person who shot Ally four times in the back and left her for dead has not yet been caught, Nikki has a strong message for parents and their children.

"The people of Rose Township and surrounding communities are still fearful because this murder has not been solved yet," said Nikki.

"Please tell people for me that next week (Tuesday) kids are going to be standing on the same road, waiting for the bus," she said. "It is a concern for parents as it would be for me if I still had a school-aged child."

I want people to think of their special person," she added. "Ally was my special person, I want them to know that. She turned to run away from the person who took her life away. She had to push her fear down and run."

Nikki asks everyone to exercise caution and be aware of their surroundings while on the country roads waiting for the bus.

And, if anyone has a tip that could help catch Ally's killer, no matter how insignificant it may be, "please push your fear down" and call the Michigan State Police at (855) MICH-TIP. There is a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Ally's murderer.

Loved it then...

Half of the US population lives in just 9 states

9 most populous states = 161.1 million

Half US population = 161.5 million

TECHINSIDER.IO

Approximately 10 percent of U.S. land is developed.

POPULATION

In Japan, their birth rate is 1.5, and it's projected by 2060, because of low birth rate, the population will fall by a third, he said.

That could happen here.

"The pyramid for demographics is upside down. You have many people who are old, but not many who are young," he said. "There's not going to be a lot of young people to take care of the old people."

This makes it hard to pay for programs like Social Security and Medicare, which are both paid for by taxes of working people.

"If there's less people working that's fewer funds available to fund those programs," he said.

There are multiple theories about why people aren't having kids, including that it's too expensive.

Some sources suggest that it costs about $250,000 to have and raise one child.

"Every time you're having a kid you're basically buying a house," he said.

Another reason for the low birth rate is the limited entry to the workforce. People want to establish themselves in a career before having kids, so they wait longer.

Douglas said when people delay having kids until they're 30, it becomes harder to have multiple kids down the road.

"It just becomes harder by nature," he said. Douglas added that people also want fewer kids than people in the past.

HOT LINE CONTINUED

I WISH FENTON or Fenton Township would have a huge flea market all summer long. They attract so many people and would bring business to restaurants and other places. You could even have vendors from our town and restaurants.

NOVEMBER VOTERS, CHECK out YouTube about criminal aliens being released in the U.S. by Homeland Security Chairman Chaffetz and no press coverage on this.

WHEN DECIDING WHICH Presidential candidate, it doesn't matter if you like their style, vote for the one who believes Americans are strong people who cherish freedom, independence, and less government intrusion.

I WANT TO thank Farmer Laing, Farmer Steve and all the other farmers who worked so hard in the garden at Loose Center. You fought deer, raccoons and woodchucks and still were able to bring the fresh beautiful veggies to the members. Thanks so much.

THERE WAS AN order to save the people in Benghazi when the fighting began by the then General in charge. This order was changed and the only two people that could have changed it were Obama and Hillary Clinton, or both, to save face.

COULDN'T AGREE MORE with the Hot line regarding Fenton Township being out of control. We need an audit of the sewer fund for starters before they raise the fee again as discussed at a recent meeting.

OBAMA'S FAILED ECONOMY is being called one of the worst economies in over 40 years. He hurts minorities especially.

OBAMA'S PARTING GIFT as he leaves office is a 35-percent, single-year increase in the federal budget, plus we can't forget his $20 trillion debt. Much of this money is going to be used for income redistribution.

IT MAY BE worthy to note that the sign ordinance typically applies to commercial businesses and government officials alike. Signs on private property are to be considered artwork or the expression of self. That's a constitutional issue, not one regulated by local ordinances.

THE EFFORTS OF my brain and my brow, that's my profit. To say that a city or a resident has the right to take my efforts for their own use, look it up, that's called Communism.

ON FRIDAY, CONGRESS reported GDP numbers and they are worse than ever. Our GDP has fallen below 1 percent. This hurts businesses, profits, and jobs and, of course, the Obama economy has cost over a million jobs.

I DO UNDERSTAND the economy and I can tell you that Clinton's plan to raise taxes will drive us down to a darker hole than we've been in for the past seven years.

CLINTON'S SECOND LARGEST donor group is the land of Hollyweird and that's where she is this weekend, begging for donations. I cannot support these people who want to destroy America.

I JUST READ in the weekend Times that Ruby Tuesday has closed his doors. I'm hoping that we get a good family restaurant, like an iHop, Red Lobster or a Cracker Barrel.

TO THE PERSON wondering how we can send some money to Louisiana toward their flooding. Well if we can't afford it, we can always send them prayers.

SECRECY

into teetotalers. Instead, Prohibition simply drove alcohol consumption underground. Millions of people in small towns and large cities imbibed at secret taverns and bars called speakeasies, according to history.com.

Although the exact origins of the term speakeasies are unknown, it was likely because prospective patrons had to whisper, or "speak easy" through a small opening in a door to enter the illegal establishments.

According to history.com, as law enforcement officials shut down countless bars and saloons across the country, speakeasies sprang up overnight, and by 1925, tens of thousands had opened in New York City alone.

Many were drab, makeshift saloons in basements or tenements located in shabby parts of town. Some, however, were fine restaurants in their own right, including New York City's swanky 21 Club, which featured two bars, a dance floor, dining rooms on two levels and underground passageways leading to a secret wine cellar.

The prohibition act was repealed in 1933.

Inspiration started long ago

Inspiration for The Relief & Resource Co. actually started about a decade ago, when the women on the TV show "Sex in the City" ordered "Cosmos," a cocktail made with vodka, triple sec, cranberry juice, and freshly squeezed or sweetened lime juice.

"Right about that time our head bartender, Jon Foley, really became interested in cocktails and the history of them," said Hamel. "That's about the same time Michigan craft beers started to really take off, but Jon was already ahead of that curve."

"All nine of our draft selections were already dedicated to Michigan beers," Hamel added. "He started experimenting with cocktails and started ordering some really obscure liquor from around the world."

"The same thing was happening in big cities like New York, Chicago and L.A.," he said. "Due to the curiosity of these bartenders many of these liquors, once dead from obscurity and some since prohibition, started to resurface."

Foley started looking for them online and when the demand increased, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission started to pick up these liquors for distribution, Hamel said.

"All of a sudden a few bars in the state started to have the same curiosity as Jon. He joined the Detroit Bartenders Association and The Laundry started to become a destination for well-made craft cocktails," he said.

With craft cocktails, everything is fresh and made from scratch.

"All the tinctures, bitters, shrubs, syrups, words that haven't been used in generations, are all made behind the bar," Hamel said. "The cocktails were amazing and people started to take note, not only in Fenton but around the country."

"Bars known for well-made craft cocktails became destinations and a few 'speakeasies' started to pop up in New York and L.A., one of which we visited on our way to Pasadena to watch the Spartans in the Rose Bowl," he added.

"This particular spot was hidden behind a fast-casual food establishment similar to a Ruby Tuesday's. It was dark, the bartenders were like chefs and the drinks were amazing. We were hooked and Jon was looking for a new challenge," said Hamel.

Hamel and his partners had just purchased the old F.A.R.R. (Fenton Area Resource & Referral) building on Mill Street, and the partners started looking for something to do with it. So the conversation started, he said.

"It was certainly a trend nationwide in big cities and we were not afraid of trying big city things in little Fenton," Hamel said. "After a lot of conversation we decided a 'speakeasy' vs. just a bar would be more appropriate to pay homage to these once great drinks, really spotlight the bartenders, who are the stars of the show, and create an experience to take people back to another place."

"We did have to have a 'cover business' and that turned out to be a Latin American take out joint," said Hamel.

According to The Resource & Referral Co.' Facebook page, "In keeping with a speakeasy-era interest in avoiding detection, The Relief & Resource Co. is accessible only via El Topo, its cover business located at 113 Mill St. Beyond that, we have 'no comment.'"

Engineering has already started on a road-widening project to make Thompson Road's current two-lane thoroughfare a five-lane road.

THOMPSON

The stretch of Thompson from U.S. 23 to Torrey Road will be widened to four lanes with a turning lane in the middle.

John Daly, manager/director of the GCRC, said the road needs more lanes to support the further economic growth in that area due to Performance Fabricating's new facility.

"Statistically, it's not so much the body of traffic, it's the type of traffic," he said. "We need to have a turning lane for the semis."

Daly said they started seeking the grant, a category "A" grant from the Transportation Economic Development Fund, late last year, and officially received it on Aug. 31.

The total cost of the project is $1,420,000.

Along with the $800,000 from MDOT, the GCRC will pay $284,000 and Fenton Township will pay $240,000.

John Tucker, Fenton Township treasurer, said that the township and road commission have been discussing this project for about a year.

He said the township has given its verbal go-ahead to the road commission to get quotes and engineering started.

Statistically, it's not so much the body of traffic, it's the type of traffic. We need to have a turning lane for the semis.

John Daly
Genesee County Road Commission manager/director

He added that he expects the board to vote in favor of this 2017 project in the near future and place it in the township's 2017 budget.

Some construction has already started, and the project is expected to be completed next year. Daly said they will close one lane at a time as construction is being done.

"There will be some restraints but the road will stay open," he said.

VAN GILDERS

The Van Gilders still live in the same house they have for the past 33 years, on a wooded 7 1/2-acre parcel of land in Hartland Township. There, Shirley tends to beautifully landscaped flower beds and Russ watches hummingbirds and takes care of their 15-month-old Shetland Sheep Dog, Kaelee. They spend six months living here and six months at their home on Melbourne Beach in Florida.

Russ still plays a little golf, but health issues have kept him off the seat of his Harley motorcycle and the couple has sold the last of their motor homes, which took them on many cross-country excursions.

The Van Gilder family now includes their children, Lisa, Rusty and Julie and spouses, plus four grandchildren, two step-grandchildren and soon-to-be seven great-grandchildren. "We still do a Santa Party every year at our house for both sides of our family," said Shirley. "It's about 67 adults and 27 kids."

Travel has always been a hobby for the Van Gilders, from motor trips out west with their family, to excursions to Alaska and a Viking River Cruise to Paris. "If you can only take two trips in your lifetime, go to Alaska and take a Viking River Cruise," said Shirley.

But Fenton is still very close to the Van Gilders' hearts. "We like to support Fenton," said Shirley. A room is named for their family in the renovated Fenton Community & Cultural Center. The couple also established a foundation after they retired, providing scholarships in schools in each town where VG's does business.

"It's been a wonderful life," said Shirley.

DOG

shore, then turned around to try to find her owners among a group of boaters in the distance. Her story ended happily when a fisherman got her aboard his boat and took her to shore, but she ran off and was soon found at the Platte River Campground.

What's amazing about this story is how a local woman, Lynn Fiedor of Holly, became actively involved with this rescue. She headed up north with her team of dog rescue volunteers as soon as she got a call from her husband, who just happened to be one of the fishermen out there searching for Rylee.

Rylee is now happily reunited with her family, and now it is Fiedor who is getting all the attention.

"This just blew up, I never imagined anything like this ever happening," said Fiedor, who was on her way with her team to St. Clair Shores on Thursday for another dog rescue.

"I've gotten calls from the BBC in London for a radio show, and calls from Norway, Mexico, Good Morning America Online, Inside Edition, and The Today Show is supposed to be calling today," said Fiedor. "We're just out here doing this every day."

She and four other volunteers are the nucleus of the Lost Dog Search Team in Holly. These volunteers became a team in January, when the Holly community united to find Perry, a 3-year-old Shepherd mix with only one eye. He was missing for six days before being found by the ski patrol at Mt. Holly, cold and hungry under the ski lifts.

"The night Perry was found, another dog went missing," said Fiedor. "That led us to looking for another dog and we decided maybe we should actually be a team. That's when we started and we haven't stopped since."

The Lost Dog Search Team has found more than 70 dogs so far this year. Not all of them have had happy endings like Rylee and Perry. "We've found every dog we have looked for, but three or four of them have been found deceased," said Fiedor.

This team is a volunteer organization, in every sense of the word. "We run on donations only, and we don't have much," said Fiedor. "It's a full-time job. We use our own money for flyers, markers, gas, etc. We recently raised a little money with a garage sale."

The team starts their searches for lost dogs networking for leads through social media. Then they drive to the area where the dog has been lost, and put up flyers and posters to get sightings.

"Once we have a sighting, we'll use a trap or actually go into the woods to try to find the dog. What we use depends on the animal, their behavior and how long they've been missing. Dogs tend to behave differently when they're lost."

Fiedor has gotten calls from all over the state and even out of state, for dog owners desperate to find their "fur babies." "We don't just do rescues," she said. "We also work with people to help them find their dogs. There's just five of us. We desperately need more volunteers to help us."

If you'd like to support the dog rescue efforts of the Lost Dog Search Team, visit their Facebook Page and click on PayPal.

Fenton golfers continue dominating Metro, crush Brandon

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

The Fenton varsity girls golf team proved itself to be the early-season favorites at the preseason Metro League Meet recently.

All the team did was blow-out the competition by posting a school record and a first-place team score of 337, 39 strokes ahead of second-place Kearsley.

After the team's first dual Metro League meet, the Tigers only solidified that placing.

The Tigers are now 1-0 in Metro action after crushing Brandon 174-244 in a dual meet held at Tyrone Hills Golf Course.

Keegan Miller led the field, earning medalist honors with a nine-hole score of 38. Molly Gundry followed with a 39. In fact, three of Fenton's golfers beat Brandon's first golfer at the event. Margaret Berry shot a 44, which was seven strokes better than Brandon team medalist Skyler Kocchan's 51. Lily Hornig capped the Tigers' score with a 53. Fenton's dominance was expected considering four Fenton golfers finished within the top four at the preseason meet.

Kickoff sparks 41-6 blowout win for Eagles

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Goodrich — Anyone who was concerned that last week's 42-14 loss to DeWitt may follow the Linden varsity football team to Goodrich on Thursday didn't have to wait long to settle their fears.

It took 13 seconds precisely.

That's how long it took Cade Dickson to return the opening kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown, giving the Linden Eagles a 6-0 lead.

The Eagles never slowed down, as Linden cruised to an impressive 41-6 victory at Goodrich High School.

"I saw an opening and a walk of blockers," Dickson said about the game-opening kickoff return for a TD. "They were blocking really well. Our team came together, and when I saw the opening I took it. The blockers were doing excellent. If I did get touched, it was a dive in the foot.

"It got everyone's confidence up. It meant we were ready to go. It brought the intensity and the urgency to win."

"The kickoff return gave us immediate confidence and we started rolling," said Linden's starting quarterback Aaron Sarkon. "From that moment on, we thought we were going to win."

The first half was complete Linden domination as the Eagles scored four TDs and held Goodrich scoreless. After holding Goodrich's offense to just three plays and a punt on the Martians' first possession of the game, Linden began its first play from scrimmage at the Goodrich 44. Just four plays later, Sarkon kept the ball on a quarterback draw and scored on a 23-yard TD run. A completed slant pass to Corbin Sines enabled Linden to convert the two-point play, taking a 14-0 lead with 8:55 left in the first quarter.

Linden's defense forced another Goodrich punt after just three plays on the Martians' next possession, and it didn't take long for the Eagles to score again. After runs of 29 and five yards by Aaron Steedman, Sarkon completed a deep ball to Corbin Sines for a 36-yard TD pass. Dickson caught the two-point pass and Linden led 22-0 with 6:25 remaining in the first quarter.

Goodrich did move the ball to the Linden 12 on its next possession but a fourth-down sack ended that drive and gave the Eagles the ball to start the second quarter. Aided by Sarkon runs of 17 and 16 yards and a 36-yard completion from Sarkon to Ryker Rivera, the Eagles scored one more time in the opening half. This time Sarkon capped it with a three-yard run.

Blue Devils edge Olivet, 18-14

By David Troppens

The Lake Fenton varsity football team has opened the season playing two foes the Blue Devils had never played prior to this year.

Maybe the Blue Devils should schedule more unknown foes. It seems to be working.

Lake Fenton improved to 2-0 by defeating Olivet 18-14 at Olivet High School Thursday night.

The Blue Devils trailed 7-6 at halftime, but two TDs in the third quarter gave Lake Fenton the lead for good. The first came on a Matt Tomczyk 15-yard reception from Jackson Nevadomski. The Blue Devils led 12-7 after the two-point conversion failed.

By David Troppens

Down 14 in the second half, the Holly varsity football team looked in trouble on the road at Williamston Thursday night.

However, sometimes looks can be deceiving.

Holly's Kyle Staple makes a tackle in a recent game. Staple had a big game in Holly's win vs. Williamston.

The Bronchos scored the game's final 21 points and came home from Williamston with a thrilling 35-28 victory, evening the team's record to 1-1 overall.

"We got the ball after they punched it in (to take the 14 point lead) and we saw their adjustment," Holly varsity football coach Ryan Culloty said.

Blue Devils continue impressive start, defeat Byron

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Lake Fenton — The season is still young for the Lake Fenton varsity boys soccer team, but life on the squad has been pretty amazing so far.

In the Blue Devils' first two games they posted a 5-0 victory against Birch Run, and followed that with a 7-0 victory against Corunna. The defense hasn't allowed a goal while the offense has dominated play throughout those contests.

On Tuesday afternoon, the trend continued. The Blue Devils made it three impressive performances in a row to start the season by crushing Byron 8-0 in a contest that was ended due to the mercy rule early in the second half. Lake Fenton has now outscored its foes 20-0 in three contests.

"We've been starting to gel as a team," Lake Fenton captain Joey Reitano said. "We lost only one senior last year so we are a pretty compatible team right off the bat. We have a lot of chemistry and that's helped us out a lot, I think."

The Blue Devils were an extremely young team a year ago, but still challenged for the Genesee Area Conference title, only losing it due to a one-goal loss to Goodrich. Lake Fenton is still a very young squad, but they are an experienced youthful team since just about everyone returns.

"It's going very well," Lake Fenton varsity boys soccer coach Sam Jawhari said.

■ Holly boys tennis captures two Metro victories

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

When it comes to Flint Metro League boys tennis, the Holly Bronchos are the favorites until someone proves otherwise.

During Tuesday's and Thursday's opening Metro League dual matches, Holly proved why once again.

Winners of 21 of the last 22 Metro crowns, the Holly Bronchos crushed Kearsley 8-0. The Bronchos also followed that victory by earning their 95th straight dual match in a row on Thursday when Holly defeated Clio by a similar 8-0 score.

Holly won all eight flights in straight sets against Kearsley, and won two by 6-0, 6-0 scores. No. 4 singles player Cole McGillis was one of the 6-0, 6-0 winners as were Ethan Postma and Carsen Cuthbert at No. 1 doubles.

When Gary Ballard took over the Fenton varsity girls tennis program, he had a goal to make it competitive with the Holly team.

Ballard accomplished his task, and now the area has two strong girls tennis programs who can use their rivalry to make each other better.

Now, Ballard is coaching the Fenton boys tennis program, and he hopes to repeat history.

"Holly is the big program around here. Holly always reloads and has a great program," Ballard said.

■ Linden XC competes at Early Bird invitational

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

The Linden varsity cross country teams ran during the night in one race already this season.

On Tuesday, they were among the "early birds" competing at the annual Corunna Early Bird Invitational.

The Linden teams competed in the medium divisions and had the girls finish third in a 10-team event and the boys place fourth among eight squads.

The Lady Eagles were paced by sophomore Audrey Steiert, placing fourth in 19:50.19. She was one of just four runners to finish the 3.1-mile race in under 20 minutes.

The Linden girls also had freshman Hannah Wabel finish among the top 20, taking 11th in 21:11.15.
