Raising age to buy cigarettes could be decided by voters

“Tobacco 21,” the nationwide movement to prohibit the sale of tobacco products to anyone under 21 years old has reached Genesee County.

On Monday, Jan. 30, a majority of the Genesee County Board of Commissioners voted in favor of raising the age to purchase tobacco products from 18 to 21.

It will not become local law, however, until the final vote at the board’s Feb. 14 meeting, after the Genesee County Board of Health, acting on behalf of the Genesee County Health Department, has a chance to discuss it further, according to Drew Shapiro of Fenton, county commissioner for District 6 representing southern Genesee County.

County health officials, like those around the country, claim raising the age to purchase tobacco from 18 to 21 will deter many youngsters from starting the smoking habit to begin with.

They say tobacco use is the number one cause of death in Michigan and continues to be an urgent public health challenge.

Health department statistics show that 16,200 Michigan adults die from tobacco products to anyone under 21 years old has reached Genesee County.

Groundhog Day has German roots

A special ‘elixir’ is said to add seven years to his life each year

Compiled By Vera Hogan

On Feb. 2, 1887, Groundhog Day, featuring a rodent meteorologist, is celebrated for the first time at Gobbler’s Knob in Punxsutawney, Pennsylvania. According to tradition, if a groundhog comes out of its hole on this day and sees its shadow, there will be six more weeks of winter; no shadow means an early spring.

Groundhog Day has its roots in the ancient Christian tradition of Candlemas Day, when clergy would bless and distribute candles needed for winter. The candles represented how long and cold the winter would be. Germans expanded on this concept by selecting an animal — the hedgehog — as a means of predicting weather. Once they came to America, German settlers in Pennsylvania continued the tradition, although they switched from hedgehogs to groundhogs, which were plentiful in that state.

Groundhogs, also called woodchucks, and whose scientific name is Marmota monax, typically weigh 12 to 15 pounds and live six to eight years. They eat vegetables and fruits, whistle, and whose scientific name is Marmota monax, typically weigh 12 to 15 pounds and live six to eight years. They eat vegetables and fruits, whistle, and may even climb trees and swim.

They go into hibernation in the late fall; during this time, their body temperatures drop significantly, their heartbeats slow, and their body fat.

In February, male groundhogs emerge from their burrows to look for a mate before going underground again. They come out of hibernation for good in March.

In 1887, a newspaper editor belonging to a group of groundhog hunters from Punxsutawney called the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club declared that “Phil,” the Punxsutawney groundhog, was America’s only true weather-forecasting groundhog.

The line of groundhogs that have since been known as Phil might be America’s most famous groundhogs, but other towns across North America now have their own weather-predicting rodents, from Birmingham Bill to Staten Island Chuck to Shubenacadie Sam in Canada.

“Woody,” Michigan’s official groundhog lives at the Howell Conference and Nature Center. Woody, by the way, is a girl.

In 1993, the movie “Groundhog Day” starring Bill Murray popularized the usage of “groundhog day” to mean something that is repeated over and over.

Today, tens of thousands of people converge on Gobbler’s Knob in Punxsutawney each Feb. 2 to witness Phil’s prediction. The Punxsutawney Groundhog Club hosts a three-day celebration featuring entertainment and activities.

Fun Facts About Phil and Punxsutawney, PA

- Punxsutawney Phil is the only true weather forecasting groundhog. The others are just imposters, according to his Punxsutawney people.
- The name Punxsutawney comes from the Indian “ponksad-utene,” which means the “town of the sandflies.” The location was originally settled by Delaware Indians in 1723. The town is located about two hours northwest of Pittsburgh.
- Most of Phil’s time is spent relaxing in a climate-controlled home at the Punxsutawney Library, with his wife, Phyllis, (who apparently doesn’t know that he emerges from his burrow every year to look for a mate. The shame of it all.)
- On Groundhog Day, Phil waits in his heated burrow until 7:25 a.m., when it is time for him to deliver his prediction.
- In 1887, a year after the first observance on Feb. 2, an official ceremony was held at Gobbler’s Knob and “Phil” was named and proclaimed the one and only official weather predicting groundhog. He has been doing it for over 120 years since.
- His longevity is derived from his diet and his lifestyle. He eats vegetables and fruits, whistle, and may even climb trees and swim.

Let’s be practical about this. Groundhog can be eaten, so why not give it a try? How to acquire a groundhog can present a challenge. Since it would be dangerous to yank the rodent out of his hole, and illegal to shoot him depending on where you live, there needs to be another way. Perhaps the best sources for getting groundhogs are avid hunters, local farmers or a grocer. If you are successful in acquiring one or more groundhogs, here is a tasty sounding recipe that might just give new meaning to the Feb. 2 observance. How about some “Country-style Groundhog.” Sounds yummy, doesn’t it?

Tasty groundhog grilling recipes

By Vera Hogan

Tomorrow is Groundhog Day and another chance for us to fool ourselves and let a rodent, one in Pennsylvania no less, predict whether we have six more weeks of winter, or if spring is just around the corner.

Legend has it that on the morning of Feb. 2, if the groundhog comes out of his hole and sees his shadow, there will be six more weeks of winter. If he does not see his shadow, spring is just around the corner.

The whole thing is relative. We are going to have six more weeks of winter either way since the first day of spring doesn’t arrive until March 20, which of course, is “just around the corner.”

Liberal media should not be trusted

I’m going to use my columnist soapbox to clarify something the mainstream media seems to be struggling with. The obviously jobless people you see rioting on TV each day are not students, nor well-intentioned average Americans. They are overwhelmingly third-generation career welfare parasites, paid thugs and various illegal immigrants who are looting, burning and carjack their way across America, leaving a trail of ruined lives and destroyed businesses in their wake. They are a for-profit organization (cigarettes, beer, lotto tickets and potato chips looted from minority-owned liquor stores) whose only interest is in enriching themselves at the expense of hard-working small-business owners. It is highly doubtful that any of them have ever voted in their life, nor held a job, nor contributed anything of a positive nature to society other than higher ratings for mainstream news organizations and a massive increase in the sale of ‘medical marijuana.’

Speaking of news organizations, will someone in the media (besides FOX) please have the testicular fortitude to identify these civil disturbances for what they really are? As everyone with a brain in their cranium knows, they are ‘pro-Hillary’ tantrums not ‘anti-Trump’ riots. Opps. Strike one.

And, speaking of the media, they may well have jettisoned the ‘credibility factor’ that is the lifeblood of all serious news organizations with their misguided and one-sided election coverage. MSNBC, The New York Times, CNN and dozens of other high-profile news outlets checked on their own arrogance with their blatantly biased coverage by making an ‘all-in’ bet on Hillary, while unashamedly mocking Donald Trump’s chances of becoming president. Opps. Strike two.

We all watched as a parade of prissy, well-paid pollsters with their color-coded graphs smugly assured us that Hillary was a shoe-in because...well, because that was the result they wanted. It’s interesting to note that historically, legitimate unbiased polls have a 90-percent-plus history of accurately predicting election results. Conclusion? The data was skewed by them for the simple reason that they themselves refused to accept the premise that America could possibly choose Trump over Hillary. Their smug arrogance defied all historic standards of media impartiality. Opps! Strike three...yooooo’re out!

I RESPECT THE right to march and dissent. However, who paid for all these trips to the capital? Who could afford to take two to three days off work? How many receive EBT cards and assistance but can afford to make the trip to march? Just wondering.

THE FIRST COMMENT made by President Trump’s press secretary was a comment disputing the crowd size for Trump’s inauguration. It sounded like something I would expect to hear from North Korea.

I AM CONSERVATIVE on some things and liberal on others. I cannot for the life of me, however, see how my Republican friends can justify the horrible things Trump says to people. He attacks anyone who disagrees with him.

GO AHEAD AND go to Flint and save a few pennies a gallon. What you might be saving when you buy gas in Fenton is a few pennies a gallon. LISTENING TO what Ashley Judd and Madonna said the other day was sickening. Madonna was actually reading off a script and Judd seemed like she was on something talking about swastikas and slavery. Has the world really gone as mad as this?

I hope the struggling Americans who were demonized by the CFR (and meaningless) fact that Hillary won the popular vote. Most were simply silent, likely wondering how they could have made such fools of themselves.

To recap, intentional inaccuracies, manufactured drama, blatant bias, obvious outrageous opinions disguised as facts pretty much sums up the mainstream media’s 2017 election legacy. And a weary nation appears to have recognized their criminally-misrepresented betrayal of their trust.

This barefaced betrayal of us, as well as a blatant disregard for their revered code of ethics, does not bode well for them in the future.

Who’s better at directions – men or women?

Your brain and behavior are biggest factors in how well you can navigate from Point A to B

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Do you remember family vacations in your old station wagon when your mom was flipping the pages of the AAA TripTik, helping your dad navigate their way on the road to somewhere? Those days are mostly gone, thanks to GPS, MapQuest and Google Maps. But what if you didn’t have these navigational tools and had to rely on your own sense of direction and the world around you?

Some people would certainly fare better than others.

“Pat has an amazing sense of direction; me, not so much,” said Ted Goupil of Fenton Township. “She used to do all the hour tour mapping for her real estate office each week. She’d take all the addresses of the homes to view each week, then map out the shortest and most direct routes for the caravan of agents to follow. She would then lead the caravan.”

“She operates on an east-west-north-south system, instead of left-right, when she gives people directions,” he added. “Most often, they have no idea what she’s talking about.”

A person’s sense of direction is actually a complex mix of external cues and the way the brain works, according to medicaldaily.com.

Our sense of navigation is located in the same region of the brain that is responsible for maintaining memory. While memory is intertwined with our sense of direction, it’s not the whole picture.

All mammals have at least some innate directional abilities from birth, according to brainscapes.com. Much like our brains are wired from before birth to understand the sounds we hear, our brains are pre-wired to learn to speak, our brains are wired from before birth to understand the sounds we hear, our brains are pre-wired to learn to speak, our brains are wired from before birth to understand the sounds we hear, our brains are pre-wired to learn to speak, our brains are wired from before birth to understand the sounds we hear, our brains are pre-wired to learn to speak, our brains are wired from before birth to understand the sounds we hear, our brains are pre-wired to learn to speak.

We have three types of cells in the hippocampus of our brains that help us instinctively understand where we are in relation to the rest of the world, and that gives us our sense of direction.

Who’s a better navigator – a man or woman?

Many studies show that on the average, men outpace women at spatial processing, which appears to lead to slightly better navigation skills. However, it appears that the gender differences in navigational skills seem to have more to do with behavior and brain differences than hormones, according to medicaldaily.com.

Some of the differences seem to arise from our ancient past. Men used to be hunters and women were gatherers; therefore, their brains evolved differently. In simple terms, one researcher put it: “Women are faster at finding things in the house, and men are faster at finding the house.”

Obviously, there are exceptions to every rule — just talk to Ted Goupil. “Pat’s uncanny about knowing which direction we are traveling, and she’s always right. She is my GPS.”

Use it or lose it

Like most skills, directional awareness improves with use and decays with non-use. It happens much faster than most people realize, according to brainscapes.com.

Studies indicate that sense of direction is hindered in the short-term after just a few hours of using GPS. In addition to a simple lack of paying attention due to the automatic direction, it’s also because a person’s not using their innate directional instincts.

“I used to drive to different states without maps or anything,” said Times Sports Editor David Troppeens of Fenton. “But as I’ve gotten older, I’ve gotten worse, worse and worse. I think I probably went from the top 5 percent in terms of sense of direction to about the bottom 5 percent.”

Hewitt Judson of Fenton Township prides himself on being good at giving directions. In fact, so much so that his daughters, Jennifer Judson Wright and Julie Jo Phillips, always call him to ask for directions. “They call me their ‘GPS’” Grandpa Positioning System,” said Judson.

“Seriously the truth,” said Wright. “Dad knows where every high school gym is in the state of Michigan and much, much more.”

Phillips added that she would call her dad when lost. Judson would respond by saying, “Alright, tell me where you’re trying to be and what you’re looking at right now.”

How to improve your sense of direction

• Create a mental map
• Review a map of your proposed route before heading out, and even trace it with your finger. It will help provide context for your route. Take note of landmarks, like bodies of water, stores and streets that will help visually guide you.

• Upon arrival, review the map and the route you took to reinforce the memory of how you got there.

• Be mindful of place
• Stop and enjoy the scenery. Set your phone to vibrate every 15 minutes to remind you to note where you are. Take notes and comment about what you see. This will help orient you and strengthen connections in your brain about where you are and have been.

• Try not to get stressed
• Stress will make it more likely you become disoriented and confused.

• Put the technology away
• GPS devices or apps on smartphones can be crutches that hinder the development of a better sense of direction. While they may help navigate in unfamiliar places, they can make it challenging to learn on your own. Paper maps offer a better overview of where you are headed than small screens of smartphones.

• Take different routes to the same place
• This will increase your awareness of how going in different directions can help you get to the same destination.

• This will lead to a greater awareness of where you are in relation to streets, buildings and landmarks.

Clara’s Hope works to build strong families

Private organization headquartered in Fenton supports local foster and adoptive families

By Sally Rummel

Shanon and Steve White of Argente Township adopted their four oldest children at about the same time they were told they wouldn’t be able to have children. At about the same time, Township adopted their four oldest children at about the same time they tine Township adopted their four oldest children at about the same time they knew who had adopted them.

“We were the only ones we knew who were totally on our own,” said Shanon. “We didn’t have the time or the resources. We focus on the whole family. Most people who adopt find that the rest of the family gets kind of left out. We address issues before they come up. We want to help prevent crisis.”

Clara’s Hope was founded after the Kromers adopted Clara, born with a terminal condition, hydranencephaly, where the brain’s cerebral hemispheres are absent to varying degrees and filed with cerebrospinal fluid. “We were chosen to be her family,” said Tami. “We had the opportunity to experience pure love with her. She passed away at 8 months, 8 days. She taught a community what love looks like. We are here to share that vision and give more children a chance at hope. She’s our ‘why.’”

Clara’s Hope is privately funded and works directly with about 25 to 30 families. They pride themselves on working through community resources, including schools and local families. Fifth-graders at State Road Elementary School in Fenton work on fundraisers and write letters of support to families. Local students support the “Socktober” event that provides the bulk of socks and underwear provided for foster care bags that go to all foster care agencies in Livingston and Genesee counties. “They are handed out when children enter foster care,” said Tami. Clara’s Hope will be raising money through their second annual Silent Auction on Friday, Feb. 3 at 6:30 p.m. at The Freedom Center.

“Community building community — that’s how we build families,” said Tami.

2. ½ cup flour
3. ⅛ tsp. salt
4. ⅛ tsp. pepper
5. ⅛ tsp. soda
6. ⅛ c. cooking oil
7. ½ tsp. sugar

Brown the groundhog in hot oil in the skillet, and sprinkle with sugar. Reduce heat, add 1-½ cup water. Cover, simmer for about 30 minutes or until tender. Remove cover; let cook for an additional 10 minutes.

Here’s another one — Baked Groundhog. You’ll need:

1. Ground Hog
2. Spicewood branches
3. Salt, pepper to taste
4. Flour
5. Bacon grease or ½ cup shortening

Dress and cut the groundhog. Bring water to a boil on the stove, and then place the groundhog in boiling water. Break spicewood branches, and put into the pot. Continue boiling until groundhog is tender. Remove groundhog from pot. Season with salt and pepper, then roll in flour and bacon grease. Put in oven and bake until golden brown.

Fenton police received an “unlawful entry” report on Jan. 20. A 23-year-old man told police that at approximately 9 p.m. he heard something at the side door of his garage and then saw an unknown man standing in his kitchen. The resident said the intruder, described as a white male, in his 60s, with silver hair and wearing a red flannel shirt and cowboy hat, walked in asking “Are you ready to go?” When the intruder saw the resident he appeared to be confused and quickly left the home on Whisperswood Trail. Police do not think the intruder had criminal intent, but rather chose the wrong home to walk into.

SMASH AND GRAB

Fenton police are investigating a larceny complaint, which occurred between 10 and 11:10 p.m. on Jan. 20 in a parking lot of a restaurant in the 700 block of Torrey Road. Lt. Jason Slater said a 28-year-old Howell woman returned to her locked Chevy Sonic in the parking lot and noticed that someone had smashed the right passenger window. Her $250 Dooney & Bourke purse containing cash and personal belongings, which had been on the floor, was missing. Police are working with the business to review the surveillance video footage to identify the thief.

$441 SHOPPING SPREE

Fenton police are investigating a retail fraud from a store on Owen Road at 11 a.m. on Jan. 20. A man, later identified as a 49-year-old Highland resident, and an unidentified woman, entered the store together. An employee told police that they observed the woman place several items in the cart, abandon the cart and then exit the store alone. The man stayed with the cart and added additional items. He then pushed the cart out of the store without paying. The man told police that he needed the items but he had no means of paying for the $441 worth of merchandise. He was arrested for retail fraud and has an April 3 court hearing. He did not reveal the identity of the woman.

JUST A SUGGESTION to the Times. How about putting all of the political Hot lines in their own area. I am so beyond sick of reading what Obama lovers and Trump lovers are complaining about. People are out of control with their habits — on both sides. Lighten up people.

I AM THANKFUL that we finally have a president that is putting Americans’ safety and security above foreigners’ interests and that the common senseless are protesting.

smoking-related diseases each year, and that nearly one in 10 Michigan youth alive today will die from smoking-related diseases.

Tobacco use can cause disease in nearly all organ systems and is responsible for 87 percent of lung cancer deaths, 79 percent of all COPD (chronic obstructive pulmonary disorder) deaths, and 32 percent of coronary heart disease deaths.

Health officials claim that every year, smoking costs Michigan nearly $94 billion in direct health-care expenses and lost productivity. A 2014 Genesee County Health Needs Assessment shows that nearly 95 percent of smokers began the habit before age 21. Shapiro said “Smoking is certainly a public health issue and I appreciate the intent of this change.”

Shapiro said he abstained from voting because he introduced a friendly amendment, taking the age restriction from the ordinance and making it a May 2 ballot referendum.

On the Board of Commissioners making the final decision, Shapiro said, “I don’t think it’s the prerogative of nine county commissioners to pass a law of this nature, something which affects a half a million residents of Genesee County.”

“My creative principles show through because I believe in limited government and returning power to the people. If 70 percent of the population supports raising the tobacco purchase age, there should be no problem passing it in a referendum vote.”

Shapiro said heroin is illegal in Genesee County, cocaine is illegal in Genesee County, methamphetamine use is illegal in Genesee County — these are the more prevalent problems to be addressing.

“If passed, this new law would not make it illegal for someone 18, 19 or 21 to smoke cigarettes in Genesee County,” Shapiro said. “There’s nothing to stop a 21-year-old guy from giving his 19-year-old brother cigarettes. Or, for those of us who live within five minutes of two county lines (Livingston and Oakland), what’s to stop someone 18, 19 or 20 years old, from driving over the county line and picking up a carton of cigarettes instead of one pack. Because there’s a carton in the front seat of his car now, he might smoke two packs a day instead of one.”

Shapiro said he will again, on Feb. 14, propose that the matter of raising the tobacco product purchasing age from 18 to 21 on the May 2 ballot.

In August 2016, the city of Ann Arbor became the first city in Michigan to raise the age to purchase tobacco products from 18 to 21 years old. During City Council deliberations it was argued by two of the naysayers that Michigan’s Tobacco Products Tax Act of 1993 prohibits local governments from imposing any new requirement or prohibition pertaining to the sale or licensure of tobacco products for distribution purposes.

Despite that, the council voted 9 to 2 in favor of raising the minimum age to purchase tobacco products to 21. The majority agreed that the risk of any resulting court action would be worth it, and they hope the measure will eventually become state law.

The Muskegon County Board of Commissioners approved a resolution to support “Tobacco 21” at its Dec. 20, 2016 meeting.

neighborhood dog. It killed our first dog. It attacked our dogs on our property, on our fence line several times,” he said.

Gibson made sure to tell the town ship he wasn’t proposing a breed ban.

“When you have a vicious dog like this...the dog needs to be penned up,” he said. His neighbors have an invisible fence, but Gibson said they do not always stop dogs from leaving the yard because those batteries run out in the collar.

Argentine police have been involved, as well as Genesee County Animal Control (GCAC).

“We have a gap,” Gibson said. Without a vicious dog ordinance, there’s not much authorities can do even though they’ve documented this long history of violence with the neighbor’s dog.

“Really, we don’t feel safe. Our other neighbors feel the same way.”

Gibson said. “Without a vicious dog ordinance here, there’s not much that can be done.”

He suggested adopting an ordinance other townships use that have been tested and won in court.

“I think it’s a very reasonable approach. I think it fills a gap that is very much needed in our township. To protect our animals, to protect our children and it protects the owner’s rights as a dog owner.”

“Sister Norm Schmidt said they have a dog ordinance, but it does not cover vicious dogs. He asked Attorney David Lattie if he could look at other ordinances adopted by townships and draft some language. Latti said he could have something written for the next meeting.

The city of Fenton has a vicious dog ordinance. A “vicious animal” is defined as “any animal that attacks, bites, or injures human beings or domesticated animals without adequate provocation, or which because of temperament, conditioning, or training, has a known propensity to attack, bite, or injure human beings or domesticated animals,” according to the city of Fenton.

The ordinance states that no owner shall permit any vicious dog to be unconfined unless securely muzzled and led by a leash and under the control of some person over the age of 12.

come up with $200,000.

Investigators with the Genesee County Sheriff’s Office claim Tubbs collected $150,000 from an Atlas Township couple for a real estate transaction, but kept the money for himself.

Tubbs, who worked for the former Century 21 Park Place in Fenton, was charged with taking money under false pretenses, according to Genesee County court records. He was originally arrested on Aug. 26, 2015.

During a press conference in March 2016, Genesee County Sheriff Robert Pickell said, “He does not have a drug problem. It doesn’t appear that he has an alcohol problem. He just uses it to live on. He drives nice cars, lives with his parents. “The purchase was never completed and they never closed on the residence,” he added. “The residence was eventually purchased by another investment firm.”

On Aug. 19, 2016, during a pre-trial hearing, Tubbs entered into a plea agreement. He pleaded no contest as charged and requested a deferred sentence in order to allow him to pay restitution in full.

According to the plea agreement, the prosecutor agreed to reduce the charge to a misdemeanor of larceny $200 to $1,000. Sentencing was originally set for Jan. 9, then adjourned to Jan. 26.

On Jan. 26, Tubbs was led from the courtroom in handcuffs, according to Fox 46 News. He will remain there until he comes up with the money.

Tubbs said his father, Jim Tubbs, also a real estate agent, will sell some property to come up with the money.

If he does not do so by Feb. 10, the next scheduled sentencing date, Judge Geoffrey Neithercut could sentence him to prison.
Money

More than 50 years ago, the Beatles’ song ‘Money (That’s What I Want)’ told us that money was the most important thing in life and everything else was secondary.

Most people would generally agree that money is important, but also recognize that there are other things that are at least of equal importance.

Remember too another Beatles song ‘All You Need Is Love’.

Getting back to the topic of money, the reality is that to live we do need it and the law has recognized this fact for centuries.

The following is the briefest of primers on our monetary system.

In the United States, currency and coinage is the responsibility of the United States Treasury. The Department was created by an Act of Congress on September 2, 1789.

The first Secretary of the Treasury was Alexander Hamilton, who is widely considered to be the founder of our nation’s financial system.

There have been numerous types of currency and coins printed and minted over time many of which are collector’s items.

Until 1933, the United States was on what was called the ‘gold standard.’ This allowed certain currency to be traded in for gold.

There was also a silver standard from 1818 to 1964, which allowed silver certificate currency to be traded in for silver coins and ultimately silver bullion.

Now the value of the dollar fluctuates depending on a number of world economic factors.

As to coins, numerous changes have been implemented with the precious metals gold and silver no longer being exclusively used for certain coins. In 1969, a type of ‘cladding’ was introduced for dollars, half dollars, quarters and dimes.

In 1982, pennies went from being all copper to a zinc center with a copper coating. Nickels are still made out of nickel.

Over the years our money has had various nicknames including ‘greenbacks’ for the green color on the backs of the bills, ‘2 bits’ for a quarter, and ‘sawback’ for a $10 bill based on the Roman numeral for 10.

Everyone has opinions on money. Noted poet and author Carl Sandburg once told us that, ‘Money is power, freedom, a cushion, the root of all evil, the sum of blessings.’ I defer to Mr. Sandburg for the final words on the topic.

Fenton has its own 911 dispatch center. Its 911 dispatch operational cost in 2015 was $278,989, according to Aro. The sum of $135,196 was received in surcharge revenue and the balance of $141,800 was funded through the city’s general fund.

The proposed surcharge increase would result in $67,000 more in 911 surcharge revenue for the city, Aro said.

Some commissioners supported placing the matter on the ballot during an election later in the year. They believe that to save money, the ballot question should be posed during a regular election.

County Commissioner Drew Shapiro (District 6) said it needs to be done in May. Once a year on May 15, the phone companies report to the state of Michigan. If the matter of a surcharge fee increase were to wait until later in the year, the county would have to wait another entire year to collect the much needed funds.

“I’m frustrated with the trend of government institutions to be pennywise and pound foolish,” said Shapiro of waiting. “People are tripping over dollars to save pennies. “One of my campaign promises was to be a strong voice for southern Genesee County residents who pay more in tax dollars than the services they receive.”

Shapiro said the phone company pays the state and the state cuts a check to the Genesee County 911 Consortium, which then distributes the appropriate amount of funds to local communities.

The city of Fenton is charged a 20-percent “administrative fee” to the 911 consortium. “Every other community in the county pays 10 percent,” Shapiro said. “We are paying more than anyone else,” said Shapiro. “I support the surcharge increase but that 20 percent Fenton is paying needs to get down to 10 percent.”

Doing so will generate another $30,000 for the city of Fenton, which according to Shapiro could go a long way — such as paying for another part-time dispatcher, for example.

Shapiro was successful on Monday, Jan. 30 to be named to the 911 Consortium as an executive member and voting member.

In the event of a successful vote on May 2, collection of the additional funds will begin in November.

“I personally would be willing to pay 10 times the amount being asked if it means giving our police and firefighters everything they need to get the job done,” said Shapiro. “Sixty-two cents is an extremely small price to pay.”

About the surcharge

The Genesee County Board of Commissioners, by voter approval and state law, can vote to raise the local 911 surcharge to $3 per device per month. Emergency dispatch centers in Michigan are funded by a surcharge paid by cell phone users for each device, which is collected by cell phone providers. The surcharge is then returned to the emergency dispatch centers of each user on a county-to-county basis. The surcharge from Genesee County cell phone users is returned to Genesee County. That revenue is then divided proportionally, based on population, between the Genesee Central Communication Consortium and Fenton. Fenton receives 2.76 percent of the Genesee County 911 surcharge revenue collected.

Lake Fenton wrestlers capture Saline tournament title

By David Troppens
droppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

The Lake Fenton varsity wrestling team gave up three voids at the Saline Invitational, but the team still found a way to keep on winning.

The Blue Devils went 5-0 at the tournament title. Lake Fenton defeated Howell 55-18, Jackson Northwest 36-35, Linden 51-27, Kearsley 38-33 and Decatur 36-35. The Northwest contest went to the final match, earning the team victory with a Hunter Corcoran pinfall. Decatur is ranked fourth in Division 4. The Blue Devils are ranked in Division 3. Linden finished 1-4 at the meet.

“The kids wrestled great the whole day despite giving up three voids,” Lake Fenton varsity wrestling coach Vance Corcoran said. “We wrestled Division 1 and Division 2 teams with full lineups and Decatur was ranked fourth in the state. The kids do have in our lineup are wrestling very well and not giving up points, and as always ourammers came through, getting the big pins when needed.”

Bronchos avenge previous loss to Linden Eagles

Holly moving up Metro standings after 63-46 win vs. Linden Eagles

Linden — Life on the Holly varsity boys basketball team has been getting a bit better in recent weeks.

After a slow start to the season, a slow start that began with a 59-55 loss at home to the Linden Eagles on Dec. 9, the Bronchos have turned it around. They have now won four straight Metro League games and are 5-4 in Metro action after avenging the early-season loss to Linden, beating the Eagles 63-46 at Linden High School on Friday.

“The first game against them we had no intensity at our place,” Holly senior forward Luke Copley said. “We came here and knew it was a big game to get back to the top three (of the Metro League) again. Things are going good. We have our starting lineup now and we have our chemistry going good.”

Another key during the first game was Holly had to figure out how to make up for the loss of Paris Partee, who is out for the season with an ACL injury. Since then the Bronchos have re-grouped and gradually gotten better.

“The first time we faced them we just lost our starting center, so no one knew what to do and no one had a role. Everybody was lost,” Holly varsity boys basketball coach Lance Baylis said. “During the four-game winning streak we’ve had the same starting lineup and everyone has some good roles.”

“The good news is we have a long way to go. We can still get a lot better… so the silver lining for me is we can still get better.”

Tigers start strong, hold off Dragons, 67-55

By Dale M. Smith
droppens@tctimes.com

Swartz Creek — What was it that famous American philosopher once said, “It ain’t over til’ it’s over?” In a game that looked like the visiting Fenton Tigers would be the beneficiary of a running clock early in the second half, the host Swartz Creek Dragons staged a furious comeback but fell short as Fenton held on to win, 67-55.

Fueled by some great defense and hustle, especially from junior Ally Lenz, the Tigers (7-1 in the Metro League and 8-3 overall) led 12-0 early and took a 24-4 lead at the end of the first quarter. Lenz alone had four steals in the first three minutes and finished that first quarter with eight points on the offensive end.

Swartz Creek came out as cold as the icy roads in the parking lot and a frustrated coach, the Dragons’ Adrian Trzchbiatowski, sat all five of her starters in the second quarter. With the Tigers up 33-6 just more than three minutes into the second quarter, the teams essentially cleared their benches giving the Swartz Creek reserves some hope and momentum. But it didn’t work as Fenton led 39-15 at the half.

Fenton held a comfortable lead of 15 or more points for most of the third quarter. After an Emma Evo basket at 5:03 of the third quarter, the Tigers were up 45-26 and looked to be able to cruise to the easy win. But, led by Dragons’ standout, Jacara Thompson, Creek clawed its way back into the game.

Miller eclipses 1,000-point mark; LF still loses to Beecher

Lake Fenton’s Malik Ellison had a huge game, netting 39 points. Meanwhile Jordan Roland and Jalen Terry had 13 points each for the Eagles.

The Blue Devils plan on having a celebration for Miller prior to the game at Lake Fenton High School against Bentley this year. Tip-off is slated 12:22 p.m.

“It’s a great accomplishment for a great player,” Lake Fenton varsity boys basketball coach Jacob Erway said. “Not many players eclipse that mark in their respective careers and I am proud that he was able to do that in a Lake Fenton uniform. Thompson earns a trip to Blue-Grey game

Reid Thompson realizes when you play offensive line, press clippings aren’t going to come around very often.

But during his senior season on Fenton’s offensive line, he’s gotten recognized, and now those press clippings are coming.

Thompson, who recently committed to playing college football at Wayne State University, was one of seven Michigan prep football players who recently competed in the annual Blue-Grey All-American Bowl played at EverBank Field, the home of the National Football League’s Jacksonville Jaguars.

By doing so, he’s become the first Fenton football player to compete in the game.

“As a junior you get awards like All-Metro League and awards like that,” Thompson said. “But it really feels good to be recognized as a lineman, to officially be an All-American. Not only does it reflect on me, but it also reflects on the coaches and the (Fenton) program.”

“I think it’s awesome. Because he had such a good year he was selected to play in the game and given an opportunity to show his talents to everyone watching the game,” Fenton varsity football coach Jeff Szenzke said. “Certainly it’s a positive for the program as well because he’s the first one selected to an all-star game out of Michigan.”

Thompson played on the Grey team, which won the contest 27-7. Prior to the game, the teams had two three-hour practices, a Saturday walk through and then played the game at 1 p.m.

“You had to have good football acumen,” Thompson said. “We had six total hours practice with a four-hour game.”
