Deutschland Besuchend (visiting Germany)

One of the jewels of Europe

Germany features a landscape of lush forests, majestic rivers and mountain ranges, and North Sea beaches. The European country is steeped in rich history. Berlin, its capital, is home to art and nightlife scenes, the Brandenburg Gate and many sites relating to WWII. Munich is known for its Oktoberfest and beer halls, including the 16th-century Hofbräuhaus. Frankfurt, with its skyscrapers, houses the European Central Bank.

From Frankfurt, one will want to travel south to Heidelberg, and the picturesque scenes along the Rhine River. Even further south, in the majestic mountains of Bavaria, there is a wealth of German culture, art, architecture and history. It is, for example, where monasteries have become important and attractive tourist landmarks. There, visitors can enjoy fresh baked bread, handmade cheese and ice cold German beer, brewed and served by monks who don’t utter a word.

These are just a few of the things guests of this friendly European nation may wish to enjoy during their travels.

Germany... At a glance

Location: Germany is located in central Europe. It is positioned in both the northern and eastern hemispheres. Germany is bordered by the countries of Denmark, Poland, Czech Republic, Austria, Switzerland, France, Luxembourg, Belgium and Netherlands, and by the Baltic Sea and North Sea.

Size: Germany is 137,847 square miles, according to travelersdigest.com. It is just under the same size as the state of Montana.

Population: 80.68 million

Religion: Christianity. About 65 percent to 70 percent of the population are followers of the Christian religion in Germany. They are almost evenly split between the mainstream denominations of Lutheran-Protestantism and Calvinism united in the EKD (Evangelical Church in Germany) and the Roman Catholic Church.

FAREFARE

Airfare from Detroit Metropolitan Airport to Frankfurt International Airport will cost about $1,071. Fares vary throughout the year, check with your travel agent for the best times of year to travel.

HOTELS

Whatever your destination or budget might be, there’s a huge choice of hotels to choose from in Germany. Ranging from low cost budget hotels to some of the world’s best luxury hotels, Germany has it all. Some hotels are housed...
GERMANY

CURRENCY/CREDIT CARDS

The Euro is currency used in Germany. One Euro is equivalent to $1.05 in U.S. dollars, according to x-rates.com. According to justlanded.com, Germany is unusual in that it has a relatively low level of credit card usage compared to other European countries, with many people preferring to pay in cash.

GERENTS/PHRASES

More than 80 percent of Germans under 60 who grew up in West Germany (before reunification) will have had at least five years of English in school. But, most of them hardly ever used it again after they got out of school, mainly because they don’t have to. In larger cities, however, tourists find more English speakers than in the countryside. Older people have to. In the countryside, tourists find more English speakers than in the U.S. However, there are fewer signs. Gasoline costs twice the U.S. rate; fuel tax is high. Most cars feature manual transmission (stick shift). Diesel fuel for cars is available at almost any gas station. When dining in a restaurant you will likely have to seat yourself. A glass of water is not automatic, you have to order it. Soft drinks are usually served without ice. The tip is given directly to the server. Credit cards are not always accepted. Sharing a table (family style) is common when a restaurant is crowded. Asking to take leftovers home is less common than in the U.S. When shopping, credit card acceptance is more limited. Shopping hours are much more limited; no shopping on Sunday. Customer service can be poor. Returns are allowed only for a defective product. Few businesses have a toll-free number. You will have to pay 14 Euro cents a minute to call them. Specially shops are more common than discount stores. Alcoholic beverages are served in more places in Germany than in U.S. The drinking age is 16 (18 for beer and wine). McDonald’s serves beer and wine. They are crunch and best with sour cream or applesauce. German meatloaf (rindsrouladen) is a common beef dish throughout Germany. It is thin slices of beef wrapped around bacon and onion. Braised red cabbage (Rotkohl) is often the main dish served on the outside, unlike their U.S. counterparts.

FOODS

• Schnitzel, which is breaded and fried meat. There is chicken and pork schnitzel, but veal is the most common and best option.
• Apple Strudel (apfelstrudel) features a flaky crust, warm apple filling and powdered sugar, all of which is bathed in vanilla ice cream or sauce.
• Potato salad ( Kartoffelsalat). This German potato salad is made with vinegar and mustard and is a must side dish for schnitzel.
• Large soft pretzels (brezel) are sold in every bakery around the country. They are super soft on the inside and crispy on the outside, unlike their U.S. counterparts.

CULTURAL DIFFERENCES

According to german-way.com, there are a few things to know when driving in Germany. First, the driver coming from the right has the right of way and there are fewer signs. Gasoline costs twice the U.S. rate; fuel tax is high. Most cars feature manual transmission (stick shift). Diesel fuel for cars is available at almost any gas station. Spring Break...on a Budget

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Not everyone goes to Disney World or on a cruise during spring break from school. This year, spring break falls on Monday, April 3 through Friday, April 7 for all Genesee County schools, so there’s still plenty of time to plan some fun activities that are closer to home.

Here are a few ideas to get started in making your own family mini-getaway plans:

Frankenmuth
Just 45 minutes from Fenton, you can have a weekend’s worth of fun even during the week when you’re on vacation from school. Start first by making plans to visit Zehnder’s Splash Village Hotel & Waterpark, with more than 50,000 square feet of aquatic fun. Enjoy strolling down the streets of Frankenmuth, visiting old-fashioned candy stores, retail shops and more. After the kids work up an appetite, enjoy a traditional chicken dinner at Bavarian Inn or Zehnder’s or check out pasta-stuffed pizza and other specialties at Tiffany’s.

Ann Arbor
Only 40 minutes from Fenton, you’ll find a vibrant college atmosphere at University of Michigan and an appreciation for the arts. If you’re heading there with kids, check out the Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum, with more than 250 interactive exhibits. Spend a couple of hours at Dominoes Petting Farm and explore the downtown area. Stop at famous Zingerman’s Deli in Kerry Town for a true “foodie” experience. Your kids will love their famous macaroni and cheese. Ann Arbor is also home to one of the largest university art museums in the U.S., the University of Michigan Museum of Art.

Grand Rapids
About two hours from Fenton, Grand Rapids is an ideal destination for families looking for a combination of culture and recreation. Stop by Frederick Meijer Gardens and Sculpture Park and its conservatory, featuring more than 6,000 butterflies. Another must-see for families is the Grand Rapids Children’s Museum. For kid-friendly food and fun, head to the Twisted Rooster for macaroni and cheese and other local favorites.

Detroit
The largest city in Michigan is just an hour away, and full of attractions for kids and adults. The Detroit Zoo, home to the new Polk Penguin Conservation Center, is home to more than 3,300 animals and also has an amazing Butterfly Garden and Arctic Ring of Life — North America’s largest polar bear exhibit. If the weather is cooperative, you can take a family bike ride along the Detroit River, renting bikes from Wheelhouse Detroit. After exploring the riverfront, head to American Coney Island, the landmark “home of the original Coney Dog” since 1917. Other family destinations include the Eastern Market, the Motown Museum, the Detroit Institute of Arts, etc. You can finish your spring break with a visit to Comerica Park for the Detroit Tigers home opener on April 7 vs. the Red Sox at 1:10 p.m.

Other spring break ideas:
• Indoor water parks at Great Wolf Lodge in Traverse City, Avalanche Bay Indoor Waterpark at Boyne Mountain Resort, Soaring Eagle Waterpark and Hotel in Mt. Pleasant.
• The Air Zoo in Portage, an hour south of Grand Rapids, is an indoor museum/amusement park with rare and historic aircraft, exhibits, interactive activities, flight simulators, thrill rides, kiddie rides and more.
• The Toledo Zoo & Aquarium, named the Best Zoo in the U.S. by USA Today, is just one and a half hours away from Fenton, and well worth the drive. There are also museums and the Toledo Botanicals to catch your attention while there.

With spring on the way, it’s time to update your home with a few new accents that will take your living spaces to new heights this year. These are a few of the trends that House Beautiful has gathered from the thousands of top Pinterest “pins.”

Move over, gray and beige — it’s navy’s turn in 2017

Whether you throw navy accent pillows around your couch or upholster it with a new fabric, navy is the new go-to neutral for 2017. You also can paint an accent wall this sophisticated hue.

However you use it, navy is the new face of modern design, adds elledecor.com.

Copper is the new metal of choice

Brushed nickel and gold brass are lessening their shine this year as copper lends a warm, rich tone to your home. It’s the metal of choice in home décor this year, from décor accents to lighting, bath fixtures, kitchen appliances and more.

Mixed metallic
Mix together warm and cool metals like bronze, silver, copper and rose for a rustic, eclectic look. Mixing metals is all the rage in 2017.

Matte finish is in for kitchen appliances
This new look for your kitchen is bold without being as “in your face” as shiny surfaces like stainless steel. Matte finishes can add a layer of depth to the overall composition of your kitchen.

Marble is in
Marble has become a huge trend, not just in countertops and tile, but all areas of home décor — from wallpaper to carpet and fabrics.

Add an element of nature
Amidst the chaos of life, people are finding comfort in nature. Simple touches, woodsy accents, indoor plants, the emphasis on a natural palette, organic silhouettes and sustainable materials are all part of this look.

The tropical look is expanding, too, including wallpaper with lemon branches, botanical sketches of orange trees, etc. Complimenting this trend are colors like kiwi, citron and chartreuse.

Add new accessories to your kitchen
Modern bar stools will add a totally new vibe to your kitchen. Consider adding a full wall of tile, rather than just a backsplash. For another new look, add hexagonal tiles to upgrade the old subway tile look.

White is still the most popular color for today’s kitchen, adding wood accents to keep the look warm.

Get that ‘Fixer Upper’ look from Chip and Joanna Gaines’ hit HGTV show
Vintage mirrors, maps, oversized clocks, quote art, object art, shiplap walls, mantels, cozy fireplaces, textured rugs are just a few of the looks that can be put together for a farmhouse trend.

Upholstered headboards
These give your bedroom a boutique-hotel feel, transforming your space into a luxurious retreat. The addition of nail heads can also add a shiny design feature.

Space-efficient furniture
Oversized furniture has given way to a more sophisticated look of furniture that fits its space. Today’s furniture is more ideally scaled to the space or custom-designed to appropriately fit.
Did you know you can dye your leather furniture to match your décor or fix worn spots?

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

What do you do when you are given a purple leather couch?

You use a leather dye and change the color to a rich, warm brown tone that’s more in keeping with the rest of your home décor.

That’s what Jessica Hebda and her mom did, after researching different leather dyes and deciding to try the Rub ‘n’ Restore brand. “It turned out great,” said Hebda.

This leather dye process can totally change the look of your furniture and give it a brand new life, whether you’re looking to change the color or enhance it by getting rid of faded worn spots or creases.

The process is easy, according to Hebda, and she dyed a full-size couch and a leather chair in only one day.

First, you clean off surface dirt with a damp sponge, then you lightly apply layer after layer. “The secret is not to apply the dye too thick or you’ll create creases,” said Hebda, 36, of Linden. “It starts out funky-looking, but it gets better as you put on more layers.”

You can use a hair dryer to dry the leather in between layers, being sure not to set it on too hot of a temperature.

“By the time you’ve done all the cushions, it’s time to start the process of another layer,” said Hebda.

The only part of the process that was challenging for Hebda was to not sit on the couch for three days after dying it. “It doesn’t get on your clothes,” she said. “You just have to be careful not to get it wet.”

“I was really impressed with how it turned out,” she added.
Your bath...your spa

You can make it your own place for relaxation, while increasing your home’s value.

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Your bathroom is your relaxing sanctuary, or at least it should be. If you’re thinking about remodeling your bathroom this year, here are a few trends from HGTV that might help get your bathroom this year, here are a few:

- The spa shower
  - Body sprays, rain showerheads and hand showers can all be part of your plan in your master shower. The master shower is gaining more square footage in the overall bathroom floor plan. Instead of being a stall, the shower is now its own room. Today’s version is completely tiled and often features a bench for sitting and nooks for storing soaps and towels.
  - A practical, functional bath vanity
    - You can gain storage and personal space with a double vanity that has a tall cabinet installed between the two bathroom sinks. Outlets installed inside drawers and doors will mean less clutter on the countertop, and personal care appliances can be plugged in and ready to use.
  - Speaking of vanities, today’s version is more sophisticated and furniture-like with its own design features from sculpted legs to modern paneling.
  - Radiant heating for the tile floor
    - Low energy radiant heat mats warm up specific floor spaces in a bathroom, especially near a tub or shower entrance or where bare feet may be. This technology allows you to pick and choose the spots you heat.
  - A tucked-away toilet
    - Who wants a gaping view of the toilet when walking into a stylish, luxury bathroom? You can easily privatize the toilet in its own space, or use fogged glass, a half-wall or decorative screening.
  - Splashing the wall with subtle color
    - Take the tile from floor to ceiling for a seamless look that’s also easy to clean and maintain. You can make this look affordable by working recycled glass or metallic mosaics into the tile design, using the specialty tiles to accessorize.
  - Pick a vessel sink
    - This stylish sink can be a focal point to your bathroom, an artistic element with function as well as form. You can choose from endless materials, from clear glass to cast stone.
  - A smaller, deep Jacuzzi tub
    - You may opt to expand your shower stall in your master bath and leave a tub option for the family bathroom. If you do want a Jacuzzi in the master bath, opt for a smaller, deeper tub large enough for two people, placed against a wall or next to a shower room so it doesn’t take up too much space. Make sure your tub has heated self-cleaning water jets, so the bath won’t get cooled down too quickly from shooting air into the water.
  - Jazzed up lighting
    - Go ahead and indulge yourself with a chandelier above the soaker tub. Amp up the ambiance in your bath with backlighting around a mirror. Toe-kick lighting underneath cabinets will serve as a handy nighttime light. Do install a dimmer on your central ambient light.
  - Think accessible
    - Design your bathroom so it’s not only aesthetically pleasing, but highly functional. Think about a curb-less shower, a shower bench, grab bars that can also hold towels, slip-resistant tile and proper lighting.
  - Save water
    - You can save water and still get a powerful flush with today’s water-conserving commodes, available in a range of prices from economy to luxe (with bidet functionality, a plus).

Bathroom remodeling by the numbers:

- $16,421 — average cost for bathroom remodel for people ages 18 to 37.
- Up to 80 percent — this is your return on investment for remodeling a bathroom, which also provides an increased home resale value.
- $11,364 — average bathroom remodel cost in 2016.
- 31 percent of homeowners in a survey paid more than $30,000 for a bathroom remodel.

Want to ‘get away’ from it all?

Your family can enjoy a ‘getaway room’ to relax, entertain or enjoy a hobby

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

One of the hottest trends in home construction now is a “getaway room,” a dedicated space in your home designed to feel like a complete and total escape for your entire family.

Unlike a man cave or a she-shed, a getaway room is for the whole family to enjoy together. How do you find space for one in your home?

Perhaps you have an isolated media room, an upstairs bonus room, a screened porch or a breakfast nook. You can use any space that is tucked off to the side, so it feels like a separate retreat, but is still attached to the main house.

How you want to use this “getaway” space depends on your own family’s dynamics and interests.

If you are a family of book lovers, maybe you’d all enjoy a library retreat lined with book shelves, comfortable seating and large picture windows.

Young families may want a game room, where there’s enough space to set up train sets, large games or puzzles.

People who enjoy entertaining might like an elaborate wine bar with seating for guests.

For a more solo experience, you might want to designate a space to savor a glass of wine amidst softer lighting and plush pillows.

One common denominator of these spaces is the ability to unplug and disconnect from your everyday technology. Family members are leaving their cell phones at the door, and connecting with each other instead of online.

No matter what your family’s passion is, your getaway room is designed to recharge your batteries and bring your family closer together.
Before you remodel, check on need for permits

You may be fined, have to re-do the work or have trouble selling your home in the future if you do a lot of entertaining, a double island also can provide the homeowner with an opportunity to make different they look, both islands can work together to provide plenty of space for food preparation and serving. In a real workhorse kitchen, two islands can create a clear division of space and order — one for eating and gathering and the other for food preparation. A double island can be a win-win for busy cooks who love to be surrounded by family and friends gathering in the kitchen.

When it comes to organizing valuable kitchen space, two islands may be better than one. According to bhg.com, some kitchens use one island outfitted with a single basin sink for a quick cleanup, while the other serves as a bistro table and is set apart from the kitchen’s main work area. If you do a lot of entertaining, a double island may provide you with needed surface area for setting out equipment, assembling ingredients and plating food. Two sinks make for quick cleanup, especially if you have a willing partner to help.

Sometimes, a double island configuration can keep traffic flowing smoothly in a large kitchen, instead of a single large island, which can block the flow. If you’re extra creative, you can connect the two spaces with a drop leaf that can control traffic flow and provide extra buffet serving space or work space.

A double island also can provide the homeowner with an opportunity to make a unique style statement by using slightly different finishes. No matter how different they look, both islands can work together to provide plenty of space for food preparation and serving.

Is your kitchen ready for a double island?

When watching HGTV kitchen ideas, you’ve probably noticed that two islands are becoming a popular new kitchen feature.

Is your kitchen ready for this kind of makeover? According to bhg.com, some kitchens use one island outfitted with a single basin sink for a quick cleanup, while the other serves as a bistro table and is set apart from the kitchen’s main work area.

Other noteworthy kitchen trends in 2017, noted by HGT.com:

• Soft gray is beginning to break white’s spot as the top kitchen color.
• The stunning contrast of a black and white kitchen palette continues to be strong.
• Combining cabinet colors is still a popular trend this year.
• Function meets style with hydraulic easy-close doors, storage options like multi-tiered drawers and automated features like a hands-free faucet.
• Sinks and backsplashes become a focal point for a splash of color, especially in a neutral kitchen.
• Mixing countertop materials like wood and marble adds visual interest.
• Farmhouse flair is still popular, especially the look of an apron-front cast iron sink.
• Homeowners are integrating their kitchen design with the rest of the house.
• Strong architectural lines make a kitchen stand out, with as simple an addition as a 360-degree swivel-type faucet.
Paint your way into spring with 2017 colors

Paint companies roll out their top color palettes for the year to provide new décor inspiration

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Many of your spring home interior projects will likely include a fresh coat of paint.

For a bit of inspiration on new paint colors this year, a good place to start is Pantone Color Institute’s Color of the Year, which this year is “Greenery.”

This color and its many pairings and color combinations will be found in this spring’s fashions, beauty products, home furnishings and décor.

This fresh, zesty yellow-green shade is called “nature’s neutral” by Pantone, which reports and forecasts a global view of color trends across current and future seasons. It’s a color snapshot of what is seen taking place in the world’s global culture.

According to Pantone, Greenery is a palette of nature’s greens, foliage and the lushness of the great outdoors. It pairs easily with neutrals, brights, deeper shades, pastels, metallics and the enduring presence of Pantone’s Color of the Year in 2016, Rose Quartz and Serenity.

Sherwin-Williams Paints, with a store in Fenton, has announced its 2017 Color of the Year, which is Poised Taupe SW 6039.

This color creates a cozy lifestyle and brings a sense of sanctuary into our homes, according to sherwin-williams.com. Earthy brown combines with conservative gray for a weathered, woody and complex neutral.

In other colors, sophisticated hues are expected to take center stage, according to Behr Paints, which each year presents 20 different limited edition color trends. For 2017, Behr Paints has divided its color selections into three palettes – Confident, Composed and Comfortable.

Creative, social types will be drawn to the Confident palette, defined by dusky blues, spicy reds and lime greens, designed to capture your attention.

The Composed palette’s earthy greens and taupes will be a go-to for traditionalists looking to create a contemporary space.

The Comfortable range is all about pale pastels, characterized by light pinks, blues and yellow that make the smallest spaces pop. Its muted shades are ideal for introverts who want to make their first foray into accent colors.

Benjamin Moore Paints, sold locally at The Stain Shop in Linden, is taking a bold step away from whites, creams and beiges with its 2017 Color of the Year – “Shadow.”

This rich, deep amethyst color shares a palette of 22 colors for pairing with this statement hue, including other jewel tones like ruby and emerald.

For more views of paint colors and videos of matching palettes, visit pantone.com, sherwin-williams.com, behr.com and benjaminmoore.com.

Can spleen rupture without any trauma?

DEAR DR. ROACH:

My husband was admitted to the hospital with a ruptured spleen that bled into his belly. His surgeon repaired it with a coil. He was not in an accident and had no injuries or any bruising anywhere on his body. His doctor had never seen this; he says a ruptured spleen usually is sustained from some sort of accident. My husband is almost 59, and in good health otherwise. How could this happen, and could this happen again? — J.C.

ANSWER:
The spleen removes defective red blood cells from circulation, and it also destroys bacteria and infected cells. In fact, it is in many ways like a big lymph node, responding to infections by activating and enlarging. Although a ruptured spleen is well-described in the literature, I’ve never seen a case like your husband’s either. The last ruptured spleen I saw was a college football player who was simultaneously hit by two opposing players, one on either side, both much larger than he was. Most people with spleen rupture had an enlarged spleen to begin with, from cancer such as leukemia or lymphoma, infection such as EBV (the virus that causes mononucleosis), inflammatory conditions such as pancreatitis or mechanical causes such as pregnancy. A few cases are related to medications, and a few have no identifiable cause for rupture. As far as risk of it happening again, there you have me. I found one paper that says the prognosis is “excellent.” I would have to refer you back to his surgeon. People who have had their spleens removed are at risk for certain infections, and should have a vaccine for pneumococci, a major cause of pneumonia. The vaccine is normally given at age 65. Your husband should speak with his doctor about getting it now (since I don’t know if his spleen is now considered normal).

DEAR DR. ROACH:

I read in your column that for vaginal atrophy (dryness/itching) you suggest that a woman use topical cream instead of estrogen cream. I am 59 years old, and have been using Premarin cream externally for a month with noticeable results. I use a dab every other day. Should I continue to use it even when I don’t have symptoms, or only as needed? If you think non-hormonal cream would be better, could you suggest one? I have tried one, but it didn’t seem to be effective. — A.A.

ANSWER:
I’m sorry I wasn’t clear. “Topical” in this case meant a vaginal estrogen cream, as opposed to estrogen taken by mouth. I would continue using it, since it has been effective. Most women use it twice a week after initial treatment. Non-estrogen creams are fine for many women, but estrogen creams like Premarin usually are more effective. Dryness and itching may be caused by recurring vaginal infections, which are often troubling to women. The booklet explains them and their treatment. Readers can order a copy by writing: Dr. Roach — No. 1203W, 628 Virginia Drive, Orlando, FL 32803. Enclose a check or money order (no cash) for $4.75 U.S./$6 Canada with the recipient’s printed name and address. Please allow four weeks for delivery.
