On Monday, June 12, the Genesee County Board of Commissioners struck down two motions to create a mandatory holding period for strays at Genesee County Animal Control. This comes after outrage broke about a 16-year-old dog named Capone, who was euthanized within three hours of arriving at the shelter. At the Governmental Operations Committee, the board met with GCAC Deputy Director Renea Kennedy where she explained what happened.

The Genesee County Sheriff's Office is continuing its investigation involving a boat that ran over a 12-year-old swimmer on Lake Ponemah in Fenton Township at 8:45 p.m. on Sunday, June 4.

According to the sheriff's office, there were three occupants in the boat and one person wake surfing behind the boat. A 21-year-old man and his 19-year-old girlfriend, both of Swartz Creek, were in the boat with a 22-year-old Fenton Township man. A 39-year-old Fenton Township man was the wake surfer.

Sgt. Thomas Zak said he hopes to submit the case to the prosecutor's office

Local golfer celebrates 99th birthday

■ Annie VanLeuvan:
'I'm like Tiger Woods.
I've had my good days'

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Fenton Twp. — By coincidence, a total of 99 golfers came out Thursday, June 8 to Fenton Farms for a 99-year-old's birthday party.

The golf course's usual Ladies Day League had an added celebration of Annie VanLeuvan of Burton and formerly of Linden, one of their longest returning members, turning 99.

"This course here and the people who run it are just fantastic," she said. "All the ladies are just wonderful out here. Everyone is so helpful. If they see me struggling with my golf bag, they'll help."

After golfing nine holes in the league, everyone had lunch and cake to celebrate her birthday. VanLeuvan has been golfing at the course for 48 years and hasn't missed a year. She was invited out to play by a friend in 1969 and hasn't stopped since.

"I've been here for a long time," she said.

VanLeuvan said she likes the outdoors and the competition that comes with playing golf.

"I'm like Tiger Woods. I've had my good days. I don't care whether I win or lose, I want to play the game. Of course everyone wants to do well," she said, adding that she's playing better this year compared with last year because she had to cope with the death of her husband in 2016. She married him 14 years ago, when she was in her mid-80s.

"I've made a lot of friends over the years. I'm with younger people. Maybe that's why I'm living longer. I don't know anybody my age. I have to be around younger people. I think that makes a lot of difference," she said.

Her stepdaughter Karen Demars, daughter Mona Kosa, and granddaughter Camille Oskey celebrated VanLeuvan's birthday with her. Fenton Farms celebrating her birthday wasn't a surprise.

"They have been giving me a cake for a long time because I'm so old and I keep coming back. They say it's a surprise I keep coming back each year. I think they've been giving me a cake for last 10, 12 years," she said.

"Don't let her tell you she's old," Demars said. "She bought a car last year, a new car. She drives, she plays golf, and if you play Rummy with her she'll beat the pants off you. She has no mercy either."

Demars said VanLeuvan has taught her a lot, including how to play golf.

Pat Wallace, one of her friends, said she would describe VanLeuvan as "an inspiration. That's the best word you can think of, she inspires us all. I think Annie is probably the most positive person I've ever known. She never ever has a negative thought or attitude. I've never heard her complain about anything, not even once."

Christopher White, owner of Fenton Farms said, coincidentally, 99 golfers for the league checked in today. The number of golfers depends on the weather, and on Thursday, it was warm and sunny.

"It's the perfect day for this," he said. White said he really admires this group, which has been golfing since 1957.

"A lot of them are widows and this social network that they've created for themselves is really special. I just overheard a story where someone said 'if it weren't for these girls, I wouldn't have survived cancer.' It's a really cool club and when I get this age I hope I can have something like this to sustain me and keep me going socially," he said.

Movie experience becoming more sophisticated

■ Beer, cocktails and dinner now served at most theaters

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Movies have come a long way from black and white pictures when the price of a ticket was a nickel. Now, a movie night for two at NCG Trillium in Grand Blanc can cost $25, which includes popcorn and drinks.

Movies

and movie theaters have changed drastically since they were first established.

The first movie theater was established on June 19, 1905 in Pittsburgh, according to npr.org. Tickets cost a nickel, but the experience was much different.

More and more theaters are selling beer and full meals to moviegoers. Emagine Entertainment is planning to build a 10-screen theater in Hartland that serves craft beer, wine and cocktails.

The ultimate legacy

An important message to all fathers: Dad, we need you now, more than at any time in history. Your wife needs you. Your sons and daughters need you. And, most of all, society needs you. Good fathers have been the nucleus of strong families and communities since the beginning of time.

Hopefully, the above statement will help encourage all the dads who have had the good sense to reject the dysfunctional rantings of a crazed culture that does its damndest to berate, belittle and devalue them. Those dads who still teach their sons to open doors for women, who demand respect for, and from, their daughters, who stand on principle in the face of adversity and are bastions of courage, conviction and character in a world gone mad.

My father died six years ago. But in my mind he is still the same man I admired all my life. Like most fathers and sons, we had differences, but we never harbored old grudges. I never wondered if he loved me, I knew he did. My father was a rock in my life — someone who was always there for me. Not a day goes by that I don't think about him.

Former Chicago Tribune columnist Bob Greene echoed the thoughts of many sons and daughters when he wrote about watching his father slowly die. "For me," he wrote, "as my father slowly slipped away, the overwhelming feeling was that a safety net was being removed — a safety net that had been there since the day I was born, a safety net I was often unaware of. That's what the best safety nets do — they allow you to forget they're there."

These days not everyone is so fortunate. More than 20 million children in America live in a home without the physical presence of a father. That's a chilling statistic when you consider that children raised in father-absent homes are more than twice as likely to drop out of school, more than twice as likely to be victims of child abuse, are three times as likely to use drugs and three times as likely to end up incarcerated as their peers from traditional, two-parent households. Even more compelling is the fact that abandoning your children is learned behavior that will very likely be repeated by the next generation.

Being a good father is tough — a lot is riding on your shoulders. Little eyes are always watching. And there's no shortcuts. Good fathers are the result of good fathering. Sons of good fathers become good fathers. Daughters of good fathers marry good fathers. Being a good dad is the ultimate legacy to pass on to your children.

If you are blessed enough to have a good father in your life, you should thank him on Father's Day — profusely — because he won't be around forever. Even more importantly, he is the primary reason you are, or will be, a good father also. And your grandsons will be good fathers as well. And on and on it will go.

It's the ultimate legacy to pass on to your children.

To all dads, Happy Father's Day.

IT'S REALLY INTERESTING, the first two Hot lines of this Sunday paper. You guys make up your own crap and then believe it. Kathy Griffin is getting fired just like the clown did? I don't see anything about anyone showing any less disrespect for Trump as you guys did for Obama. As far as women not wanting to get pregnant, I guess we have to castrate every man in the world.

NOT ALL ARABS are Muslim. Recalculate.

CONSERVATIVES HARDLY MAKE any fuss over Obama? I remember hearing a bunch of idiots in front of the post office with a picture of Obama looking like Hitler and swastikas all over it. The Tri-County even ran an article on it.

A HUGE PROBLEM when talking about abortions and pregnancy is that it's seen as the woman's fault every time. Not getting pregnant is stupid advice when women are raped, men poke holes in condoms, and sometimes birth control just fails. It takes two to make a baby.

DO YOU EVEN remember George W. Bush? When he left office the Democrats brought back the auto industry, the housing industry, banking industry, and brought back jobs. They brought back Wall Street. What the hell did Bush do? He drove us in to two wars.

I AGREE, AS a liberal, that CNN is kind of beating a dead horse. However, when I switch over to Fox news network and I go 'oh my God, these guys are just nuts.'

SOME SMALL MISTAKES can be compared to making a wrong turn. You back track, you correct it and you move forward effectively. However, assumptions based on false premise that continue to evolve might take you to a place of no return and of very few options.

ANOTHER MUSLIM TERRORIST attack in London, but our liberal judges say they can't do anything to protect our borders and we have to let them in here. Too bad.

IF DEMOCRATS DON'T use the word 'God' often enough to please you, it's because many voters are weary of the way Republicans play the religion card to get votes. Few things create more anger than using religious beliefs to manipulate voters. Even Christians have differing beliefs.

STOP AND TAKE a long look in the mirror at those fancy clothes? Look out the driveway, the beautiful, shiny SUV. How about the house, the business with the big, bold brick.

HERE WE GO, another terrorist attack in London. When are we going to wake up and realize the Muslim religion is dangerous? That's why we need the travel ban. President Trump was trying to keep us safe and the courts don't want us safe.

CALLING IN REGARDS to your Hot line about Marie Antoinette. She lived in Austria until she was 15. She came to France and married King Louis XVI.

COME ON, ALEC Baldwin and Saturday Night Live. Quit making fun of President Trump. You've run it into the ground.

TO THE PERSON on Lake Ponemah who hit my niece yesterday with their boat, I hope that something really bad happens to you for what you did to her.

TO THE TRUMP supporter concerned about Muslim baby count and gender, get a life.

IN THE LINDEN subdivision, east of Ripley Road and north of Silver Lake Road, signs in the yard say 'drive as if your children live here.' A great deterrent to irresponsible driving, I think.

Natural remedies for some of summer's unpleasantries

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-629-6823

Nothing can ruin some of your happy summer days like feeling "blech!" In order to enjoy all that summer has to offer, you can take a few precautions to make sure you don't waste precious time not feeling well.

Try these natural remedies to alleviate and prevent common summer ailments.

SUNBURN

The first priority is to cool the affected area. Standing under a cool shower for 10 minutes will provide pain relief and prevent the sunburn getting any worse.

Dab cooled chamomile tea gently on affected areas.

Apply the gel from the inside leaves of the aloe vera plant for a cooling and regenerative effect.

Lavender oil can be applied directly to the skin (only a drop or two is needed) to provide healing from sunburn.

Make sure you drink two litres of purified water daily — more if it is hotter than usual or if you are recovering from sunburn or sunstroke.

Limit further exposure to the sun. The skin requires time to heal and regenerate. Use a sunscreen daily.

HEAT RASH

Humidity and heat can create an inflammation known as heat rash, an uncomfortable condition caused by blocked sweat glands. The best way to avoid or reduce its occurrence is to keep as cool as possible, expose the affected area to air and wear light cotton clothing.

Natural remedies to soothe heat rash include:

Mixing one cup of baking soda and four drops of lavender oil and adding this mixture to a tepid bath.

Applying chilled chamomile tea topically to the area.

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Athlete's foot is a fungal infection and a common skin problem that can flare up when feet have been enclosed in hot shoes and are unable to breathe. Treating athlete's foot is simple and most of the remedies are probably already in your pantry. Try:

Soaking your feet in a warm foot bath with a cup of Epsom salts.

A foot bath of apple cider vinegar changes the pH of the skin so the fungus can't grow. After soaking feet, rub the affected areas with undiluted apple cider vinegar.

KITCHENFRAU.COM

Mullein oil is specifically for middle-ear infections and is ideal to use after swimming to avoid further complications.

Garlic is an excellent antibiotic and studies have shown its compounds can kill the fungus that causes athlete's foot. Rub a clove of garlic on the affected area.

Washing your feet daily and wearing open sandals or thongs whenever possible, as well as keeping feet and toes completely dry, will help put an end to athlete's foot.

SWIMMER'S EAR

If you are prone to swimmer's ear, use ear plugs when swimming and avoid complete immersion if possible. Mullein oil is specifically for middle-ear infections and is ideal to use after swimming to avoid further complications. Garlic oil infusion is effective for acute infections.

BEE STINGS

Move away from the stinging or biting insect. Bees will alert other bees, making them more likely to sting.

Remain as calm and quiet as possible. Movement increases the spread of venom in the bloodstream.

If you have been stung by a bee and the stinger is still in the skin, remove the stinger as quickly as possible.

If you have been stung on the arm or leg, lower the limb at the time of the sting to slow the spread of venom. Hours later, if swelling is present, you can elevate the limb to help reduce swelling.

Relieve pain, itching, and swelling by applying an ice pack to a bite or sting for 15 to 20 minutes once an hour for the first six hours. When not using ice, keep a cool, wet cloth on the bite or sting for up to six hours. Always keep a cloth between your skin and the ice pack. Do not apply ice for longer than 15 to 20 minutes at a time. Do not fall asleep with the ice on your skin.

Elevate the area of the bite or sting to decrease swelling.

Try a nonprescription medicine for the relief of itching, redness, and swelling. Be sure to follow the nonprescription medicine precautions.

An antihistamine, such as Benadryl or Chlor-Trimeton, may help relieve itching, redness, and swelling. Don't give antihistamines to your child unless you've checked with the doctor first.

TICK REMOVAL

If you find a tick attached to your skin, there's no need to panic. There are several tick removal devices on the market, but a plain set of fine-tipped tweezers will remove a tick quite effectively.

Use fine-tipped tweezers to grasp the tick as close to the skin's surface as possible.

Pull upward with steady, even pressure. Don't twist or jerk the tick; this can cause the mouth parts to break off and remain in the skin. If this happens, remove the mouth parts with tweezers. If you are unable to remove the mouth easily with clean tweezers, leave it alone and let the skin heal.

After removing the tick, thoroughly clean the bite area and your hands with rubbing alcohol, an iodine scrub, or soap and water.

Dispose of a live tick by submersing it in alcohol, placing it in a sealed bag/container, wrapping it tightly in tape, or flushing it down the toilet. Never crush a tick with your fingers.

Avoid folklore remedies such as "painting" the tick with nail polish or petroleum jelly, or using heat to make the tick detach from the skin. Your goal is to remove the tick as quickly as possible, not wait for it to detach.

Read about poison ivy and remedies in this week's Weekend Edition.

TRAVEL SICKNESS

If you are going on a long car journey and are prone to travel sickness, ginger is your friend. Powdered ginger is easy to transport — add half a teaspoon to tea or another beverage — or you can use fresh ginger; just double the dose. Make sure you have plenty of filtered water on hand and eat small, protein-rich snacks such as mixed nuts or a can of salmon or tuna.

Happy National Flag Day

■ The mighty 'red, white and blue' has been flying high for nearly 250 years

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Today, June 14, is National Flag Day and we celebrate by glorifying our red, white, and blue American flag.

Those who regularly drive down Owen Road or Silver Parkway are privy to seeing the big American flags at auto dealerships and vehicle maintenance shops fly in the breeze. Hundreds of other businesses and homes show their patriotism by hoisting the American symbol high in the sky.

The Continental Congress passed an act establishing an official flag for the nation on June 14, 1777 with a resolution that states, "Resolved, that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

President Harry Truman declared June 14 as Flag Day in 1949 and it has been celebrated ever since. Many historians believe that the flag was designed by New Jersey Congressman Francis Hopkinson and sewn by Betsy Ross, a seamstress in Philadelphia.

Kids learn at a young age that the 13 stripes represent the 13 original colonies, and the 50 stars represent the 50 states of the Union. The colors weren't haphazardly thrown together — red symbolizes hardiness and valor, white symbolizes purity and innocence and blue represents vigilance, perseverance and justice.

The flag has inspired other national icons, like "The Star-Spangled Banner." Poet Francis Scott Key, who has an amateur writer at the time, saw the American flag still flying over Baltimore's Fort McHenry after a British bombardment, and wrote our national anthem on Sept. 14, 1814. The song officially became our anthem in 1931.

Lake Fenton superintendent retiring

■ Popular Wayne Wright calls it quits after 43 gratifying years in education

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Lake Fenton — While seniors at Lake Fenton High School say their goodbyes as graduation passes, the top administrator is saying goodbye as well.

Superintendent Wayne Wright is retiring this summer, after 43 years as an educator. His last day, after working as superintendent at the district for seven years, is June 30.

"I've been fortunate to work for three districts and every one of them has been great," he said. "One of the reasons I've worked so long in my life is because every place I've been at, I've enjoyed working at."

Wright and his wife have lived in the Fenton area for 19 years. Before he came to Lake Fenton, he was the Birch Run superintendent for seven years. For 29 years prior he was a teacher, basketball and baseball coach, and administrator at Montrose. He currently doesn't have any retirement plans.

He said being superintendent at Lake Fenton has been his favorite position. "Lake Fenton is a phenomenal school district. I've really enjoyed myself here," he said. "I'll miss the people and the kids."

Something that sticks out in his mind is how well the students do academically every year. "We look at our state tests and our kids are always scoring at the top in the county. It's phenomenal," he said. Wright had high praises for the parents in the district, as well as school programs like band and sports.

"I've never seen a band like we have here at Lake Fenton. Our sports program is just performing extremely well right now," he said.

Working with the Board of Education has been a high point for him. "The board has only one thing on its mind and that is to do 'what is best for the students at Lake Fenton,'" he said.

Wayne Wright

One thing he's learned in his 43 years as an educator is to not count out troubled kids. "They may be troubled, they may have difficult times in school early on, but don't write them off because I've seen many of these kids be extremely successful afterward," he said.

Lake Fenton School Board President Larry Godlewski said, "Wayne Wright has impressed me since the first day I set foot in the board room six years ago. His passion for student success and willingness to make the necessary decisions has been essential in our success. He is fully committed to his responsibilities and it shows in everything that he is involved in within the district. Lake Fenton will miss him and we wish him the best in his retirement."

The Lake Fenton Board of Education has approved Julie Williams as the interim superintendent starting July 1.

Knock and talk

In neighborhoods all over Michigan people visit and talk with each other on a daily basis at their homes. Indeed it is a common practice for one neighbor to go to another neighbor's home, knock on the door (or ring the doorbell), and then engage in friendly conversation.

Other people or groups go up to these same doors and engage in such things as selling Girl Scout cookies, requesting contributions to various causes, or campaigning for public office.

There are many other examples of these interactions and it is simply an accepted fact of life.

But what of the situation where the police suspect criminal activity at a person's house, knock on the door before dawn asking permission to search the house, permission is granted, and the police find evidence of a crime?

This procedure is commonly known as a "knock and talk" and the question is can the discovered evidence then be used in a criminal prosecution?

The answer to this scenario came on June 1, 2017 in the Michigan Supreme Court cases of People v Frederick and People v Van Doorne.

In these two joined cases, the Kent Area Narcotics Enforcement Team made predawn visits to the defendant's homes at 4 a.m. and 5:30 a.m. respectively.

They knocked on each defendant's door and asked for permission to search for marijuana butter. Consent was given by the defendants and drugs were found in each home.

In a unanimous decision, the court held that the police should not have made their approach at these early predawn hours. The court cited a number of United States Supreme Court cases and recognized an implied license or permission, which is given to everybody to approach homes during reasonable hours.

This license does not extend to predawn hours and, in a case of first impression, the Court found the police were trespassing. Since they were seeking information on illegal drugs, the search was a violation of the Fourth Amendment prohibiting illegal searches and seizures.

Absent a showing at the Circuit Court at a subsequent hearing that the illegality can be set aside, the evidence cannot be used in the criminal cases.

This is an important case under Michigan law and gives guidance to all as to what is and isn't allowed.

"WHY ALL THE HOUSEHOLD DUST?"

I'm Keith Meadows, owner and operator of Power Vac Air Duct Cleaning. For years I've been improving our community's health one family at a time. By now, we've all heard the statistics: 50% of all illness is a direct relation to dirty indoor air and that it's 90 times more polluted than outdoor air. Yet, 90% of the calls that I receive everyday are from people complaining about dust, they tell me they dust the TV on Friday but by Sunday they are pushing the dust out of the way again so they can watch America's Got Talent and none of them know exactly where it's coming from. Well I'm here to tell you that you're not a bad housekeeper. I tell people that by simply having the air ducts cleaned, it will drastically reduce household dust and the reason is your cold air returns. Cold air returns suck in dirty air and over time it builds up until you have the same type of debris that you would find in your vacuum bag. Cold air returns are also the reason new homeowners are experiencing dust. While your drywall was being sanded, your air returns sucked all of the dust through the system. To prove it, go down to your basement and look for the thin sheets of tin nailed between your floor joists, these are your cold air returns now give them a good pounding. You'll see puffs of dust seeping from the edges. That my friends is the reason you have uncontrollable dust issues. This debris cannot be removed without a professional.

Which brings me to my next point - choosing an air duct cleaning company. We have the equipment that is powerful enough to get the job done right, a Power Vac truck. It's the most powerful equipment in the industry, the truck motor actually powers the equipment and it's able to generate 16,000 cfm (cubic feet of air per minute) of vacuum. Most competitors opt for the cheaper, portable equipment attached inside of a van that's only capable of moving 4,000 cfm. To put things into perspective, your furnace moves 2,000 cfm. So basically what's coming out of your register. The power vac trucks we invest in offer quadruple the amount of vacuum than most other companies.

Power Vac is family owned and our crews are trained to arrive on time, work with a smile and respect people and their belongings.

Visit our website CALLPOWERVAC.COM where you can watch a short video on the cleaning process and what to watch out for while price shopping. 248-656-0600.

According to Michelle Thomas, her daughter Cora is recovering at Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor after her leg and foot were struck by the boat's propeller and badly injured. Cora and another 12-year-old girl were swimming on inflatable devices in front of the Lake Ponemah Mobile Home Park where Cora has lived for years.

The girls made it back to shore and Cora's friend rushed to Cora's home to alert her mother of the accident. Emergency responders arrived within minutes and transported Cora to the hospital.

The girls reported that the boat kept going after it struck Cora. They described the boat as a black ski boat with green on the side, and possibly some yellow markings. A boat matching the description, provided by the girls, as well as the boat owner, were eventually located.

On Tuesday, Cora's mother said they have been thrown a curve ball on her daughter's recovery. "Cora has an infectious disease caused by the antibiotics they were giving her for her leg called Clostridium difficile," she said. "It's curable but it's going take 10-14 days before she's better."

"It's like the flu. She's nauseous and has a bad headache."

Thomas said doctors told her that Cora needs another surgery on Tuesday to check on the wounds to see if there is any infection and to see if she will need any skin grafts.

"She's doing the best she can," she said. "I was informed today that she will need two to three more surgeries before this is over."

OBAMA, HILLARY AND the Democrats showed their contempt for our police. They showed their disrespect to our VA system. That is why our U.S. military, our nation's police, and our border patrol guards support President Trump.

THE PARIS CLIMATE Accords was just another bad deal orchestrated by Obama. It was not fair to the U.S. or achievable and it would have contributed to lost jobs, lost GDP, and it would have cost the U.S. $3 trillion over the next few years.

THROUGHOUT THIS WEEK, President Trump is going to propose a multi-trillion dollar program to overhaul the U.S. air traffic control system, to rebuild our roads and railways. However, the obstructionist Democrats will probably try to block all this because they just want more money for welfare, food stamps and Planned Parenthood.

TRUMP IS AN idiot for taking us out of the Paris Climate Accords. Have you read the agreement? No one is obligated to give money and there are no repercussions to not meeting our goals, nor was it hurting jobs. All the reasons Trump listed are moot points. Do your own research.

JUST 'DON'T GET pregnant?' Are you kidding me? One thousand dollars says a man wrote that one.

AS IT TURNS out, we are learning that the Russians are more honest and less intent on harming America than the Democrats.

Police&Fire report

HOME INVASION ON ISLAND VIEW

On May 31, the Genesee County Sheriff's Office received a home invasion complaint from a resident in the 5000 block of Island View Drive in Fenton Township. A 46-year-old female reported her purse stolen from the inside of her vehicle, which was parked inside of her garage attached to the house. Three white males, in their mid to late teens, were seen in the 4000 block of Eleanor Drive at approximately 3 a.m. on May 31 looking inside of vehicles. All three were wearing dark hoodies with the hoods pulled up. A homeowner chased the teens from the area, however, did not contact police until later in the morning. This incident remains under investigation.

also at the meeting. On a Facebook post about the meeting, GRACE wrote that GCAC's policy is to hold all dogs that have any type of collar or harness for seven days, and that dogs with no collar or harness are normally held for seven days as well.

Commissioner Drew Shapiro first proposed a 24-hour holding period for animals brought in as strays. That was rejected.

"I offered to compromise and make it 12 (hours) because they don't have 24-hour care at animal control. They shot it down 7-2," he said. Commissioner Ellen Ellenburg was the other approving vote. The issue was referred to the Animal Control Subcommittee, which Shapiro serves on as an alternate, to find a permanent solution.

"In the meantime we should show some leadership and take swift action so this doesn't happen while we're trying to work out a permanent solution. I said 'anything is better than nothing,'" but they still voted it down, he said.

Bryant Neldon, district 1 commissioner and chairman of Government Operations said "It wasn't that we voted it down and that we were against it. We wanted to have conversations with the board and we are going to talk with the animal control director and assistant director and have discussions with the Animal Control Subcommittee."

An Animal Control Subcommittee meeting will take place Wednesday 11 a.m. at the County Administration Building in Flint. In Room 301 to discuss the issue. He said it was a very terrible situation and they want to make sure they have the best possible solution going forward.

"We're going to talk about the best course of action so that this terrible situation will never ever happen again. We want to make sure we do this right and we have some dialogue on this. We don't want to do something that's not in the best interest of everyone involved," he said.

Shapiro said it was disappointing that both his motions were voted down because he doesn't want this to happen to any other animals, especially pets that become lost.

This is what happened with Capone. The 16-year-old dog was euthanized within three hours of being dropped off by a Linden resident, Todd MacDonell, who found Capone wandering the streets around Sagebrush Cantina in Fenton Township on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 6. He said the dog was wearing an orange harness, an obvious sign he belonged to someone.

MacDonell dropped the dog off around 1:15 p.m., and when the owners called to claim him at 4 p.m., Capone was already dead, according to the owner's ex-girlfriend.

According to GRACE, Kennedy made the decision to euthanize the dog after the veterinarian advised that she believed the dog was suffering. Reportedly, Capone was having a hard time walking on the tile floor and was crying while in a cage.

If an animal is beyond saving, it's up to the discretion of the shelter to euthanize it or not. Shapiro told them they've saved dogs with terrible injuries like a hot grease spill or amputated legs.

"They couldn't even confirm with me if they checked for a microchip. The assistant director said 'I'm not sure, I couldn't tell you,'" Shapiro said.

POPLAR STREET

city council members voted to authorize City Manager Lynn Markland to sign contracts with the state of Michigan and passed a resolution, which is required by MDOT to move the project forward. In April, Department of Public Works (DPW) Director Dan Czarnecki said MDOT had been informed that federal funding was available to pay for the project. The funding would be available once the federal government approves its new appropriations bills.

The resurfacing and realignment project is estimated to cost $646,000. The city is scheduled to receive $522,500 in federal transportation money through MDOT. The remainder of the costs will be the responsibility of the city of Fenton to pay, which will be approximately $124,100.

The city had two options, the first being to wait until the federal appropriations bills are approved and MDOT goes out for bids. Or, the city could have MDOT get bids now with the city paying for all of the work, and be reimbursed later once federal funds are received.

This option is called Advance Construct. According to the April 24, 2017 minutes of the Fenton City Council meeting, if the city should proceed with the Advance Construct option, the city will be required to pay for the entire project if federal funding does not become available.

Czarnecki expressed his concern in April that if the city waits until funds are available, an opportunity will be missed to complete the Poplar Street project during the 2017 construction season.

According to the April 24 minutes, administration discussed this with the Genesee County Metropolitan Planning Commission (GCMPC) and OHM, the city's engineering firm.

Councilwoman Pat Lockwood, who said she has been on the GCMPC for a long time, said waiting for federal funding is not typical.

A consensus of the City Council in April was to move forward with the project.

Although Markland referenced the April 24, 2017 council meeting minutes in his memo for the June 12 meeting, there was no discussion among council members about the two separate options — to wait or proceed.

During public comment, when asked, Markland acknowledged that the federal appropriations bills have not yet been approved, and that the city could be on the hook for the money if federal funds do not come through. He expressed his confidence that the money would be available and that the project would proceed.

The city's engineering firm has prepared a scope of services for the project. Their design services cost $71,000, with another $6,500 to perform the signal study work to create a model to provide for the proper timing of signals at Poplar Street and North Road.

On Monday, Czarnecki said Champagne & Marx Excavating, Inc., the low bidder made it possible to shave about $80,000 off the total cost.

Alamo Drafthouses, popular indie-type movie theaters, have been established around Michigan and serve meals and alcohol.

One local resident, Barbara Mirsky, 85, has been going to the movies since she was in elementary school. She said she sees about three movies a month at a cinema.

One change is that the movies are bigger. Another is the adult content.

"Now the movies have more dirty language, more exposure to crime and fantasy," she said. "There's more killing in the movies."

Mirsky said this is because we're living in a new generation.

"People now don't want reality, they want crime and fighting," she said.

In regards to the movie theaters, Mirsky said they're also getting bigger and expanding the seating. Many theaters have upper level seating and lower level seating, and Mirsky said that it was just one level when she was a child.

The price of movies has gone up significantly.

Fenton Township resident Norma Jean Wilke, 96, started going to the movies when she was 3. Her parents used to take her and her brother to the Flint movie theater after church on Sundays.

It cost 10 cents for a kid at the time. Wilke said that price went up to about 35 cents by the time she was 9 or 10. "For a dollar you could go to the movies and have popcorn and candy," she said. "I feel sorry for the kids today, it's pretty pricey to go on a date these days."

Then in the late '40s, Wilke said the price went up to about 50 cents per ticket.

They lived on Saginaw Street and out of their window through our neighbor's yard, they could read the marquis at the Flint theater. She watched the builders construct the theater.

"We were lucky. Coming out of the Depression, we went there three times a week, all the neighborhood kids went with us. On Saturday, there were always double features. That was a big treat for kids back then," she said.

Wilke's favorite kind of movie has always been musicals. She recently saw "La La Land" and really enjoyed the singing, dancing, and story.

She said most movies now are filled with nudity and sex.

"I don't care for that," she said. "I like the old movies when there was Betty Grable, when they fell in love and they kissed and it blacked out."

Wilke said there's a decrease in family movies and musicals now, but she enjoys movies about history and the wars.

"I can still remember as a child seeing 'Gone With the Wind' and some of those old movies. They were really good and back in our day, that was one of the main entertainments," she said.

SUMMARY

■ Going to see a movie in the early 1900s offered a less expensive outing and a completely different experience than going to see a movie now.

Councilman Scott Grossmeyer to the Solid Waste Committee. The matter was on the consent agenda for approval.

King first asked that each council member reveal how many boards, commissions and committees they serve on. Councilman Dave McDermott said he was on two. Grossmeyer asked what this was all about.

King was not permitted to finish polling the council and came to her point by stating she has a concern that Councilwoman Cherie Smith has only been appointed to one.

She said Smith represents the people, too, and was more active as a volunteer before she got onto council.

Mayor Sue Osborn interrupted her and, off topic, yelled, "Cheryl, I don't appreciate what you're saying about me around town and to my husband. It was very embarrassing."

Osborn explained that at the time appointments were made, she was "having trouble with her (Smith)."

"I want it on the record that I talked to you," said King.

Smith also questioned why she was not appointed to any other boards, commissions or committees. After some discussion, Osborn said she would entertain an appointment in the near future.

During the second round of public comment, Michael Romines, whose residence abuts Oakwood Cemetery, approached the council.

He described something that occurred the morning of Friday, May 26. Romines said he and his wife, Judith, were working in their backyard. Their two dogs were outside with them.

Romines said two cemetery maintenance people were working on a piece of equipment to try to get it started. He said one of the maintenance workers kept banging a 4-foot pipe on the equipment, was using profanities and every time he banged the pipe, the Romines' dogs would bark.

"This went on over and over," he said.

Romines said the man then yelled at the top of his lungs, "It those f'ing dogs bark one more time that's it for them."

Romines said they did not appreciate him threatening their dogs and called city hall, but has yet to receive a call back. "The lawn care company should be replaced, or at least reprimanded for their language," he said.

Smith, who serves on the Oakwood Cemetery Board will look into the matter and report back to the council.

Eagles make history, capture regional crown

■ Rain delay helps Linden refocus, defeat defending state champs Notre Dame Prep, 3-2

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — Alia Frederick noticed a change.

Ten minutes into the Linden varsity girls soccer team's regional championship game against the defending Division 2 state champion Pontiac Notre Dame Prep, Linden was playing a spirited contest, competing right with the Irish.

But then something changed. The Eagles were lying back, absorbing the Irish's pressure and found themselves down 1-0 when thunderstorms created about a 90-minute delay.

It may go down as the greatest rain delay in Linden school history, as the Eagles dominated the final 52 minutes of the contest after the delay and captured the school's first-ever regional championship in girls soccer, defeating Notre Dame Prep 3-2.

The win means Linden played in a D2 state semifinal game at Novi Meadows Stadium against Bloomfield Hills Marian on Tuesday. If the Eagles won that contest, they play in the Division 2 state championship game at Williamston High School, Friday at 4 p.m. against either Grand Rapids Forest Hills or Holland Christian. Holly's Stapleton sparks Team Grind in Flint all-star game

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Sharing snaps at quarterback wasn't a big deal to Garrett Stapleton at the 2017 Flint Football All-Star Game played at Davison High School on Saturday.

He had done it all season long while playing the position at Holly High School last fall.

Stapleton's experiences may have helped him record one of the greatest prep football games he's ever played. Competing for Team Grind, Stapleton threw four touchdown passes in the fourth quarter and in two overtimes, leading his squad, Team Grind, to a 27-21 quadruple overtime win.

The game-winning touchdown was thrown to Lake Fenton graduate Liam King. The pair of tri-county graduates were just two of the many area all-star players who participated in the contest. Among those also listed on rosters were Holly's Kyle Staple, Bryce Jacopec, Griffin Backs and Nick Michels; Fenton's Greg Lukas; Lake Fenton's Bryce Andres, Andrew Foerster, Ryan Franks and Daniel Osminski; and Linden's Hunter Michael. Many others were invited but were unable to attend or compete in the contest. Team Grind's coaching staff also had a local flavor as Holly varsity football coach Ryan Culloty and Lake Fenton varsity football coach Eric Doyle shared the co-head coaching duties.

Fiebertz has been this far before, at Powers

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — When it comes to Linden varsity soccer history, the Lady Eagles are charting new territory.

A Linden varsity girls soccer team has never made it to the state semifinals of the state tournament. So when the Eagles faced Bloomfield Hills Marian on Tuesday for a state semifinal contest at Novi Meadows Stadium on Tuesday, the girls were rookies to such games.

However, their coach isn't. He's been to a state semifinal before, back in 1996 when he coached the Powers Catholic boys soccer team to a Class B state championship. In fact, this was the first time the local sports editor met Linden varsity boys and girls soccer coach Kevin Fiebertz. While he was coaching his Powers team to an 1-0 overtime state championship victory against the Marshall Redskins, this reporter was working in Marshall covering Marshall's first-ever trip to a state title game.

Fiebertz said there are a few things he can use to help his squad prepare for a state semifinal contest. The Eagles earned the right to play in a state semifinal after defeating defending Division 2 state champions Notre Dame Prep 3-2 in a regional title game at Fenton High School on Friday.

"The thing I can take out of that ordeal is understanding what to expect," Fiebertz said. "I think the deeper a team gets the tighter everyone gets. The boys team was loopy goosey. I wanted to keep it loose. So one thing I preach to the girls is you can't be afraid to fail. You need to come out and play the way you can, play aggressive. That is going to be the big thing. Hopefully the girls can come out and play just like they did after the rain delay (in the regional final)."

In the regional championship game at Fenton High School, the Eagles trailed 1-0 when a lightning/rain delay created a 90-minute delay. When the Eagles returned they were a different squad, taking the play right at Notre Dame Prep. The result was three consecutive goals, making the 1-0 deficit into a 3-1 lead.
