A major player when it comes to Western culture and cuisine

Italy consists of a mountainous peninsula (a.k.a. “the boot”) in southern Europe extending into the Mediterranean Sea and includes the islands of Sicily, Sardinia, and about 70 other smaller islands.

The Alps form Italy’s border with France, Switzerland, Austria, and Slovenia. Most of Italy has warm, dry summers and mild winters, with northern Italy experiencing colder, wetter winters. There are some notable active volcanoes, including Vesuvius, near Naples.

Italy is a major player when it comes to Western culture and cuisine. Its capital, Rome, exhibits the architectural and artistic grandeur of ancient civilizations. It is home to the Vatican as well as landmark art and ancient ruins. Other major cities include Florence, the birthplace of the Renaissance. It is home to great works of civic and religious architecture, sculpture, and paintings. Venice is well known as the city of canals and Milan is Italy’s fashion capital.

Turin, the capital of heavy industry, is home to Fiat — one of the world’s largest car producers. A major attraction for pilgrims and tourists is the “Holy Shroud” in Turin’s cathedral — tradition holds that this was Christ’s burial cloth.

BY HANNAH BALL
hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Wednesday, June 21 is National Selfie Day. The younger generations are known for taking selfies, which are defined by Google as “photograph(s) that one has taken of oneself, typically one taken with a smartphone or webcam and shared via social media.”

For every decent, post-worthy selfie, there are dozens of rejects. Not every selfie shared via social media is a winner.
Here’s how to take a good selfie by learning what not to do:

1. Consider placement. Avoid taking selfies with your child where it looks like your dog is pooping on its head.

2. A photobomb can ruin any selfie, or make it better depending on your tastes.

3. While a selfie generally encompasses a face and shoulders, it’s important to be aware of any other mirrors, especially in bathrooms.

4. Make sure the focus is on your face, not other potentially embarrassing objects.

5. Always be aware of your surroundings.

6. This is called the “my boyfriend caught me getting out of the shower.” If you’re going to try this, watch for other mirrors that might expose you as a liar.

7. This is the danger of taking selfies near bathrooms.

8. Words often have different meanings when reflected in mirrors.

9. This selfie is often called “boyfriend caught me sleeping,” and should serve as a warning to people everywhere.

10. Dogs aren’t always photogenic.
Loving the downtown

It has been exciting, as a Fenton resident, to watch as our downtown flourishes. I know there are many people who wish they could go back to the days before Urban Renewal. When I see the old photos, my first reaction, too, is ‘what a shame!’ But, those days are gone and the ‘old downtown’ is not coming back — at least not in the way it was. What we have now is beautiful, with new restaurants and businesses, and all the flowers and sculptures. Well, some of the sculptures anyway. I love the cats sculpture behind Fenton City Hall, but the jury is out on that thing in front of the Post Office. I’m not sure what that is and I am not fond of that color. But as I’m often told, art is subjective, and other people probably like it.

Anyway, now that summer is upon us, with the Concerts in the Park starting up again and soon the Farmers Markets, the downtown is going to be bustling with residents and visitors. And that’s a good thing for all the shops and restaurants down there. Even without those events, I see more people downtown now than I ever have.

What I am really excited about is the new building about to go up at the corner of N. LeRoy Street and Silver Lake Road — The Horizon Building. The owners are currently seeking tenants or buyers for the first floor and are open to suggestions. So, of course, I will have to share my ideas.

First, let’s rule out another pizza place. We have more than enough fine pizza places in Fenton and the surrounding areas. Let’s also rule out a doughnut shop. With CRUST and Tim Hortons within walking distance of The Horizon Building, another bakery-type store is not really necessary.

Having said that, a deli butcher shop would be perfect. One with a variety of lunchmeats and cheeses, with more types than is available at local grocery stores. Put a few tables in there for the lunchtime crowd. We have many fine restaurants downtown, but sometimes people (like me) just want to grab a quick sandwich. For those who just want to pick up some meats, they can do that before heading over to CRUST for a variety of bread choices.

What I really, really want though is a good, old-fashioned bar. Not a restaurant with a bar in it, just a bar that serves drinks and maybe a few snacks. And I don’t want a TV in my bar. I want a small comedy club and a little dance floor. Imagine that — no sports, no news of violence going on at home and in the world, no stupid reality shows — just good times with friends and laughter.

But, whatever goes in there, I have faith in the people putting the whole project together and know it will be something fabulous.

Happy National Martini Day

History of the classic cocktail (gin and vermouth) is debated amongst drinkers

By Hannah Ball

hannah@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

You might want to save some of your weekend drinking for Monday in honor of National Martini Day on June 19. Coincidentally, one of the most popular places for drinks, The Relief & Resource Co., already has deals on martinis on Mondays, according to head bartender and co-owner Jon Foley.

The word “martini” has a different definition depending on if you ask a bartender or not.

“I define that term far more strictly than most people who work in bars,” Foley said. He said a lot of people define a martini as any drink that comes in a martini glass, but it’s actually a specific drink consisting of gin, vermouth, and some type of garnish, usually an olive or lemon zest. “The drink is either salty or has a hint of citrus. Foley prefers his with lemon zest.

Martinis in movies are often shown in the hand of a gorgeous, wealthy woman drinking a martini in an elegant bathrobe with fake fur. They’re regularly consumed at bars and at home. Today, half of all cocktails are served in a martini glass, according to punchbowl.com.

The Relief & Resource Co. has a special on traditional martinis for $6 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

“For two ingredients, that garnish is kind of important. It adds flavor,” he said.

They have an industry special on Monday, meaning people who work in the same business get a deal on martinis. “They like gin,” he said.

Tanqueray is popular at The Relief & Resource Co., which is dry gin. Foley said they’re fond of Botanist, & Resource Co., which is dry gin.

“One of the problems with the history of cocktails is that people who were deciding the history of cocktails were drinking,” Foley said. Those people never let a lie get in the way of a good story. “Cocktail history is about 50 percent true story and 50 percent BS.”

“I encourage people to try the original gin martini, not only the fruity drinks that come in the glasses. There’s something to be said for the classic cocktail that’s been around for 145 years. It’s still around for a reason,” he said.

The Russia Collusion stories are now considered fake news perpetuated by CNN, MSNBC, New York Times, and The Washington Post, and by Democratic senators and congressmen who owe our country an apology for wasting our time.

I VOTED FOR Trump. This reason? I thought anyone who could make billions could keep Washington working more than a day and a half a week. Wrong.

NOW THAT THE witchhunt is over and Trump has been exonerated of everything, maybe the politicians can start focusing on the economy, jobs, terrorism, immigration and healthcare.

LIBERAL. LEFTIST. ANARCHIST. Atheist socialist, globalist. Communist. It is interesting how these words have all morphed into the definition of the Democratic Party.

EATING DOGS VIOLATED whose society's norms? I guess you never took a little field trip to southeast Asia.

I'M APPALLED THAT a gentleman would save a dog's life, take it to an animal shelter and then the shelter kills the dog.

Police and Fire report. Fenton police locate thieves, the suspects were detained overnight, interviewed and released. Why would you release somebody after you got all the evidence so they can go out and commit more crimes?

I TALKED TO a Democratic supporter tonight who thought the shooting of the Republican was just fine.

We Need Your Help!

Trap, Neuter, Return (TNR) is a unique program to the area. There are millions of community cats killed in shelters because they are unadoptable. TNR is recognized as the most humane and effective strategy for reducing the community cat population. Anyone caring for a colony of feral or stray cats may fill out an application to have the cats fixed at a low cost. Go to adoptapetfenton.com/TNR. Ask about our low cost spay/neuter for those with a financial need.

These fine area merchants are asking for your help in finding these animals loving homes.

LEMON BARS

Recipe adapted from Ina Garten • Source: ahomemade活着iving.com

Makes 16 squares

INGREDIENTS

Crust
• 4 oz unsalted butter, softened
• 1/2 cup granulated sugar
• 1 cup all-purpose flour
• 1/4 tsp salt

Filling
• 3 eggs
• 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
• Grated lemon zest from 1 lemon
• 1/2 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice
• 1 cup all-purpose flour
• Confectioners sugar for dusting

DIRECTIONS

1. First, preheat your oven to 350 degrees F and line a 9×9 inch baking pan with parchment paper. Prepare your crust by mixing together the softened butter, sugar and salt. Once you have a smooth mixture, add in the flour and mix until you get a soft dough. Press the dough into your prepared baking pan, then let it chill in the fridge until your oven is ready. Bake the crust for 15 – 20 minutes, until it is just slightly golden brown.

2. Let the crust chill and prepare your filling. Whisk together the eggs, granulated sugar, lemon zest and juice and flour and pour over the chilled crust. Bake (at 350 degrees F. again) for 35 – 40 minutes, or until the middle no longer jiggles. Let cool completely and dust with confectioners’ sugar before serving.

3 quirky facts about companion animals

Think you know everything there is to know about your favorite furry, finned or feathered friend? Chances are there are some interesting facts that even the most ardent animal-lover may be surprised to learn.

1. Tough tongue: Cats’ tongues are covered with little structures called “tongue papillae,” which are like tiny hooks pointing toward the throat. These hook-like structures help hold food while a cat is eating. The papillae also help with grooming. Humans can feel these barbs when licked by cats.

2. Seeing spots: Dalmatians are born all white. Their spots will develop within the first few weeks of life. A “clowder,” while a group of cats is a “kindle,” while a group of cats is a “clowder.”

3. Seeing colors: Dogs are not color blind as once presumed. They can see colors, just not as vividly as humans.
