The Moose Lodge on Lake Fenton is situated perfectly for fun and fundraising, and drive-up dock-side dining. (Below) The Moose Lodge's largest fundraiser is the Polar Plunge for the Special Olympics. The 2017 event raised $80,000 through more than 1,000 donors.

Local civic groups known most for their charitable giving and activities

This is the first in a series about local civic organizations, their history and what they do for the community. The series begins today with Moose International, "The Loyal Order of Moose."

Why do they call it the "Moose" lodge? We started this series with that question in mind. However, after researching several online sites and asking several questions, there doesn't seem to be an answer. Oh well, it's a great historical story anyway, and a great organization.

There are two lodges in the tri-county area — in the downtown village of Holly and in Fenton Township on Lake Fenton. The Loyal Order of Moose on Sonora Drive, Lake Fenton boasts a membership of more than 1,500 men and women.

According to Administrator Joe Gilbert, "We happen to be on the lake and we happen to have a menu that is second to none." But that's not all there is to this Moose lodge. There are a great number of charitable events and fundraisers the Lake Fenton lodge sponsors, not to mention the good works annual dues fund through Moose International.

The annual Polar Plunge for Special Olympics is the lodge's biggest annual fundraiser, raising more than $80,000 in one day during this year's event, according to Gilbert.

Dues for Moose Lodge membership are $95 per year for men, and $55 for women, with women (Women of the Moose) paying a $35 membership fee after the first year.

One-hundred percent of the membership dues go to Moose International and fund "Mooseheart," a school for children near Chicago, Illinois, and "Moosehaven," near Jacksonville, Florida. (See history)

Gilbert had an opportunity to visit the Mooseheart Child City & School and said it was a real eye-opener. This is a school where under-privileged children are housed and educated, not just through their senior year in high school, but through college, he said.

"They become productive members of society and 100 percent of their housing and education is paid for," said Gilbert.

The Lake Fenton lodge hosts a variety of fundraisers when there is a need, he added.

During the month of August, for example, the lodge is happy to have people conduct fundraisers on its property. This month, a local woman is raising funds for the C.S. Mott Children's Hospital.

Something new the Lake Fenton lodge plans to introduce is offering a free, one-year membership to all first responders (police and fire) and active duty military. If any of these first responders already have memberships, they will be given another year free.

Gilbert said there are so many programs the lodge is excited to be a part of. "Safe Surfin'" is new, too. This is where lodges statewide team up to raise funds to help train local law enforcement on how to teach kids about surfing the internet safely.

"We will give the money to local law enforcement," said Gilbert.

When asked who put the moose in Moose lodges, Gilbert laughed and said, "You know, I have no idea!"

HISTORY

The Loyal Order of Moose is a fraternal and service organization founded in 1888 with nearly 650,000 men in roughly 1,600 lodges in 49 states and four Canadian provinces, plus Great Britain and Bermuda.

Along with other units of Moose International, the Loyal Order of Moose supports the operation of Mooseheart Child City & School, a 1,000-acre community for children and teens in need, located 40 miles west of Chicago. There's also Moosehaven, a 70-acre retirement community for its members near Jacksonville, Florida. Additionally, Moose lodges conduct approximately $70 million worth of community service (counting monetary donations and volunteer hours worked) annually.

IN THE BEGINNING

When Dr. John Henry Wilson, a Louisville, Ky., physician, organized a handful of men into the Loyal Order of Moose in the parlor of his home in the spring of 1888, he and his compatriots did so apparently for no other reason than to form a string of men's social clubs.

Lodges were instituted in Cincinnati, St. Louis and two smaller Indiana towns by the early 1890s, but Wilson himself became dissatisfied and left the infant order well before the turn of the century.

In 1906, James J. Davis joined the Moose on his 33rd birthday. A native of Wales, he had worked from boyhood in the steel mills of Pennsylvania. He had also been a labor organizer and immediately saw the potential to build the tiny Moose fraternity into a force to provide protection and security for its largely working-class membership. At the time, little to no government safety net existed to provide benefits to the wife and children of a breadwinner, who died, or became disabled.

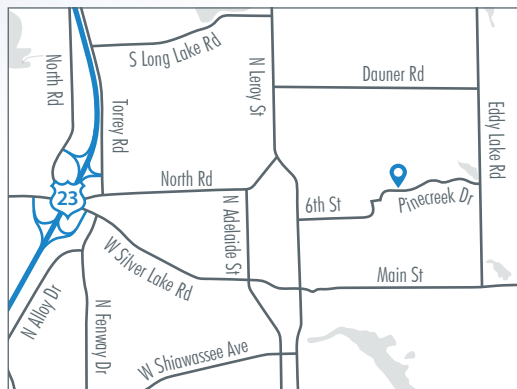

Davis proposed to pitch Moose membership as a way to provide such protection at a bargain price, annual dues of $5 to $10. His marketing instincts were spot on and by 1912, the order had grown from 247 members in two lodges, to nearly 500,000 members in more than 1,000 lodges here and abroad.

It's almost that time again when local students go back to school, this year on Tuesday, Sept. 5. These back-to-school memes (we used to call them posters) are a lot of fun as we get ready for the big day.

Only the mothers of young teenage boys will understand this. Not to worry though, once they decide to start dating, they'll go back to good old soap and water - and deodorant.

THE PASSION OF AUGUSTINE
The Passion of Augustine stars Céline Bonnier as Mother Augustine, a Roman Catholic nun who teaches music in a convent school in rural Quebec in the 1960s and who is fighting to preserve her school against the backdrop of the social changes wrought by Vatican II and Quebec's Quiet Revolution. When her talented but rebellious niece joins the convent, and when the government threatens to shut down the school in favour of public education, her world is suddenly turned upside down. She and her fellow nuns are forced to confront the waves of modernity, and Mother Augustine herself must search her soul for a new calling. Can she accept her past in order to move forward? Or will she perish with tradition?
