South Africa offers culturally diverse food, hiking, busy cities and more

When you think of South Africa, you probably imagine safaris, wild animals, and jungles. The country offers much more than that, with huge cities, multiple mountain ranges, and sealife right off the coast. The country contains people from many different nationalities and each bring parts of their own culture.

From hiking to exploring densely populated cities, South Africa has much to offer as a travel destination.

SOUTH AFRICA

of the most popular cities in the country, many of the houses have bars on the windows, high-security gates for the driveway, and electric fences. Security guards frequently patrol housing complexes, parking lots, banks, malls and gas stations.

After apartheid ended, violence became a bigger issue in the country. South Africa has some of the worst crime rates in the world. If you're traveling to South Africa, don't flash any expensive items, avoid looking like a complete tourist, and avoid non-tourist areas at night.

Time difference

South Africa is six hours ahead of Fenton.

Distance and airfare

According to Tripadvisor, flights from Flint's Bishop Airport to Cape Town Central in South Africa cost around $1,900. Flights are about 28 hours long.

Food

Instead of barbeque, South Africans eat braai, which means grilled meat in Afrikaans. Having a braai is similar to having a barbeque. Other traditional foods include minced ostrich and the sweet koeksisters, which is fried dough infused in syrup or honey. While the county has a significant emphasis on meat, vegetarian options can be found almost everywhere.

Other popular foods include boerewors, which is sausage, mixed with pork or lamb, and Cape Malay curry. The spices used in the curry come from Indonesia, India and Malaysia. Most South Africans frequently enjoy chakalaka and pap, which is a vegetable dish made of onions, tomatoes, peppers, carrots, beans and spices.

Politics

South Africa is a Republic. After years of apartheid and dangerous racial tensions, Nelson Mandela was the first democratically elected president in 1994. South Africa doesn't have one legally defined capital city. Instead, there are three capitals: Pretoria (executive capital), Bloemfontein (judicial), and Cape Town (legislative).

MUST-SEE ATTRACTIONS

Cape Town

Cape Town contains attractions like Table Mountain, which is a national park of mountains with forests and marine protected areas like the Cape of Good Hope. Tourists can visit the winelands near Stellenbosch, go see the whales at the Whale Coast along the Overberg, and Cape Agulhas, the southern tip of Africa, where the Atlantic and Indian Ocean meet.

Kruger National Park

This national park lies along the border of Mozambique and Zimbabwe. It covers 20,000 square kilometers with 14 different eco zones, each with different wildlife. People come to Kruger National park to see lions, leopards, elephants, rhinos, buffalo and more. It's recommended to visit this park in the dry season, and stay at a camp like Olifants. It's best to stay in the southern park along the rivers.

Johannesburg

This city is the economic heart of Africa and the most common entry point into Southern Africa. Here, you'll find typical shops and city attractions. Go see a play or live music at the Market Theatre area, visit the planetarium, or see the Mandela Family Museum. Take a cab or an Uber to explore the city and experience the heart of South Africa.

Drakensberg mountains range

"Drakensberg" means "mountains of the dragon" in Dutch. However, you won't see any dragons at this spectacular sight for hiking. In the north, many hikers choose to hike around the amphitheater or on top of it. It's about a two-day hike to the top of the mountain.

In the south, the Sani Pass, also called the "no man's land," can only be traversed by four-wheel drive vehicles.

Tugela Falls

These falls are located in the Royal Natal National Park. It contains the second-highest waterfall in the world with a total drop of 947 meters, or 3,110 feet, with five leaps. Located on the Gorge Walk, people are only advised to go if they're young, fit, and there hasn't been heavy rainfall. It's recommended to not bring any valuables like cameras or phones.

By Vera Hogan

Oftentimes, when people decide to get both a boy dog and a girl dog at the same time, they think it's cute to name them after celebrities. We've found some pretty cute dog couples and paired them with names of some of our favorite celebrity couples. Do you agree with our choices? Maybe you can pair our puppy couples below with other celebrity names. Have fun!

Just sayin'...

vhogan@tctimes.com

Downtown is more charming with each visit

Earlier this week I was speaking with Mr. Bob Harris about another matter when we got onto the subject of books. Bob is the author of five "The Village Players ..." books depicting Fenton's history throughout the decades. He is currently working on his sixth.

I was telling Bob about another new book, one written by my friend, Amy Mayhew of Holly, called "Raging Soul." I told him about our visit to downtown (Dibbleville) Fenton on Saturday, Oct. 7, to attend Amy's book signing at Fenton's Open Book.

VERA HOGAN

During our conversation, Bob said, "We are so fortunate to still have a bookstore in our downtown."

He is absolutely right!

My husband and I live about six blocks away from the downtown, but we are homebodies and don't go out much. But for Amy we ventured on down to the bookstore.

It was a beautiful Saturday afternoon. After purchasing my copy and having Amy autograph it, I stepped outside to make way for other customers coming in to get their copy of her book.

While sitting on the bench outside Fenton's Open Book I soaked in my surroundings — the fall decorations and flowers and the view of South LeRoy Street looking north. Although the landscape is much different than it was back in the day, before Urban Renewal, I don't think any of Fenton's founding fathers would be disappointed if they could see it today.

I wondered how a little bookstore could thrive in this day and age. Well, if you're in a quaint area like Dibbleville and have a niche in addition to your main product, books, you've got a recipe for success.

What is Fenton's Open Book's niche, you ask? One of them is the owner, Karen Piacentini's, pasties. A pasty is a hand pie filled with a variety of meats and veggies. She told me Saturday that she sometimes makes hers with venison. That was all my husband needed to hear.

What was really special was the number of people on the streets. There were many walkers — couples, families, groups of ladies, teens and more — checking out window displays, stopping in shops and restaurants. Downtown Fenton truly has become a great place to hang out, I thought.

Amy's book signing was completely successful. We're sure "Raging Soul" will be a big hit. It's a murder mystery with a metaphysical twist. If you're into that kind of thing like me you're gonna love it. For more information, visit amymayhew-books.com.

Bob's books also are on sale at Fenton's Open Book. I personally think every family in Fenton with children should own a set. You are not going to find such a wealth of local history online.

Anyway, when it was time to go, I talked my husband into a trip to the Fenton Community and Cultural Center to see the new sculpture.

Wow! It is amazing. I think everyone in town, including myself, is mentally planning their selfie with the boys at the table. I think I'll buy me a big old stogie and pretend like I'm playing cards with them, and winning.

Hmmm ... "Hogan-ville," or better yet, "Vera-ville" ... I like it!

WHAT A FUN and significant gift from the Hagermans to the city. But I ask the city and the DDA; please let's put a nice gazebo over the sculpture. It'll last a lifetime the way it is, but let's protect it a little more.

IT SURE WOULD be nice if people would learn to drive around semis instead of cutting them off and blaming the truck driver.

HOT-LINERS, RING in here. My wife is a wonderful successful woman, terrific mother, lots of kids. I'm cleaning the floor, she's sitting around reading the Times.

SO LET ME get this straight, you're saying that Fox News doesn't have people altering the news and they have an agenda?

A young Peter Parker/ Spider-Man (Tom Holland), who made his sensational debut in Captain America: Civil War, begins to navigate his newfound identity as the web-slinging super hero in Spider-Man: Homecoming. Thrilled by his experience with the Avengers, Peter returns home, where he lives with his Aunt May (Marisa Tomei), under the watchful eye of his new mentor Tony Stark (Robert Downey, Jr.). Peter tries to fall back into his normal daily routine — distracted by thoughts of proving himself to be more than just your friendly neighborhood Spider-Man — but when the Vulture (Michael Keaton) emerges as a new villain, everything that Peter holds most important will be threatened. PG-13, 2 hr. 13 min. Action & Adventure, Drama, Science Fiction & Fantasy

TRISH delish

CHICKEN
CRESCENT
BRAID

*Oh Yeah - this one is a KEEPER.
So easy, and good. Not to mention you could really use just about anything as the filling! Use your imagination!!
Thanks to www.wineandglue.com for this wonderfully simple and satisfying meal! — Trish*

- INGREDIENTS
- 1 "seamless" crescent roll dough (Pillsbury)
 - 1 cup cooked shredded chicken
 - 1 cup frozen peas and carrots (no need to thaw)
 - 1/2 can cream of chicken soup
 - 4 oz cream cheese (softened)
 - 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

DIRECTIONS
Preheat oven to 375.
In a large bowl, mix chicken, veggies, and shredded cheese.
In a smaller bowl, combine soup and cream cheese. Add this to the veggie mix. Spread crescent roll dough on parchment paper, and place it on baking sheet. Keeping 3" in the center in tact, make cuts about 1/3 of the way in and down both long sides of the dough. Cuts should be about an inch apart. Spread the mixture down the middle. Take a strip of dough from one side and fold it over the mixture. Do the same with a strip from the other side. Alternate back and forth, giving it a 'braided' appearance. Pinch the ends shut.
Bake 20-25 minutes, getting the top nice and golden brown.
NOTE: next time I would throw a few slices of cooked, crumbled bacon in!!

This is Great and Kids Love it!
