Dream destination for worldwide travelers

It may be the 50th state in the union, but it's the first state most people mention when asked where they'd like to go someday.

Hawaii, with its soft trade wind breezes, pristine sandy beaches, rugged cliffs, tropical foliage and beautiful waterfalls, is located in the Central Pacific. It is made up of six main islands, each of which has a story of its own.

Hawaii... At a glance

Island of Hawaii

The island of Hawaii is the youngest and largest island in the Hawaiian chain. Nearly twice as big as all of the other Hawaiian Islands combined — hence, its nickname, “Big Island.” You can travel through all but four of the world’s different climate zones there, ranging from Wet Tropical to Polar Tundra, a result of the shielding effect and elevations of the massive volcanoes Maunakea and Maunaloa. The volcanoes, beaches and Kohala Coast resorts are best places to visit.

Maui

Maui, known also as “The Valley Isle,” is the second largest Hawaiian island. The island beloved for its world-famous beaches, the sacred Iao Valley, views of migrating humpback whales (during winter months) and farm-to-table cuisine. The magnificent sunrise and sunset from Haleakala volcano, and beaches are best places to visit.

Oahu

Sometimes called “The Gathering Place,” Oahu is the third largest Hawaiian island and home to the majority of Hawaii’s diverse population, a fusion of East and West cultures rooted in the values and traditions of the Native Hawaiian people. It’s this fundamental contrast between the ancient and the modern that makes discovering Oahu — from bustling city life to laidback surf towns — so enjoyable. Waikiki Beach and Pearl Harbor are the best places to visit.

Just sayin'...

Special Thanksgiving memory

With Thanksgiving just a few days away, I can't help but think of one Thanksgiving Day that I will cherish always.

It was 21 years ago in 1996. My youngest son was 4 years old. We were supposed to spend our Thanksgiving Day with the family of one my husband's four brothers at their home, a three-hour car drive from our house in Fenton.

The night before Thanksgiving, my baby came down with the sniffles and said he didn't feel good. He had a slight temperature and my wheels started turning. Can I get away with this? Nah, I better not. In the end, my will to not leave home on Thanksgiving got the better of me, and I convinced my husband to take our older son, Sean, who was almost 7 at the time, and go have dinner with his family.

"Willy and I will stay home, don't worry, we'll be fine," I told him.

Don't get me wrong, I love spending time with our extended family, and we probably could have gone, but for some reason, I just felt an overwhelming desire to stay home with my son.

That night, I raced to the store and picked up a Thanksgiving meal that we would enjoy the next day. I bought a turkey breast, more than enough for two. I bought leaf lettuce, which my son loved even at that young age. Just the lettuce with Ken's Italian dressing with Aged Romano cheese. That was his favorite. He used to be covered in dressing from his mouth to the tips of his fingers and all the way up to his elbows.

Another item on our little impromptu menu was macaroni and cheese. This was for me. My kids never were too keen on mac and cheese, but I love it. And, I have to confess that fancy mac and cheese like they serve at local restaurants are totally lost on me. I love the cheap old Spartan brand mac and cheese with tube noodles. I make it a bit soupier and eat it with a tablespoon. Heaven!

We had other yummy stuff including carrots. Willy liked cooked carrots, especially with a tablespoon of brown sugar mixed in. Tastes like candy — really, it does.

Because most of the bakery items were sold out already, I decided we would have some kind of frozen treat for our dessert. I chose Mississippi Mud Pies with chocolate and caramel. They were amazing.

After dinner, we snuggled on the couch and watched "Space Jam" and "Toy Story" before he, I mean we, fell asleep.

Happy Thanksgiving everyone!

Things you may not know about Charles Dickens

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

Charles Dickens is regarded by many as the greatest novelist of the Victorian era. The most famous of his approximate 23 works include, "A Christmas Carol," a seasonal favorite. Other Dickens books that have been household names are "David Copperfield," "Oliver Twist" and "Great Expectations." He died in 1870 at the age of 58.

They say many writers are somewhat "eccentric," and Charles Dickens was no different.

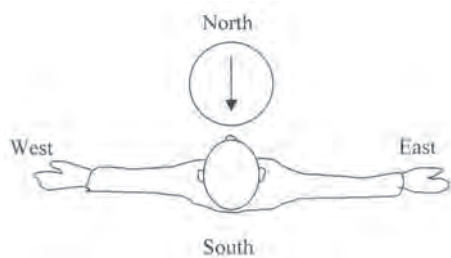

Dickens had more than a passing interest in the paranormal and was an active member of The Ghost Club.

Dickens was an amateur magician, very afraid of bats and an insomniac.

Dickens had a pet raven called Grip, which he had taxidermied and mounted when it died in 1841 from eating lead paint chips.

Dickens preferred to touch things three times for luck and was a mild obsessive-compulsive with regard to his hair and would often comb and preen it over 100 times every day.

No matter where he lay, Dickens always made sure to sleep with his head pointing north as he believed it improved his writing.

After having 10 children together, Charles Dickens and Catherine Hogarth decide they weren't right for each other, and separated in 1858 (she was becoming 'fat and boring'). He then met a nubile young actress named Ellen Ternan who was the same age as his younger daughter, Kate.

New Protocol for Back Pain and Sciatica

■ By Sam Potter

IF YOU suffer from low back pain and sciatica, you are one of over 20 million adults in the US with this often crippling spinal condition. Shooting, stabbing and burning pains from the low back, sometimes with additional pain through the buttocks and down the legs are all symptoms of a pinched nerve often called “sciatica”.

In severe cases, it can lead to muscle wasting, numbness and constant tingling down to the tip of the toes. Left untreated, the intense pain can rapidly wear you down and drain the joy out of life.

That is, until now...

Recent advances in the treatment of sciatica and lower back pain have led to the development and huge success of Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care.

The excellent results of this treatment have been published in major medical journals. With success rates as high as 90% of back surgeons recommending their patients try this treatment first before having back surgery.

In Fenton MI, you can try Non-Surgical Re-constructive Spinal Care at Painless Chiropractic – the office of low back pain and sciatica relief expert Dr. James Ide.

Dr. Ide and his team of fully trained spinal care specialists have helped over 3,000 patients find relief from their agonising back pain and sciatica.

According to Dr. Ide, “We use a combination of ultra-advanced technology, not found elsewhere in Fenton MI, for precisely diagnosing the cause of your low back pain and sciatica; and a unique programme for reconstructing the damaged area causing the pain; this means superior long-term results for most people.”

Because the treatment is non-surgical, safe and easy, most patients report an almost immediate relief from their pain.

Patient Bill D. from Grand Blanc says, “My back had been getting bad for years but the worst thing was the pain was shooting down my leg and I wasn’t able to golf at all.

Eventually I couldn’t work around the house and my MD just kept prescribing drugs that hardly did anything. My next step was surgery and I have heard far too many stories about that not working out.

My wife insisted I call after seeing one of these ads, I didn’t really think it would help, but I’m so glad she kept on at me.

Thank god I called, I’m 95% better in just a couple of weeks.”

Your invitation for a comprehensive consultation and examination to pinpoint the cause of your low back pain and sciatica...

1863: At the dedication of a military cemetery at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, during the American Civil War, President Abraham Lincoln delivers one of the most memorable speeches in American history. In just 272 words, Lincoln brilliantly and movingly reminded a war-weary public why the Union had to fight, and win, the Civil War.

NOV. 20

2003: Phil Spector, the influential, eccentric music producer who worked with a long list of performers including The Righteous Brothers, The Ronettes, Ike and Tina Turner, John Lennon and the Ramones, is indicted in the murder of actress Lana Clarkson. Spector pleaded not guilty to the charges. The 40-year-old Clarkson was found dead from a single gunshot wound to the mouth in the foyer of Spector's Alhambra, California mansion in the early hours of Feb. 3, 2003.

NOV. 21

1986: National Security Council staff member Oliver North and his secretary, Fawn Hall, begin shredding documents that would have exposed their participation in a range of illegal activities regarding the sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of the proceeds to a rebel Nicaraguan group.

NOV. 22

1963: The nation is shocked by the assassination of its president, John F. Kennedy. Kennedy was riding in an open car in Dallas, Texas, when a gunman named Lee Harvey Oswald fired three shots at him from an upper-level window of a nearby building. Kennedy was pronounced dead upon arrival at a Dallas hospital. He was the fourth president in U.S. history to be assassinated.

NOV. 23

1959: Robert Stroud, the famous "Birdman of Alcatraz," is released from solitary confinement for the first time since 1916. Stroud gained widespread fame and attention when author Thomas Gaddis wrote a biography that trumpeted Stroud's ornithological expertise.

NOV. 24

1932: The crime lab that is now referred to as the FBI Scientific Crime Detection Laboratory officially opens in Washington, D.C., on this day in 1932. The lab, which was chosen because it had the necessary sink, operated from a single room and had only one full-time employee, Agent Charles Appel.

NOV. 25

1980: Sugar Ray Leonard regains boxing's welterweight title when his opponent, reigning champ Roberto Duran, waves his arms and walks away from the fight in the eighth round. "No más, no más," Duran told the referee. "No more, no more." He'd had cramps in his stomach since the fifth round, he said, and they'd gotten so bad he could barely stand up.

So, you need a new furnace?

■ Do your homework and get several quotes

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

A furnace is a pretty basic piece of equipment. It heats your home, and is comprised of a blower motor to move air, a heating element to heat air, and a thermostat to tell the furnace when to turn on and off.

There are several options available, however, that can increase efficiency and air quality.

So, how do you know you need new furnace?

Jared Staley of Staley's Plumbing Heating and Air Conditioning said that some people simply want to take advantage of rebates, or just upgrade to a more efficient, new furnace. "Or they have no choice," he said. Maybe the heat exchanger is cracked, leaking fluid, and the whole unit has to be condemned as unsafe.

John Davis, service manager for Blessing Plumbing and Heating Company said that the average lifetime of a furnace is 15 to 20 years. While furnaces can usually be repaired as long as the heat exchanger is pressurized and not leaking, little repairs can start adding up, and certain parts can be difficult to find. "Once they start adding up, you might think of putting your dollars into a newer, more efficient piece of equipment," Davis said.

If it is time to get a new furnace, it's also time to get quotes. Davis suggests two or three to make sure they are all in same ballpark. He added that it's important for the quotes to be "comparing apples to apples." The efficiency features and warranties should be similar.

Staley said competition is a good thing. "It drives cost down, it keeps everyone honest," he said. Different opinions and perspectives can be helpful.

A furnace is not a cheap item to replace and the final cost including materials and labor varies.

Staley said it could cost between $2,200 to $4,000 for an average furnace, depending on what the homeowner has already and needs to replace. There are air cleaner options that are available, like adding a HEPA (high efficiency particulate) filter, which could be good in the long run. "Air quality is pretty important," Staley said, especially with the tightly insulated houses of today.

Davis said an average furnace can cost about $3,000 to $5,000, also depending on a lot of factors, such as if the home has central air.

"You want to make sure whoever does it, does a load calculation to make sure it is being sized properly," Davis said. He said over-sizing a furnace is actually a typical problem. A furnace that is too large for the home will run in short cycles, meaning it runs for a period of time, and then shuts off, instead of heating the come steadily. "It doesn't lead to good comfort in the home," he said.

If the furnace is too small, it won't be able to keep up with the load on very cold days. He said this is why some furnaces are multistage. They can run for a longer cycle on a lower firing rate for steady heat.

"If you undersize it, it's certainly not going to heat your home in extreme cold days," said Dave Lamb of Dave Lamb Heating & Cooling in Fenton. "If it's too large, it will kick on and off, which is less efficient than staying on most the time. You'll have hot and cold spots in the house because it kicks on and off so often."

Dan Lamb of D & T Heating and Cooling in Byron said small furnaces won't keep up with the work load, and big furnaces burn too much fuel.

“You want to make sure whoever does it, does a load calculation to make sure it is being sized properly.”

Celebrate responsibly

Thanksgiving Eve has become the biggest drinking night of the year, with pubs and restaurants filling up with revelers ready to celebrate the onset of the holidays. Unfortunately, all that merrymaking has a downside.

Thanksgiving consistently ranks among the days with the highest alcohol-related traffic fatalities. Please drink responsibly. Have a designated driver with you or arrange to have a friend or family member come pick you up and deliver you home if you have had too much to drink. Be safe and happy holidays!

Open-ceiling sea caves are a popular tourist destination on Na Pali Coast, Kauai.

HAWAII

Kauai

Kauai is Hawaii's fourth largest island and is sometimes called the "Garden Island," which is an entirely accurate description. The oldest and northernmost island in the Hawaiian chain is draped in emerald valleys, sharp mountain spires and jagged cliffs aged by time and the elements. Centuries of growth have formed tropical rainforests, forking rivers and cascading waterfalls. Some parts of Kauai are only accessible by sea or air, revealing views beyond your imagination. You can kayak the Wailua River, snorkel on Poipu Beach, hike the trails of Kokee State Park, or go zip-lining above Kauai's lush valleys.

Molokai

Hawaii's fifth largest island, Molokai is only 38 miles long and 10 miles across at its widest point and is home to the highest sea cliffs in the world and the longest continuous fringing reef. Molokai remains true to its island roots, with a high percentage of its population being of Native Hawaiian ancestry who continue to preserve their rural lifestyle thanks to their love of the land. Whether you're led by a guide along the cliffs leading to Kalaupapa National Historical Park or discovering Papohaku Beach, one of Hawaii's largest white-sand beaches, Molokai is truly an island of outdoor adventure where Hawaii's past comes alive.

Lanai

The smallest inhabited island in Hawaii, Lanai offers big enticements to its visitors. Only nine miles from Maui yet a world away, Lanai can feel like two places. The first is found in luxurious resorts where visitors can indulge in world-class amenities and championship-level golf. The other is found bouncing along the island's rugged back roads in a 4-wheel-drive vehicle to explore off-the-beaten-path treasures.

Weather:

August is the hottest month in Hawaii with an average temperature of 80 degrees F, and the coldest is January at 73 degrees F, with the most daily sunshine hours at 11 in July. The wettest month is November with an average of 4.88 inches of rain.

Favorite traditional foods:

A few of Hawaii's favorite traditional foods include Poke, a raw fish salad served as an appetizer in Hawaiian cuisine, and sometimes as a main course. Saimin is a noodle soup dish developed by different immigrant groups in Hawaii. Inspired by Japanese ramen, Chinese mein, and Filipino pancit, saimin was developed during Hawaii's plantation era. Spam musubi is a popular snack and lunch food in Hawaii composed of a slice of grilled Spam on top of a block of rice, wrapped together with nori in the tradition of Japanese omusubi. Cha siu bao is a Cantonese barbecue-pork-filled bun. The buns are filled with barbecue-flavored cha siu pork. They are served as a type of dim sum during yum cha and are sometimes sold in Chinese bakeries. Loco moco is a meal in the contemporary cuisine of Hawaii. There are many variations, but the traditional loco moco consists of white rice, topped with a hamburger patty, a fried egg, and brown gravy. A malasada is a Portuguese confection, made of egg-sized balls of yeast dough that are deep-fried in oil and coated with granulated sugar. They were first made by inhabitants of the Madeira islands

Airfare:

Roundtrip airfare from Detroit to Honolulu can range from about $600 to approximately $1,000 depending on time of year.

Languages

Hawaii is the only American state to have two official languages, Hawaiian and English. However, a third unofficial language is also widely spoken, Pidgin which is a slang combining words from many aspects of island life and culture.

The current official Hawaiian alphabet consists of 13 letters: five vowels (Aa, Ee, Ii, Oo, Uu) and eight consonants (Hh, Kk, Ll, Mm, Nn, Pp, Ww, okina). Alphabetic order differs from the normal Latin order in that the vowels come first, then the consonants.

MY NOVENA ROSE PRAYER
O Little Therese of the Child Jesus please pick for me a rose from the heavenly garden and send it to me as a message of love. O Little Flower of Jesus, ask God to grant the favors I now place with confidence in your hands. (mention your special prayer request here) St. Therese, help me to always believe as you did, in God's great love for me, so that I may imitate your "Little Way" each day. Amen. FUNERAL ETIQUETTE

When you arrive at the funeral home, go to the family, and express your sympathy with an embrace or by offering your hands. Don't feel as though you must avoid talking about the person who has died.

Talking can help the grieving process begin. If you were an acquaintance of the deceased but not well-known to the family, immediately introduce yourself. Do not feel uncomfortable if you or the family member becomes emotional or begins to cry. Allowing the family to grieve is a natural healing process. However, if you find yourself becoming extremely upset, it would be kinder to excuse yourself so as not to increase the strain on the family.

KEDI

Kedi is not a documentary about house cats or the strays you occasionally see in your back yard. Kedi is a film about the hundreds of thousands of cats who have roamed the metropolis of Istanbul freely for thousands of years, wandering in and out of people's lives, impacting them in ways only an animal who lives between the worlds of the wild and the tamed can. Cats and their kittens bring joy and purpose to those they choose, giving people an opportunity to reflect on life and their place in it. In Istanbul, cats are the mirrors to ourselves. All kinds of cats, roam the city, free, without a human master. Cats are as integral to the identity of Istanbul as its monuments.

OSSO BUCO

There is something ridiculously satisfying about a rich, decadent meal... a meal fit for Italian Royalty. This is where Osso Buco (aka, Milanese braised beef shanks) comes in. Osso Buco is traditionally made with veal but it is JUST as amazing with beef shank. The shank is a relatively inexpensive cut of meat, but with slow braising... it becomes priceless. The shank comes from the leg portion of a steer or heifer. Prepare this dish for a dinner party and the accolades you receive will validate its deliciousness! And, do yourself a favor. Do all of your chopping and prepping ahead of time. It's so worth it, and it makes the meal come together very easily! OK, lets begin! — Trish

INGREDIENTS

- 1.5 c. finely chopped onion
- 1 c. finely chopped carrot
- 1/2 c. finely chopped celery
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/4 c. butter melted
- 4 crosscut beef shanks, preferably 1.5 - 2 in. thick
- 1 tsp salt
- 1 tsp pepper
- 1/2 c. AP flour
- 1/2 c. extra virgin olive oil
- 1/c. dry white wine (I use pinot grigio)
- 28 oz. can plum tomatoes, undrained and chopped
- OR 3 c. coarsly chopped tomato
- 2 c. low sodium chicken broth
- 1/2 cup chopped or 1 tbsp dried parsley
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 tsp basil
- 1/2 tsp thyme
- Cooked rice (enough for 4 servings)

DIRECTIONS

Prep all veggies by chopping as described. In a dutch oven, saute onion, carrot, celery and garlic in the butter until tender, remove from heat and set aside. Preheat oven to 350. Salt and pepper the beef shanks and dredge in flour. Heat olive oil in a large skillet and sear the shanks on both sides. Remove and place in the dutch oven with veggies. Discard oil from skillet and add wine over medium-high heat until it reduces to about 1/2 cup (about 8 minutes). Stir in tomato, and all remaining ingredients except cooked rice and bring to a boil. Once boiling, pour over beef and veggies in dutch oven. Cover and bake at 350 for 2 hours. When done, discard bay leaves. Serve over rice, and ladle the "gravy" or "juice" over the dish. Note: Dip the marrow out of the bones using a small fork. It is so delicious, you won't be sorry! It is a delicacy!
