Holly, Groveland and Rose townships say ‘no way’ to RTA

■ ‘We don’t need any more taxes,’ says Rose Township treasurer

By Vera Hogan
vhogan@tctimes.com
The ability to hop on a bus and go many places may make it worthwhile, but not if the bus doesn’t go through your community. That’s what officials in communities like Holly, Groveland and Rose townships are saying about the proposed Regional Transit Authority (RTA) of Southeast Michigan.

Holly Township Supervisor George Kullis recently traveled to Lansing with other area community leaders to testify before a house committee on the topic. He said there currently is no opt-out option. House Bill 5870, introduced by State Rep. Jim Tedder (R-Dist. 43), would bring back the opt-out option back, Kullis said. The bill is currently in committee.

Boy Scout policy changes leave many unanswered questions

■Mixed feelings emerge as youth organization changes to be more inclusive

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

The Boy Scouts of America recently announced the change of its flagship program name to Scouts BSA, dropping the word “boy” to allow girls.

The company will still retain its name, Boy Scouts of America, and the Boy Scout program, for kids ages 10-17, but it will be renamed Scouts BSA on Feb. 1, 2019.

Cub Scouts will formally accept girls starting this summer, according to USA-Today.com, and more than 3,000 girls in the U.S. have already enrolled in the Early Adopter Program and are participating in Cub Scouts before the full launch.

The announcement also comes around the same time the Mormon church said it will sever all ties with the BSA by the end of 2019. According to CBS, Mormon boys almost always joined the Boy Scouts. It's estimated that without the Mormon boys, the BSA will lose approximately 18.5 percent of the 2.3 million youths in the organization.

“Girls wanting to join will be placed in new girl-only troops and dens.”

Rick Boulis

Former Linden 119 Troop assistant cub master

The church, officially called the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, released a joint statement with the BSA about addressing “diverse needs” and fortifying “all children and youth with gospel-centered growth and learning experiences.” They announced the start of their own global youth program.

Rick Boulis, who served as assistant cub master for the Linden 119 Troop for five years and has two sons who are Boy Scouts, said the admission of girls into the BSA is “nothing new.” Girls have been allowed into the Venture Scouts

TRI-COUNTY TIMES | TIM JAGIELO

The Boys Scouts program will change its name to Scouts BSA, as the organization is allowing girls to join.

since 1969, and they can join programs such as Explorer, STEM, and Sea Scouts.

“The change to admit girls in the Cub Scouts this year and the Boy Scouts next year is just providing uniformity in their programs,” Boulis said. Individual troops and dens will remain boy-only.

“Girls wanting to join will be placed in new girl-only troops and dens. Boy Scouts already interact with girl Venture Scouts at multi-troop events. Cub Scouts may start seeing more girls at their pack meetings where all the dens meet,” he said.

Boulis also explained that this change better aligns with the British and Canadian counterparts because the British Scouts have allowed girls since 1908 and Canada has since 1976. “I don’t feel the change in either name or who can join will have any impact on current scouts or the curriculum they follow for rank advancement,” he said.

Danielle Cusson, mother of Eagle Scout Nicholas Mammel, said she is for equality between men and women but she doesn’t believe combining boys and girls into Scouts BSA is the answer.

Mattel’s ‘Hot Wheels’ went on the market in 1968

Compiled By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

In the 1960s, Elliot Handler, a cofounder of Mattel, Inc., envisioned a die-cast car to surpass the popular English Matchbox brand. He wanted a line of toy cars to dominate Mattel’s boys’ division just as its Barbie doll had become the strongest brand in its girls’ division.

Handler insisted that the toy cars look authentic, so the project enlisted Harry Bradley, a top auto designer from Chevrolet, to lead the toy design team. What Handler really wanted was not the cars of Detroit, but the radical versions altered by custom-car shops — like vehicles he often saw on California’s highways. And Handler wanted his little cars to zoom.

As a result, Mattel engineers produced “muscle” cars with thick, plastic mag wheels built for speed and minimal friction axles that featured “torsion-bar suspension,” which gave the cars shock absorbency and wheel bounce.

• This is probably about the most obvious thing I've ever written, but, holy cow, are the theme parks in Orlando expensive. I hadn't been to one in 25 years. Back then, it cost an arm and a leg. This time it cost an arm, a leg and all of the arms and legs of the next 10 generations of Hellers to come. Sorry about that, future Hellers, but I'm sure they'll have fantastic bionic replacements by the time you arrive.

• Which one did we go to? Well, I don't want to be unfair but it's one that sort of rhymes with "reversal" and has

Harry Potter attractions. The lovely yet formidable Marcia and her sidekick daughter, Annie, are big Potterheads, so off we went. I must say the sets of Diagon Alley, Hogwarts castle and Hogsmeade are incredible. But they're also mostly just stores that sell so-so food and souvenirs. The 3-D rides were also fun but were only four minutes long. The cheapo in me kept thinking, "Think of all the money I could have saved by plunking Annie and Marcia on the couch, sticking on a blu-ray of "Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban" and shaking the couch."

• I just read that robo-calls are at an all-time high. But I knew that already. I used to get none on my cell phone. Now I get three or four a week, which is why I've taken to not answering calls from unfamiliar area codes. I figure if someone doesn't leave a message, they didn't need to call in the first place.

• What I always wonder is if you accidentally answer a robo-call does your number automatically get put on a list of suckers, meaning you'll get more of them? Also, are you saved if you answer but hang up before the recording starts because there's that one second of silence?

• A new bill has passed in North Carolina that would allow drivers to drive through protesters who are blocking the road without being sued, as long as they "exercise due care." There's probably a companion bill coming allowing drivers who run over protesters to sue if their bumper gets dented. Good God, what a world.

• Now that the Pistons have fired Stan Van Gundy, I hope they hire a coach and a GM instead of keeping the duties combined. Sometimes you need two viewpoints. Maybe if they'd had that they wouldn't have drafted the utterly average Stanley Johnson and the eminently forgettable Luke Kennard over Devin Booker and Donovan Mitchell. Can you imagine the team they'd be if they had those two? Stan Van just never adjusted to the new NBA, which is all about dunks and 3-pointers with nothing in between.

• I gotta say it: the Detroit Tigers aren't nearly as awful as I thought they'd be. Their starting pitching is OK and their offense can be fun and productive at times, but their bullpen, whew, my 10-year-old sneakers smell better.

• I think my wife is trying to kill me. She just brought home romaine lettuce from the grocery. Says she's gonna make me a big salad because it's "nutritious." Help me.

• Speaking of which, investigators are saying the romaine that has sickened 150 people and killed one was probably grown in the Yuma region of Arizona, so people shouldn't buy it if it was grown there. OK, but my question is why are grocery chains are still buying it?

TRUMP'S TAX CUTS will borrow money from future generations of wasteful spending and come from expensive, Democratic, taxes. Of course, the Democrats love to waste our money on giveaway programs such as welfare and excessive food stamp.

WARS STARTED BY the previous administration: laws against free speech through the PC culture, the war against cops, the war on the world by creating ISIS, the war on Republicans through the IRS and deep state, the war on Christianity and veterans, and against the American people by corrupting our government.

I WANT TO pass on a 'thank you' to those who cleaned the culvert along the soccer field on Linden Road. With all the emphasis on taking care of the planet, how can we possibly allow so much litter to collect? Don't mean to sound naive but are there really people in our community who think nothing of throwing trash from their cars?

THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL Committee wants to legalize pot across the country. Senators Cory Booker and Kamala Harris are actually leading the charge for legalization. Please note that the Democrats have done very little for the opioid crisis and very little to stop the flow of drugs from across our border. They are hypocrites at the worst.

WHY IS THERE constantly a white SUV parked at the Tyrone Township Hall? Does someone live there?

ZERO OF TRUMP'S 'legal problems' occurred while in office. Clinton lied to all Americans claiming he never 'had sexual relations with that woman.'

TRUMP DOES BUSINESS with foreign companies while Clinton solicits donations from foreign governments.

HARD HATS AND reflector vests — two things I never see the Fenton City workers wearing anymore. I don't think OSHA would approve.

I WANT TO thank the kind woman who helped me last Saturday at a restaurant when I was choking on a chip that lodged in my throat. It was quite a terrifying feeling and I appreciate all that you did.

WONDERING WHICH WARS Obama started? Rise of ISIS, war in Syria, war in Iraq (round three), Yemen, Libya, Somalia and Ukraine. His cowardice increased likelihood of nuclear war with Iran, China and Russia. Obama is the only President ever to have been at war for an entire eight-year tenure.

The Michigan Secretary of State's Office offers numerous classes on riding motorcycles for baby boomers who may need to take a safety course.

Boomers on bikes cause concern

■ Women riders age 40-59 most likely to be involved in motorcycle crash

By Hannah Ball

hball@tctimes.com; 810-433-6792

Baby boomers who ride motorcycles are a concern for Michigan Secretary of State Ruth Johnson.

On May 3, Johnson released a statement encouraging baby boomers who ride motorcycles to take a returning-rider safety course, even if they've ridden for years. "Riders in their 50s and 60s who are getting back into motorcycling are strongly encouraged to take one of the rider education refresher courses we offer," Johnson said. "People joke about never forgetting how to ride a bike, but operating a motorcycle is different. It requires constant practice to develop the judgment and skills necessary to identify and avoid hazardous situations on the road."

According to the Secretary of State's Office, male riders age 50-69 were involved in 34.1 percent of all two-vehicle crashes involving a motorcycle and 33.6 percent of all single-vehicle crashes. Female riders age 40-59 is the group most likely to be involved in a multiple vehicle crash or single vehicle crash.

"Our goal is to keep everyone safe on the road," Johnson said. "Motorcyclists should take a rider education safety course, always wear the proper gear and make sure they have the motorcycle endorsement before they ride."

Johnson made the announcement at a news conference to start Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month, and arrived on a 1200cc Harley-Davidson Sportster with a group of riders. The awareness campaign aims to promote rider safety training, having a motorcycle endorsement, wearing high-visibility gear and encouraging motorists to share the road with cyclists.

Michigan State Police attended the conference.

“People joke about never forgetting how to ride a bike, but operating a motorcycle is different.”

Ruth Johnson
Michigan secretary of state

F/Lt. Michael Shaw said, "We always believe any extra training riders can take is great. Also for those who haven't ridden in a while it's a great way to get back in the saddle, so to speak."

Shaw said the best advice for driving a motorcycle safely is wearing a helmet and clothing that can easily be seen by other motorists.

The Secretary of State's Office offers numerous courses such as the Returning Rider Basic Rider Course and the Advanced Rider Course, along with classes for three-wheeled motorcycles, and a basic course for drivers who are new to motorcycling.

The Secretary of State's Office is promoting three-wheeled vehicles for baby boomers, and offers a few courses on using the vehicles.

"Three-wheeled vehicles offer another exciting possibility for riders," Johnson said. "But whether you are on two wheels or three, the most important thing you can do is make sure you have the skills and training required to ride safely."

Rose Township constable position dissolved

■ Will not be up for vote in 2020 when current elected period expires

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

The constable position at Rose Township will never appear on the ballot again. The Rose Township Board of Trustees voted to dissolve the position once it expires in November 2020.

Emile Bair, who held the elected office for decades, became ill and can no longer do the job. After some prior discrepancies on whether Bair really intended to resign, the Board of Trustees accepted his resignation at its March meeting.

During both the Feb. 14 and March 14 Rose Township Board of Trustees meetings, it was reported that Bair was asking people in the township to help him. They said he could no longer do his job and their bringing a letter of resignation to his health care facility to sign was his doing and that he requested it.

But at the Feb. 14 meeting, Bair's wife Katherine said publicly, "Imagine my shock that someone from this office went to the (care facility) to have my husband sign it without my knowledge. We're not ready to commit at this time."

Others who spoke during public comment also expressed their displeasure at how this was handled.

Supervisor Dianne Scheib-Snyder, Treasurer Paul Gambka and Deputy Treasurer Denise Hanley said resigning was Bair's wish and that they were helping him.

Clerk Debbie Miller said the entire matter was handled inappropriately. "There are laws to protect people when an individual is on medication and in a hospital or rehab facility," she said.

At the March 14 meeting, just before voting 3 to 2 to accept Bair's signed letter of resignation, it was stated that the family had 30 days in which to bring the board something regarding their position on the matter.

Clerk Debbie Miller and Trustee Glen Noble cast the dissenting votes.

On Tuesday, March 20, Katherine said due to the current state of his health, she doesn't think her husband can go back to work. But that was not the case earlier this year when he signed the letter of resignation, she said.

"I was blindsided at the time," Katherine said about the Feb. 14 meeting.

The family did not come forward in the 30-day period. After voting to dissolve the position when it expires in 2020, the board voted favorably to give Dave Plewes, the township's zoning administrator, the job. He has been doing the work of the constable for a couple of years.

Plewes has been paid $6,000 a year for code enforcement duties. Now that he will be taking over for Bair, he will be paid an additional $6,000 annually.

Markle will be 12th American, third actress to marry royalty

■ Will become the bride of Prince Harry on Saturday, May 19

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-433-6823

On Saturday, May 19, American actress Meghan Markle, 36, will become the bride of Prince Harry (Prince Henry of Wales KCVO), 33, a member of the British royal family. He is the younger son of Charles, Prince of Wales, and the late Diana, Princess of Wales, and is sixth in the line of succession to the British throne.

Once married, Meghan will be known as Princess Rachel Meghan, Her Royal Highness The Duchess of Sussex. Rachel is her first name. The dukedom of Sussex will be conferred upon Prince Harry on the day of the royal marriage.

Although Meghan is bi-racial and a divorcee, none of that matters today, unlike 82 years ago, in 1936, when King Edward VIII of England abdicated the throne to marry a twice-divorced American, Wallis Simpson. As head of the Church of England, the idea of Edward marrying a divorcee was against all religious, legal, and moral reasons, according to town-andcountrymag.com.

On Dec. 11, 1936, radio stations around the world broadcast Edward's abdication speech:

"At long last I am able to say a few words of my own. I have never wanted to withhold anything, but until now it has not been constitutionally possible for me to speak.

"A few hours ago I discharged my last duty as King and Emperor, and now that I have been succeeded by my brother, The Duke of York, my first words must be to declare my allegiance to him. This I do with all my heart.

"You all know the reasons which have impelled me to renounce the Throne. But I want you to understand that in making up my mind I did not forget the country or the Empire which as Prince of Wales, and lately as King, I have for twenty-five years tried to serve. But you must believe me when I tell you that I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and to discharge my duties as King as I would wish to do without the help and support of the woman I love."

The royal wedding will be televised on PBS at 7 a.m. local time, Saturday, May 19.

Rosemary Stickel, 96, of Fenton, was 14 at the time and said she remembers it well. Of King Edward, she said, "We knew he was kind of a gadabout, not a serious king," she said. "He wasn't a good king.

He liked the ladies but settled on this divorcee. No one liked her, especially the royal family.

Ex post facto laws – Part II

On June 24, 2012, the United States Supreme Court ruled in Miller v. Alabama that it was unconstitutional to have a mandatory sentence of life in prison without the possibility of parole for juveniles who have been convicted of murder.

In 2016, the Court determined in Montgomery v. Louisiana that Miller was to be applied retroactively to all similarly situated juvenile defendants.

Between the decisions in Miller and Montgomery, there were various actions taken by individual states to address a myriad of questions including the possibility of Miller being made retroactive.

In Michigan a statute was enacted in 2014, which addressed what the law would be if this happened.

It included a procedure for the Court to resentence all affected defendants to either the same non-parolable life sentence or to a parolable sentence of 60 years maximum with the minimum term being not less than 25 years or more than 40 years.

Another part of the statute stated that a resented defendant "... shall not receive any good time credits, special good time credits, disciplinary credits, or any other credits that reduce the defendant's minimum or maximum sentence."

When Montgomery was decided, this statute became the law and defendants are now gradually being resented. They have been nicknamed "juvenile lifers."

Questions were raised as to the constitutionality of the "no credit" provision as, before the statute became effective, some defendants were allowed by statute to earn good time and disciplinary credits because their crimes had been committed before April 1, 1987 when good time was abolished or Dec. 15, 1998 when disciplinary credits were also abolished.

On April 9, 2018 the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan held in Hill v. Snyder that this statute was unconstitutional as being a violation of the Ex Post Facto Clause of the United States Constitution as it retroactively took away a right that eligible juvenile lifers had.

On May 4, 2018, the Michigan Court of Appeals in People v. Wiley made the same ruling but added that the statute also violated the Ex Post Facto Clause of Michigan's Constitution.

Appeals are possible and this may not be the final word on this issue. We will all have to wait and see.

Ex post facto laws – Part I was published in the May 9 Midweek Times.

Officials from Holly, Groveland and Rose townships are opposed to having their residents getting taxed big for RTA services that only benefit the Detroit area.

'NO WAY'

If the proposal is placed on the November ballot, voters will be asked to support a 20-year, 1.5-mill ($1.50 per $1,000 of taxable value) regional transit tax proposal called "Connect Southeast Michigan."

A homeowner with a taxable value of $50,000 would pay $75 per year, and a home with a taxable value of $100,000 would pay $150 per year.

If the proposal is approved by voters in the tri-county region, it would generate $5.4 billion over 20 years and leverage an additional $1.3 billion in rider fees, state and federal revenues to support upgrades in transit and mobility for southeast Michigan.

According to theoaklandpress.com, Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson has been supportive of a regional transit plan, but only one that would tax the county's 24 opt-in communities, not the 37 opt-out communities.

County voters shot down a similar regional transit tax in November 2016 by a very narrow margin with 293,510 residents voting against it compared to 292,401 voting in favor of the proposal.

At its Wednesday, May 9 meeting, Rose Township officials approved a resolution to try to opt out of this millage.

"We don't need any more taxes," said Treasurer Paul Gambka.

"This is something that we'll never benefit from," said Clerk Debbie Miller.

The resolution states that 69 percent of Rose Township voters gave a "clear and resounding 'no' vote against the RTA tax in the Nov. 8, 2016 general election. It also states that Wayne County Executive Warren Evans "has floated another RTA plan which is almost identical to the one rejected by voters in 2016 that would force Rose Township taxpayers to pay for his RTA plan against their will if the plan were to be placed on an upcoming ballot..."

The resolution states that the citizens of Rose Township would have their taxes increased for the next 20 years, $389,993 per year, a 40 percent increase, if the RTA millage would be imposed.

Rose Township board members enthusiastically support any plan and legislation that would enable Rose Township to opt out of any future RTA vote and tax.

Supervisor Robert DePalma said the Groveland Township Board of Trustees passed the same resolution as Rose at its Monday, May 14 meeting.

A representative from Detroit told those testifying before the committee that this millage would serve a large region. "The problem when you talk about a region is the people in our area don't travel to Detroit to shop," Kullis said. "To me this is taxation without representation."

He said he told another gentleman present, "I have 11,000 residents, you have 70,000 residents. If all of my residents vote against this, you can still outvote us."

"When you talk about economic development, what tax area is going to be serviced by this," Kullis said. "The residents in Holly Township pay 1 mill to run the township. The schools that desperately need money have already experienced two failed millages. The roads are terrible..."

Kullis said the representatives that don't live in the city "get it." Those who live in the city "want it."

As an example, Kullis said the people of Clarkston, which is closer to the "region," are 15 miles away from being able to use an RTA bus.

All blood type donations are important and in particular, O negative blood is in demand. Donation appointments are preferred, but drop-ins are always welcome. There is a sign-up in the hall or you can visit www.redcrossblood.org.

Linden council approves funds for handicap ramp and door

The Linden City Council unanimously approved a project to install a ramp and automatic door at the front of city hall to make the building handicap accessible. City Manager Paul Zelenak recommended the council approve the project with the amount not to exceed $30,595. The city received one bid from Fenton contractor Patrick Widing. The majority of the funds will come from Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) money from Genesee County in the amount of $22,840. The city is planning to apply for additional CDBG money from the county, but if they can't secure the additional money needed, it will come from the general fund. The improvements will meet all Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements.

"I think it was Winston Churchill (former British Prime Minister) who told him he had to abdicate," Stickel said. "He could have had her as his mistress, but insisted that he wanted to marry her."

"I didn't think it was especially romantic and it was good that he was no longer a king," she said. "I imagine there were some teenage girls who thought it was romantic. I think Winston surely wrote that speech."

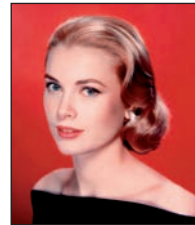

While Wallis never held the title of "Her Royal Highness," after marrying Edward, she became the Duchess of Windsor and the two went into exile in places like the Bahamas, Florida, New York, and Paris. Though her relationship with the British royal family remained fractured, when Wallis died in 1986 the funeral was attended by Queen Elizabeth, Prince Charles, and Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother. Her final blessing was performed by the archbishop of Canterbury—a firm sign of royal respect—and she was buried next to Edward, who died in 1972, at Frogmore in Windsor.

The soon-to-be Princess Rachel Meghan will become the 12th American woman, and third actress, to marry into royal families. The following are two other American actresses who married into royalty:

Grace Kelly

Academy Award-winning actress Grace Kelly somehow became even more famous when she married His Serene Highness Rainier III, Prince of Monaco. Grace was in the south of France for the Cannes Film Festival screening of her film "The Country Girl" (which would eventually win her a Best Actress Oscar).

She and Prince Rainier were engaged by Christmas and married in April 1956. She was 26 years old. Kelly lived in Monaco, never acting again, until her death at the age of 52 in a car accident.

Rita Hayworth

Hayworth was one of Hollywood's brightest stars when she met and married Italian-born Prince Aly Khan, son of the Aga Khan, the Imam of Ismaili Muslims and a direct descendant of the Prophet Muhammad.

*Source: townandcountrymag.comPolice&Fire*report*NO SEATBELT LEADS TO WEAPONS ARREST

On Saturday, May 12, at 5 p.m., a Fenton police officer initiated a traffic stop on a pickup truck after seeing that the driver was not wearing his seatbelt. When making contact with the driver, a 22-year-old Holly man, the officer detected the odor of marijuana from within the truck. In a search of the truck the officer recovered marijuana, open intoxicants and a pistol, which was hidden. The weapon was registered to the driver, however, he did not have a concealed pistol license (CPL). The man was arrested for possession of a concealed weapon, which is a five-year felony, and possession of marijuana and open intoxicants, both misdemeanors. The man was jailed overnight at the Fenton police station and questioned in the morning. Warrants are pending.

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP MAN ARRESTED FOR DISORDERLY INTOXICATION

On Saturday, May 12, at 12:28 a.m., Fenton police responded to a business on Mill Street that serves alcohol. Employees called police because of an unruly and intoxicated patron. Upon arrival, Fenton police made contact with the suspect, a 51-year-old White Lake Township resident, who was standing on the sidewalk. As the officer tried to question the man, he took an aggressive stance and yelled profanity toward the officer. The officer drew her taser, at which time the man tried to run away. The officer deployed her taser and the man was taken into custody although he continued to resist. He was arrested for obstructing and resisting arrest and disorderly intoxication. Because of his intoxication and demeanor, he was lodged overnight at the Genesee County Jail. Warrants are pending.

BREAK-IN ON MEADOW POINTE DRIVE

On May 10, at 4 p.m., Fenton police responded to a home on Meadow Pointe Drive to investigate a breaking and entering complaint. The homeowner told police that when she arrived home, her dog was behaving oddly and barking at something inside the home. The homeowner looked down her stairs and saw an unknown man standing at the bottom of the stairs. The intruder was described as a white male, about 30 years old and approximately 5-feet, 10-inches tall. When the intruder saw the homeowner, he fled out a sliding door. A K-9 unit responded, however, it was unsuccessful in tracking the suspect. Reported missing was a $20 controller for an X-box unit.

FOR ALL YOU people who have nothing better to do than complain. Trump is president — get over it. Kids are disrespectful and lazy because of their Parents.

IF YOU SEE something wrong with your town — fix it. Marijuana isn't bad for all people. If your house or yard is a mess — clean it up. Don't be complaining.

TO THE HOT-LINER wondering about Obama corruption, let's just start a list. Fast and furious gun running, Benghazi, Clinton email server, VA scandal on neglected vets, IRS targeting conservative groups, $500 million to Solyndra and their bankruptcy, ignored Russian influence on the election.

TO THE PERSON want examples of Obama breaking the law, try illegally arming Mexican drug cartels and ISIS, DACA, Lois Lerner, wire tapping AP reporters, Benghazi, using tax dollars to influence foreign elections, spent tax dollars to re-settle illegals inside USA, keep your health insurance and it won't cost a penny more. Need I go on?

I AGREE WITH the suggestion that Fenton Township adopt an ordinance pertaining to big blue trash cans. They should be kept out of sight except on trash collection day.

waiting for the bus and a red truck, with a black bed and tailgate, drove by her numerous times. She was frightened and went back into her house. While inside, she saw the truck pull in her driveway and wait there for approximately 10 minutes.

"This is a good reminder that we should be talking with our students about awareness and safety," Hartley said. "The student chose to do the right thing by going back to her house and notifying her parents."

On Monday, Lt. Jeff Cross said the young girl did everything right and that she was able to give a very detailed description of the truck. The front end and the cab of the truck were red. Everything back of the cab, including the bed and tailgate were black. The girl also reported that the man driving the truck made a pointing gesture toward her.

On Tuesday, a neighbor called Fenton police to report that a painter he had hired had gotten lost and drove past the student and bus stop several times looking for his home. The neighbor said the painter did not intend any harm and didn't realize the amount of concern there would be by pulling into the driveway.

Cross confirmed the neighbor's story and said the painter could not find the neighbor's house since the numbers were not visible on the front of the house. "He was there for a valid reason," Cross said.

Hot Wheels actually made a car coated in diamonds. It was designed by a celebrity Beverly Hills jeweler to celebrate the brand's 40th anniversary. Over 3,000 diamonds combined for just under 23 carats.

Kids coveted the 16 muscle models — custom Barracudas, Camaros, Corvettes, Cougars, Firebirds, and others — that Mattel first offered in 1968. Mattel's designers enhanced the cars' appeal with the candy colors of Spectraflame, a painting process that revealed the shiny metal beneath the colors. The toy company developed flexible, plastic tracks for racing Hot Wheels, complete with the famous loop that became the symbol of the brand to several generations of kids.

Hot Wheels' success increased with each year's new models. Sales topped $16 million in the first year. More than 800 models and 11,000 variations of Hot Wheels have been manufactured.

Some things people don't know about Hot Wheels include:

Hot Wheels released its 1968 "Custom Corvette" before General Motors released the real deal.

The generally accepted tale is that since Harry Bradley had worked at GM just prior to his stint with Hot Wheels, he managed to acquire the plans to the car, thus enabling an early release. These days manufacturers are upset if so much as a grainy photo leaks a couple hours early.

The first few years of Hot Wheels models all had a red stripe on the tires. Prices on these are significantly higher than most other cars, and it's not uncommon to see prices exceeding $100 each.

Every single one of the 16 original Hot Wheels is based on an actual customized vehicle. Not just normal vehicles either. The Dodge Deora was designed by two brothers in 1964, and it won so many awards that Chrysler actually bought it and kept it amongst other concept vehicles for years, before selling it to a major collector.

Today, there are more Hot Wheels models than real cars in the world. More than 4 billion have been produced since the first was cast in 1968.

Hot Wheels actually made a car coated in diamonds. It was designed by a celebrity Beverly Hills jeweler to celebrate the brand's 40th anniversary. Over 3,000 diamonds combined for just under 23 carats.

Some collectors are lifelong devotees. There are multiple people with collections topping 30,000 cars, and one of their collections has an estimated value of over $1 million.

FOSTER CHILD'S TRIBUTE to mothers was touching, except for the one about the moment a child is born. 'She never existed before. The woman existed, but the mother, never.' I beg to differ. Women foster, adopt, and take care of children who are not their own. I know because I am one, a mother.

UNION BLOCK

Owned by Dr. Nicole Wax of Wax Orthodontics, this two-story building will now host two unnamed tenants on the first floor, and Dr. Wax Orthodontics and another unnamed tenant will be located on the second floor.

The vote passed 6-0, with commissioners Ray Culbert and Aaron Wiens, and Chairperson Bill Swor absent.

Daniel Cusson, vice chairperson of the Planning Commission, said, "I believe that the board had no major issues with the plan. If they did it wouldn't have passed unanimously."

Adam Young, city planner and zoning administrator, gave the commission an overview at the meeting. In September 2017, Wax requested approval for a 12,425-square-foot, two-story mixed use building with ground floor office space for her business, ground floor retail space for unnamed tenants, and four second floor condominium units. This final site plan was approved, but Wax decided not to proceed.

In this second final site plan, Wax requested approval to construct a 14,833-square-foot, two-story mixed-use building.

Along with the building, the commission approved a 23-space parking lot with access from North Bridge Street on the north side of the building. Additional improvements include a dumpster enclosure, landscaping, sidewalk and utility improvements.

The 0.48 acres of land is zoned Central Business District (CBD), which allows retail, commercial uses, medical office and general office uses.

After a recommendation from Fire Chief Brian Will, the building also will be fire suppressed. Fire suppression systems help to control and extinguish a fire without human intervention, which includes a sprinkler system.

"I believe that the board had no major issues with the plan. If they did it wouldn't have passed unanimously."

Daniel Cusson
Linden Planning Commission vice chairperson

The applicant was required to outline the loading/unloading activities in the plan to make sure there will be minimal interference to site access lanes and parking spaces. The sidewalk must connect to the city sidewalk to the east of the building, and the plan must comply with Michigan Barrier Free Code requirements.

The landscape plantings fronting Bridge Street shall be maintained at a height of 3 feet. If the existing traffic light pole at the northeast corner of Bridge and Broad streets has to be moved, the cost will be covered by the owner or negotiated with the city.

Dixon Architecture, civil engineering and planning company Wade Trim, and engineering consultants HRC are also working on the project.

Wax bought the property in April 2016 from the LaFontaine family, who acquired the property for $186,000 after a fire on May 18, 2007 destroyed the Union Block building.

SUMMARY

■ The final site plan for Dr. Wax's development in downtown Linden was approved May 7.

"A similar program already exists in Girl Scouts for young women. I wish efforts were put into making Girl Scouts a better program and increasing the recognition of young women who earn the Gold Award," she said.

Cusson said she's concerned about having young men and women at the same outings and camps. More oversight would be necessary.

"I am concerned the change in dynamics will have a negative impact on the bonds developed through scouts," Cusson said. "My son has become more independent and confident over his years in scouting. He has developed great friendships and found positive role models in Boy Scouts.

"I hope the new Scouts BSA will be successful and a fulfilling program for all those in scouting. Personally, I will continue to help as a merit badge counselor and be a supportive parent."

Mammal, who's in Troop 219 Eagle Scout Class of 2017, said he does not believe girls should be admitted into the program. He said the Girl Scouts should have made improvements instead of letting girls join the Boy Scouts.

"Throughout my Boy Scouting career, I have been taught to face my problems and fix them, not to run away from them and take the easy way out. If I had girls in my troop, then it would make it much more difficult to plan outings and activities due to the extra planning required for separate facilities and extra supervision, as well as the fact that it would be a huge distraction for most boys," he said.

Underclassmen display their talent at Fenton fresh/soph track meet

■ Holly's Ruiz breaks school record in 1,600 meter run

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

It was a fresh-soph meet at Fenton High School on Saturday, but that doesn't mean the event can't be historical.

It was for Holly freshman Andrea Ruiz.

Ruiz, who already holds Holly High School's best cross country time in girls' school history, earned another school mark at Fenton High School when she won the 1,600 with a time of 5:09.97. Her first was just one of three Holly earned and one of 11 tri-county athletes earned at the meet.

"Andrea has been working on running more of an even split race, and that is exactly what she did Saturday," Holly varsity track coach Nick Ejak said. "I wanted her to be able to run at least 5:10 (the additional qualifying time for state finals) prior to regionals. She ran a tough race, and is ready to run even faster the rest of this season."

Holly had another young star earn two individual firsts, the only area athlete to do so at the meet — Annah Charles.

Tigers dig out of hole, capture Metro crown

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Fenton — The Fenton varsity girls soccer team needed a victory to lock up the Metro League championship Monday night, but for a good chunk of the first half, it didn't look like that was going to happen.

Flushing jumped out to an early 2-0 lead and life wasn't looking good for the Fenton Tigers. However, the Tigers scored a late first-half penalty kick, scored three goals in the second half and keeper Lauren Koscielniak made two pivotal saves within seconds of each other, leading the Tigers to a 4-2 win at home and to the outright Metro title with one league game still remaining.

"I'm just so happy we could do it as a team and come back from 2-0," said junior Lauren Murphy, who scored three goals. "We stayed together and fought hard. It was great."

Trailing 2-0, the Tigers got their first big break when a penalty kick was called with 1:55 remaining in the half. Murphy took it and scored. Fenton trailed just 2-1 at the half.

"I think it gave our team confidence and a chance to realize we were still in this," Murphy said. "We thought we could still come back, fight and win."

In the second half, the Tigers attacked, but Flushing held strong for the first 20 minutes of the second session. Finally, the Fenton keeper Lauren Koscielniak prepares to make a second save within seconds of each other during the Tigers' 4-2 victory against Flushing on Monday. She made a penalty kick save and then had to make this save on a rebound show off the PK miss.

Tigers tied it up on some strong individual play by Kirsten Foor. She dribbled with the ball between two defenders and took a shot that scored the tying goal with 18:17 left. From there, it only felt like a matter of time before the Tigers would get the lead.

The lead came less than three minutes later when Erin Conroy crossed a ball to the farside post to Murphy who scored it. Fenton led 3-2 with 15:42 left.

But the game wasn't decided yet.

Fenton graduate and Trine University hockey player Eryn Isaacson (middle) tries to score a goal during one of her team's games during the winter.

Fenton's isaacson helps trine University make hockey history

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

Eryn Isaacson was probably best known for her soccer abilities when she was a student at Fenton High School.

That makes sense. She played on Fenton's varsity girls soccer team, and was a member of the Division 2 state finalist squad while playing with the Tigers.

But she also plays hockey, and is a strong hockey player as well. She played her freshman season with the Metro League Griffins, and eventually played on a girls 19U Tier 2 travel team. Her squad, the Ann Arbor Cougars, won the state championship and advanced to the national championships before losing.

But the 2017 Fenton graduate's hockey career didn't end there. She's now attending Trine University, and is a member of the school's first-ever women's hockey team. Isaacson had a pretty strong first season. She played in 20 games, scoring eight goals and dishing five assists. The forward led the team in goals and points scored.

"It's very cool and I'm honored," Isaacson said. "It's very exciting. It is new for everyone here and we have a new arena on campus, so everyone was pretty fired up about that. We had a lot of people show up."

New programs do have their share of disadvantages. First off, where do

Tigers earn six event firsts at Davison Twilight Classic

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com

The Fenton varsity track program headed to Davison to compete in the annual Davison Twilight Classic, and came home with six event first-place efforts.

The boys ended up tying for third while the girls placed fourth as a team in the large school division.

Alexa Keiser and Abbey Lee were the only tri-county performers to earn two event firsts. Lee won the 3,200 (12:15.35) while Keiser won the 1,600 (5:14.47). The pair also teamed with Kaitlin Bayer and Cambria Tiemann to win the 3,200 relay (10:07.86).

The Fenton girls' team's final first was earned by Cassandra Campbell. She took first in the 300 hurdles (48.40).

"I'm very pleased with how the girls have been performing this season," Fenton varsity girls track and field coach Melanie Hall said. "They have had tough conditions but they have proven that they want to compete and have not let that affect them. Alexa has been running very well and is ready for regionals. Cassie Campbell had a great race last week that placed her at the top of the 300 hurdles for regionals."

Metro race tightens up a bit; Linden splits dH with Holly

By David Troppens

dtroppens@tctimes.com

Holly — It was the classic pitcher's duel with both teams combining for just five hits and no runs for the first nine innings of the contest.

Clutch hits were not a thing in the Bronchos' first game of a doubleheader against Linden. So when the game-deciding action happened, it was probably fitting it wasn't a hit — it was a sacrifice fly.

The Holly Bronchos broke a 0-0 tie in the bottom of the 10th inning when Holly pinch hitter Mike Bednarczyk hit a bases loaded one-out sacrifice fly, plating JD Lannon from third base. It gave the Bronchos a 1-0 victory.

Linden answered back with a 14-2 victory in the second game, maintaining the Eagles' grip on first place. However, the grip is a bit looser as they are now tied with Fenton in the loss column with two losses. Fenton has played two less Metro games than Linden.

"I was looking for a fast-ball to drive out to the outfield and score the run," Bednarczyk said about his game-winning plate appearance.

Linden makes bad weather worth it, places high at Davison

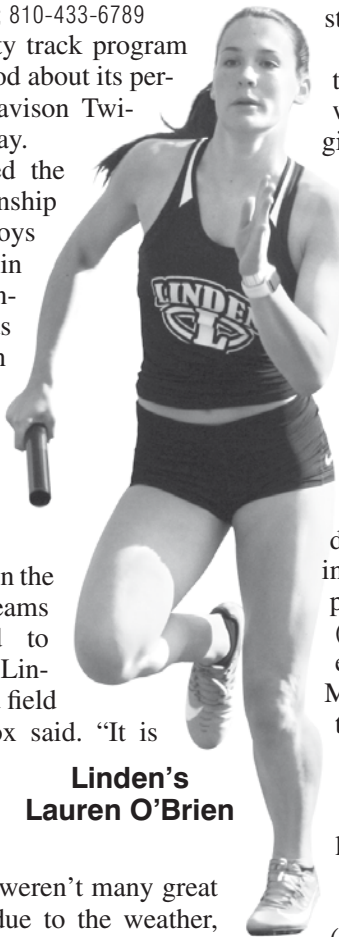

By David Troppens
dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

The Linden varsity track program had to feel pretty good about its performances at the Davison Twilight Classic on Friday.

The girls captured the meet's championship while the Linden boys took second place in horrible weather conditions. The squads combined to earn five firsts in the medium-sized division and had many more strong top-three performances.

"After a hard day in the cold and rain both teams were very excited to have done so well," Linden varsity track and field coach Benjamin Cox said. "It is always a little more upbeat ride home when you have a trophy with you. Unfortunately there weren't many great times or distances due to the weather, but I saw some great determination out there, and with a full week of practice to get ready for regionals we should be ready. We have several athletes right on the cusp of qualifying for the state finals so the (regional) meet on Friday should be an exciting one. Hopefully we are taking a big group to Zeeland (the state meet) in a couple weeks."

Lake Fenton also competed in the medium division of the event with the boys taking sixth and the girls finishing ninth.

The Linden girls had only one event first. That was earned by Taylor Acox in the 300 hurdles with a time of 52.20 seconds. But what the girls lacked in firsts, they made up for by having nine other individual top-four efforts.

Acox's biggest competition in the 300 hurdles was teammate Lauren O'Brien who took second in the event (54.70). Maddie Smith also earned a second in the discus (93-10). Acox also placed third in the 100 hurdles (17.46), while Oliva Stoddard earned third in the 400 (1:06.58), Maddie Koehler earned third in the high jump (4-7), McKenzie Haubenstricker took third in the pole vault (7-6) and Alexis Pisoni also finished third in the long jump (14-2). The squad had two individual fourths. Meghan Hitt earned one in the 3,200 (13:06.26), while Sophie Austin had one in the high jump (4-7).

The Linden boys had four individual firsts in events, but that still kept them three points short of St. Johns first-place team score of 187.

Blue devils split GaC twinbill with Montrose

By David Troppens
dtroppens@tctimes.com; 810-433-6789

It was one of those weird doubleheader results you occasionally get in high school baseball.

The Lake Fenton varsity baseball team crushed Montrose 15-0 in the opening contest of their twinbill on Monday. However, the Lake Fenton bats were silenced a tiny bit in the second game, resulting in a 5-3 Montrose win.

The opening game took just three innings, as Lake Fenton (8-13) used 10 hits, four walks and four Montrose errors to win the contest by the 15-run mercy rule.

"It was hard because there is a big transition from travel hockey to college hockey," Isaacson said.

Blue devils' softball crushes Montrose

Every now and then, the Lake Fenton varsity softball team will have an offensive game against a Genesee Area Conference foe that makes fans take notice.

The Blue Devils had one of those days on Monday. Lake Fenton scored 48 runs in just nine innings of at bats en route to a 25-0, 23-0 sweep of Montrose.

It didn't look like it would end up that way. The Blue Devils went out in order in the top of the first inning of the opening game. However, Lake Fenton scored nine runs in the second, two more in the third and 14 more in the fourth.

eagles sweep Bronchos in Metro dH

Tuesday's Linden at Holly varsity softball battle probably could've been billed as the battle for second place in the Metro League race.

Considering Swartz Creek was three games ahead of both teams in the loss column and Clio finished Monday with a split, giving them five Metro losses, chances are the victor on Monday between the two tri-county rivals has a good chance of finishing in second.

The Eagles were the squad that took advantage, earning an 8-2 and a 5-2 doubleheader sweep against the Bronchos.
