Car Wash

Auto washes, from full-service to 'quarter' washes, reflect local economy, community attitude

By Tim Jagielo

tjagielo@tctimes.com; 810-433-6795

The hum of machinery, the sound of water spraying and the splat of soap landing on vehicles is all in a day's work for employees at Friendly's Car Wash in Fenton.

After being spray-prepped by owner Edward Mansour and employee James Bannister, the vehicles disappear behind the misting water and vibrating curtains.

After a 30-car rush, both Mansour and Bannister can pause before a few more vehicles pull up. They'll see up to 400 cars on a busy summer weekend day.

There are several car wash options in the tri-county area, from full-service washes, to "quarter" car washes. Fenton has approximately six car washes, which are in full summer weather washing season.

It's possible that Fenton Kar Wash on Silver Lake Road is the oldest auto wash in Fenton, having opened in the 1950s, after it was an auto dealership.

Just sayin'...

Too close for comfort

I wrote an article for this weekend's edition about deadly lightning. In the first paragraph, I reference a tragedy that occurred at Silver Lake Beach on July 23, 1999.

I was there.

My sons were 7 and 9 at the time, and they loved swimming at the beach. We had a seasonal park pass and made sure it paid for itself.

On this particular day, the boys were playing in the water and I was sitting on a blanket about a third of the way up the hill, reading a good book.

I would glance up every few minutes to make sure my sons were in my line of sight, then go back to reading. The cloudless sky was as blue as it could be.

After a while, I glanced up and spotted a small white cloud off in the distance. Nothing to worry about, I thought.

A short time later, I looked up again and saw that my little white cloud was joined by a few others, and they were slightly closer than they were the last time I checked. Still no worries.

I decided to get up at one point and go down to the water, get my feet wet and visit with the boys. They were so happy, having a blast.

They didn't want to come up for a snack just yet, so I went back to the blanket alone and resumed my reading.

Within the next 20 or 30 minutes though, the air started feeling different. It was still warm but not as humid and there was a very slight breeze. I checked the sky and saw that my little clouds had multiplied significantly. But none looked like threatening dark rain clouds so I still wasn't worried.

Then, I looked up and way off in the distance the horizon started looking a little darker, more gray than I was comfortable with. The boys had been in the water for quite a while and probably wouldn't grumble too much if I said it was time to go home.

I still wasn't convinced the weather was going to change that much, but I had an uneasy feeling. The air didn't feel right. So I called the kids up. They complained a little at first, but hopped to it when I promised ice cream when we got home.

We didn't rush, just packed up our things, walked up the hill, stopping at the merry-go-round once for a couple of spins. We reached the car, loaded up and away we went.

We headed east on Owen Road and made it to just about where the Lasco Ford property ends when suddenly the lightning, thunder and heavy rains came down on us. We were halfway home.

I learned later on the news that a woman was struck by lightning at the park before she reached her vehicle, less than an hour after we left. She died in the presence of her child.

That was too close for comfort and proved to me yet again that the weather in this state, and the rapid timing of its changes, is not to be ignored.

CAR WASH

Co-owner Jake Chom said that believe it or not, the salty slushy winter is far busier, seeing as many as 600 cars after a road salting.

For residents who want their cars to look nice this summer, there are a myriad of options.

Most car washes offer a few tiers of what is offered. Chom believes that with each up-charge, "It's worth it. You get more for your money, for sure."

His car wash includes the basics of a spray off, foam soap and water spray and rinse, but then you can add the undercoat spray and protection, and triple wax. He said cars are more thoroughly sprayed and prepped with an up-charge.

Giant muddy trucks are charged extra, which is a recent and necessary development, due to the size difference between vehicles.

With each wash there is someone to spray before the wash, and dry it after.

Chom said that tips aren't required, but appreciated. "The guys count on the tips for part of the money they're making," he said. A dollar or two is fair, which then goes into a pool for everyone to split.

A hallmark of the full-service wash is the conveyor belt that crawls vehicles through the wash. He said his system was recently replaced for $60,000. Starting a new car wash would likely cost $1 million with equipment. "It's a specialty kind of thing so there are only a few people you can get it from," he said.

At his wash, he said they use city water, which is softened, with back-flow prevention. They use new water for each wash.

Chom has worked at the wash since after college, and he said he can almost gauge the economic climate through his clients. "The community and economy; you can watch change just by the car wash, by the way the business runs, by the cars they drive, even the way people act," he said. "You can just see when things start getting better."

Joseph Chatel, president of the Midwest Carwash Association, estimates that tunnel exterior washes in Michigan number approximately 1,200. "You can figure roughly 1,000 to 1,500 car washes in each neighboring state in the Midwest," he said.

He said that "tunnel" washes, where vehicles are washed along a conveyor system are more common, and self-service washes are fading in popularity.

Automated car washes began in the '50s, as a primitive chain-driven system that pulled the vehicle down a straight line while staff would hand scrub, soap, rinse and dry the vehicle all by hand, said Chatel.

The 1960s brought more automated systems, but remained "primitive" into the 1970s.

In the future, he expects more automation and innovation, in areas like chemical engineering.

While carwashes are similar across the U.S., Chatel said that water conservation is the biggest difference between regions. "The West and Southwest regions focus heavily on water conservation, as they are mandated by governing bodies on a much more strict level than the Northern and Eastern regions," he said.

CELEBRITY NAMES

Barbarian Streisand from Cellarmaker Brewing Co. would be a good drink to have during karaoke.

Audrey Hopburn from Great Lakes Brewing appropriately features a lady in an elegant black dress with black gloves on the label.

Ghandi-Bot IPA from New England Brewing Company didn't receive a nice welcome from religious groups.

Ryan and the Gosling from Evil Twin is the correct drink to have when watching your favorite romantic comedies, like "Crazy Stupid Love" or "The Notebook."

With the announcement of the official beer and wine of the Shiawassee River, and more people drinking beer in the summer time, here are 15 odd and/or funny beer names.

Monty Python's Holy Grail Ale

Monty Python's Holy Grail Ale, with the "Gr" crossed off, is sure to inspire movie references. The label claims the beer is "tempered over burning witches."

2

Hoppy Ending Pale Ale

Hoppy Ending Pale Ale, which features an herb wrapped in a blanket getting a massage from an attractive masseuse.

3

Circum Session Ale

Circum Session Ale, which is accompanied with the phrase "A cut above the rest," certainly catches some eyes.

Hoptimus Prime

Hoptimus Prime, from Ruckus Brewing Co., is a reference to the Transformers character Optimus Prime. However, Hoptimus is made from hops, not metal.

Pathological Lager

Pathological Lager from Dock Street Brewing Co. might encourage people to discuss the fibs they're told in their lifetime.

Tart Side of the Moon

Tart Side of the Moon from Brewery Vivant will have you thinking about the different phases of the moon, and singing songs from the classic Disney movie "Mulan."

Lake Fenton High School

Class of 2018 'Top 10'

Freshman year opened many new opportunities to the Class of 2018, but it also created new responsibilities for those students coveting that top spot in class rank. At Lake Fenton High School, class rank was taken so seriously, that six students earned the title of valedictorian. The Top 10 grew to the Top 16. Congratulations to all 16 for their hard work and determination.

Paul Campbell, son of Pamela and Rodney, is co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2018 with a 4.0 grade point average. A member of National Honor Society, Campbell earned first-place with his Mathletes team at Mott Community College in 2017. He also placed first in the school-wide Spelling Bee in 2018 and third in 2017. A recipient of the Michigan Competitive Scholarship, the Kettering Presidential Scholarship, and the John F. and Edith L. Wilsterman Scholarship Trust, Campbell will attend Kettering University in the fall to study Chemical Engineering.

Savanna Crick, daughter of Cristi and Scott, is co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2018 with a 4.0 grade point average. Crick has been a representative on Student Council for the past three years and a member of National Honor Society since 2015. In addition, she also has served in Key Club for the past two years. Crick has played volleyball for three years and has been a team leader for the TV production class for the past two years. A recipient of the Geographic Region Award and the Talented Scholar Award, Crick has been accepted to the Honors College at Oakland University where her field of study will be in the medical field.

Rachel Learman, daughter of Cara and Kevin, is co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2018 with a 4.0 grade point average. A member of National Honor Society since 2016, Learman has also served in Key Club for the past two years and as a youth leader in the St. John Catholic Church Youth Group for four years. Learman has been a member of Marching Band, Concert Band and Jazz Band since 2014, played softball in 2015, ran track for two years and ran cross country for four years, earning awards in several activities. A recipient of the Kettering Presidential Scholarship, Learman plans to pursue a degree from Kettering University in the medical/health sciences field.

John Oraa, son of Julie and Javier, is co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2018 with a 4.0 grade point average. Oraa has been a member of National Honor Society, coordinating the American Red Cross Blood Drive for two of his three years as a member. He has also served on Student Council for the past four years, serving as President in his senior year. He is a member of Key Club and is a Blueberry Ambassador. In addition to his service, Oraa has played football for a year and soccer for two years. He plans to earn a Master's degree in Biomedical Engineering at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Trevor Rosario, son of Tonya and Edward, is co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2018 with a 4.0 grade point average. A member of National Honor Society for three years, Rosario served as president his senior year. For the last two years, he has served as treasurer on Student Council and was involved in Key Club. He has been a member of the HAZMATs Robotics team for four years, as a programmer and product captain, earning a varsity letter. In addition he competed on the Mathletes team for three years, serving as team captain in 2018. In addition to several academic awards, Rosario was active on the football field for three years earning his varsity letter. A recipient of the Michigan Alumni Association Lead Scholarship, the Flint Kiwanis Educational Foundation Scholarship, the Leslie G. Ames Scholarship, the John Olmstead Scholarship, and the Lake Fenton Education Association Scholarship, Rosario will be attending the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor in the fall to earn a degree in Electrical Engineering.

Jarrett Trombley, son of Janice and Sean, is co-Valedictorian of the Class of 2018 with a 4.0 grade point average. Trombley has played football since 2014, earning awards in the Genesee Area Conference. His wrestling career spans all four years with several accolades, including becoming the Michigan High School Athletic Association state champion in his weight class all four years. Trombley has volunteered with the MYWAY Officiating Association through high school. A recipient of the MYWAY Officiating Sponsorship and the North Carolina State University Wrestling Scholarship, Trombley will attend North Carolina State University in the fall to study Biomedical Science, eventually obtaining a medical degree on Orthopedics.

2018

CHRISTOPHER TOMCZAK

You make your Dad and me very proud of all your accomplishments over the last four years. We are excited to see what your new adventure will bring and remember the sky is the limit. We love you to the moon kid.

Cal,

You took a road less traveled, online school so you could train daily in pursuit of your hockey goals. You knew what you wanted and what it would take and you worked hard on and off the ice, every single day. You missed out on many high school milestones but never questioned if the payoff was worth the sacrifice; you knew it was and you stayed focused on your goal. At 16 years old you left your friends and the comfort of Lake Fenton behind to start TPH hockey school. At 17 you moved away from home to live with a billet family in Georgia so you could play AAA hockey. You did all of this between the ages of 16 & 18 years old! YOU did all of this because you are not afraid to do what it takes to reach your hockey goals. We are so proud of your bravery to seek the unknown, your strength to do what is hard and scary, your perseverance to never give up & your hard work and dedication on and off the ice. Congratulations on your graduation from high school. We are so incredibly proud of YOU!

'It really is a family affair'

■ 2014 graduate recalls his exceptional education at Lake Fenton Community Schools

By Sally Rummel
news@tctimes.com; 810-629-8282

Cameron Walker, a 2014 graduate of Lake Fenton High School, isn't your typical 21-year-old.

Not only has he already graduated magna cum laude with his bachelor's degree in political science from Olivet Nazarene University, he also just finished an internship during the spring semester of his senior year at the Washington National Cathedral in Washington, D.C.

His activities were as varied as meeting with President Bill Clinton for the funeral of Togo West, former Secretary of the Army and Veterans Affairs, to meeting Dr. Otis Moss, Jr., a contemporary and friend of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and hearing him preach at the Cathedral. He also was part of the planning of programming to celebrate Black History Month in February.

This summer, he'll be moving to Detroit to begin a summer internship in Quicken Loans' Legal Department. In the fall, Walker will be in his first year of law school at University of Detroit-Mercy.

That's quite a resume builder of academic and professional accomplishments for Walker, but he is quick to give much of the credit for his education thus far to Lake Fenton Community Schools.

"I am consistently reminded of how pivotal and unique my education at Lake Fenton was," said Walker, the son of Darin and Melony Walker of Fenton Township. His mother, two uncles and an aunt also are Lake Fenton alumni.

The salutatorian of his graduating class, Walker recalls looking out in front of his classmates, teachers, friends and family and feeling like he was giving his speech to family.

"I went to school from kindergarten through 12th grade with many of my friends," Walker said. "I had teachers who also taught my mom, my uncles and my aunt and they knew who I was and cared — not just about my grades but me personally."

SUMMARY

■ Cameron Walker graduated from Lake Fenton High School in 2014 and will never forget the quality education and family roots he felt all the way from kindergarten through his senior year.

"I specifically remember being scared out of my mind in sixth grade and Mrs. (Nancy) Harrison knew who I was and made sure I was doing well. It really is a family affair."

In addition to being salutatorian of his class, Walker also was drum major for the Lake Fenton Marching Band and earned the Brad Stone Memorial Scholarship as a graduating senior.

Now in a professional environment, Walker is constantly reminded of the power of his formative years at Lake Fenton. "My first-grade teacher, (the late) Mrs. (Barb) Watson, became like a grandmother to me when my grandma died," he said. "I remember my mom inviting my teachers over for a summer luncheon after school was out."

He's grateful for the roots he got at Lake Fenton that allowed him to grow beyond the four walls of the building.

"I've yet to find a community that is as proud of its school — its band, its football team, its academic programs — as Lake Fenton," Walker said.

"The education I received there was second to none. I can honestly say I would not have been able to succeed to the extent I have without the support and encouragement I received in my K-12 years at Lake Fenton schools. It truly is a family and one that I will always be indebted to."

1998 Lake Fenton valedictorian a teacher at Powers

■ Said she was voted shyest female in her entire graduating class

By Vera Hogan

vhogan@tctimes.com; 810-629-6823

Lorraine Schuler was one of three valedictorians in the Class of 1998 at Lake Fenton. The other two were Karen Dilley and Michelle Hind. They could not be reached.

"I cannot believe that it has been 20 years since I graduated from high school," Schuler said. "I definitely don't feel like it has been that long."

After graduating, Schuler said she wanted to stay close to home and was definitely not ready to go away to school.

"Therefore I chose to attend the University of Michigan in Flint. I graduated in 2003 with a Bachelor of Science degree," she said. "I earned a teaching certificate and have a major in Mathematics and a minor in Earth Science and Computer Science.

"I went back to UM-Flint and graduated in 2012 with a Master of Arts for Technology in Education," she said.

Schuler currently resides in Grand Blanc and lives just a few miles from where she grew up. "I am not married nor have children," she said. "I do have two black and white cats."

Schuler has been a high school teacher since 2003 and has been teaching at Powers Catholic High School in Flint for 15 years. "I have loved every minute of it.

"I have taught math every single year as well as a section of earth and environmental science for three to four years. Currently I am teaching Pre-calculus and AP Calculus," she said. "I am one of the advisors of the National Honor Society (eight years) and have coached Quiz Bowl for 12 years. My team just finished in second place in Class B at the state tournament this year."

Schuler has been the statistician for the varsity football team for 11 years.

"I love being active at school, volunteering, and supporting my students at extracurricular events," she said. "I truly enjoy watching my students learn, explore, think at a deeper level and make connections and be eager to pass their knowledge on to others and put it to use in their career."

Schuler said she likes to travel, spend time with family and friends, go shopping and play the piano.

"This coming December I am going to have the opportunity to travel to Italy — my first time out of North America — with my sister," she said.

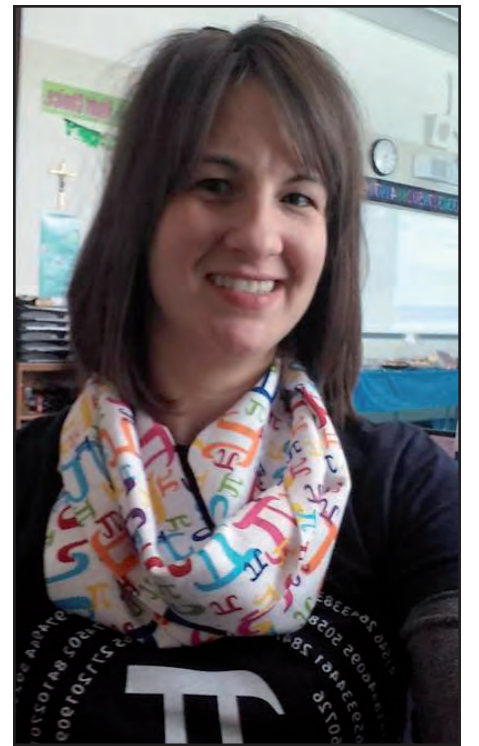

Schuler's advice for this year's graduating seniors is something she shares with her own students.

"Take the next few days and weeks to reflect on your years in high school. More importantly though, reflect on the sacrifices of your family and all of the friendships you have built and connections you have made with those around you," she said. "Keep those memories and all of your accomplishments and successes and God close to your heart, and set your goals and dreams higher than you have before.

"I hope that all of you will continue to dream, to set high goals, to seek ways to achieve beyond your expectations, to love and care, to reach for the highest stars, to believe in yourself, and never give up. Things in life will not always be easy, but with determination, drive, desire, and dedication you will be successful no matter what comes your way. I know that you will be successful in any endeavor you pursue if you give it your all."

Schuler also shared two of her favorite quotes:

"Let no one ever come to you without leaving better and happier. Be the living expression of God's kindness: kindness in your face, kindness in your eyes, kindness in your smile." — Mother Teresa "Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined." — Henry David Thoreau

Eganville

PLAN 30-428

Eganville
First Floor	1966 sq.ft.
Second Floor	1307 sq.ft.
Living Area	3273 sq. ft.
Storage	609 sq. ft.
Shop	468 sq. ft.
Garage	730 sq. ft.
Dimensions	86' x 67'

The Eganville can easily accommodate multigenerational families, along with those that include teenagers, or just want space to spread out. The room to the right of the foyer can house an aging parent, or serve as a den or home office. The shop, behind the garage, is flexible enough to be an art studio, workout space, or rehearsal space.

Size, fabric and comfort are important factors when choosing clothing for dogs.

Shopping for a well-dressed dog

Dog lovers go to great lengths to ensure their pets have everything to keep them healthy, safe and comfortable. Many dog owners extend their love even further to ensure their furry friends put fashionable paws forward.

The American Pet Products Association says that total pet industry expenditures reached more than $60 billion in 2015, and the spending continues to grow. In fact, pet spending is remarkably resistant to economic downturns, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. While food, grooming, vet care, and more are included in the list of necessary items people buy for their dogs, clothing - a nonessential item - has grown in popularity.

The National Retail Federation states around 27.7 million Americans dress their furry friends in costumes for Halloween and other holidays. But buying clothes for everyday occasions also has become the norm for many pet parents, as dog apparel does everything from making pooches look fashionable to protecting them from inclement weather. When shopping and dressing dogs, dog owners can consider these tips.

- Be certain of measurements. Measure a dog from neck to tail, as this is how many manufacturers size their apparel. Going by the measurement is more accurate than estimating whether a dog is small, medium or large on breed charts.

- Avoid overbuying for a puppy. Like children, puppies grow quickly. Those who stocked up on outfits while the dog was very young may find dogs quickly outgrow their wardrobes. Stick to a few items at a time until the dog has stopped growing.
    - Select machine-washable pieces. Dogs get dirty and their clothes likely will as well. Look for items that can be put into the washing machine and withstand frequent laundering.
    - Skip the zippers. Zippers can catch on fur or skin, making dogs reluctant to wear clothes. Look for buttons, snaps or other closures instead of zippers.
    - Choose comfortable fabrics. Breathable cotton can keep dogs comfortable, but it may not be the best insulator or moisture-wicking fabric. Select clothing based on desired use, and choose high-quality materials for comfort and durability.
  - Avoid obstructions. Select well-fitting pieces that are neither too tight nor too loose. This way dogs can move around unencumbered and will not trip and fall.
  - Keep disposition in mind. Some dogs tolerate clothing well, while others may bite and pull at garments. Do not force dogs to wear something if they're resistant.
- Pet clothing can be stylish, make a statement or protect dogs from the elements. Keep comfort, budget and sizing in mind when shopping.

Pancakes with Beer & Bacon!

FATHER'S DAY MANCAKE PANCAKES

Perfect breakfast for dads on their special day. These mancakes with beer and bacon mixed in are sure to make your dad smile.

INGREDIENTS

- 8 slices bacon
- 1/3 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon vegetable oil, or as needed
- 1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons white sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 10 fluid ounces dad's favorite beer, or more if needed
- 3 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract (optional)

DIRECTIONS

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F (175 degrees C). Line a baking sheet with aluminum foil. Place a wire rack on top of baking sheet; place bacon strips on wire rack. Bake in the preheated oven for 10 minutes; remove from oven and sprinkle tops of bacon strips with half the brown sugar. Return to oven and bake 10 more minutes. Remove from oven and flip bacon to other side; sprinkle with remaining brown sugar and bake until bacon is crisp and brown sugar is golden brown, 10 to 15 more minutes. Remove bacon, let cool, and crumble into small pieces.

Lightly grease a skillet with vegetable oil and place over medium-high heat.

Whisk flour, white sugar, and baking powder in a large bowl; in a separate bowl, whisk beer, melted butter, salt, and vanilla extract. Lightly stir the liquid ingredients into the flour mixture to make a smooth batter. Stir candied bacon pieces into the batter.

Pour batter into the hot skillet 1/2 cup at a time and cook until edges are browned, about 2 minutes; flip pancake and cook until golden brown and the center is set, 3 to 5 more minutes.
