Millions of dollars go to county libraries and court systems

By Hannah Ball

It’s a common assumption that police give out tickets because they want money for their own department. However, police departments only receive a fraction of that money. Here is where that money goes.

Traffic-related civil infractions

“We have adopted the Motor Vehicle Code (MVC) by reference, so anything that is written for traffic offenses, we would get a portion of the fines assessed,” said Fenton Police Chief Jason Slater.

This includes speeding, operating while intoxicated, reckless driving and more. Per the MVC, where the money goes depends on if the ticket, also called a citation, is written under a state or local ordinance. For fines under state statute, the money goes to the county or city/township treasurer and then goes to the public or county law libraries. For fiscal year 2016-2017, a total of $24.1 million was distributed to Michigan libraries.

If the fine is written under a local ordinance, it’s distributed identical to costs. For fines and costs written under local ordinances, one-third goes to the political subdivision where the ordinance was violated and two-thirds go to the court funding unit.

This means if someone receives a parking ticket in Fenton written under a Fenton ordinance, one-third of the costs and fees goes to the Fenton Police Department and two-thirds goes to the court that handled the violation, which is the 67th District Court.

If the offense is punishable by more than 93 days in jail, it must be written under state statute.

“We have similar ordinances for most of the statutes that we deal with regularly, and when they are updated, as was the case with the Under 21 Purchase, Possession or Consumption of Alcohol, we must amend our ordinance to reflect the state statute,” Slater said. “One offense that we do not currently have a similar local ordinance for is possession of tobacco by minors.”

Local eateries offering kiosks, smartphone ordering and home and office delivery

By Tim Jagielo

Fenton — On Thursday, Sept. 27, the McDonald’s restaurant on Owen Road is humming along through the busy lunch hour.

Patrons now choose from an overhead digital menu that features the options and prices for that time of the day, and a video footage of the food in action, like chicken McNuggets tumbling through the air, or being dipped in an array of colorful sauces.

Patrons also have the option of ordering via a touch-screen kiosk.

In the tri-county area, hungry customers have not only a variety of restaurants, but also a variety of ways to order their food, and then acquire it, for a truly modern restaurant experience.

Mike Perkins, director of operations for 13 McDonald’s restaurants, said between 15 and 20 percent of guests use the new kiosks.

He said the nationwide movement to go high-tech involved hiring two additional employees at the restaurant. One person invites guests to use the kiosk, and help them through the process. The other new employee brings food to those dining in.

Many restaurants in Fenton also offer delivery, or delivery via a third party. This service includes more than just pizza. Fenton Food Express will deliver from 25 restaurants, serving Fenton, Linden and Holly. Options include The Laundry, The Barn, and Bittersweet Café and more.

Online, there is a “menu” of restaurants currently open, and ready for ordering. Ones that are not open are available for pre-order.

Depending on your address, certain restaurants may take longer to deliver.

The base fee is $5, but could be more, depending on the distance. For example, it would cost $9.50 to have a pizza delivered from a spot in Hartland Township to the Times office in Fenton, but $5 from CRUST, because of the shorter delivery time.

• During a CNN interview, former Florida Republican congressional candidate Gina Sosa suggested all high school boys have done what Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh is accused of doing. “We’re talking about a 17-year-old boy in high school with testosterone running high,” she said. “Tell me what boy hasn’t done this in high school, please. I would like to know.” Whoa, whoa, whoa, hold on there a second, Gina. I didn’t. And I’ve raised two sons who didn’t. The vast, vast majority of young men don’t. Maybe we need a “HeyWaitSecond” movement to combat “boys will be boys” nonsense like yours. Boys will be boys is a horrible way to explain away sexual assault.

• Prediction: There’s too much smoke for Brett Kavanaugh’s nomination to succeed at this point. He’ll withdraw by Monday. And is there really anything wrong with that? When it comes to Supreme Court justices, shouldn’t we insist the Senate and the president err on the side of caution? It’s not as if Kavanaugh is the only president to have a rapist who got what he deserved. The only problem is he had to suffer it a long, long time ago. I wonder if they serve Pudding Pops in there?

• Uber is paying $148 million to settle lawsuits in 50 states stemming from a 2016 data breach that affected 50 million people. I didn’t even hear about the breach or the lawsuits. But maybe it’s because I don’t pay attention anymore. My personal info has been hacked from so many companies that I wouldn’t be surprised to see my Social Security number written in the sky in smoke.

• Where do fruit flies materialize from in the fall? The kitchen is full of them—circling the bananas, the sink trap, the cabinet where the garbage can resides, the dog dish. Why now? It’s not cold enough yet outside to kill them. I think. And what do they suddenly want inside that isn’t available to them outside? There’s so many of them. I expect the dog to be carried off at some point.

• Someone reminded me that just last week I predicted the Detroit Lions wouldn’t win a game this year, and yet a few days later they did. I have no idea what this person is talking about. As with all of my bold and inevitably inaccurate sports predictions, I make it a practice to have no functioning memory of ever writing such words when they prove to be wrong.

• Why would anyone feel sorry for Bill Cosby? He’s a convicted rapist who got what he deserved. The only problem is he had to suffer it a long, long time ago. I wonder if they serve Pudding Pops in there?

EVERY AMERICAN, REGARDLESS of party, knows in their heart that the The irane scheme the left created to destroy Judge Kavanaugh is hateful and un-American. Consequences of their actions will be on November 6th.

SUPREME COURT CANDIDATE Brett Kavanaugh has become the immediate target of the liberal left. Find it hard to believe that 36 years after an alleged incident the supposed ‘victim’ suddenly brings it forward with unverified accusations. Wrecks of character assassination by a political party with a purpose. In other words, the Dems are out to destroy the man and nullify the candidate in the process.

THE DEMOCRATIC LEFT has become unhinged in this country. Anyone with common sense can see how hateful and vindictive they are.

New Treatment for Back & Sciatic Nerve Pain

By Erica Rainer

Sciatica is leg pain caused by a pinched nerve in the lower back. Pain begins in the lower back without moving to the leg. The foot agony, called radiculopathy, “is often worse than the back pain,” says Dr. James Leide, DC, clinic director of Painless Chiropractic of Fenton MI. “It’s very common for patients to come in describing an aggravating, burning pain that starts in the buttocks and flows down to the leg and at times into the foot with numbness, tingling and cramps in the leg.” The sensation “can be intolerable,” says Dr. Krista Ribando, head adjusting chiropractor at the Fenton Clinic. “Some people describe it to be similar to the nerve pain you experience if you have a toothache.”

For home care options visit PainlessDC.com/sciatica

After reviewing many different treatment options we have found that typically the average person who suffers from Sciatic pain usually experiences the same frustration when seeking help. They tend to start off going to their doctor who prescribes them one or more of the following: Muscle Relaxers, Pain Pills or Steroid Based Anti-Inflammatory Drugs. The Muscle Relaxers tend to make patients tired but do relax the muscles. The Pain Pills mask the pain while on them but tend to make many people tense, cause constipation and unable to focus. The Steroid Based Anti-Inflammatory Drugs give some people weakness, mood swings, and mood swings. All in all the pain usually comes back once the drugs are gone because nothing was ever really fixed and the other drugs all focus on the symptoms and not the problem.

It is this very case with most pain related to the spine and nerves, regardless if your issue is in your neck, resulting in headaches or pain, numbness, tingling and/or muscle weakness in the arms and hands or down in the low back and buttocks, resulting in Sciatic Pain.

Once the patient goes to their MD, they take their prescriptions and then goes back, still in pain, they are usually referred to physical therapy, pain management or a surgeon. Most patients respond to physical therapy however, once the program has finished many report the pain returns. When they visit pain management, they may be prescribed the same types of drugs their MD gave them or they may jump right to the steroid epidural shots into your spinal column which may not be FDA approved so please be advised to do plenty of research if you ever find yourself in this situation.

As for having surgery… well we all know that surgery should always be a last resort because once you make the decision to have surgery, there is no going back and undoing it and many other options are off the table after surgery.

Regardless of how the symptoms are treated, the number one problem with finding relief through these treatments is that it only focuses on treating the symptoms not the underlying issue. In severe cases, this condition can lead to muscle wasting, numbness, and constant tingling down to the toes and eventually sexual dysfunction and even loss of bladder/rectal control. Left untreated, the intense pain can rapidly wear you down and drain the joy out of life. People lose hope and have no idea where to turn.

That is until now.

Chiropractic Corrective Care for Sciatic Pain Relief

“I was beginning to think surgery was my only option and then my neighbor told me about Painless Chiropractic and how much they had helped his brother. I made an appointment the next day. I was skeptical but I was out of options. It was the best decision I ever made! I only wish I would have tried it sooner. My pain is gone and I feel better than I have in years!”

- Louis K., Grand Blanc

Recent advances in the treatment of sciatica and lower back pain have led to the development and huge success of Non-Surgical Re-constructive Spinal Care. The excellent results of this treatment have been published in major medical journals. With success rates as high as 90% many back surgeons are recommending their patients try this treatment first before having surgery. Right here in Fenton MI, at Painless Chiropractic you can try Non-Surgical Re-constructive Spinal Care under the direct supervision of low back and sciatica specialist Dr. James Ide D.C. and Dr. Krista Ribando.

The fully trained spinal care team have helped countless patients find relief from their agonizing back and sciatica problems. “We use a combination of ultra-advanced technology not utilized elsewhere in the area for precisely diagnosing the cause of your pain; and a unique program for reconstructing the damaged area causing the pain; this means superior long-term results for most people” said Dr. Ide.

Because the treatment is non-surgical, safe and easy, most patients report an almost immediate relief from their pain. However, as Dr. Ide says “we are happy patients experience less pain, but the pain is just a symptom, our goal is to correct the underlying problem which is structural. The pain is usually the last thing to show itself and the first thing to disappear and if not properly treated and maintained, will show up again in the future. If you are ready to get to the bottom of your debilitating shooting, stabbing and burning pain stemming from your low back, buttocks and sciatic nerve, Painless Chiropractic is ready to deliver the same positive results to you as they have to so many others.”

Why the Times has teamed up with the clinic to spread the news and show-case the offer they put together for our readers. Call them now and get a full and thorough consultation and examination from your low back, buttocks and sciatic nerve, Painless Chiropractic is ready to deliver the same positive results to you as they have to so many others. Fenton ballot proposals to be explained at upcoming meetings

The city of Fenton will host three public meetings for the purpose of providing information to city voters on two proposals that will appear on the November ballot.

Members of the Fenton City Council and city administrators will make the presentations Thursday, Oct. 4 at 7 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 18 at 6 p.m., and Thursday, Nov. 1 at 11 a.m. at the Fenton Community and Cultural Center, 150 S. LeRoy St., Fenton.

“We’re excited for the opportunity to talk with Fenton residents about how we can improve the condition of our city’s infrastructure,” said Fenton Mayor Sue Osborn. “Residents will be asked to vote on two separate items, both of which need to pass if we want to fix our roads. It’s important we do our best to inform the community and provide detailed explanations on what to expect if the proposals pass.”

Proposal No. 1 asks to amend the city charter and change the current levy from three to 10 years, with the millage during the 10-year period being used exclusively for road and street improvements. The second proposal asks voters to approve a 5-mill road improvement millage, at a cost to the average homeowner of $4.78 a week, with the exclusive purpose of using the money to improve roads and streets within the city of Fenton.

“It’s critical that Fenton citizens, who have a stake in our community, fully understand the two ballot proposals they will be asked to vote on in November,’’ said City Manager Lynn Markland. “Our roads are in rough shape and getting worse, and we expect the proposals will raise an estimated $2 million for neighborhood roads in the first year alone.

“Passing both proposals means making a smart, efficient investment today to avoid extra costs to residents in the future.”

TICKET FINES

Fines for criminal cases

“The Justice System Fund (JSF) was created... to simplify the assessment, collection and distribution of monetary obligations imposed in criminal cases,” according to the House Fiscal Agency. When a person is found guilty of a civil infraction, misdemeanor or felony, they have to pay fines.

These fines range from $10 non-traffic civil infraction to $68 for felonies. Approximately 41 percent of this money goes to the state police for road patrol and training, the Highway Safety Fund, the Michigan Justice Training Fund, and the State Forensic Laboratory Fund. About 12 percent of criminal case fees go to the Jail Reimbursement Program Fund. The Department of Health and Human Services receives approximately 4 percent for sexual assault victims and intervention funds and the Children’s Advocacy Center Fund. The money also goes to the Legislative Retirement System, Drug Treatment Court Fund, State Court Fund, Court Equity Fund and the State Court Administrative Office.

For fiscal year 2016-2017, the JSF distributed $51 million.

He was arraigned in Genesee County 67th District Court by Judge Jennifer Manley.
Blalock was involved in the shooting death of Baldwin in an apartment in the 16000 block of S. Seymour Road in Argentine Township.
He is lodged at the Genesee County Jail.
Argentine Township police responded to the incident a little after 7:12 p.m., when they received the 911 call. Police Chief Daniel Allen said Baldwin was shot and was pronounced dead at the scene.
The suspected weapon is a 9mm semi-automatic handgun, which police recovered. Allen said police were told that the suspect removed the magazine from the weapon and believed the gun was unloaded when he aimed it at his friend. The police chief said despite pulling out the magazine, a bullet remained in the chamber.
The handgun was registered to Baldwin and that was the only weapon recovered from the apartment that Saturday night. The police chief said alcohol was not suspected, however, toxicology tests are pending, which is standard procedure.

Fenton High School gets new technology in all classrooms

By Gracie Warda

Technology has become integrated into nearly every aspect of society, public education being no exception. With the new school year, Fenton High School has brought new technology into all of its classrooms.

“We have been trying to update teachers’ classroom devices,” Principal Mark Suchowski said. “Last year we spent a portion of our grant money (approximately $200,000) on testing some new technology to see what would work best to replace our projectors.”

After testing ViewSonic interactive display boards, Smart Boards and new projectors, the administration decided that ViewSonic display boards, at about $6,000 each, were the best option.

“Every classroom teacher got a ViewSonic,” Suchowski said. “Now we’re adjusting to using those as our presentation tool. It’s more cost effective than projectors because the lifespan is longer and we don’t have to change the bulbs or anything like that.”

ViewSonic boards operate similarly to a tablet, and are roughly the size of a standard projector image. The interactive screen allows multiple people to use it at once, making class work and presentations collaborative.

“They’re good learning tools,” senior Madi Wheeler, 18, said. “Especially because students can use them to share answers with the class or teach each other.”

In addition to ViewSonics, most classrooms received updated sound systems. Approximately 100 laptops were added to the school’s arsenal for student and teacher use, as well.

“Every student has access to a computer at school,” Wheeler said. “It makes it easy to get work done.”

These updates are expected to continue over the years due to a technological grant.

ViewSonic boards operate similarly to a tablet, and are roughly the size of a standard projector image. The interactive screen allows multiple people to use it at once, making class work and presentations collaborative.

“They’re good learning tools,” senior Madi Wheeler, 18, said. “Especially because students can use them to share answers with the class or teach each other.”

In addition to ViewSonics, most classrooms received updated sound systems. Approximately 100 laptops were added to the school’s arsenal for student and teacher use, as well.

“Every student has access to a computer at school,” Wheeler said. “It makes it easy to get work done.”

These updates are expected to continue over the years due to a technological grant.

Fenton High School gets new technology in all classrooms

By Gracie Warda

Technology has become integrated into nearly every aspect of society, public education being no exception. With the new school year, Fenton High School has brought new technology into all of its classrooms.

“We have been trying to update teachers’ classroom devices,” Principal Mark Suchowski said. “Last year we spent a portion of our grant money (approximately $200,000) on testing some new technology to see what would work best to replace our projectors.”

After testing ViewSonic interactive display boards, Smart Boards and new projectors, the administration decided that ViewSonic display boards, at about $6,000 each, were the best option.

“Every classroom teacher got a ViewSonic,” Suchowski said. “Now we’re adjusting to using those as our presentation tool. It’s more cost effective than projectors because the lifespan is longer and we don’t have to change the bulbs or anything like that.”

Deer hunting means big bucks for Michigan

By Vera Hogan

Whether they do it for the food, or just a chance to spend a few quiet days in the woods, Michigan hunters are gearing up for another great season. Regardless of their reasons, hunting brings billions of dollars to Michigan’s economy every year.

Billy Hoffman is a local hunter. He said, “I hunt because of the three Fs. Food — providing food for my family that is 100 percent organic and hormone free. It helps that it is delicious as well. “Family — hunting and the outdoors has brought me and my family closer together. Be it pre-season shooting or planning all the way to deer camp and processing our kill. These have been some of the best times of my life.

“Fun — there is nothing like watching the woods wake up. Being there as a silent predator the way nature made and intended us to be is simply amazing. You’ve never seen nature truly undisturbed until you see it in person.”

According to freep.com, Hunting Works for Michigan, which promotes strong economic partnerships between hunting and shooting communities and the state, figures hunters spend $2.3 billion and provide an economic ripple effect of $3.9 billion to the state of Michigan each year.

There are close to 30,000 hunters who come from out of state to experience a Michigan hunt. About half a million of hunters are Michigan residents.

Michigan hunters individually spend an average of $4,400 per year, according to Hunting Works. In addition to buying hunting licenses, they spend gas each time they head to the field. They buy targets and bullets, guns and clothing, and trucks, boats and four-wheelers. They spend money that contributes to manufacturing jobs, trucking jobs and retail jobs. Small cabins in the woods are rented, hotel rooms filled. Restaurants get business from those in pursuit of organic, free-range meat.

A healthy environment and abundant natural resources bring hunters, who in turn, bring jobs.
DEER HUNTING
• Effective immediately in the CWD Management Zone and four-county bovine tuberculosis area (Alcona, Alpena, Montmorency and Oscoda counties), hunters with disabilities who meet specific requirements can now use 2 gallons of single-bite bait, such as shielded corn, during the Liberty and Independence hunts.
• Allowing of all legal firearms to be used in muzzleloader season in the CWD Management Zone.
• A purchase limit of 10 private-land antlerless licenses per hunter in the CWD Management Zone.
• Restrictions have been placed on deer carcass movement in the five-county CWD Core Area (Ionia, Kent, Mecosta, Montcalm and Newaygo counties) and the CWD Management Zone.
• Antlerless options on deer licenses/combo licenses during firearms seasons in the five-county CWD Core Area.
• Expansion of early and late antlerless seasons in select counties.
• Changes to regulations regarding wildlife rehabilitators.

In addition, the DNR has been asked to move forward with:
• An experimental mandatory antler point restriction regulation in a five-county CWD Core Area, including Ionia, Kent, Mecosta, Montcalm and Newaygo counties. The restriction would begin in 2019, provided a survey of hunters shows support for the requirement and specific department guidelines are met. This is intended as a tool to evaluate the effects of antler point restrictions on the spread and prevalence of CWD, along with deer population reduction.

Details on all regulations can be found at the online hunting digests on the DNR website, and DNR staff will be available at deer-check stations during the hunting seasons, according to the DNR.

More information about these regulations will be posted on the michigan.gov/cwd website. For additional questions, contact the DNR Wildlife Division at (517) 284-9453.

Epic Machine’s training academy hosts Open House

By Sally Rummel

Every time you eat a bowl of Kellogg’s Frosted Mini Wheats for breakfast, you’re getting a taste of what Epic Machine in Fenton is all about.

This local manufacturer makes the rollers that roll out this popular cereal brand, as well as a number of other products in your life every day — from vacuum molds for McDonald’s drink lids to tooling components for fire hydrants and manhole covers.

Epic Machine has been manufacturing high precision-machined components for industries worldwide since 1979, utilizing CNC (Computer-Numerical-Controlled) turning, CNC milling and precision grinding equipment. Their customers include foundries, military contracts, the food industry, medical supplies and more.

The company was founded by Nick Popa of Fenton who learned the manufacturing trade at Henry Ford Trade School from 1943 to 1947. He was directly taught machining by Henry Ford instructors.

Epic Machine CEO Mike Parker founded Epic CNC Training Academy in 2013, working with the state of Michigan to develop education and training program. He was taught as an OTJ (on the job training) employee when he was 18 and now he is the CEO. “Our goal is to bring skilled, trained tradespeople back into Michigan’s manufacturing industry after the state’s Great Recession,” Parker said.

Epic CNC Training Academy is hosting an Open House and tours Friday, Oct. 5, in recognition of National Manufacturing Day. Their goal is to show the public how students can learn a trade that will result in a good-paying career, after just one eight-week session.

Open house hours will be 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Epic Machine, at 201 Industrial Way, Fenton.

“What is the purpose of an employer hiring a skilled tradesperson?”

How do you know if a skilled trade in the manufacturing industry is the career for you? “If you’re good at math and mechanically inclined,” this might be a good fit for you,” Keway said. “You also must be 18 years old or older. The majority of our students are in their mid-20s and have come to us after trying a different career path and realizing they want to do something different with their lives.”

Epic Machine has been approved to use the new “Forever” GI Bill, which lets military veterans use federal benefits for technology courses through non-college providers. Academy students will learn:

• CNC milling
• CNC turning
• MasterCam
• G and M code programming
• How to read blueprints and manufacture the product
• Career skills, like time management, that are necessary to be successful

“If you grow your skill by doing it,” Keway said. “Come in and see what the world of manufacturing is like today. It’s totally different than what you might expect.”

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Facts and Statistics

Many changes occur in your breasts during your lifetime. Throughout puberty, pregnancy and menopause, the look, structure (anatomy) and function of your breasts change. Learning about breast anatomy and how the breasts function can help you understand which changes are normal and which are not.

Ductal carcinoma in situ (DCIS) occurs when the abnormal cells grow inside the milk ducts, but have not spread to nearby tissue. DCIS is a non-invasive breast cancer.

Invasive breast cancer occurs when cancer cells spread to nearby tissue or other parts of the body.

Invasive breast cancer that spreads to other parts of the body is called metastatic breast cancer.

Invasive breast cancer occurs when cancer cells spread to nearby tissue or other parts of the body.

Invasive breast cancer that spreads to other parts of the body is called metastatic breast cancer.

In 2018, it’s estimated that among U.S. women and men there will be*:

- Women -
  - 266,120 new cases of invasive breast cancer
  - 40,920 breast cancer deaths

- Men -
  - 2,550 new cases of invasive breast cancer
  - 480 breast cancer deaths

- About 252,710 New cases of invasive breast cancer will be diagnosed.

- About 63,410 New cases of carcinoma in situ (CIS) will be diagnosed (CIS is non-invasive and is the earliest form of breast cancer).

Breast Cancer occurs when cells divide and grow without their normal control.

Getting started with video

Here’s what you need to know before you push ‘record’ on your cell phone or camera

By Tim Jagielo

Getting started making videos isn’t as hard as you might think. As Times Media Editor, I’m also responsible for making videos of the events that we cover.

This means recording video and audio files and eventually pulling them together for a quick video, usually less than two-minutes long.

I’ve also made two full-length documentaries, and am working on a third. I’ve also made a couple music videos.

In seven years, I’ve probably made hundreds of videos. My point is that making videos can be a lot of fun, and it’s not as inaccessible as you might think.

Today, practically every camera can also record video, and this of course includes your cell phone. Smartphone video has made the internet a funny, scary place, and you can document your life with video if you want.

Camera

Any camera that shoots video will work. When you get into work for clients, and feature films, that obviously changes. But your phone can shoot perfectly good video to get started, and if you have a digital camera, it probably will also work just fine.

Editing

This is the process of taking your video files and “cutting” them and moving them to create the video. My general advice for editing is this: jump in and mess it up. It’s digital, and nothing you do while editing footage changes the original movie files. Editing does require software, and a computer to handle it.

Fortunately, for most, that “computer” can also be your smartphone. Both Apple and Android have video editing apps built in or that can be bought.

Editing on your phone

For Apple, there’s iMovie. It’s already installed on many new iPhones, or costs $4.99. Videoshop is $1.99 and also can edit video. For Android, there are several apps to try. FilmoraGo is free, and for about $50, you can buy the desktop editor. Other options include Adobe Premiere Clip, which is free, but requires you to set up an Adobe account. Adobe is the company responsible for Photoshop, Illustrator and the desktop video editing suite, Adobe Premiere Pro.

Editing on your computer

DaVinci Resolve 15 is a free professional editing suite, created by Blackmagic Design. The company sells cameras, equipment and hardware like control surfaces for editing video, and in a unique decision, provides the free software. Go to blackmagicdesign.com and click “products” at the top. Several options for product families will come up. Click the second box from the left, “DaVinci Resolve, Fusion and Blackmagic eGPU.” Click “DaVinci Resolve 15 Studio,” and scroll all the way down to the version that is free.

I personally use Adobe Premier Pro, which is about $25 per month on a subscription service.

Filmora is a more affordable editing suite, and costs $50. Another professional desktop video editing app, Final Cut Pro, is for Apple computers only and costs $300. Avid Media Composer is another more expensive option.

Your computer

While you can shoot video with any camera, not every computer can edit videos. If the computer is too underpowered, it won’t be able to run the editing software. A simple way to check is to search “can my computer run DaVinci Resolve” and do some research.

As a rule, you need enough hard drive space to hold the program, and the video files. You’ll need 8 to 16 gigs of RAM, and a separate graphics card also helps.

My computer at home is a 2012 Thinkpad W530. It cost less than $500 when I bought it used.

Caitlin Vowell

• Varsity cheerleading coach
• Dental hygienist
• Nursing student

By Hannah Ball

Caitlin Vowell, 28, went to Lake Fenton schools from preschool to graduation. She attended Mott Community College and now goes to the University of Michigan-Flint. She started cheering from a young age and is now the varsity cheerleading coach at Lake Fenton High School. Vowell has worked at Dr. Patricia McGarry’s dental office in Linden as a dental hygienist for eight and a half years.

Tell me about your family.

My mom and dad raised me in Fenton along with my older brother. I’m married to a handsome man named Travis and we have a 1-year-old puppy named Oliver.

How long have you been cheering?

I started cheering when I was 3 years old with my brother’s grade. It was a team for older girls but they let me join them at practices and games. I continued to cheer all throughout school until graduation. It was football and basketball cheer until I added competitive cheer to the list from fifth grade up.

What’s the hardest part about cheering?

“A lot of people do not view cheerleading as a sport but the amount of dedication and hours spent with their team and working on individual skills deserves more recognition.”

Do you think teenagers have it harder today compared to when you were in high school?

I do. We didn’t have smartphones and social media where things are permanently documented. There’s also unrealistic goals of beauty, to the point of having perfect eyebrows where I was just glad I had two separate brows at that age.

What do you do in your free time?

My husband and I are doing a house flip on our own, which has become a larger project than we thought it would be, but we have fun working together. I also really enjoy family time, that’s when my heart is the happiest.

Do you like scary movies?

Absolutely not. I am the biggest weenie when it comes to people popping out of nowhere or when the scary part seems like it could actually happen. I don’t sleep for weeks after I watch one so I just avoid them.

Would you rather go out or stay in on a Saturday night?

I’m somewhat of a boring person, even if I do go out I’m home by 9 and relaxing with the hubby and pup watching a movie.

What about dental hygiene interests you? Where do you work now?

I love the idea of helping people like their smile. Some people are embarrassed about their teeth and to see patients smile and be more confident because of something that I can easily do, makes me feel like I’m making a difference.

If you could be any fictional character, who would you be?

As much as I love Grey’s Anatomy and would love to be a character on it, I would choose Bella Swan because she looks like glitter in sunlight and I’ve already got the pale vampire skin. Also because she is basically invincible and sometimes I’m fragile.

Tell me about your interests? Where do you work?

My high school coach became one of my best friends and I love the relationship we built on a mutual love of glitter and bows. I have 21 girls on my team this year and love you’ makes all the stress of coaching worth it. I have the best group of young ladies right now.

I love to read. Books always paint a better picture than the movies can create, although I usually watch the movie once I finish the paper copy.

Adult: $17 • Student: $14 • Children: $10

Tickets can be purchased at Box Office locations two hours before each show or up to an hour before each show at the Playhouse. Tickets can also be purchased at www.fentontheatre.org.

What’s the hardest part about cheering?

Not having the respect that other sports have. A lot of people do not view cheerleading as a sport but the amount of dedication and hours spent with their team and working on individual skills deserves more recognition.

Do you like working with kids as a cheer coach?

I love working with teenage girls, being someone they can confide in with personal issues and life lessons along with teaching them teamwork and respect. My high school coach became one of my best friends and I love the relationship we built on a mutual love of glitter and bows. I have 21 girls on my team this year and leaving practice and hearing ‘Bye coach, love you’ makes all the stress of coaching worth it. I have the best group of young ladies right now.

Do you think teenagers have it harder today compared to when you were in high school?

Absolutely not. I am the biggest weenie when it comes to people popping out of nowhere or when the scary part seems like it could actually happen. I don’t sleep for weeks after I watch one so I just avoid them.

Watch the movie or read the book?

I love to read. Books always paint a better picture than the movies can create, although I usually watch the movie once I finish the paper copy.

Should you take aspirin daily?

New study finds daily aspirin can have negative effects on older folks

By Hannah Ball

For years, daily aspirin has been marketed as a way to prevent healthy people from cardiovascular disease and cancer. Current guidelines set by the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force recommend a daily aspirin for those 50 and over who have high blood pressure, high cholesterol or a history of smoking as a way to prevent heart attacks and strokes. However, an international study is saying the opposite.

The report, published in the New England Journal of Medicine on Sept. 16, found that even at low doses, daily aspirin taken long term can be harmful for people who haven’t experienced a heart attack or a stroke.

The study can be read at nejm.org.

The study involved 19,114 seniors with a median age of 74. About 9,525 participants were randomly assigned to take aspirin and 9,589 received a placebo. People sent in data for approximately four and a half years.

One of the study’s coauthor, Dr. Anne Murray, a geriatrician and epidemiologist at the Hennepin Healthcare Research Institute and the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, told NBC that they knew there would be an increased risk of bleeding with taking aspirin.

"But not only did it not decrease risk of disability or death, it did not decrease the risk of heart attack and stroke, and there was an increase in the rate of death," she said.

By the end of the trial, the rates of coronary heart disease, heart attacks and strokes were similar for both groups.

Taking aspirin daily actually caused some issues. The study found that hemorrhagic stroke, bleeding in the brain, gastrointestinal bleeding and bleeding in other places that required transfusion or hospitalization occurred in 3.8 percent of the aspirin group, compared to 2.7 percent of the placebo group.

"For healthy people 70 and older who don’t have a reason to be on aspirin, such as a previous heart attack or stroke, there was no discernible benefit," Murray said.

The study also found an increase in cancer deaths in the aspirin group.

Talk to your doctor about the study and if you should be taking aspirin daily.

WOW campus and costs associated with these two safety projects. We expect to take the winning bid to the Board of Education in October or November," he said.

Hartley said the sale of this property will not change the boundaries of the district’s existing athletic area.

"The terms of the sale include the school district’s ability to determine what restrictions are placed on businesses that will occupy the property (i.e. no liquor and tobacco sales)," Hartley said.

Last December, officials in the city of Fenton voted unanimously to rezone some of the property owned by Fenton Area Public Schools and a section of land across the street on Owen Road.

The school district’s Owen Road property, located between the Speedway gas station and the high school football field, all the way back to the bus garage, including the land where the bus garage is located, was rezoned from Low Density Residential (LDR) to General Business District (GBD) with a Planned Unit Development (PUD) overlay.

The PUD overlay will also now include property across the street on the north side of Owen Road, which starts on the west side at U.S. 23 and ends at Alloy Drive.

The Master Plan, through the U.S. 23 Owen Road Study, designates the Owen Road frontage portion of the school property for two restaurant commercial out lots.

The district has investigated the use of 3.5 acres of land adjacent to the football stadium and bus facility for three years, since 2015. Selling the land was the ultimate decision.

The bids released were due back on June 28. The finance committee reviewed the bids and will make the recommendation to the school board.

Construction is expected to begin in the transition of AGS classroom and office area to take place during the summer of 2020 and completion of the project in the fall of 2020.

Hartley said this week that the property was listed at bid4michigan.com, no listing agent was used.

“We are still in the process of reviewing offers and will disclose (financial information) in those offers once we have a final negotiated offer,” he said.

On potential buyers, Hartley said, “We expect some sort of retail/grocery to occupy that space.

“We are fortunate to have a school board that recognizes this opportunity to utilize the sale of this unused property to help us enhance the safety of both our AGS and Ellen Street buildings,” he said.

Grand Blanc, it will take about a year to build. “I expect it will be move-in ready by spring of 2020,” he said Thursday.
Corlin Builders, Inc. obtained final site plan approval on the approximate $7-million project from the Fenton Planning Commission on Thursday, Sept. 27. In June, Saab said they would like to have a few residential and business tenants lined up before they break ground.
“We’ve begun leasing the first floor retail spaces,” said Saab on Thursday. He did not reveal the names of those retailers but said, “I’ll let them make the announcement when they’re ready. We do still have some spaces available though for those that are interested.”
Once they do break ground, 111 Leroy Place (111 S. LeRoy St.) will be located between the existing Cornerstone building in downtown Fenton and the Fenton United Methodist Church.
The four-story building will feature a total of about 41,000 square feet.
Like the first Cornerstone building, at Silver Lake Road and South LeRoy Street, the first floor of the second building will feature five retail spaces. The second floor will be offices, and the third and fourth floors will feature condominiums.
Saab has assured city administrators that they will do everything to limit the impact construction has on nearby buildings and traffic.

RESTAURANT

The menu can be sorted by fastest delivery time as well. Clicking on the restaurant will reveal a clear menu with names and prices.
Ordering can be done online, through the smartphone or tablet app, or calling it in.
The Laundry, CRUST and El Topo are all available for delivery through the service. Co-owner Mark Hamel said that of the three, El Topo has the most orders, because the meals are already designed for takeout.
Hamel said that delivery service is the number one restaurant trend for the past two years. It’s popular enough that they may create a to-go menu for The Laundry and CRUST, because their plates are designed for kitchen-to-table, and some food doesn’t fair well for 30 minutes in a box.
“Despite the fact that cooking shows are popular, they’re cooking less in their homes,” Hamel said. “People still want to eat at home. I think people still like the notion of eating as a family.”
Other restaurants include Mancino’s, John’s Pizzeria and Beale St. Smokehouse BBQ.
“More often if they order out, they want something good,” Hamel said. “Or they want some variety. They want health and they want quality.”
The Bittersweet Café in Holly uses the delivery service, but doesn’t see a large volume of orders. However, Manager Heather Huhun suggested that it is probably helpful for customers who can’t, or don’t want to leave their home.
Fenton Food Express handles the whole process for the person who ordered through the app, or online.
McDonald’s also offers a modern system of ordering — through the mobile app. The app saves recent orders, and gives you the option to re-order when you get to the parking lot. If you saved a credit card, with the app, billing is also quick an easy.
At that point, you can use the drive-through, or wait for curbside pick up. Perkins said it is also used to redeem coupons.

replace, resurface or reconstruct roads in the city. Funds will not be used for routine maintenance.

“All of you realize something has to be done,” Zelenak said, mentioning the large potholes on Main Street in front of the post office.

Collecting the taxes would start in the summer of 2019 and last for 10 years. Zelenak spoke of the urgency for fixing the roads now and not waiting another five years.

“If you have a roof leak on your house, it’s a lot cheaper to replace a couple sections of shingles than to wait five years,” he said. “We’re trying to get this as quickly as possible.”

One resident said no one can say that road repair isn’t necessary. He asked if Zelenak and the city council will go “door to door” to the business owners on Rolston Road and ask them to pay because it is their semi-truck that “tears up the road.”

Zelenak said because those properties have frontages on the road, they could be part of a special assessment district in the future. With the millage, those companies will be assessed based on the values of their building at the same rate as a residential property—$5 for each $1,000 of a property’s taxable value.

Another resident asked about how the politicians running in the 2016 campaign said that all the roads would be “beautiful.”

“That tells me you’re getting enough federal money to make these roads beautiful,” the resident said.

Zelenak said he can “categorically say no. If those funds were available, we would get them and all those roads would be beautiful.”

The city has received approximately $520,000 in the first year.”

When something is forced on you, you have a lot more resistance to it. That’s why council decided to put this on the ballot,” Zelenak said.

With special assessment districts, the people fronting the road can initiate a district, or the council can initiate it.

One resident asked if there would be a cost share agreement with the city and people on Rolston Road if the millage passes. Zelenak said no and that would only happen with a special assessment district. If the millage passes and the city receives grants for roads during the 10 years, the money could go to additional projects or maintenance.

Another resident asked, “Why do we have a problem today when we could have been putting the money away 10 years ago?” Zelenak said, he couldn’t answer that because he’s only been with the city for five-and-a-half years.

He said there will be delays with construction if the millage passes.

“I will not try to sugarcoat this for any of you,” he said. “There will be delays when road projects are going on. You just have to be patient. The biggest thing I’m always concerned about when a road project goes in is ‘is it safe?’”

The next informational meeting is at the Linden City Council chambers, in the lower level of the Linden Mill Building, on Oct. 17 at 7 p.m.

BALLOT LANGUAGE
“Shall the City of Linden levy a new millage of 0.5 mills ($5.00 per $1,000 of taxable value) for a 10-year term (2019 through 2028 inclusive), for purposes of improving, replacing, resurfacing and reconstructing streets in the City, including drainage improvements and curb and gutter, together with necessary rights-of-way, appurtenances and attachments, pursuant to the Road Improvement Plan that is available for inspection at Linden City Hall? It is estimated that the levy will generate $520,000 in the first year.”

Tigers’ defense, passing keeps squad undefeated

By David Troppens

The Fenton varsity volleyball team continues to win and lead in the Metro League standings.

The Tigers improved to 5-0 in Metro League play by defeating Clio in three straight sets 25-15, 25-21, 25-23 during Tuesday action.

The win means Fenton (20-6-1 overall) is a half-game ahead of Flushing (4-1). The Tigers will face both of those squads in their next two matches — a pair of matches that should go a long way toward deciding this season’s Metro champions.

Against Clio, Fenton varsity volleyball coach Jerry Eisinger praised the team’s passing, specifically through its serve receive.

“I really think our serve receive and defense won that game,” Eisinger said. “We only had two serve receive errors and we passed that ball very accurately which let the offense run. Chloe Idoni, Lauren Lamb and Meg Wolosonowich all did a great job there.

“Defensively, we had a good night led by libero Lauren Lamb but more importantly were the many diving, scrappy plays she made to keep the ball alive. It was an outstanding job by her.”

Lamb’s 15 digs led the team while Wolosonowich and Idoni had 10 digs each.

Linden Eagles sting Hornets

By David Troppens

The Linden varsity volleyball team has spent the first half of the Metro League season battling with the stronger half of the league’s teams.

And considering the league’s recent talent improvement — particularly with the middle-of-the-pack teams — that has created its share of five-set thrillers with a mixture of wins and losses.

However, considering the Eagles have played the majority of the stronger teams, they will be facing some of the weaker squads maybe giving the squad a little bit of a break during the final portion of the league season.

The Eagles took advantage of one of those teams on Tuesday, crushing the Kearsley Hornets in three sets 25-15, 25-18, 25-15. The sweep marked the first three-game result the Eagles have had in Metro play since the opening week of the league season. Linden recorded a five-set loss against Holly since then.

Lauren O’Brien and Avery Koan had strong defensive games, recording 13 and 10 digs, respectively. Koan was strong on the service line, recording five aces on 23-04 serving.

The offense was paced by Ellie Kloczek’s eight kills and by Makenna O’Keefe’s six kills. Setter Jordan Moros had 23 assists.

The Eagles (2-3 in Metro play) return to action against another solid Metro squad on Tuesday when they travel to Brandon (2-2). Linden ends the Metro season on Oct. 23 with a road trip to Owosso (0-4).

Tigers dominating Metro XC competition

Both Fenton teams repeat, win second league jamboree

By David Troppens

The second Flint Metro League cross country jamboree told everyone what was already established three weeks ago in the first one — that the Fenton programs are truly the dominant squad in the league.

The Fenton boys won its jamboree with 38 points while the Fenton girls did even better by scoring just 30 points en route to first-place finishes at Owosso High School at the second jamboree Wednesday.

Coupled with their first-place performances at the first jamborees, the Fenton teams are now halfway to repeating as Metro champions.

Holly’s boys finished second place once again during the second jamboree while the Linden boys fell from third to fifth in Wednesday’s event. The Linden girls remained in third place where the Holly girls moved up from fifth to fourth.

Both races had local winners. In the girls race, Alexa Keiser maintained her perfect Metro winning streak, capturing her eighth Metro jamboree or league meet victory. She won the 5K race with a time of 18:31.77 well ahead of Holly’s second-place performer Andrea Ruiz (19:19.69), who finished second.

Ruiz beat the rest of the field by more than 13 seconds as well as Flushing’s Thailiya Christensen took third (19:33.43).

In the boys’ race, Linden’s Tyler Buchman (16:11.81) continued his Metro dominance as well, beating Owosso’s Jorden Sowash (16:19.26) by nearly nine seconds to earn first place. Fenton’s Adam Jesse was third (16:31.46) and the rest of the field was nearly 30 seconds behind Jesse.

The Fenton girls won their jamboree by posting five runners within the top 11 and four within the top seven. All seven runners finished within the top 20. After Keiser, Cambria Tiemann placed fifth (19:55.24) while Kaitlyn Baynard was sixth (20:10.10) and Abbe Lee was seventh (20:20.31).

Some thoughts about sports and others not dealing with sports at all

WE ALL MAKE A DIFFERENCE

My first professional job after college was in Albion, at a small daily paper named ‘The Albion Recorder.’

Being a one-person sports staff could be challenging, but eventually, I became a part of the community and loved Albion.

Albion had its share of problems. A large segment of the population lived below the poverty level, and it seemed every few months another story would come across delivering another ‘fatal’ blow. But through it all, there were plenty of people trying to make a difference with many different programs.

Our office was asked to join a few of those programs. Our office worked for a program called HOSTS. We’d each volunteer an hour a week helping tutor a grade school student that supposedly having issues in class. HOSTS was a blast. A couple of us in our office quickly not only worked with our student but many others. We’d spend hours a day with different students four days a week. Our primary student was Michael. He had a relative on the Albion varsity basketball team, so instead of doing the regular reading required, we’d read the sports stories in our publication. He ate it up and improved significantly.

Soon the HOSTS organizers realized what we were doing and they told us to just keep doing what we were doing. The same kid that would struggle with “See Spot run up the hill” was now reading more demanding stories with great fluency. After proving, I lost contact with Michael.

My Albion days are 30 years ago and frequently I wonder what happened to some of those students, especially Michael.

Last weekend, I was asked to come back to Albion during their annual Festival of the Forks, and did. I spent early Saturday afternoon walking around the city. At one moment, I stopped to read a sign and quickly heard, ‘Hey, aren’t you David Troppens?’ It was Michael. He was running his own outdoor BBQ pit and we immediately hugged and talked for about five minutes. Michael told me he loved my stories and still had many of them at home. I told him the impact he had on my life and probably teared more than a little.

The meeting was awesome. Fast forward we all wonder what happens to those we worked with earlier in your life, wondering what direction their lives took. During

Holly finishes tied for second

By David Troppens

Anyone wanting to see an example of dominant consistency should check out this season’s Fenton varsity girls golf team.

The Fenton golfers proved they are the team to beat earlier this season at Fenton Farms Golf Course by shooting a first-place score of 397 at the first Metro meet. History repeated itself on Wednesday when the Tigers recorded another 335 to win the final Metro League meet and capture the league title for the third year in a row. Fenton varsity golf coach Kurt Herbstreit also named coach of the year.

Fenton had all four of its scoring golfers shoot 92 or better, earning its 335. Holly fell from second to third in this meet, posting a team score of 397. The Bronchos finished the league season tied for second with 46 points, two less than the other held firm.

By taking third at the second GAC jamboree on Saturday, I do realize yes, we did make at least a small difference, but that said we all wonder if we had a positive impact.

Six others had at least three kills each. Chloe Weiss had seven kills while Megan DeRidder provided five kills. Kara Foust, Courtney McMillan, Kiah King and Veronica Checunowicz had three kills each. Setter Abby Fletcher finished the match with 27 assists to go with her two aces.

We have our answer to that question. We were just a blip in Michael’s life. Certainly his family, other mentors and Michael himself were the greatest reasons for his success. But after Saturday, I do realize yes, we did make at least a small difference, and that feels awesome.

Blue Devils' XC teams finish third at second GAC jamboree

By David Troppens

One team moved down a spot while the other held firm.

The final analysis is both Lake Fenton varsity cross country teams finished in third place at the second GAC jamboree held at Corunna High School.

Both teams had their top five scoring runners finish within the top 20. The boys had their top five finish within the top 15 places, but it only earned them third place with 46 points, two less than second-place Goodrich. The Blue Devils’ boys fell from second at the first meet to third this time.

The Lake Fenton girls held firm in third place. The girls only issue was the lack of a true lead runner, as all of their five runners finished in between eighth and 20th place.

Junior Salina Mueller led the girls by taking eighth (21:33.88) while sophomore teammate Aubrey Fray placed ninth (21:39.42). Two freshmen were the next two runners. Claire Hunt placed 12th (22:13.09) while Madeline Gibb was 17th (23:19.19). Finally, senior Melaina Wurts was 20th in 23:34.77.

The Lake Fenton boys were led by seniors Eric Niestroy and Tommy Huffington. Niestroy was fourth in 16:51.99 while Huffton was fifth in 16:58.27.
