in the priesthood

Beloved retired priest celebrates 50th year in the ministry by being in Papal Audience with Pope Francis

By Sally Rummel

Retired priest Fr. David Harvey's ministry of 50 years was celebrated at St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church in Fenton in June and will soon be observed in Vatican City, Rome.

Harvey, traveling with a tour group of 42 people, many from St. John's, will be a part of the Papal Audience on Wednesday, Nov. 7.

Wednesdays are the traditional day of the week when Pope Francis offers a greeting in multiple languages to visiting groups and individuals at St. Peter's Square.

“This will be the first time for me to be in an audience with Pope Francis,” said Harvey of Tyrone Township. “I have celebrated Mass with Pope John Paul II and have been in an audience with Pope Paul VI.”

Harvey expects that their tour group from St. John's will be announced at the communal audience.

This will be Harvey's fourth trip to Italy throughout his decades of ministry, most of which was spent

Just sayin'...

They're going to do it anyway

By Vera Hogan

If my mother was alive and watching the news today, she would be pointing and shaking her finger, "I knew this would happen, I told you so!"

My mother was a firm believer that terrible things were in our future because of pot smokers today. She would always say, "There will be wrecks everywhere and planes will fall out of the sky."

My father, on the other hand, disagreed and said it's no different than people who drink alcoholic beverages and get behind the wheel of a car, or climb into a cockpit. If people are inclined to drink booze or smoke pot they are going to do it whether it's legal or not.

She would argue that it is not always the operator of the vehicle, but the factory workers responsible for building them, too.

My parents have been gone for several years and are unaware of the efforts to legalize marijuana. If they were, I am sure there would be quite the debate in their house — just as there are debates going on in many Michigan households this election year.

People are very torn on this topic.

I had a good friend in high school, who is now a top level executive in the medical field in Illinois. She smoked a joint every morning before school, and today at 65 she still smokes a joint with her coffee every morning before work.

VERA HOGAN

At my son's recent wedding reception, I was talking with one of the guests, a young Detroit police officer. He said he absolutely can't wait for recreational marijuana to become legal in this state. He said the majority of his arrests and paperwork comes from young adults they are required to arrest for marijuana possession. Legalizing it, he said, will be such a relief to the police.

On the alcohol side of the argument, I used to hold a second job as a bartender when I was in my mid-20s. I worked for several years at a popular pizza place with a separate bar, which was a local hangout for many. There were three owners, one of whom was a long-time commercial pilot with a major airline that no longer exists. I am not kidding when I say he would come into the bar late in the afternoon, down six or seven martinis, then get up, wobble a little and slur that he had to go, "Got a 6 a.m. flight to Miami tomorrow."

Needless to say, I never ever flew with that airline — not ever and I am glad it went out of business.

There are valid arguments on both sides when it comes to legalizing recreational marijuana. When it comes to alcohol, people will continue to drink and drive despite the consequences. And people inclined to smoke pot are going to continue doing it, and get behind the wheel, whether it's legal or not.

People who worry about an increase in traffic accidents if marijuana use is legalized have a valid concern. But like drinking and driving, which is illegal and governed by laws, let's hope that somewhere in the Legislature, someone or some group is working on a new set of laws to help address any new possibilities.

ITALY

at St. John's in Fenton. He's looking forward to the reaction of many in the tour, when they first behold St. Peter's Basilica. "Most in this tour will be seeing it for the first time," Harvey said.

The trip will begin this Sunday, Nov. 4 and will take the entourage to Rome, Pompeii, Sorrento, Isle of Capri, Florence, Pisa, Venice, Murano Island, Verona, the Lake Country and Milan.

Harvey, 76, is hoping to have an opportunity to say Mass in several Italian churches, with those arrangements now in the process of being made.

SUMMARY

■ Fr. David Harvey, retired priest of St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church in Fenton, celebrates his 50th ordination anniversary with a tour of Italy and a Papal Audience with Pope Francis.

He has been "retired" from St. John's since 2013, but only in the most literal sense of the word. His roots are still here in Fenton, where he resides on Lake Tyrone.

Serving St. John's since July 16, 1979, he has remained especially close to this parish, returning every year for Applefest in September.

His official ordination anniversary was marked in June with a low-key celebration and a liturgy at St. John's.

"I'm officially retired, but I help out in ministry just about every weekend," Harvey said. "There are very few weekends I'm at home, unless I ask to be."

LEFT WINGS

2 teaspoons ground chipotle chili pepper
2 teaspoons black pepper
2 teaspoons salt, divided
4½ to 5 lb. chicken wings
1 tablespoon olive oil
3 tablespoons butter
½ cup chopped onion

Preparation:
Light one side of the grill, heating to 350 to 400 degrees. Combine first two ingredients and 1 tsp of salt. Cut off chicken wing tips and discard; cut wings in half at joint. Toss wings in oil. Sprinkle chicken with pepper mixture and toss.
Arrange wings over unlit side of the grill. Grill with lid covering them, 18-20 minutes until each side is done.
At the same time, melt the butter in a saucepan, over medium high heat. Add

2½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika

¼ teaspoon ground red pepper
4½ to 5 lb. chicken wings
Vegetable oil, Romesco sauce

Preparation:
Combine all-purpose flour and next three ingredients in a large bowl. Cut off wing tips and discard; cut wings in half at joint. Add wings to flour mixture; toss to coat. Cover and chill in flour for 90 minutes.
Pour oil to depth of two inches into Dutch oven; heat to 375 degrees. Remove wings from flour mixture, shaking off excess. Fry wings in batches, 10-12 minutes, or until golden brown. Drain on a wire rack over paper towels. Transfer wings to a wire rack in a jelly roll pan, and keep warm at 225 degrees. Place wings in a large bowl and add ¾ cup of Romesco sauce (or your favorite wing sauce); toss to coat. Serve hot wings with remaining sauce.

2 garlic cloves, pressed
1 cup apple cider vinegar
1 (8 oz) can tomato sauce
1 (6 oz) can tomato paste
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons hot sauce

onion and garlic and sauté for five minutes until tender. Reduce heat to medium. Add vinegar, next five ingredients, and remaining 1 tsp. of salt. Cook 10 to 12 minutes stirring occasionally, or until bubbly.
Transfer wings to clean bowl, add half of butter mixture, reserving the remaining mixture. Toss wings gently to coat. Place wings on lit side of the grill. Grill for 10 minutes with lid (or until browned) turning occasionally. Toss wings with reserved butter mixture. Serve with blue cheese sauce.

ELECTION NIGHT DRINKS: Blue wave/red refresher

BLUE WAVE
1 oz lemon juice
¾ simple syrup
¼ tsp orange flower water
6 oz club soda
1 drop blue food coloring

Combine all ingredients with ice in your favorite pint glass. Stir to combine

RED REFRESHER
Leaves from one sprig of mint (5-6 leaves, 8-10 small)
1 oz simple syrup
1 oz lime juice
6 oz brewed and cooled raspberry zinger herbal tea (or your favorite hibiscus based herbal tea)

In your favorite pint glass, muddle mint leaves in simple syrup for a few seconds. Add remaining ingredients and ice. Stir to combine.

To make simple syrup, pour equal parts water and sugar in a saucepan. Remember, the sugar dissolves into the water, so 1 cup of sugar and 1 cup of water will not equal 2 cups of simple syrup. It's more like 1½ cups simple syrup once dissolved

To make these alcoholic, substitute up to 2 oz of gin or vodka for club soda for "blue wave." For "Red Refresher," substitute white rum or vodka in place of equal amount of tea. Source: Michigan Radio

You can also stock your party with different colors chips, like blue corn chips for Democrats, or red (usually hot) chips for Republicans.
Keep guacamole on hand for the Green Party, or just have a big bowl of M&M's for literally every other color.

HOT LINE CONTINUED

WE OWN OUR house in Fenton City and it is going to hurt if we have to pay that 5 mills if the road repair proposals pass. What irks us is that renters and young people who live with their parents can cast a vote that will hit our finances hard. God bless America.

BISHOP'S RECORD ON health care, including more than $100,000 in campaign donations from the pharmaceutical industry over his career, is a vulnerability. Michigan is the only state with a law that shields drug companies from being sued. As a state Senate leader, Bishop blocked a vote to repeal it five times.

SLOTKIN, 41, JOINS a growing number of Democrats distancing themselves from Pelosi on the campaign trail, as their GOP opponents try to link them to the California Democrat. This popular Republican tactic has succeeded in past elections.

A TOURIST TOWN is a lousy place to live? Okay, fine. Get out.

GUN INJURIES, INCLUDING many from assaults, sent 75,000 U.S. children and teens to emergency rooms over nine years at a cost of almost $3 billion, a first-of-its-kind study found.

MY 401K WENT up a lot more under Obama and looked very shabby under George Bush 2.

YOU ARE CERTAINLY correct that Buchanan isn't the worst president we have suffered through, BHO has that honor, followed by Jimmy Carter.

IF IT WERE not for the hero John McCain, senior citizens would be paying five times more for medical insurance. Protections for pre-existing medical conditions would be gone. Do your research on how they voted. Vote Democrat.

OVERALL, POPULATIONS OF more than 4,000 species of mammals, reptiles, birds, fish and amphibians have declined by an average of 60 percent between 1970 and 2014, the most recent year for which data is available.

WELL, MY MIND is made up. On the off chance that Barbra Streisand keeps her promise to move to Canada, I'm voting Republican all the way.

DON'T BE FOOLED by the brainwashed residents, and the doublespeak from Fenton politicians using taxpayer money to send us propaganda telling us we must endure higher property taxes. The money is there, but Fenton government just finds it easier to tax residents. Vote 'no' on more property tax.

LOOKING BACK
at this week in HISTORY

COMPILED BY VERA HOGAN

NOV. 4

1970: Genie, a feral child, is taken to Children's Hospital Los Angeles after her mother enters a welfare office in Temple City, California, to seek benefits for the blind. Genie had spent nearly all of the first 13 years of her life locked in her bedroom. During the day, she was tied to a child's potty chair in diapers and at night, she was bound in a sleeping bag and placed in an enclosed crib with a cover made of metal screening. She was never allowed to talk as her father beat her every time she made any sounds. At 13 years of age, her vocabulary consisted of about 20 words. The movie Mockingbird Don't Sing was based on this tragic true story.

NOV. 5

1996: Divers discovered the ancient port of Alexandria from 2,000 years ago which was swallowed by the sea and contains the ruins of Cleopatra's Palace and Mark Anthony's home and temple when the Roman warrior was in Egypt. Divers have found thousands of artifacts dating back to 323BC to 30BC and many of the original columns are still standing and in remarkable condition.

NOV. 6

2007: King Abdullah of Saudi Arabia meets Pope Benedict XVI at the Vatican, and this is the first ever audience by the head of the Roman Catholic Church with a Saudi monarch. The Vatican describes the meeting as "warm," and that the two men discuss the presence of Christians in Saudi Arabia. An estimated 1.5 million Christians live in Saudi Arabia, but they are not allowed to worship in public.

NOV. 7

1954: It was made known this day in 1954 that the upcoming holiday normally celebrated on Nov. 11 would be Veterans Day. This used to be called Armistice Day in order to celebrate the end of World War I. However, since another major world war had passed, it seemed time to call Armistice Day by the new name. This first V-day celebration scheduled was meant to honor vets from the Civil War, WWI and WWII, and the Korean conflict.

NOV 8

1965: The Higher Education Act of 1965 signed into law as part of President Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society domestic agenda. One of the primary purposes of the act was to provide financial assistance for students in higher education by increasing federal funding for universities to create scholarship programs, and to provide low-interest loans for students through Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

NOV. 9

1938: German Nazis launch a campaign of terror against Jewish people, their homes and businesses in Germany and Austria leaving at least 100 dead and over 30,000 arrested and sent to concentration camps. This provided the prelude to the Holocaust in Germany. Over 100,000 German Jews left Germany realizing that they would not be safe. The world powers were outraged by what the Nazis had done but the strongest they did was to break off diplomatic relations, which allowed Nazis to commit the mass murder of 6 million European Jews during the Holocaust

NOV. 10

1967: Lady Chatterley's Lover which had been banned in England since its publication in 1928 and which Penguin fought and won the right in a well publicized trial, published the book in paperback 30 years later. It sold out of 200,000 copies on its first day. D.H. Lawrence's sexually explicit novel was published in Italy in 1928 and in Paris the following year but was banned in England.

Carrying a Taser for self-defense

■ You need to be at least 21 years old with a concealed pistol license

By Hannah Ball

In 2012, Gov. Rick Snyder made it legal for Michiganders to carry stun guns.

The term, "Taser," comes from the most popular company that makes these devices designed to temporarily immobilize a person by shocking them with high electricity voltage. The name is an acronym for Thomas A. Swift's Electric Rifle.

Argentine Township Police Chief Daniel Allen said all self-defense tools have pluses and minuses.

"They are a good defensive tool. For law enforcement they reduce the number of officer and suspect injuries," he said. "You can't Taser or stun gun a person with certain medical conditions, geographically not around gas or fuel whatever device they use."

legally possess a stun gun. Exemptions may apply if you are a police officer, corrections officer, member of the armed services or a specifically authorized individual, according to Michigan law.

To fill out a CPL application, go to michigan.gov/msp.

Those under 21 cannot legally own a Taser because Michigan residents must be 21 to apply for a CPL. Applicants must complete a class on how to use the device.

It is illegal to use a stun gun against another person for anything other than self-defense even with a valid CPL. Penalties could include a fine up to $500 and/or 30 days in jail.

Genesee County Undersheriff Chris Swanson said they're valuable tools for police officers. They recently ordered 98 new Tasers for the sheriff's office.

"The Taser has proven to be very useful in de-escalating violent situations both in the jail and on the street. It gives the officers a non-lethal alternative as they move up the force continuum," he said. "Carrying a Taser is a great responsibility. CPL holders demonstrate that responsibility."

Tasers present a safer and less legally complicated self-defense option than firearms. These stun guns are non-lethal, but incapacitate someone enough for the user to call police.

Stun gun laws

Individuals who carry a stun gun and CPL must provide a police officer with the CPL and driver's license or personal identification card. They must immediately tell the officer that they are currently carrying a stun gun.

It is illegal to carry a stun gun in the following places (police officers and select others are exempt):

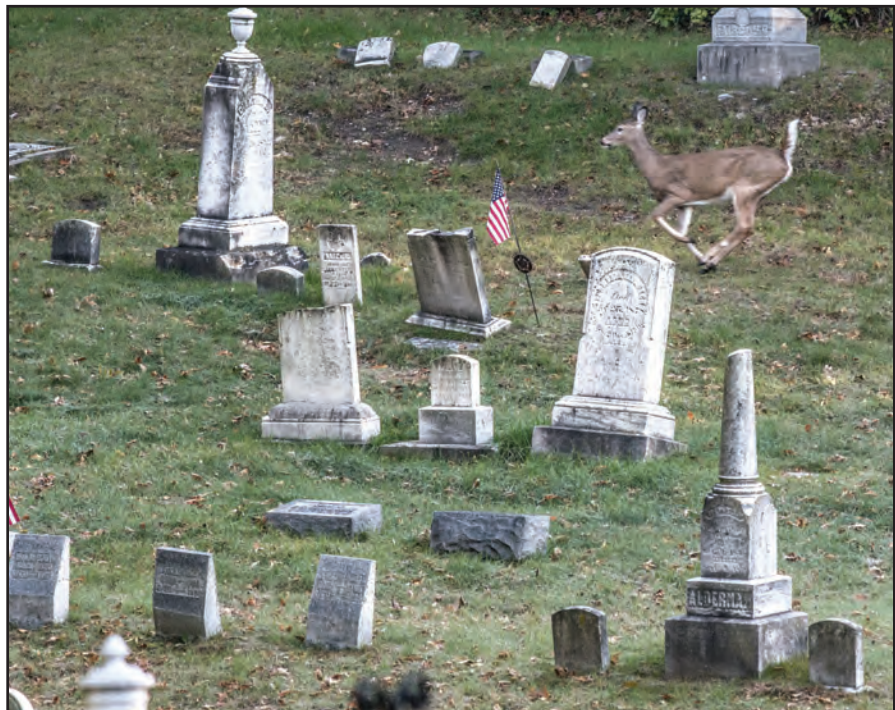

- school property, unless the permit holder is a parent or legal guardian of a current student who remains in a vehicle and is dropping off or picking up a student
- public or private child care center or day care center
- sports arena or stadium
- bar or tavern
- any property or facility owned or operated by a church, synagogue, mosque, temple, or other place of worship, unless authorized by establishment officials
- entertainment facility with a seating capacity of 2,500 or more individuals
- hospital
- dormitory or classroom of a community college, college, or university

How to stop robocalls

■ Phones with area code 810 received average of 7.6 robocalls in September

By Hannah Ball

It can happen multiple times a day. Your cell phone rings and a number you don't recognize flashes across the screen. It could be the doctor's office, or the veterinarian. But there's a good chance it's a robocall.

Fred Moses, information technology director at the Times, defines robocalls as calls that use "a computer system to call blocks of numbers and play some sort of advertising or campaign message that was pre-recorded and doesn't even connect to a real person."

Telemarketing calls are different. Moses said a computer system still does the dialing, but a human at the end of the line reads from a script.

Robocall Index by YouMail calculated the number of robocalls made to area codes in the nation. Americans received 13 robocalls on average for September 2018. Area code 810 received on average 7.6 robocalls in September. That's on the low end compared to some people who receive multiple robocalls a day.

Area code 269 received 7.8 robocalls per person, and area code 248 received 13.9 per person, ranking it number 87 in the nation. The area code with the most robocalls per month was 404 in Georgia with 68.9 robocalls per person this past September.

Robocalls are getting more believable because of "neighbor spoofing," which is when the technology makes the automated calls look as if they come from your area code.

These robocalls are connected to a voice-over IP, or VOIP, with very cheap rates, Moses said.

"The system then takes lists of numbers and just keeps calling each number on the list and then playing the payload message. Lists are created and maintained in many different fashions," he said.

Creating these lists of numbers takes work for these companies, and providers with better lists that contain working numbers can charge more than providers who only randomly dial numbers.

"As far as the 'do not call' registry, companies don't really care if you are on it or not when it comes to robo and even telemarketing callers. And some lists use it as a source for 'good' numbers as well. They are there to make a quick buck and operate as such," Moses said.

He sees an uptick in robocalls during election season, when he sees five to eight times as many robocalls.

"My grandfather's phone number seems to get the most political robo calls as well. Six in one day alone last week. He passed away a few years ago but the computers keep calling him to vote for this or that," he said.

How to stop robocalls

Moses has a program set up on his wireless phone that only allows white listed numbers to come through and make his phone ring. If the number isn't on the white list, it's sent to voicemail with ringing. If the number calls back right away, the phone will ring in case it actually is someone trying to reach him. Robocalls won't call back that fast for the program.

For his landline, all calls go through an interactive voice response system, or TVR, with the message "Thank you for calling, if you know your party's extension..." Robocalls will not leave messages.

"I have had this type of setup running for many years now and it's removed all my robo/telemarketing calls," he said.

Apps to use

CTIA.org, which researches the wireless communications industry, has a list of apps to use for different operating systems. For Android, CTIA recommends free apps including AT&T Call Protect, Call Blocker Free, CallApp, Calls Blacklist, Call Watch and more.

For iOS, or Apple products, CTIA recommends Call Guardian, Hiya Caller ID and Block, Mr. Number: Spam Protection & Number Search, Numbo, PrivacyStar and more. All of these are free.

Crate training a good step for puppies

Properly training a young dog can lead to many years of well-mannered companionship. Dogs who are behaved and respond appropriately to commands may experience less stress, know their place in the family pack and avoid injury by staying out of danger.

Crate training is one component of acclimating a puppy to a new home and routine. Using a crate can simplify the process of housebreaking a puppy. The Humane Society of the United States says that crate training uses a dog's natural instincts as a den animal. The "den" serves as a place to sleep and hide from danger. In addition, because dogs do not like to soil their dens, the crate can be used in the initial stages of housebreaking.

PetMD, an animal health and wellness resource, says there are other good reasons to use a crate in the home. Crates provide a respite where a nervous pet can retreat if he or she needs some quiet time. A cozy crate can be an inviting den for sleeping through the night and prevent separation anxiety from forming in dogs that live in big homes.

The American Kennel Club says crate training is not cruel, provided that crates are used in a positive way. Many breeders and veterinarians recommend using crates for puppies. Rely on these guidelines when crating for the first time.

- Select a well-ventilated crate that is large enough for the puppy to stand up, lie down and turn around. Too much room inside may encourage soiling in one end of the crate, which is what you're trying to avoid.

Many dogs acclimate quickly to crates. Crate training is one component of acclimating a puppy to a new home and routine. Using a crate can simplify the process of housebreaking a puppy.

- Make the crate a positive experience from the start. Line it with blankets, place toys inside and offer treats when the puppy goes inside willingly.
  - Do not lock the puppy up and leave him alone the first time you use a crate. Gradually introduce the crate and stay nearby offering plenty of praise. Start with 10-minute intervals and build up.
  - Practice taking the puppy immediately outside for a potty break after he or she exits the crate. Soon the dog will associate the two activities.
  - The puppy should not be in the crate for the entire day. This can make him or her resent the crate and prevent the dog from getting the exercise it needs.
- Keep practicing with the crate and have patience. After a few weeks, many dogs embrace their crates. When that happens, crates become a safe spot for well-behaved, well-loved dogs.

An easy and healthier version of the popular Chinese cashew chicken dish, using cauliflower instead of chicken. This dish is ready in less than 30 minutes!

DIRECTIONS:

1. Add oil to a large skillet or wok. Bring to medium high heat. Add in cauliflower and bell peppers. Stir and cook until vegetables are tender but still crispy. Turn off heat. Drain any liquid from the pan.
2. In a small saucepan, add all sauce ingredients except the 2 tbsp water + 2 tsp cornstarch. Bring sauce to a simmer and cook about 1-2 minutes, stirring occasionally, until sauce is slightly reduced and flavor of the garlic is infused into the sauce. Taste and adjust sauce as needed to suit personal preference.
3. In a small bowl, add cornstarch into water. Use a small whisk or fork to stir until cornstarch is completely dissolved into the water. Pour into sauce. Stir immediately and mix it into the sauce to prevent cornstarch from clumping. Bring sauce to a simmer again and cook just until sauce is thickened. This should take less than a minute. Sauce should be able to coat the back of a spoon.
4. Remove sauce from heat and pour into the cauliflower mixture. Add in cashews. Bring cauliflower pan to low heat and stir and toss until all the vegetables and cashews are evenly coated in sauce. Be careful not to have the heat too high as it will overcook your vegetables and it will also make your sauce watery. Once vegetables are evenly coated, dish out and garnish with scallions.
