Montana's wide open spaces mixes its Native American heritage with cowboy culture and endless outdoor recreation

By Sally Rummel

(Editor's Note: A family wedding took Times' features writer Sally Rummel and her husband, columnist Mark Rummel on a whirlwind tour of Montana and Yellowstone Country last week).

Where else will you find snow-capped mountains, roaming wildlife, steaming hot springs, erupting geysers, wide open prairieland and hip, urban towns, all in one state?

The Rocky Mountains part of Montana is a land of high peaks, deep valleys, green forests and treeless crest lines.

The Great Plains of the state is a vast horizontal sweep of yellow rangeland, golden grain fields and brown fallow strips — not to mention cowboys,

MONTANA

ranches, rodeos and more.

The mix of cowboy culture and outdoor recreation creates an exciting destination for families and nature enthusiasts.

Montana, called The Treasure State because of its immense mineral wealth, has all this and more. Believe me, it is worth the long trip — whether you fly or drive.

HOW TO GET THERE

You can fly from Detroit Metropolitan Airport to Billings, Montana, with one stop in Minneapolis-St. Paul, for about $450 per ticket, plus extra airline fees for luggage, seating etc. You can also make it a driving trip, passing through South Dakota's famed Mount Rushmore National Park, the Badlands, Custer State Park, and more.

WHAT TO SEE AND DO

• Yellowstone National Park, the first national park designed in the U.S.,

A covered wagon ride to Prairie Valley from Roosevelt Lodge at Yellowstone National Park gives diners at the Old West Cookout a step back in time and beautiful views.

is also the largest in the lower 48 states with 2.2 million acres. It sits in three states, Montana, Wyoming and Idaho, with three of the five main entrances in Montana.

• Hike and backpack through 1,000 miles of trails, enjoy upscale accommodations at Old Faithful Inn, Lake Yellowstone Hotel, Mammoth Hot Springs and more, or stay outside the park's five entrances at local motels and campgrounds.

• Wildlife is so plentiful that you routinely see bison, elk, antelope, wolves, moose, grizzly bear and black bear. In fact, Yellowstone hikers are encouraged to carry bear spray with them at all times. Don't miss the almost-hourly eruption of Old Faithful or other park geysers and hot springs.

• Glacier National Park — this 1,583-square-mile wilderness area in the Rocky Mountains offers 700 miles of hiking trails, glacier-carved peaks and valleys running to the Canadian border. Don't miss the famous Going-to-the-Sun Road, which connects the east and west with scenic mountain views.

• Bear Gulch pictographs, ancient Native American rock etchings are found in several places, the most well-known in Lewistown in Central Montana. A rare rock etching of a fish from Bear Gulch is on display at the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C., and the property owner who discovered the pictographs in 1998 was featured on a National Geographic TV series, "Strange Inheritance," in 2016.

• Museum of the Rockies in Bozeman, has one of the largest collections of dinosaur fossils on Earth.

• Grizzly & Wolf Discovery Center — West Yellowstone

• Garnet Ghost Town - Missoula

MONTANA AT A GLANCE:

Population: 1.062 million (Native Americans comprise one-tenth of state's population)

Capital: Helena

Borders: British Columbia and Saskatchewan are to the north and North Dakota and South Dakota are to the east, Wyoming is to the south and Idaho is to the west.

Average elevation: 3,400 feet, the lowest among the Mountain states

Highest peak: Granite Peak, at 12,807 feet

Square miles: 147,040 (fourth largest state by area)

INTERESTING FACTS:

• There are more cattle than people in Montana

• American daredevil Evel Knievel was from Montana

• Montana is home to the largest migratory elk herd in the nation.

• Yellowstone National Park has about 2,000 earthquakes each year and is home to one of the Earth's few super volcanoes.

• Montana has the largest grizzly bear population of all the lower 48 states.

• Montana's name comes from the Spanish word for "mountain."

POPULAR MONTANA FOODS:

• Huckleberries, a smaller and juicier version of the blueberry, are made into everything from jam to pies and ice cream

• Elk burgers/bison burgers

• Steak

• Pasties

• Flathead cherries

• Trout

SingleTV dads

make up a big part of television history

Compiled By Vera Hogan

Some of our favorite TV shows throughout the years involved families with single fathers. They had a little help though. Andy Taylor had his Aunt Bee to do the chores of a wife and mother, for example. Ben Cartwright had "Hop Sing" to cook and clean for his brood of adult sons, and Jed Clampett had "Granny" to rule the roost. Here are a few of them:

Sources: tvguide.com; guideposts.org; buzzfeed.com

1 Ben Cartwright (Lorne Greene) Bonanza (1959 to 1973)

The show chronicles the adventures of the Cartwright family, headed by the thrice-widowed patriarch Ben Cartwright. He had three sons, each by a different wife. The family lived on 1,000-square-mile ranch called the Ponderosa on the eastern shore of Lake Tahoe in Nevada opposite California. Bonanza storylines dealt less about the range but more with Ben and his three dissimilar sons, how they cared for one another, their neighbors, and just causes.

2 Andy Taylor (Andy Griffith) The Andy Griffith Show (1960-1968)

One of TV's first single dads, Sheriff Andy Taylor expertly balanced keeping Mayberry safe with raising Opie with upstanding morals and values while sneaking in a fishing trip here and there.

3 Jed Clampett (Buddy Ebsen) The Beverly Hillbillies (1962 to 1971)

Jed Clampett was an impoverished and widowed mountaineer, living alongside an oil-rich swamp with his daughter and mother-in-law. A surveyor realizes the size of the oil field, and the company pays him a fortune for the right to drill on his land. The family moves into a mansion in wealthy Beverly Hills, California. The Clampetts bring a moral, unsophisticated, and minimalistic lifestyle to the swanky community.

4 Steve Douglas (Fred MacMurray) My Three Sons (1960-1972)

Widower Steve Douglas, an aeronautical engineer, raised three well-adjusted sons and was still raising grandchildren by the time the sitcom's 12-year run ended.

5 Tony Micelli (Tony Danza) Who's the Boss? (1984-1992)

You've got to hand it to Tony Micelli for trading in baseball gloves for cleaning gloves just to give his daughter, Samantha, a better environment to grow up in.

6 Danny Tanner (Bob Saget) Full House (1987-1995)

Danny Tanner may not be as cool as Uncle Jesse or funny as Joey, but the single dad of three always kept his full house running smoothly — and sparkling clean, for the most part.

Reaching for the stars

■ Lake Fenton High School graduate Megan Davis is now an MSU alumnus with a degree in astrophysics

By Sally Rummel

Some people get a new car for their 16th birthday, but Megan Davis, a 2015 graduate and valedictorian from Lake Fenton High School, got an expensive telescope from her parents instead.

That gift propelled her further than any car would have, as it fueled Davis' passion for astronomy, which she has had since childhood. "I've always been interested in stars," said Davis, who graduated from Michigan State University this past May with a degree in astrophysics.

Davis, 21, daughter of Tommy and Jennifer Davis of Fenton Township, is now working at MSU as a researcher. "I've always been drawn to science and astronomy," Davis said.

"Research is what pulls me and keeps me here."

She is studying "black holes" for this next year on her way to her dream job as a galactic archaeologist. "I hope to study all the elements in our galaxy to try to piece together its history," she added. Davis is now applying to various universities for her PhD.

Davis has always been interested in science, technology, engineering and mathematics or S.T.E.M. "I used to tinker in the garage, building things," Davis said. "My dad is a carpenter. When my parents gave me a science kit as a child, I always pulled out the telescope to look at the moon."

SUMMARY

■ Megan Davis, a 2015 graduate of Lake Fenton High School and one of four valedictorians, just earned her degree in astrophysics from Michigan State University and is working her way toward her dream job as a galactic archaeologist.

Davis didn't let any grass grow under her feet while she was a student at MSU. Instead, she reached for the stars in a series of internships, including a stint at the jet propulsion lab at NASA in Pasadena, California, where she conducted physics experiments that were astronomy related.

She also spent 10 weeks in Belgium, studying and doing research at the university level, then solo backpacking through Belgium and Germany.

In another internship opportunity, Davis spent 10 weeks at the University of Wisconsin River Falls satellite location, doing research.

"Lake Fenton (High School) really did prepare me with all the classes and opportunities for college," she said. "My science teachers were so excited for me. They taught me all about the professions that would be available to me."

Davis also credited her high school alma mater for helping her take college classes for credit at Mott Community College. "As a junior in high school, I was taking math classes like Calc I and II at Mott," she said.

She also appreciated the extracurricular activities at Lake Fenton, like tutoring elementary school kids through the National Honor Society, her involvement in the Key Club all four years and playing softball as a freshman.

"It all helped me to be well rounded and develop patience," she said.

Powers grad living out her dream one chapter at a time

By Sharon Stone

Most people dream of a two-week vacation in Hawaii, where they can enjoy the sites, beautiful weather and daily adventures. One Powers High School graduate took that dream to the next level by working with animals on the islands for about three years.

Shannon Scheving, a Fenton native, and 2010 graduate of Powers, earned her bachelor's degree in Companion and Exotic Animal Biology from Michigan State University. To complete her degree, she was required to complete an internship working in an animal related field. She was drawn to internships that studied animal behavior.

She accepted an internship with Dolphin Quest and lived for nine months in Bermuda to work with dolphins, sea turtles and an African grey parrot. She then accepted a job as an animal behavior specialist with Dolphin Quest's branch in Hawaii.

It was her job to offer daily care and enrichment that each animal needed. "I was able to work with dolphins, black tip reef sharks, various fish species and a painted turtle," she said. "It was extremely satisfying to see them participate voluntarily in their own health care. For instance, having a pregnant dolphin lay on her side in the water for you to get an ultrasound and see the first heart beats of the fetus. This was not only amazing but critical in being able to care for her properly."

Scheving said the animals became family and watching them grow and learn was "so indescribable."

"Dolphins are some of the most intelligent creatures I have had the pleasure to work with. They each had their own identity and my job consisted of having to study and learn about each one. Being able to create a bond with the dolphins meant I had to put in time and effort with them."

She was also responsible for training certain behaviors with each animal. The different types of behaviors consist of husbandry (medical), mentally stimulating and physically stimulating.

"One of my favorite behaviors I trained was a mentally stimulating behavior with a dolphin named Lehua, who was about 4 years old. The behavior was called 'copy' and it consisted of asking Lehua to copy what another dolphin was doing. Watching her get so excited when she figured it out was something I will cherish forever."

In addition to working with the animals, Scheving worked with the Make a Wish Foundation to help fulfill others' life-long dreams of meeting a dolphin. "This job was so rewarding because it allowed me to work hands on with some amazing animals, but it also allowed me to share my passions with others," she said. "To sum it up, this job was one of the most rewarding things I have ever done, and I am forever grateful."

Now back in Michigan with her two dogs, Scheving said she will miss the adventures in Hawaii the most. Her biggest adventure was diving with manta rays. "They are so amazing to watch, and it is still one of the coolest things I have done in my life so far," she said.

Scheving is enrolled in Oakland University's accelerated second-degree program working toward a bachelor of science in nursing. "I should be graduated next year and then I hope to go into traveling nursing," she said. "My future goals involve me getting my masters or doctorate in an advanced practice in the nursing field."

Scheving offers advice for this year's graduates. "It is ok to not know what you want to do for the rest of your life. Don't let the pressures of trying to make this decision get in the way of enjoying this next chapter of your life. Give time for yourself and when you find what you are truly passionate about go after it."

Remembering my dad

Although my sons are not yet fathers, a couple of their friends started their families within the last year. Both have new baby girls, and since I had the best father ever, I feel uniquely qualified to share some thoughts about what made him such a great dad.

My dad was larger than life. In my eyes there was nothing he couldn't do and my sisters and I always felt protected. He was not as physically affectionate as some fathers are, and wasn't constantly kissing and hugging on us (that was Mom's job), but we knew without a doubt that he loved us.

My father was always right. He never lied to us and we knew he would be there for us no matter what kind of trouble we got into. I can't say he was happy about some of the things we pulled, but he didn't abandon us or let us fend for ourselves in difficult situations.

VERA HOGAN

My dad provided well for our family. My mother never had to work outside the home. I did not know until I was a young adult how financially strapped my parents were for several years. They never let on and we never went without. When necessary, my dad would work extra jobs to pay the bills and when their financial situation did start and continue to improve, they were able to retire comfortably, first to Florida and then to Arizona.

I remember my dad being a big old softy. When I got into trouble for something (which was kind of often), my mom's favorite punishment was to withhold permission to do something that I was really looking forward to with my friends. When she said "no," one quick phone call to sweet talk my dad at work and he overruled her. They argued about it later and I felt sort of bad, but they always made up so it was okay.

Which leads me to another wonderful thing about my dad. He treated my mom like a queen. They had a date night every weekend. Dad would dress up in a beautiful suit and tie and Mom would wear a lovely cocktail dress, and off they went out for an evening of dinner and dancing.

My parents are both gone now. Mom died in April of 2008 and Dad in January of 2010. I'm very grateful that I can still recall their voices and the sound of their laughter.

And I remember some simple things, like how I loved the smell of my dad's Old Spice cologne. I even loved the faint odor of tobacco when he walked by.

Cherish your parents while they are still with you. Happy Father's Day!

2018 Water Quality Report for the Village of Holly

This report covers the drinking water quality for the Village of Holly for the 2018 calendar year. This information is a snapshot of the quality of the water that we provided to you in 2018. Included are details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and state standards.

Your water comes from four (4) wells located on the West side of town. Wells are approximately 210 feet deep and are embedded into sand stone (Marshall Formation). The State performed an assessment of our source water in 2003. The susceptibility rating is on a seven-tiered scale from “very-low” to “very-high” based on geologic sensitivity, well construction, and water chemistry and contamination sources. The susceptibility of our source is moderately high.

Several existing sources of contamination exist in the Holly Wellhead Protection area:

Leaking Underground Storage Tank (LUST) sites are located at Adelphian Academy, 820 Academy Road; Village of Holly, 201 Elm Street; Holly Area Schools, 800 Elm Street; Fresh Air Society, 4236 Grange Hall Road; Holly Volunteer Ambulance, 504 Maple Street; Mobil Oil, 15241 North Holly Road; Muffler Man of Holly, 503 North Saginaw; Wilkinson’s Auto Repair, 402 North Saginaw; Mabel O. Barnes Trust, 1125 North Saginaw Street; Holly Gas Company Inc., 114 North Saginaw; Beacon & Bridge Market, 820 North Saginaw; and Larry Winklemann, 220 Elm Street.

Four Part 201 sites of environmental contamination include Delta Tube and Fabrication Corporation, 4149 Grange Hall Road; Carl Spencer, 422 North Saginaw Street; Larry Winklemann, 220 Elm Street; and E and S Trucking, 15391 Fish Lake Road.

Potential sources of contamination include Underground Storage Tank (UST) sites, Aboveground Storage Tank (AST) sites, and groundwater discharge permit sites. Abandoned wells provide a direct conduit for surface run-off and contaminants to easily reach the groundwater and may pose a potential problem. To ensure that these wells are not a potential threat, they should be searched and properly plugged.

We are making efforts to protect our sources by participating in the Wellhead Protection Program.

If you would like to know more about the SWAP report please contact Brian Klaassen at 248-634-2202, or via email at bklaassen@hollyvillage.org.

- Contaminants and their presence in water: Drinking Water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the EPA’s Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).
- Vulnerability of sub-populations: Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).
- Sources of drinking water: The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. Our water comes from wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally-occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.
- Contaminants that may be present in source water include:
  - ❖ Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
  - ❖ Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally-occurring or result from urban storm water runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.
  - ❖ Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture and residential uses.
  - ❖ Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.
  - ❖ Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can come from gas stations, urban storm water runoff, and septic systems.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which provide the same protection for public health.

Water Quality Data

The table below lists all the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the 2018 calendar year. The presence of these contaminants in the water does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done January 1 – December 31, 2018. The State allows us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants are not expected to vary significantly from year to year. All of the data is representative of the water quality, but some are more than one year old.

Terms and abbreviations used below: (on next page)

- Maximum Contaminant Level Goal (MCLG): The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
- Maximum Contaminant Level (MCL): The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level (MRDL): means the highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
- Maximum Residual Disinfectant Level Goal (MRDLG): means the level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
- N/A: Not applicable ND: not detectable at testing limit ppb: parts per billion or micrograms per liter ppm: parts per million or milligrams per liter pCi/l: picocuries per liter (a measure of radioactivity).
- Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements that a water system must follow.

* EPA considers 50 pCi/l to be the level of concern for beta particles.

* While your drinking water meets EPA’s standard for arsenic, it does contain low levels of arsenic. EPA’s standard balances the current understanding of arsenic’s possible health effects against the costs of removing arsenic from drinking water. EPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

** Unregulated contaminants are those for which EPA has not established drinking water standards. Monitoring helps EPA to determine where certain contaminants occur and whether it needs to regulate those contaminants.

*** Information about lead: If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The Village of Holly is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Infants and children who drink water containing lead in excess of the action level could experience delays in their physical or mental development. Children could show slight deficits in attention span and learning abilities. Adults who drink this water over many years could develop kidney problems or high blood pressure.

We will update this report annually and will keep you informed of any problems that may occur throughout the year as they happen. On July 1, 2018 copies of this report will be available at the Village of Holly Municipal Offices located at 300 East St., Holly, MI, office hours Monday through Thursday, 7:30 am to 5:30 pm. The Department of Public Works Offices can also provide copies; their office is located at 201 Elm St. Holly Mi. 48442, office hours Monday through Thursday, 6:00 am to 4:30 pm.

This report will not be sent to you.

We invite public participation in decisions that affect drinking water quality. Village of Holly Council meeting are the 2nd Tuesday of the month at the Council Chambers, at 920 Baird St. Holly MI.48442. For more information about your water, or the contents of this report, contact Brian Klaassen at 248-634-2202, or via email at bklaassen@HollyVillage.org. For more information about safe drinking water, visit the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency at www.epa.gov/safewater/.

SOULMATE

30-year-old working woman Li Ansheng's life in Shanghai is suddenly disrupted by the publication of a novel, entitled "July and Ansheng," a chronicle of her friendship with July during her youth. Coupled with an accidental encounter with Su Jia-Ming, her long repressed memories are unleashed with the force of a tsunami--the two girls seemed destined to become friends from the moment they entered high school. Though they were inseparable and believed that their bond would last for the rest of their lives, the cruelty of youth eventually led them to separate paths. Even more shocking is the discovery of a long-buried secret shared by the women--a secret that serves as an emblem of their youth and the proof of their friendship.

HAMPSTEAD

Though Emily (Diane Keaton) and Donald (Brendan Gleeson) live in the same idyllic London neighborhood of Hampstead, the worlds they inhabit could not be more different. She is an American widow occupying a posh apartment she can no longer afford and filling her time with charity work as she struggles to figure out a next step. He is a gruff Irish loner who lives off the land in a makeshift cabin and wants nothing more than to be left in peace. When his home is threatened by greedy real estate developers, Emily believes she has found her new cause--but gets more than she bargained for when unexpected romance blossoms. Based on an inspiring true story, Hampstead is a buoyant, sparkingly witty tale of two underdogs who took on the system and showed a nation that heart is where the home is.

- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 teaspoons chopped fresh thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

Place all ingredient in a blender; process for 30 seconds or until smooth.

DIRECTIONS:

1. Place chicken breasts in a medium bowl. Add 1/3 cup dressing, toss to coat.
2. Heat a nonstick grill pan over medium-high heat. Coat pan with cooking spray. Add chicken mixture to pan; cook 5 minutes on each side, or until desired degree of doneness. Let chicken stand 3 minutes before cutting crosswise into 1/2-inch slices. Cover and keep warm.
3. While chicken cooks, place 1-1/2 cups spinach on each of four plates. Top salads evenly with chicken slices; sprinkle evenly with goat cheese and, if desired, blueberries. Drizzle evenly with remaining dressing.

AT McLAREN FLINT'S EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT,
THE WAITING ROOM IS YOUR LIVING ROOM.

Check-in to the ER from home.

At McLaren Flint, we understand that when you need emergency care, the waiting room is the last place you want to be. That's why we offer an online registration so you can check-in to our ER right from home and minimize the wait when you arrive.

Just visit mclaren.org/FlintER to select an ER treatment time that fits your schedule.

The next time you need expert ER care, register online so the waiting room can be your living room. It's one more way McLaren Flint is doing what's best.
