Experience NATURE this summer

Nature preserves offer walking trails, educational opportunities, quality family time

By Tim Jagielo

Burton — On Tuesday, July 2, Irma Slangor and her son, Pierson, 11, took the bus from their Holly Township home to the For-Mar Nature Preserve to explore the trails, the Visitor's Center and the Barrier Free Tree House. "He likes nature and he likes to see animals," Slangor said.

The tri-county area is rich with outdoor exploration opportunities, with additional outdoor destinations nearby. They include nature preserves, outdoor education facilities and campgrounds and trail systems. Many are also free to use.

Just sayin'...

vhogan@tctimes.com

'Anti-skateboarding devices,' are you kidding?

When I learned that the new handrails to be installed around the new Butterfly Garden in downtown Fenton would have "anti-skateboarding" devices, I have to admit, I was somewhat offended.

I would like to set the record straight about skateboarders. First, they are not a bunch of hooligans running over old ladies as they come out of the stores. And the majority of them are not out to destroy public property. Most skateboarders are nice young people and don't deserve the stigma that comes with enjoying their sport.

My oldest son, who is pushing 30, has been skateboarding since he was a child. He perfected his skateboarding skills over the years and believe it or not, he and his friends still love to skateboard.

My son has a successful career and lives in a beautiful home south of Ann Arbor with his wife of almost a year. Many of his skateboarding friends from Fenton High School, who are all successful professionals, are getting married and starting their families. They, too, live in the Ann Arbor area. They still get together when time permits for a relaxing Saturday or Sunday afternoon at one of their local skate parks.

You see, the Ann Arbor area and other Michigan communities have skate parks for those who love the sport. The city of Fenton has no such park and likely never will. Several people have in past years tried and been shot down over potential liability issues. What a shame, because you know what? My son and his friends will never be Fenton taxpayers. They will never buy houses here or contribute to the local economy, and in about five or six years, their kids' butts will not be in seats in any Fenton schools.

I realize that teenagers and some skateboarders have been responsible for damage at the park downtown and gazebo since the 1970s. Last year, however, the Fenton City Council approved cameras that are trained on the park and gazebo. The police can see what's going on from inside the station next door. They can just walk over and say "knock it off!"

I hope that these "anti-skateboarding" devices are obvious and visible so that an unsuspecting child does not hop onto one of the rails with his or her board, fall and break a neck. Talk about liability!

Downtown Fenton is growing and has become a true destination. The transformation from what it was to what it is today is truly amazing. But the one thing still lacking is something for our kids to do. Oh well, instead of getting some exercise and fresh air, they'll just have to stare at their smartphones and play video games — that is until they become adults and move away.

PEPPERMINT

Looking for an effective, yet natural way to combat mosquitoes? Try peppermint! Combine a few drops of peppermint essential oil with one cup of water in a spray bottle, shake well, and spray onto skin. Not only will the chemical compounds in peppermint help repel the blood-sucking beasts, but you'll also smell minty fresh!

LEMON EUCALYPTUS

When shopping for a natural mosquito repellent, look for one that contains oil of lemon eucalyptus. It's extremely effective and provides long-lasting protection.

GARLIC WATER

Citronella candles are great for repelling insects, but they can be pricey. Get the same effect for much cheaper by mixing garlic with water and spraying it near all your outdoor light bulbs. As the bulbs heat up, they spread a faint garlicky scent across your yard, which will keep mosquitoes and other bugs away.

ONION, GARLIC AND CAYENNE

One cocktail these little critters will be sure to hate is an (almost) all-natural insect spray to repel mosquitoes as well as other insects like flies. Chop one small onion and one clove of garlic. Mix together with four cups of water, four teaspoons of cayenne pepper, and one tablespoon of liquid dish soap. Spray around your deck and in places where your children play (rather than on the children themselves). This mixture will last a week or so if stored in a jar with a tight-fitting lid and kept in a dark, cool place.

ROSEMARY AND SAGE

Do mosquitoes hover over the grill when you barbecue? Next time, place a few springs of rosemary or sage on top of the coals. They'll repel mosquitoes, leaving your meat in peace.

Compiled By Vera Hogan

There is only one thing that can make rational human beings slap themselves in the face — mosquitoes. Those little blood suckers (a.k.a. the Michigan Air Force) will surely be out in full force this summer, even more so than usual because of all the rain we received this spring. There are ways to keep them off your body and yard, too, with do-it-yourself methods that don't require the use of scary, unknown chemicals.

If you don't like the smell of garlic (a key ingredient in some of the following sprays), don't worry, human noses aren't sensitive enough to detect the smell (you may smell a mild scent for an hour as it dissipates).

NATURAL VERSION WITH APPLE CIDER VINEGAR

Mix together a quarter cup of apple cider vinegar, a quarter cup of witch hazel, and around 20 drops of a combination of any the following essential oils: rosemary, citronella, tea tree, cedar, eucalyptus, or lemongrass. Transfer the mixture to a spray bottle, and shake before each use. Spray directly on exposed skin and the bugs will stay away.

EGG CARTONS AND COFFEE TRAYS

You don't have to buy citronella candles, mosquito coils, or the latest gadget to repel mosquitoes — you can just use cardboard egg cartons and coffee trays (the kind you get when you order more than a couple of coffees to-go). Light them on fire, then blow them out and let them smolder in a fire-safe location. The burning smell they produce is pleasant, but keeps mosquitoes away.

NATURE PRESERVES

LOCAL NATURE SANCTUARIES

These local sanctuaries are both owned by the Michigan Nature Association (MNA). They are the quickest way to be immersed in nature, where the trees, plants and animals are essentially left alone by humans. They're both open during daylight hours and are free to explore.

Dauner-Martin Nature Sanctuary

in Fenton

This 15.5-acre preserve is one of five Michigan preserves located within the borders of a city, according to the MNA. It features large pine groves "interwoven among hardwood forests." The hiking trails are marked, with occasional maps along the way.

The property was used in 1863 to grow hops for owner Philip Dauner's brewery. He passed the property down to his great-grandchildren Marion and Robert Martin, who donated it to the MNA in 1998.

Location: There's an entrance adjacent to the North LeRoy Street VG's, and on Dauner Road, just east of North LeRoy Street.

Sharon Zahrfeld Memorial Nature Sanctuary

in Argentine Township

The preserve, according to the MNA, is made of gently rolling hills around Save It Creek, which is part of the Shiawassee River Watershed. The trails are marked, but narrow. Long sleeves, boots and bug spray is recommended, and it may not be navigable or fun for small children.

The sanctuary is the namesake of long time volunteer and MNA member Sharon Zahrfeld.

NATURE PRESERVES WITH EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES

For-Mar Nature Preserve & Arboretum

in Burton

The preserve is 116 acres of paved and unpaved trails for walking and exploring nature. The trails are treated as educational facilities — many landscapes and plants are labeled with information placards. It is run by Genesee County Parks.

Aside from trails, the visitors center is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. It's an educational facility offering hands-on experience with both the plants and animals of Michigan. The Barrier Free Treehouse is open noon to 4:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, or by request.

Hours: 8 a.m. to sunset daily

Location: 2142 N. Genesee Rd., Burton

Website: Geneseecountyparks.org

Howell Nature Center

in Howell

The Howell Nature Center is 230 acres of woods and wetlands, according to its website. The Howell Nature Center also offers outdoor education and recreation programs, summer camps, wildlife rehabilitation clinic, native wildlife teaching zoo and others.

Hours: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. every day

Location: 1005 Triangle Lake Rd., Howell

Website: howellnaturecenter.org

Fees: $6 for adults 18 and older, $4 ages 3 to 17. Ages 2 and under are free.

The Sharon Zahrfeld Memorial Nature Sanctuary is tucked away down a long gravel driveway, and it might feature the most immersive trails around. Photo: Tim Jagielo

CITY OF LINDEN

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON

PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS TO BYRAM LAKE

The Linden City Council will hold a public hearing in the Council Chambers on the lower level of the Mill Building at 201 N. Main Street, Linden, Michigan on Monday, July 22, 2019 at 7:00 p.m. to hear citizen’s comments on continuation of the Byram Lake Improvement Project. The project will be financed by a special assessment district which includes all properties in the city within 500 feet of Byram Lake which about the lake. A copy of plans and cost estimates for the project are on file with the City Clerk.

The current aquatic plant control program on Byram Lake is scheduled to end this year. It is proposed to continue the project through 2024. The project will consist of herbicide treatments, and if feasible mechanical harvesting for aquatic plant control and continued water quality monitoring to gauge the effectiveness of the project. Estimated annually project costs for the proposed project 2020 through 2024 are:

Improvement	Cost
Aquatic Plant Control
(Herbicide Treatments/Mechanical Harvesting)	$26,000
Aquatic Plant Control Coordination/Field Evaluations	7,000
Water Quality Monitoring	4,000
Administration and Contingency	3,000
Total	$40,000

In order to ensure assessments levied are proportionate to the benefit derived from the project, it is proposed that lot size be considered when determining individual assessments. Under this plan, a “unit” assessment would be levied against lots with a mean lot width of 300 feet or less. Lots greater than 300 feet in width would be assessed two units in the proposed Byram Lake special assessment district. This equates to a unit assessment of approximately $266.67 per year for 5 years.

Any person wishing to comment may do so in person or in writing by addressing written comments to the City Clerk, at P.O. Box 507, 132 E. Broad Street, Linden, Michigan, 48451.

Pamela Greer Bretzke

1943 - 2019

Pamela Greer Bretzke - age 76, died on Friday, June 28th, 2019. She was a loving wife and mother of two, grandma of six children. She left behind her earthly tent and flew into the arms of Jesus. Pam was born on June 12, 1943 in Flint to Lester and Marjorie Lovegrove. Born a "middle" child between older sis, MaryLee Brotebeck and younger brother, Kurt Lovegrove, Pam was a spit-fire and full of shenanigans. She finished college and married Bruce Bretzke Sr. and together they raised Angie and Tal. Pam completed nursing school and earned her LPN degree, working at McLaren Hospital. Coming to know Christ at 32 years was the life-changing event that shaped Pam. She spent the next four decades walking with the Lord Jesus, teaching her children and grandchildren to do the same. She was an awesome cook, decorator, enjoyed studying the Bible and handwork, and most importantly was faithful to pray for whom the Lord put in her basket: her family, friends, and those who do not know Jesus. She encouraged us all, "to do the next right thing". She was our godly rock and will be sorely missed. Pamela is survived by daughter, Angela Greer (Curt) Finch of Anthem, AZ; and son, Bruce Talmage (Kelli) Bretzke Jr. of Greenville; five grandchildren, Tre and Alyssa Finch, Taylor, Savannah, and Titus Bretzke; sister, MaryLee (Bob) Brotebeck of Roscommon; and brother Kurt (Jeanne) Lovegrove of Fenton. Also surviving are in-laws, Brian (Polly) Bretzke, and many loving nieces, nephews, and friends. Pamela was preceded in death by her parents, husband of 48 years Bruce Sr., and loving grandson, Bruce III to whom she is now reunited in Jesus. Private family service.

Guess Who?

I am an actor, screenwriter and director born in New York on July 6, 1946. I spent the early part of my acting career on the brink of homelessness. However, that all changed when I shot to fame in 1976 playing an Italian boxer from the streets.

I am an R&B singer born in Canada on July 11, 1996. I wrote poetry and did theater as a child and eventually developed a YouTube channel. My debut single helped me earn the Grammy Award for Best New Artist in 2018.

Pork Chops with Butter Bean Salad

Serves 4

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 slice sandwich bread, torn into pieces
- 4 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 scallions, sliced
- Kosher salt and black pepper
- 4 boneless pork chops (1 inch thick; about 1.5 pounds total)
- 1 bunch spinach, thick stems removed and leaves thinly sliced (about 4 cups)
- 1 14-ounce can butter beans, rinsed
- 1 tablespoon red wine vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano

DIRECTIONS:

1. Heat oven to 400 F. In a food processor, pulse the bread and 2 tablespoons of the oil to form coarse crumbs. Spread on a rimmed baking sheet and bake until crisp, 5 to 6 minutes. Toss with the scallions, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 1/8 teaspoon pepper.
2. Meanwhile, heat 1 tablespoon of the remaining oil in a large ovenproof skillet over medium-high heat. Season the pork with 1/2 teaspoon each salt and pepper and cook until browned, 2 to 3 minutes per side. Transfer the skillet to the oven and roast the pork until cooked through, 6 to 8 minutes.
3. In a large bowl, toss the spinach and beans with the vinegar, oregano, the remaining tablespoon of oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 1/8 teaspoon pepper. Top the pork with the bread crumbs mixture. Serve with the salad.

Few foods can be as comforting as down-home cooking that uses ingredients pulled straight from a backyard garden or a local farm. Simple, delicious flavors are often the crux of country cooking.

While fried chicken, grits and leafy green vegetables are hallmarks of country cooking, particularly in the southern region of the United States, many different ingredients can be used to create country-inspired meals.

Pork is a mainstay of many country dinner tables. This recipe for “Pork Chops with Butter Bean Salad” from “Real Simple Dinner Tonight: Done!” (Time Home Entertainment) by Allie Lewis Clapp and Lygeia Grace is a great representation of a simple, yet tasty meal.

Safely take dogs for wilderness walks

Hiking is a rewarding, healthy activity that can help people connect with nature. Walks in the wilderness also present perfect opportunities to get the family dog out for some fresh air.

When walking dogs in wooded areas, pet owners must exercise caution to protect their dogs, themselves and fellow nature lovers.

- Confirm leash policies. When walking dogs in public settings, it’s always best to keep them on a leash. Many areas even have laws that mandate dogs be kept on leashes at all times. If you hope to walk a dog off-leash, visit the park or wooded area ahead of time or contact your local parks department to determine the laws governing the area.
- Recognize the benefits of leashes. Even if you’re not legally obligated to keep the dog on a leash while walking through the woods, the benefits of doing so are numerous. Keeping your dogs on a leash makes it easier for you and your dog to get away if you encounter something unexpected, like a coyote or a bear. It’s also easier to keep your dog on the walking path and out of brush or bushes, where ticks or other bugs might attach themselves to the dog and ultimately put its health in jeopardy.

- Apply tick repellent. Even dogs that stay on walking paths in wooded areas are vulnerable to ticks. That vulnerability increases their owners’ susceptibility to ticks as well, as ticks that attach to dogs may eventually bite the dogs’ owners. Flea and tick collars can effectively deter ticks from feasting on dogs. Owners also should apply tick repellent to themselves before entering wooded areas.
- Bring water and treats. Hikers bring extra water and food along during a hike to satisfy any hunger pangs they have while walking and to ensure they have some sustenance should they get lost. The same precautionary measures are necessary for dogs. Pack a portable water bowl and extra water for your pooch so the dog does not become dehydrated during the walk. Some healthy, energy-boosting snacks can help dogs withstand lengthy hikes as well.

- Recognize signs that the dog needs to turn around and go home. Heavy panting, a slow gait and repeated efforts to lay down are signs that dogs have grown tired. Monitor your dog’s energy levels and turn around or return to your vehicle at the first sign a dog is running out of gas.

Wilderness walks provide great opportunities to get dogs exercise and fresh air. Some simple precautionary measures can ensure such walks are enjoyable for everyone.
