Dear Fenton Area Public School families; our team here at Fenton Area Public Schools is excited about the 2019-2020 school year. We have been working over the summer to prepare for our first day on Aug. 27. I am excited about what this school year will bring and would like to welcome all of you back from break. Fenton Area Public Schools continues to live out our mission of collaborating with our community, committing to educational excellence and developing lifelong learners who are responsible citizens in a global society.

Going into our second year of our strategic plan, FAPS 2021, we will focus on our three goal areas; Support and Development, Community, and Stability. Last year we were successful in implementing the strategies and objectives to move FAPS even further into the 21st century. We are excited to add an early college class with the Pre-Engineering focus to our list of post-University of Michigan-Flint with a 21st century. We are excited to move FAPS even further in implementing the strategies and objectives to move FAPS even further into the 21st century.

Dear Holly Area Schools community, I am thrilled to welcome back our Broncho students, families, teachers and support staff for the 2019-2020 school year!

From our elementary Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) and “Leader in Me” programs, to a variety of dual enrollment opportunities and new learning experiences in the professional trades, to our award-winning fine arts and athletics programs, there has truly never been a better time to be a Broncho.

From our Young 5s to our high school seniors, we continue to provide state-of-the-art, cutting-edge technology and learning opportunities inside and outside the classroom that help all Bronchos achieve and succeed.

These innovative learning opportunities — and many more — will continue to make Holly an exceptional place to learn, grow and inspire.

As your superintendent, I am proud to work with our outstanding students, parents and the Linden community.

I am thrilled to welcome back our students, families, teachers and support staff for the 2019-2020 school year! Linden Community Schools is gearing up for another outstanding school year, and I want to personally welcome back our students, staff, parents and the Linden community.

All indications point to another incredible school year. I am looking forward to continued success with our LCS Strategic Plan. Our focus continues to be on the five goal areas outlined in our plan: Student Achievement and Engagement, Facility Improvements, Educational and Instruction Technology, Sustainability, and Communication.

We are entering the second year of our Promoting Positive School Climate initiative. This initiative was put in place to create a safe and successful learning environment, and highlight both academic and social and emotional learning for all students. Our students will S.O.A.R to new heights.

It is with great excitement that I welcome you to the 2019-2020 school year! Linden Community Schools was awarded about $138,000 through these innovative learning opportunities and new learning experiences in the professional trades, to our award-winning fine arts and athletics programs, there has truly never been a better time to be a Broncho.

It’s never too early to have your child’s vision tested. In fact, vision experts suggest that children have their first comprehensive eye exam at 6 months of age.

Here is a suggested list of vision exams for your child, from allaboutvision.com:

- First exam | 6 months of age
- Second exam | age 3
- Third exam | before entering first grade
- Every two years | school-aged children who have no vision correction
- Every year | children with glasses or contact lenses

This comprehensive eye exam should be performed by an optometrist (OD) or an ophthalmologist (eye MD).

A child who is unable to see print or view a blackboard can become easily frustrated, leading to poor academic performance. Early intervention can treat many of these conditions.

Children need the following visual skills that are essential for optimal learning:

- Excellent visual acuity at all distances
- Accurate and comfortable eye teaming skills
- Accurate eye movement skills
- Accurate and comfortable focusing skills

Your child’s eyes should be examined early for visual problems such as:

- “Lazy eye” (amblyopia) — one eye is weaker than the other one
- Misalignment of eyes — crossed or misaligned eyes
- Nearsightedness, farsightedness and astigmatism
- Convergence insufficiency — the...

SCREEN

How parents can help navigate the use of screens for their kids — from age 2 to teens

By Sally Rummel

Not all screen time is created equal. Computers, tablets and smartphones all have different purposes and priorities in your child’s life.

Because some screen time can be educational for kids as well as support for their social development, you need to help your child navigate screen use at home, at school and with friends.

Here’s the problem — according to MayoClinic.com, too much screen time or poor quality screen time has been linked to:

• Obesity
• Irregular sleep schedules
• Shorter duration of sleep
• Behavioral problems
• Loss of social skills
• Violence
• Less time for play

Develop screen time rules for younger children:

For children ages 2 to 5, limit screen time to one hour per day of high quality programming. Organizations such as Common Sense Media can help you determine what’s appropriate, or better yet, watch, play or use them with your child.

As your child grows, you’ll have to decide how much media to let your child use each day. Set limits (see related information in this story).

Consider applying the same rules to your child’s real and virtual environments. In both, play with your child, teach kindness, be involved, know your child’s friends and how they spend their time.

• Preview programs, games and apps before allowing your child to view or play with them.

See SCREEN TIME on 7
SCREEN TIME
• Prioritize unplugged, unstructured playtime.
• Seek out interactive options that engage your child, rather than those that just require pushing, swiping or staring at the screen.
• Avoid fast-paced programming, apps with distracting content, and violent media.

Set limits for older children:
• Use parental controls to block or filter internet content.
• Make sure your child is nearby during screen time so you can supervise his or her activities.
• Ask your child regularly about the programs, games and apps he or she has played with during the day.
• Create tech-free zones or times, such as dinnertime or one particular night a week.
• Discourage use of media during homework.
• Don’t allow exposure to devices or screens one hour before bedtime.
• Charge devices at night, outside of your child’s bedroom.
• Limit your own screen time.

Teach appropriate online behavior to your teens:
• Make sure they understand what’s allowed and what’s not allowed, such as sexting, cyberbullying and sharing personal information online.
• Teach your child not to send or share anything online he wouldn’t want the entire world to see for eternity.
• No matter how smart or mature you feel your child is, monitor his online and social media behavior. Your child is bound to make mistakes using media. Let them learn from these mistakes.
• Set an example. Your child watches for cues on when it’s okay to use screens and how to use them.

How was your day?

Here’s how to create more meaningful conversations with your kids

By Sally Rummel

“How was school today?” “Good.”
“What did you do?” “Stuff.”

You may wonder why your kids don’t want to talk to you about their feelings and are sometimes defensive and uncommunicative. Even though they may say, “Everything is fine,” you often know otherwise, but don’t know how to get a meaningful, helpful conversation started.

Most often, your child’s silence is an instinctive self-protective behavior, evoked by the anticipation of painful feelings, according to Psychology Today.

Children do not want to talk to us when they feel angry or ashamed; or when they are afraid that we will be critical; or when they believe that talking will just make them feel bad all over again, or feel worse. If we would just leave him alone, he believes, his bad feelings will go away.

Even when there is nothing really wrong, when we ask a child a question, he may hear more than our question. He hears the overtones, the implications and suspects that neutral questions aren’t really neutral.

So what’s a parent to do?

• Express enthusiastic interest in your child’s interests, even if these aren’t the interests you would choose. This is the surest way to get kids to talk and is a first principle of strengthening family relationships.

• Acknowledge their frustrations, disappointments, and grievances. As parents, we can say to our children, “I know you feel it wasn’t fair when…” Or, “I know you were really disappointed when…” Kids then learn that disappointments are a part of life and that feelings of anger and unfairness don’t last forever.

• Share personal stories about your own experiences, especially at times of sadness, anxiety and disappointment. Let them know you know how they feel, because you’ve also had these feelings.

• When there is a recurring problem in your family life, ask your child to help problem solve with her own ideas.

• Acknowledge your mistakes. If we are willing to acknowledge our mistakes, our children will be more likely to own up to theirs.

• When you need to criticize, do so thoughtfully and gently. When talking with your child about a problem, tell her what is right about what she is saying before you tell her what is wrong.

• Set aside 10 minutes every evening at bedtime as a time to listen to your

Keeping the lines of communication open between parents and their children is imperative. Parents are advised to be understanding of their children’s feelings and acknowledge that they too have had similar experiences growing up and how they dealt with their own feelings. Times file photo child’s concerns and share stories. If she says that she has nothing to talk about, ask her about something she is looking forward to, or worried about, the next day.

• Give them time. Try not to, at that moment, insist on a response. Boys especially often need more time to let go of their reflexive defensiveness. You can say, for example, “Okay, I understand how you feel. Let’s talk about this again tomorrow and see if we can come up with any new ideas.”
• Finally, be careful how you talk about others. If you are frequently judgmental of others, your children may become anxious that you also will be critical and judgmental of them.

Five reasons to eat dinner together as a family
Kids and teens who share family dinners three or more times per week:
● are less likely to be overweight
● are more likely to eat healthy foods
● perform better academically
● are less likely to engage in risky behaviors (drugs, alcohol, sexual activity)
● have better relationships with their parents

inability to maintain eye alignment when viewing objects.
• Focusing problems, poor depth perception and color blindness

Glasses vs. contacts
Four million children in the U.S. under the age of 18 wear contact lenses.

If your child is responsible for personal hygiene and follows instructions well, she is a strong candidate for wearing contact lenses.

Reasons to consider contact lenses:
● Sports — Children who are active in sports will find many advantages in wearing contacts. Sport contact lenses eliminate the possibility of broken frames or foggy lenses. Contact lenses also remain stable while a child is running for more accurate and stable vision.

If your child decides to wear glasses while playing sports, don’t forget to purchase an extra pair with sport frames.

● Self-esteem — Wearing contact lenses often improve how children feel about their appearance.

● Contact lenses slow the progression of nearsightedness.

NEW SCHOOL YEAR, NEW CULTURE

Both foreign students and local districts learn during international exchange programs.

By Tim Jagielo

School is about to begin, which is a brand new start for staff and students. It’s especially a new start for students starting school in a completely different culture. Every year, several foreign exchange students are welcomed into local homes and schools to continue their academic and cultural education.

“If any exchange program gives students at the host school an opportunity to learn about the customs of someone from another country,” said Laura Lemke, assistant principal/Career Technical Education (CTE) director for Fenton High School (FHS), “The exchange student also learns about our culture and customs and gets an opportunity to practice a language he/she has been studying for a number of years.”

She said they generally have three to six foreign exchange students at FHS per year. Some are full year exchange students, some are one semester and some are for two weeks. She said they have three approved for this upcoming school year. Two are from Barcelona, Spain and one is from Stockholm, Sweden.

Linden High School (LHS) Principal Darin Dreasky said it’s less common to have a student of their own study abroad. Linden Community Schools (LCS) typically has one or two foreign exchange students per year.

“They are placed in senior level courses, encouraged to become fully vested in our school climate, culture and activities,” he said.

Dreasky said it’s usually a positive experience for both the students of LHS, as well as the exchange students.

Make the SHOE FIT!

Your child’s growing feet need good arch support and plenty of room to grow.

By Sally Rummel

Buying your child brand new shoes for the school year is a rite of passage for many families as they prepare to go back to school.

Here are 10 tips to keep in mind to get the best fit:

1. Choose a shoe store that has an experienced and knowledgeable staff to help get the best fit.

2. Try the shoes on in person.

3. Have a salesperson measure your child’s feet while your child stands up straight, wearing socks fitting snug around the feet.

4. Buy shoes your child will wear. In other words, consider the style and also the type of closure. If your child can’t tie laces, don’t buy lace-up shoes until he or she learns that skill.

5. Make sure there is about 0.5 to 0.65 inches of space between the longest toe and the end of the shoe. This space allows the toes to spread out for better comfort and stability.

6. Push down on the front of the shoe. It shouldn’t be tight over the top of the foot and there should be space for movement.

7. Put your finger between the back of the shoe and your child’s foot along the heel. Your finger should fit snugly between the heel and back of the shoe. Too much friction will cause blisters and too loose a fit will cause slippage and possible gait issues as your child will overcompensate.

8. Flex your child’s foot at the ankle from side to side. Shoes that rub against the ankle can cause blisters, calluses or other foot injuries.

9. Press the outer side of your child’s shoe to feel for his little toe. You should be able to feel the toe, not pressed firmly against the shoe wall, but able to flex within.

10. Look at the inside arch of the shoe. There should be an “arch support,” a contoured piece to fit your child’s foot. The slope of the arch should start at the base of your child’s big toe.

Is the flu bug going to bug you this year?

Last year’s flu season was the longest in 10 years

By Sally Rummel

We likely know someone who got very sick with the flu last year, and it might have been you. Last year, the flu season lasted 21 weeks, the longest in a decade and was considered by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) to be “moderately severe.”

What’s in store for us for the 2019-2020 flu season?

Flu viruses are most common during the fall and winter months, peaking between December and February. The flu season can last as late as May, depending on the severity of the season.

There are many different flu viruses and they are constantly changing. The composition of U.S. flu vaccines is reviewed annually and updated as needed to match circulating flu viruses. Flu vaccines protect against the three or four viruses (depending on the vaccine) that research suggests will be most common.

For the 2019-2020 flu season, trivalent (three component) vaccines, are recommended to contain:
- A/Brisbane/02/2018 (H1N1)pdm09-like virus (updated)
- A/Kansas/14/2017 (H3N2)-like virus (updated)
- B/Colorado/06/2017-like (Victoria lineage) virus

Quadrivalent (four-component) vaccines, which protect against a second lineage of B viruses, are recommended to contain:
- The three recommended viruses above, plus B/Phuket/3073/2013-like (Yamagata lineage) virus

How much flu vaccine will be available this season?

Manufacturers have projected they will provide between 162 million and 169 million doses of vaccine for the U.S. market.

Where can you get the flu vaccine?
- Genesee County Health Department
- Medical offices
- Retail pharmacies

‘Take 3’ actions to fight the flu

- Take time to get a flu vaccine. The CDC recommends a yearly flu vaccine as the first and most important step in protecting against flu viruses. Everyone 6 months of age and older should get a flu vaccine every season.
- Take everyday preventive actions to stop the spread of germs. Avoid close contact with sick people. When you are sick, limit contact with others. If you are sick with flu symptoms, CDC recommends you stay home for at least 24 hours after your fever is gone, except to get medical care or other necessities.
- Take flu antiviral drugs if your doctor prescribes them. Antiviral drugs are different from antibiotics, and can make the illness milder and shorten the duration. Flu antiviral drugs work best when they are started within two days of getting sick, but can still be helpful later, especially if the sick person has a high risk factor or is very sick from the flu.

Is it the flu or a bad cold?

Here’s how to tell the difference:

FLU
- Fever, dry hacking cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, sneezing, cough, headache or body aches, mild tiredness.

COLD
- Runny or stuffy nose, sore throat, sneezing, cough, headache or body aches, mild tiredness.

Being a student-athlete in college is challenging but rewarding

By David Troppens

Life as a student-athlete can be an exciting but challenging time.

When someone is still in high school, the challenges involve the recruiting process. Once at school, many other challenges arise. However, if you ask University of Michigan distance runner Jacob Lee, Eastern Michigan University soccer player Alia Frederick and Northwood University soccer player Erica Breitling it is certainly worth the effort.

“Being a student-athlete is hard, but it’s so worth it,” Linden graduate Breitling said. “The memories and friends you make during the season will last a lifetime. I’m so glad I made the decision to play a college sport.”

“High school is fun, but college is even more exciting,” said Lee, a Fenton graduate. “Time just flies by. Just take the time and enjoy the process. Practice may be a grind every now and then, but I enjoy being around the guys and the coaches.”

“The thing I like best is being able to play my sport,” said Frederick, a Linden graduate. “To play a sport in college, you really have to love it because it is so demanding, but I wouldn’t change a thing about it. I love playing soccer and get excited for every game. When we have our two-week break after season, I start to miss it.”

Recruiting process

The recruiting process starts at different stages for different sports. For example, women soccer players are frequently recruited by their sophomore and junior seasons. Our trio of athletes say the key is putting in the work to make sure coaches know about you.

“For soccer, a high school sophomore should already be sending emails to college coaches and going to ID camps,” Frederick said. “This sounds obvious, but I think one of the best things an athlete looking to be recruited can do is work their best 100 percent of the time. Even if a collegiate coach isn’t watching you, someone is and word gets around. A college coach can teach ability, but can’t teach work ethic.”

“Just getting in contact with coaches is huge,” Lee said. “Most of the time unless you are an all-star recruit, they won’t approach you, so you have to initiate the contact. That’s how I got

SHOE FIT

FAQs regarding your child’s footwear:

Is it OK for my child to wear hand-me-down or gently used shoes?

As long as the shoes aren’t badly worn or misshapen, gently used shoes can be recycled. However, don’t recycle athletic shoes that have been worn by someone else, because those shoes have conformed to another child’s foot and have been worn to accommodate their gait. They may be less protective for key areas of your child’s foot.

Many adult foot issues begin in childhood, so proper fitting shoes are very important. Check the fit of your child’s shoes every few weeks to ensure that they fit.

How long will a new pair of shoes likely last for my child?

The average life of a pair of children’s shoes is four months. This is partly because of children’s activity rate, which can wear out shoes quickly, depending on the quality of the shoe. A child’s growth rate is also a factor in the life of the shoes.

Q&A with local coaches

Casey Lombard
Holly High School athletic director

Q: How has coaching a variety of teams at a variety of different positions (from head coach to assistant coach) helped you prepare for your current position?

"Being both a head coach and an assistant coach was a blessing in that it exposed me to many of the different aspects coaching entails. From my time with the basketball staff at SVSU, to my different experiences in Holly, I have taken valuable lessons from all my coaching opportunities. Basketball and golf are so different in terms of the in-game/round adjustments and coaching strategies. In basketball, the excitement of the game and the atmosphere of coaching in front of a big crowd was something that got the adrenaline going. On the golf course, the game can be so mental and as a coach, 95 percent of the coaching you do is course management and thinking. I was the type of coach that loved practices. This is where all of the work was done and I like to think that I found ways in both sports to teach our athletes about the respective sports. My coaching experiences have prepared me for this position in numerous ways, and will enable me to share my experiences with our coaches as they learn and grow."

Q: What high school did you attend? What sports did you play in high school?

"I am a 2000 graduate of Ithaca High School. During my high school career, I was a three-sport athlete as a freshman, sophomore, and junior. I played four years of golf, four years of basketball, and three years of baseball. I earned seven total varsity letters (four in golf, two in basketball, and one in baseball)."

Q: What were some of your more memorable moments as a prep athlete?

"I was very lucky to have great teammates in high school in each of the sports that I played and we enjoyed success in each sport. Our high school golf team qualified for the MHSAA State Finals twice and won league titles two years as well. I was first team all-league in golf for three years and won the league’s most outstanding performer my senior year. Our basketball team won a district title my junior year and narrowly lost to state runner-up Bath in the regional finals. In baseball, we won a league and district title my junior year and lost to eventual state runner-up Midland Bullock Creek in extra innings in the regional final. After high school, I went on to play collegiate golf at SVSU and played in the 2001 GLIAC Championships. Overall, I earned seven team and individual [all-state] honors."

The family of Jeff and Sharon Stone of Fenton Township have awarded a total of $132,300 in college scholarships to deserving seniors in the Lake Fenton school district since 2004 — in memory of their son, Brad, who passed away July 1, 2000, at age 12. They’ve awarded another $81,500 in college scholarships to Eastern Michigan Hockey Association members during that same time.

The Brad Stone Memorial Scholarship is an example of one of many local scholarships available for students trying to finance their next educational step — college.

On average, families report spending $26,226 on college expenses for last year’s academic year 2018-19. Forty-three percent of these costs were covered out-of-pocket through income and savings and 31 percent through scholarships and grants.

When it comes to paying for college, scholarships are one of the best options that actually provide “free money.” When you receive a scholarship, the money is yours and you never have to worry about paying it back.

While there’s a huge range of scholarships, they can generally be split into the categories of need and merit-based.

Need-based depends on your family’s ability to pay for college and are only awarded to candidates who need a little extra help financially. Merit-based scholarships are awarded to applicants based on their achievements or abilities.

Here are the steps you need to take to begin your search for scholarships:

STEP 1 – Get out there and search

Talk with your high school guidance counselor, who will have a list of community-based scholarships as well as state and national scholarships. Also check with the financial aid office at the university you...

The grant was used to make all classroom phones compatible with building public address systems, and install directional amplifiers to increase communications with first responders. Both projects will be completed by the start of the school year. We also are entering our second year of using A.L.I.C.E. protocols for emergency situations, and all school entrances are equipped with a buzzer and monitor system.

The beginning of a new school year provides everyone an opportunity to embark on new challenges, build new relationships, and find new successes. Please accept my best wishes for a fantastic school year, and thank you for your support.

high school credit opportunities for our students.

We know a safe learning environment is the key to true learning. We received the Michigan State Police Competitive School Safety Grant this spring allowing us to place more security cameras in our K-5 buildings and the Ellen Street Campus. We also know that safety is so much more than cameras or locked doors.

Our focus on social emotional learning will continue, as we find ways to give each child the best opportunity to grow and learn.

Welcome back to our FAPS families and we wish everyone an amazing 2019-2020 school year.

Some employers, including McDonald’s restaurants, offer tuition assistance, which may be worth checking out.

STEP 2 – Create a calendar

When it comes to applying for scholarships, timing is key. Start applying as soon as possible, from your junior year on. Make a list or spreadsheet with the scholarships you’d like to apply for, their due dates and required documents and essays.

STEP 3 — Figure out the requirements

Not all scholarships are created equal. It’s important to research the specific requirements for the scholarship you’re applying to. They are generally straightforward and listed on the description. Most will require an application, an essay, letters of recommendation and copies of transcripts and diplomas. Need-based scholarships might also require your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) form or your parents’ tax and income information. An up-to-date resume and portfolio, especially if you’re applying for an artistic scholarship, will complete your application package.

STEP 4 — Make your essay stand out

Your essay can make or break your application, so give it the time and effort it deserves. Follow directions carefully, give it time and make your essay stand out among the rest. Be sincere and truthful. Proofread, edit, repeat.

STEP 5 — Submit your materials

Now it’s time to turn in your application. Check the requirements to find out if yours should be mailed via the U.S. Postal Service or submitted online. Make sure that anyone writing a letter of recommendation was given a deadline and proper submission instructions.

STEP 6 — Wait it out

Now it’s time to take a deep breath and relax, and hope your hard work paid off.

Co-op at FHS throughout the years

Program allows students to work, earn money while in school

By Hannah Ball

Even before the current high school was built, a number of Fenton students were not only students — they also worked as secretaries, assistants and more around the city.

Fenton High School has had a co-op program since before 1969. It’s still going on today.

Co-op is a program in which Kathy Burgess, who worked for Fenton schools for 25 years and is now retired, graduated from Fenton in 1974. During her senior year, she did co-op with two different businesses. June Laisy, who was the business teacher, was her co-op coordinator. Judy Hogan, who was a shorthand teacher, was also involved in the program.

“The coordinators went to the businesses in Fenton and tried to find jobs they could place kids in. Fenton has always been really supportive of hiring high school kids so it worked out,” she said.

Burgess first worked at LP Mitchell Excavating in Holly. But, she missed about six weeks of school and work at onepoint because she had mononucleosis (mono). When she came back, she did co-op with Raleigh Construction as a secretary. She was paid $2.60 an hour. Burgess would spend three hours in the morning in classes and then go to work for three hours.

She said it was fairly common for kids to be in the program. Through her work at Fenton schools, she saw the number of kids in the program go up and down.

“It depends on the economy,” she said.

James (JJ) McKeny, who now works for the Fenton Department of Public Works, was in the FAPS co-op program from 1998 to 2001, working at Kan Rock Tire on LeRoy Street. His initial job was sweeping floors, putting tires away, unloading in contact at Michigan, coach’s email. I don’t think they were necessarily looking at me.”

Meeting teammates also can help the process.

“Make sure you meet your future teammates and coaches,” Frederick said. “You can only tell so much from meeting them a few times, but this is huge. One can usually tell if they mesh with someone from the beginning.”

The trio said the school choice goes beyond the athletic program as well.

“Academics should always come first,” Breitling said. “At the end of the day your degree will last a lifetime versus a few years of a college sport, so find something that interests you.”

“Choose a place where you can enjoy the culture and the environment,” Lee said. “That’s as important as the athletic program you choose. ... Don’t let athletics be the only factor when deciding which college.”

“Look at what the school offers to their athletes and what extra benefits you get,” Frederick said. “On the academic side of things make sure they have the program you want because you are going to school to get a degree. Don’t settle to study something you kind of like because you might end up hating it.

The challenges once on campus

Student-athletes are busy. It’s truly a full-time job regardless if the sport is in-season or not.

“The biggest shocker was how much time you have to put into the sport,” Frederick said. “I knew from playing sports my whole life that they are very time intensive, but playing a collegiate sport is like a job. You have more than just practices and games that you are committed to going to. We have meetings, volunteering, extra workouts that we have to go to.”

Travel also takes a lot of time.

“I didn’t realize how much traveling would be involved,” Breitling said. “Travelling Friday through Sunday and sometimes Thursday through Sunday every weekend took a lot of time management with homework and planning ahead for the next week.”

Of course, academics are a big part of the workload as well.

“You have to juggle athletics, academics and the relationships with your family,” Lee said. “You have to remember academics is the most important thing. Four years of track won’t pay the bills, but if you do well in school academically it is well worth it.

“I think a key to succeeding is not being afraid to reach out. Ask for advice or notes. We have an academic center for athletes and have tutors on standby for any class the school offers. ... Don’t be afraid to get a tutor.”

Finally, it’s really up to the individual to make their student-athlete experience a positive one.

“College is going to be what you make it,” Breitling said. “If you go in with an open mind and put yourself out there to meet new people, it’s going to be great. You’re going to get out of it what you put in.”
CO-OP

trucks, taking out scraps and more. He worked his way up to a tire technician and did delivery and sales.

“It taught me a good work ethic, and I also played on the Fenton varsity football team in the mix of it all. I continued to work at Kan Rock Tire for 14 years as a full-time employee. We averaged 55/60 hours a week,” he said. “The co-op program was great. It got you ready for the real world.”

Victoria Stratton was in the program from 2001-2002, working at the Fenton State Farm Insurance office as a customer service representative.

“I thought that the job experience would be great for anything that I decided to do in the future and I love to try new experiences,” she said. “It was great to learn new things, meet clients, and earn some cash as well.”

Her co-op class was the last hour of the school day, so Stratton would leave and work until 5 p.m. every day. She was paid $7.50 per hour.

“I learned great life skills and learned how to work with the public. It made such a difference in my life that, back in 2009 when we moved back to Fenton, I was able to get a position at Doug Mercer’s State Farm office and am still here today. I love my job and don’t know where I would be today without the co-op program,” she said.

During her junior and senior years at FHS, 2005 and 2006, Kelly Jobe also worked at State Road Elementary as an assistant.

“I chose to do co-op in high school to give me real life experience. It was not only a way to earn money in high school, which is what a lot of high school students want, but it gave me a long term opportunity that I’ll be forever grateful for. It gave me a sense of pride and accomplishment,” she said. “I was paid really well for a student co-op program and consider myself extremely blessed. I made $10.50 an hour.”

Jobe loved working while being in school, and she loved being around the kids. She would leave school every day at 10:40 a.m., report to State Road by 1 p.m., and work until 6 p.m. in the after school care program.

“FAPS has always had the students’ best interest and this program led me to a world of opportunities. I met students and staff at 17-18 years old that I now am employed with,” she said.

Q & A with local coaches

Matt Sullivan
Fenton varsity boys and girls soccer coach

Q: Tell me something about your soccer career.
   "I lost my junior year in high school in the state finals to Livonia Stevenson on a snowy night at Andover High School. I missed the final kick of penalty kicks my senior year in the regional finals against Grand Blanc, ending the season. I started four years at outside back at John Carroll University before coming to Fenton."

Q: Talk about your early years with Fenton.
   "My early boys teams were loaded so we won three straight Metro and four straight district championships and all of a sudden I am a good coach, even though I wasn’t at all."

Q: How were you not a good coach and in what ways did you improve since then?
   "I coached the way I was coached, which doesn’t translate to kids these days. Kids today have so many things at their fingertips to entertain them and so much pressure to be good at all of it that they don’t want to do something unless they are having fun at it. And they shouldn’t. So recently I have changed my coaching style to try and create the most fun environment for the kids as possible, hoping that it will cause them to play harder for each other, and it has. The hard part is that it means less coaching for me. I joke that we are the anti-coaches because we just try and let them be kids, especially during games. Letting them goof around and trusting them to still play hard and unselfish and focused is hard. That’s why coaches don’t do it. Cause if your team fails, you will get blamed as the coach for letting them have fun all the time. So I guess trust is pretty important, and we talk about that often. And when they return to see us or send texts after they’re gone, you know you did the right thing. No one really remembers what place you came in."

Q: You’ve been coaching a long time, but you are still relatively young. Have you thought about how much longer you may coach the soccer program at Fenton?
   "The memories are remarkable and the relationships with players and coaches are why we do it. I still love coming to practice and games so I will coach here, or somewhere warmer, for as long as they let me."

EXCHANGE STUDENTS

“IT allows for our students to be exposed to different cultural and educational experiences, and has created lifelong relationships,” he said.

These international exchanges are coordinated by exchange organizations like EF High School Exchange. Students must complete an application process, which includes in-depth questions about themselves. Their English proficiency is assessed and they write an essay, according to Lemke.

After being accepted, the organization works to set up host families, and the school district is contacted to see whether they’re accepting students.

Lake Fenton High School (LFHS) Principal Chris Belcher said they review the perspective student’s file to determine if they think they’ll be successful.

Once approved, they can come to the U.S. and register like anyone else. "We do everything we can to help them be successful, like any other student," Belcher said.

LFHS also have up to three incoming foreign exchange students per year. They have one scheduled so far for this school year.

Holly Area Schools (HAS) offers exchange opportunities for five students each year, according to Superintendent Scott Roper.

He said most recently, a HAS student spent part of her senior year studying in Germany. “We encourage all Bronchos to consider participating in the foreign exchange program,” Roper said via email.

Exchange students to HAS tend to spend a year at the high school, but they accept students who stay less than a year.

Most are juniors or seniors. He said they are given a certificate of participation and can walk at graduation with everyone else. “This gives our exchange students the full high school experience, culminating with graduation.”

Q: What made you decide you wanted to coach the Lake Fenton varsity volleyball team last year?

"It was always a dream of mine to come back and coach at Lake Fenton. I never expected it to happen so soon. I played a year at Mott Community College and I heard about the opportunity at Lake Fenton so I reached out to my old AD and expressed my interest in helping out. When no one applied for the job I told him I would love to come back and coach the varsity team. I just felt it was a sign that this was meant for me. He was a little hesitant with me being so young but ultimately he gave me the job and believed in me. I think it ended up working out pretty well, too. We had our first winning record since I was in eighth grade. I plan to continue getting better each year and building this program from the ground up."

Q: How many of the players on last year's team did you actually play volleyball with as a high school teammate?

"There were three of them that I had played with my senior year — Sophia Clements, Abby Fletcher and Abby Schupbach."

Q: How much of a challenge was it to go from being a teammate to a coach within a couple of years?

That had to be an interesting dynamic most people don’t experience.

"It was a little awkward at first but I feel like they respected me enough to make the transition not very hard. I think these girls had looked up to me as a leader when I was their captain my senior year so it made the transition easier. I loved getting to coach these girls and helping them to have the best senior season!"

Q: Why do you enjoy volleyball?

"I’ve always enjoyed volleyball from a very young age. I’ve made so many friends and met so many people because of this sport. I love the feeling I get when I play or get to teach people how to play. Volleyball also taught me so many things and has made me a better person. This sport taught me to persevere through anything that’s fully what I intend to do with this program."

Q: What have you learned about coaching volleyball after coaching last season?

"I have learned a whole lot about coaching volleyball after last season. One thing I learned is that people are always going to doubt me, especially being a young varsity coach, but you just have to keep going and ultimately prove them wrong, and that’s fully what I intend to do with this program."

Q: What has volleyball taught you about yourself through your life?

"Volleyball has made me a more confident person. I used to be very shy growing up but volleyball helped me to come out of my shell. It’s also taught me to never give up and that you can persevere through anything life throws at you."

Q: What are some of your primary goals you hope the athletes get out of being a part of your program during the season and after they graduate?

"I hope that my athletes get more than just volleyball skills during and after our season. I hope that they’ve built life-long friendships with their teammates. I hope to have them find confidence in not only volleyball but life in general. I hope they make good memories that they can talk about for years to come. Ultimately my goal is to just make a positive impact in these girls’ lives."

Q: What other interests do you have beyond volleyball?

"Volleyball takes up so much time in my life but I do have some other interests. I’m a big supporter of Special Olympics, I have a brother (26, Dylan) with autism and an uncle (30, Taylor) with Down syndrome. I started a Special Olympics team for their friends and them two years ago and it has been one of the most life changing experiences to work with these athletes. I love just being able to see the smiles on their faces after they make a good pass or get an ace. It’s just one of the best feelings to know you’re making a difference in someone’s life."

"I’m also a huge football fan. I love the Pittsburgh Steelers. My family has been fans since I was born. Another interest of mine is the WWE, I have been a fan since I was born and actually used to want to be a professional wrestler. When I’m not coaching volleyball I work for the Flint Firebirds hockey team as a game day operations intern, which I absolutely love. I currently attend U of M Flint and I am pursuing a degree in Communications with a minor in Marketing, my ultimate goal is to work in sports."

Q: Finish this statement “Lake Fenton volleyball is...”

"Lake Fenton volleyball is the underdog in the new Metro League. But I always like the chances and success story of an underdog. I’m looking forward to the new league and the opportunities and challenges it’s going to bring us. I can’t wait to see what this season brings for us. We have lots of young talent who’s ready to put the time in to being a great program. We’re ready to hang another banner in the LF gym."
Dear Parents,

On behalf of First Student and Lake Fenton Transportation Department, welcome to a new school year.

We take great pride in our department and are looking forward to serving you during the 2019-2020.

Our number one priority is to provide the safest most reliable student transportation service. We focus on the safest loading and unloading procedure for your child.

Michigan State law requires bus stops to be 200 feet apart from one another. Please have your child at his/her bus stop 15 minutes early for the first few days of school. Loading times are approximate until drivers adjust the routes. When routes have been adjusted we recommend your children are at their bus stop 5 minutes prior to their loading time.

The entire bus fleet is equipped with the eight light system, crossing gate, side stop arm, two-way radios, and all buses are equipped with the child check mate system. All the drivers use a uniform crossing pattern, and check their bus after each route to deactivate the child check mate system and hang an empty placard to ensure no sleeping children are left on board. All drivers prior to employment will have an extensive local, state and federal background check on both criminal and drivers license records. After employment we update these records yearly. Physical and substance abuse screening.

Random substance abuse screening is performed on the entire transportation staff throughout the year. Post accident screening. Every driver is fully trained with a minimum of 52 hours classroom and behind the wheel training. Every driver is to attend scheduled safety meetings. Every driver is re-evaluated at least once a calendar year.

We ask, for the safety of your child and to continue consistency for the driver that you maintain the same pick-up and drop-off location every day throughout the week. Your AM pick-up may be different from your PM drop-off.

- We feel it is very important for you to be visible by the bus driver when unloading your children; this reassures the bus driver and child you are home.
- Please keep your emergency card up to date, any bus changes please notify transportation as well. Please contact the Lake Fenton Transportation Department if you have questions or need additional clarification regarding this information at (810) 591-2552. Your cooperation and assistance in making sure these policies and guidelines are followed will help insure the personal safety of your student.

Sincerely,
Laura O’lewin — Location Manager

Who qualifies for transportation?

Michigan State law does not require a school district to provide transportation to and from school. The Lake Fenton Community School district, as a courtesy to the public, provides transportation to all students who live outside the designated walk area from their home school. The Lake Fenton Community School district has established a one pick up one drop off procedure; this means that a student must have the same pick up point Monday through Friday and the same drop off point Monday through Friday. The morning pick up location may be different from the afternoon drop off point.

School district practice requires that a parent or other designated responsible adult be visible at the bus stop for students at, or under, the kindergarten grade level. If the child must cross the street to board the bus, the responsible adult must escort the child across the road. Kindergarteners without adult supervision present at the bus stop will be instructed to remain on the bus and that student will then be transported to kids club. Parents of students in grade first through fifth may make a written request that the procedure used for kindergarten students be used for their older children. First Student and the Lake Fenton Community School district will make every attempt to honor each of these requests. It is strongly advised that the parents of young children make arrangements to meet the bus both before and after school, especially during the first week that your child rides to school. This provides a wonderful opportunity to start and finish the school day on a positive note and ensures safety during the walk to and from the bus stop. There are certain programs that require parents or adults to meet the bus. If your student is involved in these programs, information concerning special transportation procedures will be made available.
Kevin Fiebertnitz
Linden varsity boys and girls soccer coach

Q: When did you start your high school coaching career?
"My first high school job came in 1989 at Flint Powers Catholic coaching the varsity boys. I will be entering my 30th year this fall at Linden High School."

Q: The first I knew of Kevin Fiebertnitz was when I covered a Class B state championship soccer game between Marshall (the team I covered) and Powers. What do you remember most about that championship game?
"It was cold. I remember Marshall scored and the excitement the kids had to not only winning the state title but also being the first team in mid-Michigan to win a state title. The other memory was our team gave up few goals all season but we were tested by a very good Marshall team and how big our goalkeeper Nick Thomas came up with several big saves in regulation. Just before the game winning goal he made the biggest save of the game in overtime. That game could have gone either way!"

Q: Why have you stayed at Linden coaching both teams for so long? What do you enjoy most about it?
"Always about the kids. We built a house in the Linden area and is our home/community. I enjoy being able to coach only a few miles from my house and having great kids year in and year out."

Q: How have kids changed since your first years coaching? Or have they changed?
"I have found that kids today have a harder time speaking or communicating for themselves. Not sure if it is because of the cell phone age. More kids today have better opportunities at the club level than 20 years ago, which has been good."

Q: What lessons do you hope every athlete learns from being a part of your soccer program?
"Hard work, character, focus and dedication. Embrace challenges and you can always improve. I hope I was able to influence players into being a better player and person in general."

Q: I don’t think I’ve ever talked to you about you as a student athlete. Did you play soccer when you were a kid?
"I grew up in a sports-minded family as my other two brothers were great athletes in the Flint area. I played baseball, basketball, football, hockey and soccer. Hockey was one of my favorites. I played GFHA Hockey plus hockey at Flint Ainsworth High School for 10 years and had a solid career. I started playing soccer at young age through the Flint Olympian/Canusa games and played travel through Concordia 76, Flint Sport Club and Flint Arrow/Bud Light. I played two years at Ferris State University before injury sidelined my playing. I played baseball through the summer leagues in Flint and played at Flint Ainsworth High School."

Q: What are you most proud of when you look back at your years of coaching?
"Making a difference — games won by our teams and how many kids have gone on to play soccer at the next level. I’m also proud that after coaching my three nieces and one nephew they still like me as I was tough as nails with them."

Q: How much longer do you expect to coach?
"Great question. It’s hard to answer. As long as my message is still getting through and I feel I am able to continue physically (I will)."

myfenton.com 28

Q: Do you still play sports at any level?
"I still play quite a bit of golf in my free time. I love the sport and appreciate how humbling it can be at times. I rarely play competitively anymore, however, I enjoy playing in my league each week and take a couple different golf trips each summer. The game has taught me so many different lessons about myself and one fun fact is that I am the course record holder at The Fields Golf Course in Ithaca where I shot a 64 on Father’s Day (with my Dad) in 2007."

Q: Finish this statement. Holly is...
"Holly is very near and dear to my heart. It is my second home and somewhere I hope to spend the rest of my educational career. I love how hard-working the kids are, the pride that our community has in our athletic programs, and I look forward to the future of our athletic department."
Welcome on behalf of First Student and Linden Community Schools

Our number one priority is to provide safe and reliable transportation. We are looking forward to serving you during the 2019-2020 school year. We focus on the safest loading and unloading procedures for your child. Michigan State law requires bus stops to be a minimum of 200 feet apart from one another.

- The entire bus fleet is equipped with the eight light system, crossing gate, side stop arm, two-way radios, digital cameras and all buses are equipped with the child check mate system. All the drivers use a uniform crossing pattern, and check their bus after each route to deactivate the child check mate system and hang a EMPTY PLACARD SIGN to ensure no sleeping children are left on board.
- Prior to employment we perform an extensive Local, State and Federal background check on both criminal and drivers license records. after employment we update these records yearly.
- Physical and substance abuse screening. Random substance abuse screening is performed on the entire transportation staff throughout the year. Post accident screening.
- Every driver will be fully trained with a minimum of 52 hours classroom and behind the wheel training.
- Every driver is to attend scheduled safety meetings.
- Every driver is re-evaluated at least once a calendar year.

The policy, for the safety of your child is to have consistent pick-up and drop-off locations. You must maintain the same pick-up and drop-off location every day throughout the week. Your AM pick-up may be different from your PM drop-off.
- We feel it is very important for you to be visible by the bus driver when unloading your children; this reassures the bus driver and child you are home.
- Please keep your emergency card up to date, any bus changes please notify transportation as well.
- Please have your kindergarten child wear their bus tag for the first two weeks of school.

DO NOT CHANGE THIS TAG FOR ANY REASON WITHOUT CONSULTING TRANSPORTATION.

Please contact the Linden Transportation Department if you have questions or need additional clarification regarding this information at (810) 591-0996. Your cooperation and assistance in making sure these policy and guidelines are followed will help insure the personal safety of your student.

Hurley has your kid’s back.

REGION’S ONLY PEDIATRIC EMERGENCY AREA
Equipped to provide the highest level of specialized emergency and trauma care to children.

REGION’S ONLY PEDIATRIC INTENSIVE CARE UNIT
Delivers the highest level of critical care to patients ranging in age from newborns to 20 years old.

REGION’S ONLY BURN UNIT
One of only six in the state, together with our Level 1 Trauma Center and PICU, our Burn Unit is specially trained to treat the unique medical and emotional needs of children.

CHILDREN’S MIRACLE NETWORK HOSPITAL
Designated a Children’s Miracle Network Hospital® in 1990 because Hurley was recognized as providing the best pediatric-centered care in our region.

It’s important to have an emergency contact information card with you in case of an emergency. Please take a moment to complete the card below and keep it in your child’s backpack.
Wishing you a safe and healthy school year, because Hurley Children’s Hospital Cares for Kids.
