Craft shows have so much to offer

By Tim Jagielo

Holly — In an unofficial kick-off to the holiday season, thousands of people visited local craft shows for gifts as well as a community experience this past weekend. Craft shows in Holly and Fenton Township were the first of several in the next two months.

Locally made woodworking, decorations and even honey and barbeque sauces were available at the 42nd annual Holly Holiday Art and Craft Show on Saturday, Nov. 2, at Holly High School and the Lake Fenton Craft Show and Merry Marketplace on Sunday, Nov. 3 at Lake Fenton High School (LFHS). Future craft shows include State Road Craft Show at Fenton High School and the Holiday Craft Market See CRAFT SHOWS on 2B

PRETTY DISAPPOINTED TO

hear a gentleman working at the post office talking about homeless people like they are human scum to the customer in front of me. Unprofessional. You don't know everyone's story, sir. You'd be surprised what a little empathy can do for your own life. Happy holidays.

I SEE THE millage for Fenton schools passed. Now when we go to watch the Fourth of July parade in Fenton, could we please have the high school band perform and march?

'TO CHANGE THE Electoral College clause requires the Constitution be amended.' Did you know it has been amended before? I bet you didn't.

GREAT SPEECH LAST night by the hockey coach who won an award at the Fox Nation Patriot Awards. It was nice to see real heroes being awarded instead of actors winning awards for pretending to be a hero.

TO THE RUDE eavesdropping Millennial who accosted me (a 67-year-old woman) having a private conversation with my 9-year-old grandson, while having dinner at a local restaurant. Keep your Socialist views to yourself.

with Flint Handmade at the Flint Masonic Temple.

"We think it's really important to promote artists and crafters who make their own crafts," said Holly craft show organizer Susanne Les. "It's great for everybody; a community booster."

Both crafts shows are fundraisers as well. The Holly event is a joint fundraiser for the Holly Historical Society and Holly High School Senior Project Graduation. The show regularly draws at least 2,000 visitors and is able to support both organizations' projects throughout the year.

Both groups volunteer, splitting the work and the money they raise.

The historical society uses its half of the proceeds to run the Hadley House Museum. Holly High School uses its half of the proceeds on Project Graduation activities, which include the lock-in for students and the activities and prizes that night. Les estimates they usually raise between $5,000 and $7,000 overall.

There were 154 booths, which drew 2.000 visitors in 2019.

LFHS Drama Club/theatre program director Brenda LaBonte helps run the Lake Fenton event. It attracts up to 1,800 visitors to peruse 100 exhibitors. A group of teachers and support staff put on the show that funds various extra student activities and programs including the robotics team, theater department and special needs classrooms. "We look at it as a way to kick off the holiday season," she said.

Both craft shows cost a little cash to enter. Holly's was $2 and the Lake Fenton's was $1.

LaBonte said the craft show seems to grow every year — but this wasn't always the case. She said five or six years ago, they had trouble finding enough crafters. This year, they had to turn some crafters away.

Les has been involved in the organization for 20 years. She said in previous years, there were only arts and crafts. More recently, non-craft items like homemade oils, candles, lotions, sauces, honey, vinegars and scented products are also sold. These often make good host gifts, Les said.

Another trend is the sale of repurposed items, like using pop cans or other metal objects to make lawn art.

LeBonte has experienced this as well. She calls them "hardscape" lawn items.

Shows are also drawing interest from younger artists.

1. DINO HEELS

These shoes would be highly disturbing and impractical, but if you're a die-hard Jurassic Park fan, the tiny foot raptors could be useful when trying to keep small animals from nipping at your heels, for example. They could also, on the other hand, result in some other problems, like ripping your stockings or pants when you cross your legs.

2. HEADLIGHTS

Question: What's wrong with this homemade lamp?
Answer: Everything!

3. BABY CAKES

Have you ever had a baby cake pop? They're very smooth and probably taste like spit up, or worse — baby formula.

4. LEVI LOSERS

It's a "jean bag chair," and it's here to visit your nightmares. It looks like four people with their heads stuck down the same hole. No chair-themed pun is worth the creepy thoughts this causes.

5. NANDOK-WEAR

Okay, this is Michigan and it does get cold. But don't you think this is going just a little too far? It looks like there was a big sale on yarn.

6. PICKLED

Why would anyone want to preserve stuffed animals in jars and display them on shelves? "Mommy, why is my teddy in the jar?" How do you answer that?

British intelligence specialist whose job involves routine handling of classified information. One day in 2003, in the lead up to the Iraq War, Gun receives a memo from the NSA with a shocking directive: the United States is enlisting Britain's help in collecting compromising information on United Nations Security Council members in order to blackmail them into voting in favor of an invasion of Iraq. Unable to stand by and watch the world be rushed into an illegal war, Gun makes the gut-wrenching decision to defy her government and leak the memo to the press. So begins an explosive chain of events that will ignite an international firestorm, expose a vast political conspiracy, and put Gun and her family directly in harm's way.
