Frustrated teachers appeal to school board, again

Next mediation session will be March 16

By Vera Hogan

As they did Monday, Feb. 3, Fenton Area Public Schools (FAPS) parents and teachers packed the Monday, March 2, Board of Education meeting. This time the meeting was held in the high school media center, a much larger venue than the administration building board room.

According to Megan Ake, crisis and public relations chair for the Fenton Education Association (FEA), approximately 125 people attended Monday night.

“Almost a year later, we are still bar- gaining,” she said. “The major sticking point is financial.”

How to reduce waste and make sure your items are actually recycled

By Tim Jagielo

According to the Michigan Department of Environment, Great Lakes, and Energy (EGLE), Michigan residents disposed of 43.3 million cubic yards of solid waste in 2019.

This is a more than 3 million cubic-yard increase.

To the writer who wants speed limits reduced on U.S. 23. The city of Fenton has no control over freeway speed limits. They are control- led by the federal government. If you don’t like the speeds, use non-expressway roads.

Dogs trained and used for hunting are often kept outdoors (not allowed in a home). This is common and they are often provided doghouses with heat sources or other shelter aside from the home.

I have two questions to our car manufacturers forcing electric cars on us. How much is this going to raise my home electric bill? Where am I going to get $4,000 to replace the battery after four to five years of use?

Holly grad to run across America for those affected by cancer

By Hannah Ball

The first road race a 2015 Holly graduate ran was the Run Like the Dickens 5K with her dad in 2011. Now, Kayla Roche, 23, is preparing for a 4,000-mile run in honor of her dad, Mike Roche of Holly, who died in February 2019.

The race is the Ulman Foundation’s “4K for Cancer,” which starts in Baltimore, Maryland on June 20 and ends in San Francisco, California on Aug. 8. It spans a total of 49 days and more than 4,000 miles.

“We’ll be running relay-style on a team of about 20, meaning that we split mileage amongst the team each day. I’ll never run more than 16 miles on a given day, but I will be running almost every day,” she said.

Roche has been involved in long-distance running since she was in middle school, and was on Holly’s track team in both middle school and high school. She’s completed several races, including a half marathon at the Traverse City Cherry Festival.

She graduated from Harvard in May 2019 with her bachelor’s degree in cognitive neuroscience and evolutionary psychology. She’s working as a clinical research coordinator at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, and she plans to apply to medical school next year.

One reason she wanted to participate was because of her father, who was diagnosed with Multiple Myeloma, a rare form of cancer, in 2015.

Nancy was one of a kind

Adelaide Street home at all hours of the day and night for help. Whether it was a mother and her children looking for shelter from an abusive spouse, or someone who was having trouble paying rent or utility bills, Nancy was there to give them help and hope.

Others came for donations of clothing and other essentials (Stockham’s basement was well supplied). Others came just for referrals or advice on how to get their lives back on track.

In addition to several leadership positions on county organizations, Stockham was co-founder of F.A.R.R. (Fenton Area Resource & Referrals) and the founder of the nonprofit group G.R.A.C.E. (God Rewards All Caring Endeavors).

She received many awards, including the Paul Harris Fellowship Award from the Fenton Rotary and the Woman of the Year from the Fenton (Regional) Chamber of Commerce, both in the year 2000.

Nancy was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Fenton and was very active with all the local churches of Genesee and Livingston counties.

The city of Fenton, and neighboring counties, lost a friend to all and an advocate for those in need when Nancy left us May 6, 2009 at the age of 77.

Lake Fenton grad goes solo in Spain

Trip was less expensive than expected

By Hannah Ball

Equipped with a 12-pound backpack and a grasp of the Spanish language, 19-year-old Saylor Spees, a Lake Fenton graduate, spent 10 days in Spain on a solo trip from Feb. 1-10.

“I wanted to go because I’ve always had a fascination with different countries and cultures from around the world. My plan is to teach English in other countries eventually, so I figured it would be a good opportunity to test the waters of traveling alone,” she said. “More than anything though, I just wanted to be able to prove to myself that I could navigate a different country, alone and while speaking entirely in Spanish.”

She flew into Madrid, took a day trip to Toledo, took a train to Valencia, and then another train to Barcelona from there. She’s been learning Spanish since kindergarten and was able to navigate around.

“My Spanish improved tremendously in just 10 days,” she said. “I used the metro systems or walked to get around the cities and used the high-speed trains to get between cities. Knowing Spanish definitely helped me to navigate better because I could understand the signs.”

Spees stayed in hostels, which are rooms priced around $15-20 a night with bunk beds shared with a few others. It was a new experience for her, and she got to meet a “ton of new people” from around the world, she said.

“I was a bit nervous to go, but more excited than nervous. My mom was super supportive of my decision to backpack solo, but I’m sure she was more worried than she let on,” she said. “I only brought what was absolutely necessary.”

Spees made a video on her YouTube channel, SadieStrong, about how she packed.

The trip cost less than she expected. She searched for a long time to find a good deal on flights, and used an app called Skyscanner to get a roundtrip flight for $450.

Her favorite city was Toledo, just about an hour outside of Madrid.

“It was just a cute little medieval town that I spent a day at with some people I met at my hostel. The views of the Spanish countryside were absolutely stunning there, pictures could never do it justice. Also, La Sagrada Familia cathedral in Barcelona is spectacular. Can’t go to Spain without trying paella, churros con chocolate, marzipan, café con leche, chorizo, Spanish omelette, and sangria,” she said.

Internships: valuable link between school and career

Paid or unpaid, real-world experience develops skills and refines career paths

By Tim Jagielo

Whatever it’s called, the purpose is the same — to let a student apply their classroom knowledge in a real-world setting. The label depends on the program or school. Teacher students complete “practicum,” and medical students complete externships or clinicals.

“It gives them the application for what they’ve learned in the classroom,” said Sara Barton, University of Michigan-Flint (UM-Flint) Career Center assistant director. “There’s that learning curve of things you didn’t know you needed to know.” She added that one can find out they don’t actually want the career, or they can refine their path in school.

“Experiential learning” is an overall term for all of these programs, which includes co-ops, internships, externships, clinicals and practicum.

She estimates most of the approximately 7,500 students will have experiential learning. Internships aren’t just for younger students. She said the average student is a 27-year-old woman with a job.

Barton said they help all their students attain experiential learning. They also work with non-profits, small businesses, municipalities and start-up businesses to link potential interns.

At UM-Flint, some internships can be credit bearing and some are not. Some are required and others are completed for the known benefits.

No matter the program, she said it’s important for students to step out of their comfort zones. Students who don’t get an internship may be at a disadvantage to those who do.

“It’s the foot in the door for the student,” Barton said. They get career-related experience, apply classroom knowledge and help with networking. The industry benefits with a pipeline of new talent. She said organizations can even benefit with new ideas and a fresh look from the students.

She said juniors are ideal for taking this experience, and there’s a potential for employment. Sophomores can take entry-level internships and learn how the business works.

The timelines for the internship also depends on the program. She said finance and accounting internship recruiting happens in the fall for the spring and summer season.

How to prepare for an internship

Barton said these are good things to develop over the summer if it is too late to apply to locations in the spring.

- Have your “elevator pitch” prepared.
- Do your networking and research so you know where you want to apply.
- Have your “elevator pitch” prepared. This is the short summary for why someone should take you on as an intern.
- It’s also important to be as ready as possible to speak with these companies.
Students hear firsthand about Flint water crisis

Pediatrician/author: ‘It was hard to speak up’

By Hannah Ball

Linden — Two Linden High School classes had the opportunity to listen and meet with the pediatrician and scientist who played a major role in uncovering the Flint water crisis.

Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha, who alerted officials and the public about increased lead levels in the blood of Flint children, spoke on Tuesday, March 3 about her book, “What The Eyes Don’t See: A Story of Crisis, Resistance, and Hope in an American City” to two Advanced American Literature classes taught by Bethany George, Ph.D at Linden High School. George incorporated the book into the curriculum.

Hanna-Attisha told students it’s important to understand the history of Flint to understand how the crisis happened. This includes the impact of the automotive industry, the strikes and the migration that the city experienced from people looking for work.

“Many people argue the middle class was born in Flint, Michigan,” she said. Flint is the poorest city of the country right now in its population size.

“A kid in Flint actually has a life expectancy of 15 years less than a kid in an adjacent zip code,” she said. “Is that okay? No, that’s not okay.”

In 2011, Gov. Rick Snyder appointed an emergency manager of Flint, which is a position appointed by the state to intervene in financially struggling municipalities. “In 2011, Flint lost democracy,” she said. “People’s voices were taken away.”

In 2014, it was the decision of the emergency manager to switch the water source to the Flint River, which led to the water crisis because the city didn’t enact proper controls. After this, residents complained about the poor quality. The General Motors plant in Flint stopped using the water because it was corroding the equipment.

“Can you believe that? Drinking water was corroding engine parts,” she said. “They were allowed to go back to Great Lakes water yet the people of Flint throughout were told that it was okay to drink.”

Hanna-Attisha cared for kids and families at this time and heard their concerns about the water. She reassured her patients that it was fine to drink, unaware of the lead, which can severely affect mental and physical development. “I was wrong like so many seek opportunity,” she said.

In 2011, Flint lost democracy. Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha

Hanna-Attisha also calls the book a memoir because she discusses her own immigrant story. She came here when she was 4. Her parents left Iraq to seek opportunity and eventually came to Flint.

Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha speaks to Linden High School students on Tuesday, March 3 about her book, “What The Eyes Don’t See: A Story of Crisis, Resistance, and Hope in an American City.”

Rotary Club of Fenton hosts annual Individual War of Words; awards $2,000

On Saturday, Feb. 22, the Fenton Rotary Club held its annual Individual War of Words (IOWW) debate competition at Lake Fenton High School for area students.

In total, $2,000 worth of college scholarships were awarded to four students:

Jacob Barta, a seventh-grader at St. Patrick School Brighton, came in first place and won a $1,000 scholarship.

Matthew Kuzner, an eighth-grader at St. Patrick School Brighton, came in second place and won a $500 scholarship.

Katie Jackola, a seventh-grader at Chippewa Hills Intermediate School, came in third place and won a $250 scholarship.

Kate Walcutt, a seventh-grader at Chippewa Hills Intermediate School, came in fourth place and won a $250 scholarship.

America. Growing up, she heard stories from her parents and older family members about fleeting injustice.

Once she discovered the lead in children’s blood and held a press release about her findings, officials at the state level tried to smear her.

“It was hard to speak up. After all these powerful voices were telling me I was wrong, there was a part of me that said, ‘oh my gosh, maybe I should have kept quiet,’” she said. “Fortunately, those feelings only lasted for a few minutes — they could attack me all they wanted, but it had more to do with my kids. As a pediatrician, I took an oath to protect kids.”

After she spoke, students asked questions about Flint’s progress, her writing process and more. To read the full story, go to myfenton.com.

“…I liked it a lot. It wasn’t something I knew a lot about before. It kind of inspired me to think more about injustices and how even someone as one person can make a big difference,” said sophomore student Anthony Champagne, 15.

Emelia Primmm, a 10th grade student, 16, said she “loved it” and that she can relate to the human side of the story as a minority. She said the fact that Hanna-Attisha was able to come and speak to students was “important and influential for people who want to use their voice and be an activist and having a say in important topics.”

Mikayla Dettman, a senior and instructional leader for teacher George, reached out to Hanna-Attisha and arranged the event. “I wasn’t expecting her to answer me,” she said. “It worked out better than I had been hoping. It’s easier to understand the jokes and the personality and the book as she was talking. I’m just really honored that she came in to talk to us.”

Adding the book to the curriculum was possible due to a grant for the 2019-20 Great Michigan Read presented by Michigan Humanities supported by national, statewide and local partners, including the National Endowment for the Humanities and The Meijer Foundation.

over fiscal year 2018. This number increases annually, but the jump was higher in 2018 and 2019.

Republic Services spokesperson Jeff Davis said solid waste disposal tends to follow housing trends. “When more housing is being built, as it is today in the U.S., we see an increase in both trash and recycling volumes,” he said.

While both numbers are up, Davis said that 30 percent of what is placed in a recycle bin is actually recycled. The rest ends up in a landfill.

Michigan Radio reported that only 15 percent of what can be recycled actually is reused.

Davis said consumers can help in two major ways: not letting items become contaminated in the bin, and avoiding “wish cycling.” This is the practice of throwing the wrong stuff in the bin, hoping it can be recycled.

Locally, most recycling programs are single stream—meaning paper, plastic, metals, and glass go in the same bin. This means paper products can easily be contaminated by food containers that weren’t thoroughly cleaned and dried. “We routinely see greasy pizza boxes, wet cardboard and other food-tainted materials in our recycling facilities — none of which can be recycled,” Davis said.

As a rule, items must be clean, dry and empty. According to EGLE, a greasy pizza box cannot be recycled, but you can remove and recycle the top of the pizza box.

Davis said labels don’t have to be removed from containers, but it’s encouraged.

What can be recycled?

Locally, plastic, paper and cardboard, metals and glass can be recycled.

Davis suggests focusing on the main items — paper and cardboard, plastic containers and aluminum. He pointed out that aluminum items can be recycled infinitely.

“Americans also buy approximately 50 billion plastic bottles of water a year, yet only one in four bottles is recycled,” Davis said, adding that most can be recycled to make synthetic fiber for clothing and carpet, if not more water bottles.

What to avoid

Recyclables must not be bagged, but stored loosely in the recycle bin.

Again, containers must be clean, dry and empty.

Davis said many extraneous items are also tossed in the bin. Children’s toys for example may be plastic, but they can’t be recycled. EGLE recommends they be donated instead.

Other frequent wish-cycling items include bowling balls, garden hoses, mattresses, wood, cement, clothing and yard debris. “If these items can’t be donated for reuse, then it’s best to throw them in the trash,” Davis said.

Coated cardboard carton recycling is not currently available in Genesee, Livingston or Oakland County.

over fiscal year 2018. This number increases annually, but the jump was higher in 2018 and 2019.

Republic Services spokesperson Jeff Davis said solid waste disposal tends to follow housing trends. “When more housing is being built, as it is today in the U.S., we see an increase in both trash and recycling volumes,” he said.

While both numbers are up, Davis said that 30 percent of what is placed in a recycle bin is actually recycled. The rest ends up in a landfill.

Michigan Radio reported that only 15 percent of what can be recycled actually is reused.

Davis said consumers can help in two major ways: not letting items become contaminated in the bin, and avoiding “wish cycling.” This is the practice of throwing the wrong stuff in the bin, hoping it can be recycled.

Locally, most recycling programs are single stream—meaning paper, plastic, metals, and glass go in the same bin. This means paper products can easily be contaminated by food containers that weren’t thoroughly cleaned and dried. “We routinely see greasy pizza boxes, wet cardboard and other food-tainted materials in our recycling facilities — none of which can be recycled,” Davis said.

As a rule, items must be clean, dry and empty. According to EGLE, a greasy pizza box cannot be recycled, but you can remove and recycle the top of the pizza box.

Davis said labels don’t have to be removed from containers, but it’s encouraged.

What can be recycled?

Locally, plastic, paper and cardboard, metals and glass can be recycled.

Davis suggests focusing on the main items — paper and cardboard, plastic containers and aluminum. He pointed out that aluminum items can be recycled infinitely.

“Americans also buy approximately 50 billion plastic bottles of water a year, yet only one in four bottles is recycled,” Davis said, adding that most can be recycled to make synthetic fiber for clothing and carpet, if not more water bottles.

What to avoid

Recyclables must not be bagged, but stored loosely in the recycle bin.

TEACHERS

On Monday, a closed session was held for the first hour of the meeting to discuss the purchase or lease of property, and collective bargaining strategy.

Once the meeting was opened to the public, those who spoke on behalf of the teachers and FEA included Bruce Jordan, MEA UniServ director for Region 10. Kathrine Carswell, Susan Welch, both FAPS teachers. Robyn Durant, parent. Herm Ferguson, Fenton area small business owner and alumnus.

“Our next bargaining session is March 16,” Ake said. “It will be the second time both sides bargain with a mediator present.”

Ake said the district’s fund balance is the best it has been in at least five years.

“Therefore, the union is seeking step increases, percentage increases, and possible monetary recognition for those members who have made significant sacrifices in the form of pay freezes and half steps,” she said.

According to Superintendent Adam Hartley, “We continue to bargain in good faith, finding a common ground to pay our teachers a fair and competitive wage while maintaining our fiscal stability.”

About 125 teachers, parents and others attended the Monday, March 2 Fenton Board of Education meeting.

The concern is that teachers have been working without a contract since June 30, 2019. Submitted photo

Viral song born of tragedy was locally produced

Pivotal Awakening single ‘August Rain’ reflects on Flight 255 crash in Romulus

By Tim Jagielo

Tyrone Twp. — On Thursday, Feb. 20, Andy Graves of Burton recorded bass guitar bathed in the cool blue light of Marshall Block’s studio, Real II Reel Productions. They’re working on his band Pivotal Awakening’s single “Not That Different.”

This single might not have even been in the works had it not been for the viral response to Graves’ first song composed last August and released Jan. 20.

“August Rain” is a contemporary Christian song, which would be completely at home at a Christian worship service.

What sets it apart is the emotional driver of the song — the tragedy of Northwest Airlines Flight 255 on Aug. 16, 1987. The flight took off from Detroit Metro Airport and crashed on the runway, killing 156. Just one person, a 4-year-old child, survived.

Many people can remember where they were at the time of the crash. Block was working as a biochemist in Southfield at the time.

Graves was a first responder on the scene, just two years in the field.

Since the release, the song has gone viral, in the sense that it has connected with many people. It has drawn 32,000 followers to the “Pivotal Awakening” Facebook page, steady attention from regional media and raised more than $2,000 for the Salvation Army. They’ve been nominated in four categories for the 2020 Detroit Music Awards.

Pivotal Awakening includes Graves and singer Mindi Odom of Davison. Graves played bass on the single. He also wrote the music that was performed and recorded by studio musicians.

“We knew (Flight 255) is very intimately connected to Michigan,” Graves said. “We knew you don’t have to go far to find someone who was touched by this tragedy.”

They knew it could touch a lot of people on the personal level. Still, they didn’t see this much attention coming.

“We have been absolutely blown away by the response across Michigan and the world,” Graves said.

“It’s definitely the fastest viral song I’ve done here,” Block said. Pivotal Awakening is only 2 months old, and doesn’t have a live band together yet.

The song is personal for Graves. He’s been a first responder since 1985. Today, he’s a dispatcher for Star EMS. He retired as a battalion chief.

He was one of the first on the scene at the horrific crash and said the response to the song has been healing, especially for remaining family members of Flight 255 victims.

Graves first attempted a song as a more literal recounting of the event from his perspective in about 2002, but he said it didn’t feel right. He was inspired to try again this past August when revisiting the Northwest Flight 255 memorial in Romulus.

This song is indirect, dealing with topics of grief, faith and loss. He also indirectly touches on first responder mental health. “Sometimes calls don’t bounce off us and stick with us for a long time,” Graves said. Such is Flight 255 for him.

While this song is complete, they’ll keep fundraising for the Salvation Army, and working through the 10 songs they have in various stages of production, and “go with the flow,” Block said.

Go to pivotalawakening.com to hear the song.
CONSERVATION FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS
RICHFIELD TWP. — Genesee County-area farmers and forest owners who submit applications by March 20, 2020, will be considered for the current selection for U.S. Dept. of Agriculture conservation financial assistance. Conservation financial assistance is available for implementing a wide variety of practices to reduce soil erosion, improve wildlife habitat, protect water quality and manage private forest land.

Conservation financial assistance is available through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program administered by the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service. Complete applications received by March 20, will be ranked and considered for fiscal year 2020 funding. Financial assistance is available for implementing designated conservation practices such as windbreaks, nutrient management plans, cover crops, forest management plans, crop residue and tillage management, animal waste storage facilities and many others. Applications are ranked and selected for funding on a competitive basis.

A portion of USDA conservation funding is targeted to state-level conservation priorities. These include funds for farmers seeking Michigan Agricultural Environmental Assurance Program verification, high tunnels in Wayne and Genesee counties, honey bee habitat, organic producers and producers transitioning to organic production, creating or improving monarch butterfly habitat, practices to address concentrated flow erosion, and energy conservation.

NRCS provides higher levels of financial assistance for beginning farmers and historically underserved producers. Applications are accepted on a continuous basis, producers and forest owners are encouraged to submit applications at any time. More information about conservation financial assistance through the Environmental Quality Incentives Program is available at local NRCS offices and online at www.mi.nrcs.usda.gov.

MICHIGAN WHEAT FARMERS TO GATHER MARCH 18 FOR WINTER GROWER MEETING
BATH TWP. — The line-up of speakers for the Michigan Wheat Program’s 8th Annual Winter Grower Meeting once again this year has the experts in the industry that make this a must-attend event. With less than a month remaining, wheat growers need to register for this midwinter tradition.

The Michigan Wheat Program’s Annual Winter Grower Meeting is Wednesday, March 18 from 8:15 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Eagle Eye Golf Course and Banquet Center, 15500 Chandler Rd., Bath Township (just north of Michigan State University). The free, one-day conference is a popular annual tradition for nearly 300 farmers each March.

The full agenda is located at www.miwheat.org at the top of the “What’s Hot” column on the left edge. Farmers may also register by phone by calling: 1-888-WHEAT01 (888-943-2801). Vendors wishing to join the trade show should email Michigan Wheat Program executive director Jody Pollok-Newsom at jody@miwheat.org or call 1-888-943-2801, as booths are available on a first-come basis in the limited space.

The Michigan Wheat Program is funded by nearly 8,000 farmers who grow wheat in 50 of Michigan’s 83 counties. The Michigan Wheat Program board seeks to promote the state’s wheat industry by funding and supporting the strategic priorities of wheat farmers working with input suppliers, seed producers, millers, end users and consumers.

TIME TO THINK ABOUT GRAIN BIN SAFETY
By PAUL GROSS MSU Extension
GENESEE COUNTY — The 2019 growing season was filled with challenges from beginning to end. Now that harvest is pretty well wrapped up, we need to turn our focus on the grain we have stored in on-farm grain bins. The 2019 corn crop had lots of quality issues, coming off the fields wet and with light test weights. In addition to the challenges of keeping lower quality grain in good condition during storage, this grain can cause considerable risk when farmers enter bins for inspection or during unloading.

Grain bin accidents from entrapment or engulfment are reminders that grain storage, especially from flowing grain, can be very dangerous. A major cause of grain entrapment and engulfment is the collapse of a horizontal crusted grain surface or collapse of a vertical crusted surface. In each case, following the proper safety precautions can prevent accidents that are often fatal.

Follow these safety tips to prevent entrapment and engulfment:
• Take necessary steps to prevent grain flow problems without entering the bin.
• Do not work alone.
• Do not enter a bin without having a trained crew and use the recommended safety equipment.
• Shut down all power to equipment in the storage, drying and handling equipment.
• Always have an observer positioned outside the bin.
• Always wear an approved harness and well secured lifeline.
• Have an emergency preparedness plan in place so everyone knows how to respond in the event something unexpected happens.

These are just a few considerations and tips for farmers with on-farm grain storage. Each farm should have a written safety plan in place for procedures before anyone enters a grain bin. This plan should be reviewed regularly with all employees and family members.

Novi Boat Show is March 12-15; sure to impress all the water enthusiasts in your family

By Sharon Stone

As the ice on the lakes is glossing over with water and turning a darker shade of grayish green, boat enthusiasts know the local boating season is almost here.

If you missed out on the Detroit Boat Show last month, no need to worry — the Novi Boat Show, held at the Suburban Collection Showplace in Novi is just days away, from March 12-15.

Many of the local boat dealers and marinas will have booths at the Novi Boat Show, including Action Water Sports, Aqua Sports Marine, Inc., C & C Sports, Inc., Lake Ponemah Marina, Silver Spray Sports, Skipper Buds and Wilson Marine Corp.

Freeway Sports Center is not an exhibitor this year, however, the business offers boat show pricing at their Thompson Road showroom.

NEW THIS YEAR

New model introductions

According to noviboatshow.com, hundreds of new 2020 and new overstocked non-current model boats, motors and trailers are priced to sell. There are more than 100 exhibitors under one roof, showing boats for skiing, fishing and cruising, up to 35 feet in length. Plus, guests can check out personal watercraft, accessories, dockage, hoists and much more. This is “the time to buy show” with bargain prices, low interest rates and financing on the spot.

Boating simulator trainer

America’s Boating Club (United States Power Squadron) now has a boating trainer for you to test your boating skills. Stop by the USPS booth and give it a try, you will not be graded nor ticketed and your insurance will not go up if you crash the boat. It’s for all ages. Practice running the boat, docking, learn the rules of the water and more.

Run Across America

“My dad was a runner and cyclist in his younger days, and was one of my biggest supporters when I also got interested in running and other athletics,” she said.

“More than that, my dad was the kind of person who would give anything to anyone who truly needed it, even at his own expense. I think he would really love the idea of giving back to the young adult cancer community in this way, which is why I’ve decided to complete this run in his honor.”

Each morning, participants can dedicate their run for the day to someone who has been affected by cancer. Roche provided her email, kaylaroche3@gmail.com, if anyone from Holly or the surrounding area would like her to dedicate one of her runs to one of their loved ones.

“Ulman does a great job of preparing runners for the trip — almost immediately after I was accepted to the program, they sent a training plan, and I’ve been following it closely. It’s very similar to a marathon training plan,” she said.

Roche has to raise at least $4,500 for The Ulman Foundation. The money goes toward scholarships for college students who’ve been affected by cancer and may struggle with the costs of their education, which is very close to Roche’s heart.

“Ulman provides social support to young cancer patients, answering any questions they may have about treatment or their future. At certain locations, Ulman provides housing for young adults in treatment and has helped push legislation protecting young cancer patients’ rights. The funds I raise will go directly towards supporting the foundation’s programs,” she said.

Tyrone trustee resigns

Tyrone Township Trustee Soren Pederson has resigned effective March 20. According to Supervisor Mike Cunningham, prior to the Tuesday, March 3 board meeting, Pederson submitted his letter of resignation. The Tyrone Township board passed a resolution with unanimous support to accept Pederson’s resignation.

Pederson was elected in 2012 and was near the end of his second term when he resigned. He is moving out of the township to be closer to family in another state.

Cunningham said, “It was a pleasure to serve with Soren Pederson. He is a very nice man.”

Tyrone Township has 30 days to appoint a trustee or hold a special election. If you are interested in becoming a trustee, visit the township website tyronetownship.us to apply for the trustee vacancy. The township will accept applications until March 23.

TC Elite AAU Basketball

By Sally Rummel

It all started here in Fenton for former Fenton High School boys’ varsity basketball coach Tim Olszewski, who founded a structured, competitive basketball program, the Tri-County Tigers, about 13 years ago.

Now that program, known today as TC Elite AAU Basketball, has grown into a regional program based out of Howell, where Olszewski now coaches girls’ varsity basketball.

TC Elite, serving boys and girls in fifth through 11th grades, has become one of the largest and most respected AAU (Amateur Athletic Union) programs, living up to its “elite” name. Many of their players in this program have gone on to play college sports.

“What separates us from other basketball programs is the coaching staff; they’re mostly educators with vast successful coaching and playing experience,” Olszewski said. “We are completely separate from high school athletics, but most of these kids already play on their own school teams. It’s an extension of the same philosophies I carry in my high school coaching — structure, hard work and championship effort.”

“From there, kids move into the AAU program, and it becomes highly competitive,” Olszewski said. “We preach the importance of giving back to your community.”

Tryouts for TC Elite will be on Sunday, March 22nd at Howell High School. “We’ll select teams from there and start practicing in April. Competitive tournaments will be in April, May and July,” Olszewski said.

CENSUS

There are approximately 327 million residents in the United States, according to a U.S. Census Bureau. Every single person living in all 50 states and five U.S. territories will be counted. Territories are American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the U.S. Virgin and Northern Mariana Islands.

Populations in remote Alaska have already been reached for counting.

The majority is being asked to respond to the questions on April 1. By December 2020, the Census Bureau is required by law to deliver the results to the President and Congress.

Anyone who doesn’t respond in April will be visited by Census takers from May to July.

Why respond?
Census counts determine the number of seats each state has in the House of Representatives. They also directly affect how districts are drawn.

Census figures steer billions of dollars for federal programs like Medicaid, Head Start, block grants and community mental health services.

Census data is also used by businesses to make decisions on where to expand operations and recruit employees.

CENSUS TIMELINE
Late January: Census counting started in Toksook Bay, Alaska, counting the population in the most remote areas of the country.

March 12 to 20: households start receiving official Census Bureau Mail

May to July 2020: households that don’t respond will be visited by Census takers

December 2020: Census Bureau reports to Congress and the President

March 31, 2021: By this date, the Census Bureau will send redistricting counts to states. This information is used to redraw legislative districts based on population changes.

About the questionnaire
The census is a “snapshot” of the U.S. population on Census Day. This is achieved with a questionnaire.

Those who sleep in a home “most of the time” are counted at that home. Babies are also counted.

The person’s name and race are recorded. There are 10 fields for people staying in a home, and questions are included in Spanish and 60 other languages online.

What is the penalty for not responding?
The census law (Title 13, United States Code, Section 224), coupled with the Sentencing Reform Act of 1984 (Title 18, Sections 3551, 3559, and 3571), provides for penalties of up to $5,000 for failure to report, and $10,000 for intentionally providing false information.

Genisys Credit Union raises $6,500 for Food Bank of Eastern Michigan

On Feb. 25, Genisys Credit Union presented a check to the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan for $6,500 from various fundraising efforts at their Grand Blanc, Fenton, Clio, Vassar, and Marysville branches. “We are amazed by the continued support of our members and employees to help us raise funds in order to give back to our communities,” said Jackie Buchanan, president and CEO of Genisys Credit Union.

Each year, the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan serves more than 330,000 people in 22 counties.

Genisys Credit Union thanks its employees and members who helped raise funds for the Food Bank of Eastern Michigan to help with their mission.

Local retailers share the fun of warm weather dressing for 2020’s first spring season

By Sally Rummel

Don’t be surprised to see sporty, embellished sneakers paired with dressy outfits for a hint of fun at many occasions.

That’s just one of the ways that casual dress is dominating our fashion culture this spring, with the phrase “sporty-chic” a buzzword for this season’s style.

You’ll find all these styles and more at local boutiques, which are rolling out their spring apparel in anticipation of spring break and warmer temperatures here in Michigan.

Popular colors this spring will include “Classic Blue” as Pantone Color Institute’s Color of the Year, so you’ll see plenty of blue hues on store racks this spring.

“Blue is one of the top fashion trends of the season,” said Nicole Medich of Eclections in Fenton. “You’ll also see a lot of ‘blush’ continuing to be popular.”

In addition to blue, other bright colors will be returning to your closet. “Blues, reds, pinks, chartreuse, all bright colors are in,” said Sue VonWald, owner of Bella Ami, a retail apparel boutique within Pigeon in the Parlour in Holly.

Glik’s of Fenton is also sporting a lot of bright blues, pinks and corals this year, in addition to stripes, floral, animal prints and a return to the ’60s tie-dye. “Tie-dye is definitely making a comeback,” said Krista Horton, manager.

The athleisure look, also known as fitness fashion, continues its reign of popularity. Consumers expect their comfort pieces to take them anywhere, from the gym to running errands and even going out on the town.

“You’ll see women wearing sneakers with dressy clothes,” Medich said. “But these aren’t your workout shoes. They’re embellished styles with flowers and ‘bling.’”

“Comfort is key,” said Jerome Raska, co-owner of the newly remodeled Creative Fashions of Holly in Battle Alley.

He and Robbin Yelverton took over the store in April 2019. They closed it for a major renovation in January and re-opened last week with a new fashion attitude for women from their 30s on up, including plus sizes.

“Fashion is all about fun this season,” Raska said. “Look for details, like a unique shape of a neckline on a top, with details like a pleat in the back with a zipper. It’s fun, different and a conversation piece.”

This spring, local retailers agree that just about “everything goes.” That means you’ll still find plenty of skinny jeans and crops and capris on store racks, but also wider-leg looks for a fresh new approach to pants dressing and denim.

“There are so many pant widths — wide, skinny and straight, so you can dress with whatever works with your body,” VonWald said. “Look for tulip-bottom jeans, scalloped or frayed. The safari look is big this year, too.”

As for tops, you’ll find dramatic bell sleeves for a chic look, puffy sleeves for romance and voluminous sheer sleeves for a sexy look.

In general, this year’s spring fashion look is a relaxed, comfortable style. “It’s a free-living, free-spirited kind of style,” Horton said.

Today, March 8, is International Women’s Day, a global day celebrating the social, economic, cultural and political achievements of women. Based on their high IQs, the following are the top seven most intelligent women in the world:

1. Edith Stern: (IQ 200)
   Edith Stern is one of the smartest women ever to be born. She was a child genius and even before she turned 1 she could do calculations and speak complete sentences. Just like other child geniuses, she earned many graduate degrees before turning 18. She has over 128 U.S. patents to her name. Her IQ score is about 200 and in certain IQ tests, she has scored more than that.

2. Hypatia: (IQ 190+)
   Hypatia, the daughter of the popular mathematician Theon of Alexandria, was born somewhere between 351 and 370. She was a Greek philosopher, astronomer, and mathematician in Egypt and then the Eastern Roman Empire. Hypatia, it is believed, invented many scientific instruments like the astrolabe and hydrometer. She is known to be one of the greatest minds ever with an IQ score of more than 190.

3. Marilyn vos Savant: (IQ 190)
   Marilyn vos Savant has a high IQ score of 190. She is a magazine columnist and writer. In a magazine, she has a special section “Ask Marilyn” where she answers many questions and solves puzzles. Her name even appeared in the Guinness Book of World Records all thanks to her high IQ levels.

4. Marie Curie: (IQ 185)
   Marie Curie is one of the most iconic and powerful figures in history and had a strong IQ score of 185. She was a Franco-Polish chemist and physicist, mostly known for her work in radioactivity. She earned two Nobel Prizes — in 1903 for physics and in 1911 for chemistry. Marie Curie, in fact, is the most popular woman scientist ever.

5. Germaine Staël: (IQ 180-185)
   Germaine Staël, also known as Madame de Staël, was born in Paris in 1766 and was a French Social Commentator and Political Activist. She also was a famous writer and has penned numerous beautiful works. Germaine was the main opponent and critic of Napoleon who had banned her from France because of her writings. After taking recluse in Germany, she became a part of the Goethe Group. Different tests calculated her IQ levels and the score was between 180 and 185. She was one of the smartest women of her time.

6. Grace Hopper: (IQ 175)
   Grace Hopper was a popular and bright computer scientist from the United States. She invented the first program that translated English instructions into computer language, called a “compiler.” She joined the field of computing and remains unmatched and unparalleled in the field even to this day. Owing to her great success, she earned the title of “Amazing Grace.” She got 40 honorary degrees from many universities in the world and she had an IQ score of 175.

7. Ruth Lawrence: (IQ 175)
   Ruth Lawrence is a British mathematician and mathematics professor and has worked expansively in the field of Knot theory and algebraic topology. Born in 1971, Ruth Lawrence was known as a child genius as well as one of the smartest women. At just the age of 10, she easily topped the entrance exam at Oxford and was the youngest person in modern times to graduate from Oxford. She has an IQ score of 175.

Lake Fenton’s Kerrigan Howdeshell

The Ortonville-Brandon Blackhawks showed more fight and spirit than they did against the Lake Fenton varsity girls basketball team in earlier contests when the two squads faced off in a district semifinal game Wednesday.

However, the results were the same for the Blue Devils. The Blue Devils earned their third straight victory of the season against the Blackhawks, earning the 51-38 verdict.

Lake Fenton beat the Blackhaws 65-24 on Jan. 24 and 46-17 on Feb. 28 as well.

“We were able to overcome a sluggish start and many unforced turnovers,” Lake Fenton varsity girls basketball coach Brian VanBuren said. “Brandon was the

Bronchos end regular season with fourth straight victory

By David Troppens

The Holly varsity boys basketball team is playing its best at the right time of the season.

As the Bronchos prepare for district action, Holly has won four straight games. The fourth win came in a 60-38 road victory against Royal Oak Tuesday night. The win did something else. Holly (11-9) clinched itself a winning record for the season.

“It was very important to the kids most of all,” Holly varsity boys basketball coach Steve Dehart said. “I’ve known these kids a few years and a couple as freshmen and sophomores on the JV team a few years back. Basketball means a lot to them and they wanted to prove they were not a six-win basketball game this year. They were committed to working hard and I’m happy for them to come out with a winning record.”

The contest started slow offensively, but as the game continued both teams got their offenses going. Holly trailed 7-6 after one quarter. The second quarter was Holly’s strongest defensively maybe of the season. Dehart credited Vaughn Peters, Andrew Simmons and Sammy Fleischer for their defensive efforts as Royal Oak scored just two second points.

Eagles end season with plenty of positives

By David Troppens

Holly — The Linden varsity girls basketball team had to be realists against Hartland.

And despite the team’s 66-10 loss to the second-ranked Eagles in the semifinal round of the Holly district, the Eagles have shown great strides of improvement during their first season under Zack Darling’s helm.

No one knows that more than junior Jordan Peterson. In her time with the program she’s had three head coaches in three seasons. The Eagles won one contest a year ago and didn’t win a game during her freshman year. This season, the Eagles have won six games, and been more competitive with the league leaders even in their losses. The effort is clear. Even in Wednesday’s loss to the Eagles (21-1) the Eagles were diving to the floor right until the final minute of the contest. So as the Eagles finished their 2019-20 season, it’s obvious that it was a year of great improvement as well as newfound pride for the program.

“We’ve definitely overcome adversity,” Peterson said. “Some of us girls have had a new coach every year we’ve been in the program. People were excited to go to practice. We were excited to play in games. We had people coming to games for us. It was nice for the girls on varsity and the upcoming freshmen to come close as a team. We all enjoy spending time together and the whole morale definitely rose up a million.”

“I definitely think we have a good foundation,” Darling said. “We have said in the past we are very young. We have a lot of inexperience on the team but they continue to play hard. One thing I hold in high value are the compliments from other coaches. They see SEASON on 33

Area boys basketball teams begin March Madness this week

By David Troppens

The Linden varsity boys basketball team captured a league title a year ago and had high hopes to capture a district crown.

The Eagles fell short, playing in an entertaining title game against the Howell Highlanders.

This season, the Eagles hope to avenge that loss in a district tournament being hosted by the Howell Highlanders.

Fenton, Holly and Linden will be in the Division 1 Howell district while the Lake Fenton Blue Devils will play in the Division 2 Flint Powers district.

The Eagles will be the No. 1 seed while Howell is the No. 2 seed in the Howell district. However, Howell (14-4) won’t have an easy trip to the final. The Highlanders have to beat Hartland (11-7) in the opening round on March 9. The tri-county teams all begin action on March 11.

Bronchos see season end in loss to Howell Highlanders, 65-28

By David Troppens

Holly — It’s been a year of transition for the Holly varsity girls basketball team.

Under first-year head coach Ben Varner, the Bronchos have seen some ups and downs this season. However, one thing Varner learned about Holly regardless of wins or losses is about the players’ work ethic.

“They play hard. They play extremely hard,” Varner said. “We just have to get in the gym and find somebody to shoot the ball.”

The Bronchos missed a determined group against the Howell Highlanders in Holly’s district semifinal contest against Howell but lost a 65-28 verdict at Holly High School on Wednesday.

The Highlanders were the expected favorites, but at least during the first half of the first quarter, the Bronchos were giving Howell a strong battle. A three-pointer Emma Tooley cut Howell’s lead to just 8-7 with four minutes left in the first quarter. However, Howell ended the stanza with a 13-0 run. It started with a breaking layup by Meagan Tucker and capped it with a Tucker three-pointer, giving Howell a 20-7 lead.
Tigers fall to Haslett Vikings, 79-67

By David Troppens

The Fenton Tigers knew Haslett could shoot the ball, and they did just that in the Fenton varsity boys basketball team’s 79-67 road loss against the Vikings.

“We knew they could shoot the ball and they made eight threes in the first half,” Fenton varsity boys basketball coach Chad Logan said. “They made 12 free throws in the fourth quarter to put it away.”

Fenton trailed 42-30 at halftime but cut the gap quickly and spent most of the half trailing by a few points. With about three minutes left in the game Haslett hit a three-pointer and the Tigers never recovered. Haslett iced the game with its 12 free throws.

The Tigers (9-10) had an unfortunate incident before the game began when Addison McIntosh injured himself during layup warm-ups.

“He’s been averaging 21 points a game in his last eight games,” Logan said.

Trent DeGayner led the Tigers’ offense with 21 points while Alec Kussro netted 11 points.

night and we continue to improve,” Linden varsity boys basketball coach Chris Root said. “It’s definitely been a fun season and we are looking forward to districts.”

The contest remained close throughout. The squads ended up in a 46-46 tie at the end of regulation when Henry Ford II hit a layup at the end of regulation. At the end of the first overtime, the Eagles were up two with 23 seconds left, but Linden missed a free throw and the Falcons tied the game back on a putback. In the second overtime the Eagles jumped to a six-point lead with 1:22 to go in the second overtime. The Eagles held on with Blake Lund icing the victory with two free throws. The Falcons hit a meaningless three-pointer at the buzzer.

Linden led 15-11 after one quarter and had a nice 33-24 halftime lead. However, the Eagles struggled offensively in the second half, netting just 13 points in the final 16 minutes of regulation. Ford II scored 22 points.

“We did not play well in the second half,” Root said. “Blake was on fire in the first half and defensively we were pretty good. In the second half anything and everything that could go wrong did, and in one respect that’s going to benefit us. We were on the road in a pretty hostile environment, faced a ton of adversity and found a way to get the win. I was happy about that and proud of the fight we needed.”

Lund had a career game, netting a career-high 40 points. That was 14 points less than John Siff’s 54-point game in a contest in 1945. Lund’s 40 points were the most points by a Linden player since 1965 when Bobby Thompson scored 40. Lund made 15 points from behind the three-point line while also making 15-of-18 free throws.

Seeger DeGayner, Brenden Miller and Ryan Gillespie had six points each.

The Eagles (18-2) begin district action Wednesday against Holly at Howell High School at 7:30 p.m. This year should mark the first time Lund competes in a district tournament for the Eagles. He has suffered injuries during his first two seasons with the Eagles at district time. That didn’t keep the Eagles from advancing to the district title a year ago. Linden beat Holly 53-46 and 65-45 already this season. Linden enters the tournament riding a nine-game winning streak.

“We just want to stay fresh, have balance and make sure we are ready physically and mentally,” Root said.

Sunday, March 8, 2020
Holly never got any closer than 13 points the rest of the game. Howell won the second quarter with a 15-7 scoring margin, raising the halftime lead to 35-14.

Holly opened the third quarter on a Tooley three-pointer cutting the gap to 35-19, but Howell scored the next seven points pretty much staving off any potential Holly run.

Holly hit on just 9-of-43 shots in the contest while Howell hit on 22-of-58 shots, which included 11 converted treys. Holly also turned the ball over 18 times compared to Howell’s seven miscues.

Tooley led the Bronchos (6-15) with 13 points and three rebounds but no one else scored more than five points. Abigail Johnston chipped in those five points along with her team-high eight rebounds. Megan Strunk had four points while Hunter Weeder had three points and five rebounds.

Varner enjoyed his first season with the Bronchos.

“I’ve had a great time,” Varner said. “We lost eight games by six or less. We had plenty of games that could’ve gone either way. We compete our butts off. Even tonight, we were outmanned, but we competed right to the end. ... That’s what they did all year. They competed, played hard and tried. And if I asked any of them to run through a wall, they would’ve. That’s just the type of kids they are. It’s been a pleasure. I’m very happy I came over here.”

BOYS BASKETBALL

▶️ Henry Ford JV 49, Linden JV 46: The Bronchos were led by Lance Barkholz who scored 13 points. Brandon Green netted 12 points while Aidan Miller netted eight points. Aiden Krueger and Logan Bushon had six points each.

▶️ Henry Ford freshman 69, Linden freshman 61: Bishop Lawrence scored a season-high 17 points in the loss. Charlie Powell netted 16 points. Tyler Willard scored nine points while Colin Weiss collected eight points. Bryson Phillips had five points.

▶️ Linden JV 51, Holly JV 32: The Eagles were led by Lance Barkholz’s 22 points while Brandon Green netted 13 points. Logan Bushon had seven points. The Eagles finish their season with a 14-6 record overall.

Bryce Goings led the Bronchos with 10 points while Carlos Solis had seven points.

▶️ Fenton freshman 40, Haslett 37: Ayden Gray led the Tigers with 10 points. Justin Banara chipped in nine points.

▶️ Flushing freshman 54, Fenton freshman 44: Isaiah Plumley led the Tigers with 22 points in the loss against the Raiders.

more aggressive team for three-fourths of the game. Our big second quarter was the difference. We were able to use our depth more the quarter, with eight players getting at least four minutes, including five of the eight players scoring.”

The Blue Devils (16-6) trailed after one quarter 11-10. Brandon’s Sally Borowski scored six of the Blackhawks’ 11 points while Lake Fenton’s Katelyn Siebert netted eight first-quarter points.

The Blue Devils took over in the second quarter. Christina Lamb and Aubrey Fray scored seven second-quarter points each while the Blackhawks netted just five second-quarter points, resulting in the Blue Devils’ 33-16 halftime lead.

From that point on, Lake Fenton was able to maintain its lead. Sydney Hammis scored five third-quarter points and Kerrigan Howdeshell netted four points, keeping the Blue Devils ahead 44-28 at the end of the third quarter. In the fourth quarter Lake Fenton scored just seven points, but were able to hold on to a solid lead to lock up the victory.

Siebert netted a team-high 12 points while Fray collected 11 points. Hammis and Howdeshell scored seven points each while Morgan Furey had five points.

No one on the Blackhawks scored double-digits. Borowski led the squad with nine points while Grace Deller and Ella Miller had eight points each.

Lake Fenton hosts Goodrich in the district title game Friday at 7 p.m. Lake Fenton has lost to Goodrich twice this year, dropping a 49-41 and a 71-60 verdict against the Martians.

“We know what it will take and I am confident we can shake this game off and be ready,” VanBuren said. “We don’t have a choice.”

tell us your girls never give up and that’s a huge compliment. ... That’s what I told them in the pregame for this game as we were playing against a good team and running up a buzzsaw pretty much. But we just have to keep playing; don’t worry about the score and just give it your all.”

Linden struggled mightily against the second-ranked Hartland Eagles. Hartland jumped to a 16-0 first-quarter lead and ended up scoring the first 28 points. The Eagles didn’t score until a Peterson trey, cutting the deficit to 28-3 at the time. Peterson hit a free throw about 20 seconds later cutting the gap to 28-4. However, that’s as close as Linden would ever get as Hartland led 33-4 at halftime.

The Eagles scored three points in the third quarter. Emma Miller converted a free throw and Kelsey McLennan netted a 17-foot jumper.

Hartland led 51-7 at the end of the third quarter. In the fourth, Peterson scored Linden’s final points of the season when she hit a three-pointer with about 17 seconds left.

Peterson finished with a team-high seven points. University of Michigan-bound and Hartland senior Whitney Sollom netted 19 points, earning the 6-foot-4 center her 1,000th career point.

The Linden Eagles are looking forward to what they can do to make next year even stronger.

“Obviously improvement happens in the offseason, so doing open gyms, getting in leagues and still working together, still bonding as a team and just growing as a team is important. To have that family-type environment and playing as a unit is important.”

“If we continue to keep working, put in the time during the offseason and continue to have that confidence and fight then I see a good future,” Darling said.
