Safely shopping during pandemic

■Owners, employees step up to make your shopping experience worry free and convenient

By Sharon Stone

Sometimes you just have to get creative when you are faced with a challenge.

With the holiday shopping season starting to ramp up, the COVID-19 pandemic and all the concerns that come that are affecting the way we shop.

Small business owners have the entrepreneur spirit already, so when the pandemic took over our lives earlier this year, these creative folks scrambled to keep their livelihoods going while keeping themselves, their staff and their customers safe.

Chip Beltinck, owner of Sawyer Jewelers, which is in the Cornerstone building in downtown Fenton, said he and his staff take great pride in how clean the jewelry store is. Compared with big box stores, the number of people who enter the shop is quite limited. "It's sterile, there are very few people, we all wear masks, we clean pens and bathrooms constantly," he said.

As a small business owner in a town he loves, Beltinck said he worries that fear of the virus is sending people to the internet to do their shopping. A self-admitted sentimentalist, he has deep concerns that See SHOPPING on 16 people will lose that personal shopping experience of selecting something out for the love of your life.

Especially with fine jewelry, scrolling through items on Amazon and clicking on something to put in your virtual cart prevents a person from creating an experience and memory. "In my business, how do you buy jewelry online?" he said. "How will you get it serviced?"

Beltinck said for those truly sentimental and truly in love, they have to touch and feel a jewelry piece to know if it's right. Even during this pandemic, Beltinck said his customers should be reassured with the amount of cleaning and safety protocols he and his staff use. "Business owners that I know are aching to do the right thing," he said.

"Take the time. Fenton is a beautiful bubble. If you can't find it here, then go online in your search," he said. "I love this town, the people and everything about it."

Beltinck wants to see all of the small businesses to survive and suggests that if everyone could stop by and shop at every local store even just once a year, they would all survive.

Nicole Medich, owner of Eclections and Nick + Crew in Fenton, has stayed open the entire time. She became more active on the store's Facebook page and she films herself showing off her products during live Facebook videos.

Very early on when disinfecting products were hard to come by, Medich put up a large board with clips attached outside her front door to hold onto purchases for pickup. She'd watch from inside as her customers drove by and grabbed their purchase from the clip board.

The store is open to the public and face coverings are required. Customers are allowed to try on clothing, however, items not purchased are sanitized with steam before being put back on the rack. Half of the dressing rooms are closed and employees disinfect the rooms in between customers.

Medich said they still offer free home delivery, curbside service or completely contactless service when customers open their vehicle trunk. She added that "everything in the store is available on our website."

Kerton Lumber in Holly has adjusted their store and procedures to help all of their customers.

Nicole Ryan, secretary and office manager at Kerton Lumber, said they have signs on the door to show one entry door and one exit door. They have signage throughout the store, 6-foot spacing marks on the floor and have hand sanitizer available.

A large Plexiglass divider at the main checkout counter separates employees from customers. If someone would prefer not to enter the store, Ryan said customers are welcome to call the store to place their order. They do ask to be given notice on phone orders so that they have time to process the order. An employee will carry your order out and put it in your vehicle once you call the store to let them know you are there.

A FEW POSITIVES THROUGH COVID-19 ERA

Augh, this pandemic has been awful for everyone.

Certainly families have been devastated and lives have been lost. Those are the primary tragedies involved with COVID-19. No one will ever want to compare other issues created by the virus by comparing them side to side with those two. However, that said, we have all been inconvenienced and prep sports has been dramatically hurt. It's one of the areas I understand from a personal standpoint since about 90 percent of my job (that's a conservative guess) involves prep athletics.

But while a full spring sports season was canceled last year and the end of the winter sports season was also canceled, there have been a few positives that prep sports and the MHSAA have learned during the COVID era. With Thanksgiving right around the corner, maybe this is the right time to reflect on a few of the positives.

It's time to change the prep football playoff format

Talking to coaches there are a lot of people that think maybe the ninth week of the regular prep football season should be the opening week of the playoffs. which would then open up the state tournament to just about every prep football squad in the state of Michigan. It's something I've wanted to see happen for years as well. This season, due to COVID-19, that happened. Due to the shortened season, the seventh week became a playoff week for every team in the state, and it worked really well.

Area Powers swimmers earn spots in D3 state swim meet

By David Troppens

Whenever the Division 3 Girls State Swimming and Diving Championship is played out, there will be two tri-county competing at the event.

Powers swimmers Lara Wujciak and Lauren Taylor will be competing at the meet.

Currently the diving portion of the meet is tentatively scheduled for Dec. 22 and the swim portion for Dec. 23 if the current COVID-19 lockdown ends on Dec. 9 at Lake Orion High School.

Wujciak and Taylor will be on the Chargers' 200 medley relay team while Taylor is a member of the squad's 200 free relay team. Taylor will compete on the 400 freestyle relay. Individually, Wujciak will compete individually in the 100 butterfly and the 100 backstroke while Taylor will compete in the 200 individual medley and the 100 butterfly.

Wujciak is a senior and was an allstate swimmer a year ago. "Last year, I was very sick," Wujciak said. "However, I knew that it was my duty to show up and represent my school, family and team. This year, I would like to do the same, but hopefully feel good in the water and know that I used every ounce of energy I had to perform to the best of my ability."

"This is my third year competing in two relays and two individual events," Taylor said.

Fenton swimmers host their own final meet

Actual state meet could happen near Christmas

By David Troppens

Brad Jones has horrible memories of last March when the COVID-19 pandemic created Michigan's first lockdown.

His varsity boys swim team was preparing to leave to go the Division 2 state meet when Jones, the coach, got some bad news that the meet was being suspended (eventually canceled) due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

It happened again to him on Sunday. Less than a week before his Fenton varsity girls swim team was going to head to Grand Rapids for the Division 2 girls state meet, the news came from Michigan Gov. Gretchen Whitmer that another lockdown was starting on Wednesday. The Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) followed suit by suspending all athletic activities for three weeks, until Dec. 9.

The Fenton varsity girls state qualifying swimmers are the only fall team among tri-county high school athletes impacted by the lockdown. All other fall sports teams have completed their seasons. All winter sports have already or were expected to start practices during the three-week period.

"Reliving that moment on Sunday was certainly rough for all of us coaches and it was definitely a difficult meeting with girls Monday morning," Jones said.

"We met at the pool and walked our way through it. These are things are out of our control regardless of our preparation and our dedication to the proto-

Fenton swimmers have high hopes for state swim meet

By David Troppens

Whenever the Division 2 Girls State Swimming and Diving Championships occur, Gracie Olsen and the rest of the Fenton varsity swim team understands there will be some differences.

However, one thing won't change. The person that won the two events a year ago will be the favorite to win both events again this season at Grand Rapids Northview High School. The most current potential date for the state meet is Dec. 22 for the diving competition and Dec. 23 for the swimming portion of the competition.

There are other changes that will be made to the state meet. Each event will consist of one swim by each competitor in each event. Also, at this time no spectators are expected to be in the audience. Teammates won't be allowed to stay on the dock.

Olsen will have plenty of teammates with her at the meet. Also qualified for events are Rose Haney, Halee Alexander, Sophie Stefanac, Delaney Fries, Abigail Dolliver and Maddie Kazmierski.

"I think the no spectators may bring the energy down a little bit but that just means we'll have to bring ours up," Olsen said. "So it could be good or it could be bad. I just don't think it will be bad. We will be able to bring the energy. Even though there won't be anyone in the stands we'll be able to make it up by ourselves.

"I think that I'd rather have two swims because I'm a swimmer that needs a lot of warm-up so having that prelim trial swim is nice to see where I'm at (during the preliminary). I get to think about it and what can I do better the next day. Now I'm going to have to think about in the past and apply everything I need to add for that one race."

The Tigers also have an opportunity to do some great damage in all three relays. Last year's 400 freestyle relay team placed third in the event. This year the squad of Olsen, Stefanac, Fries and Dolliver hope to at least match that, if not contend for the event state championship.

"Our 400 placed third and this year I think we can make it first," Olsen said. "We were only a few seconds off our state time at the Livonia meet so I think once we are tapered and ready I think we are going to go a really great time."

The Tigers will have two other relays at the state meet. Olsen, Dolliver, Alexander and Fries will make up the 200 medley relay squad and Stefanac, Fries, Haney and Dolliver will make up the 200 freestyle relay.

Individually, Stefanac will compete in the 100 freestyle and the 100 back stroke while Dolliver will compete in the 100 breaststroke. Haney qualified in the 200 individual medley while Carrigan will compete in the 100 backstroke. Sana Saab is scheduled to compete in the 50 freestyle.

The addition of a pre-region cross country round

This was something added this year that was a big plus. Currently the MHSAA hosts regionals of about 16 teams with only three of those squads qualifying for the state meet. Most teams enter the event knowing there's not much chance of qualifying. This year the MHSAA hosted pre-regional rounds where four of eight teams advanced to the actual regional round, creating a system where teams could enjoy success at one round in order to advance to the regional round. Only three teams advanced to state from the regional meet still, but it gave teams more chances to have sense success in an earlier round more obtainable. For example, Lake Fenton's girls cross country team advanced to the regional round by placing fourth in its pre-regional. That created a moment the team could celebrate and use as motivation to advance further next season. It adds another step of success that is a more realistic leap in an earlier round than just one week trying to be the top three in a group of 16 teams. More chances at success is always a plus.

The importance of being a part of a team

Teams understood that any moment it all could be taken away from them. This probably created a sense of more pride for every team on a day-to-day basis as they understood they should embrace the days they have because any given day CO-VID-19 could strip it away. Athletes treasured their time with teams, and that's never a bad thing.

cols were supposed to follow. The hardest thing is we followed the rules we were told to do so we could provide a safe environment for the athletes and coaches. To have it canceled this close to the finish line is heartbreaking."

It's heartbreaking now, but all is not lost. First off, the Tigers made the best situation out of a bad one they possibly could by hosting their own personal "state" meet Tuesday at Fenton High School. In it, the state qualifiers competed in their events and tried to break personal and pool records. Second, the state swim meet will probably happen sometime this school year, maybe as early as Dec. 23.

The Representative Council of the MHSAA approved today an adjusted schedule to restart and conclude fall tournaments in football, girls volleyball and girls swimming and diving, and also to resume winter sports after the threeweek "pause" in activity ordered by the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services scheduled to end Dec. 9. All three Lower Peninsula swim finals will be conducted Dec. 22 for diving and

Dec. 23 for swimming. This would allow a two-week practice window of all participating swimmers who have met the qualified times in swimming events and all the regional divers who qualified for the state meet.

"It's not supposed to be over, but it's supposed to be a pause," Jones said. "It's not exactly the way we wanted to see the season end, but ... that's what was talked about Sunday night is having three weeks off and then have the swim meet."

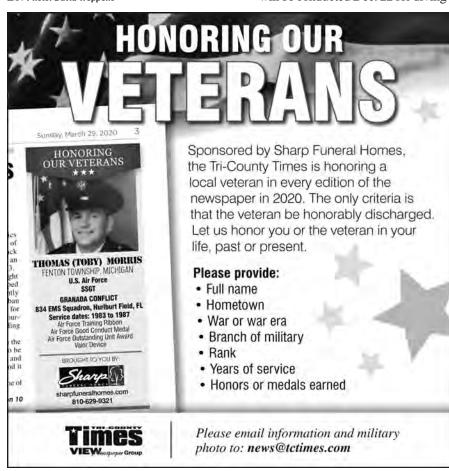

Tuesday's event was a great way to honor the squad at least until the official state swim meet probably ends up happening sometime this school year.

Three pool records were recorded at Tuesday's meet. The first came in the first event and the third one came in the final event. The 200 medley relay team of Gracie Olsen, Abigail Dolliver, Halee Alexander and Delaney Fries posted a time of 1:49.30. That time would've earned the fifth-place position at the state meet a year ago, the same spot the Tigers held in the event last year with a time of 1:49.02. The 400 freestyle relay team of Olsen, Sophie Stefanac, Rose Haney and Abigail Dolliver posted a time of 3:36.79. That time also would've landed them a fifth-place finish at last year's state meet, the same position Fenton held last year with a time of 3:36.21.

Olsen broke the pool record in the 200 freestyle with a time of 1:50.14. The D2 defending state champion in the event posted a time of 1:48.98 at state a year ago. Her time on Tuesday would've earned her the state championship last season as well. She crushed the field by more than two seconds in the event last year. Olsen also swam a time of 56.21 seconds in the 100 butterfly, the event she won her other state title last year.

In other swims the 200 freestyle relay team of Stefanac, Fries, Haney and Dolliver had a time of 1:41.07. Maddie Kazmierski had personal-best performances with times of 1:00.06 in the 100 butterfly and a 5:22.14 in the 500 freestyle. Stefanac also had personal-best times in the 100 freestyle (54.03) and the 100 backstroke (1:00.03). Haney posted a time of 2:18.65 in the 200 individual medley while Abby Carrigan had a time of 1:03.94 in the 100 backstroke. Finally, Sana Saab had a time of 26.08 in the 50 freestyle and Dolliver had a time of 1:09.11 in the 100 breaststroke.

Holly Township resident Alex Caryl wasn't able to take a shot at a buck with a 23-inch outside spread one minute, but was rewarded for his ethics and patience. Later, he used his crossbow from about 30 yards away to earn his trophy when the buck returned. The deer's rack has yet to be evaluated, but it can potentially be in the 150s using the Boone and Crockett scoring system which would qualify it for the Commemorative Bucks of Michigan book.

Not everyone eats turkey on Thanksgiving.

If your family goes in a different direction on the big day, you're not alone. According to the National Turkey Federation, 88 percent of Americans chow down on Thanksgiving turkey. The rest may be vegetarian or vegan, or just taking a stand against a protein that, let's face it, doesn't show up much the rest of the year for a reason.

Americans eat an estimated 50 million pumpkin pies on Thanksgiving.

Many consider pumpkin pie a vehicle for whipped topping and could take it or leave it, otherwise. If you'd also rather leave your pumpkins for Halloween and dig into another Thanksgiving dessert, you're not alone. According to The American Pie Council, more Americans prefer apple pie overall — pumpkin pie only comes in second place.

DID YOU KNOW?

Thanksgiving trivia to share with family this Thursday

Compiled by Sharon Stone

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING WAS ACTUALLY A THREE-DAY AFFAIR.

Today, Thanksgiving takes place over one day
— maybe two if you count Black Friday on a typical year. In November 1621, the settlers' first corn harvest proved so successful, Gov. William Bradford reportedly invited the Plymouth colonists' Native American allies to enjoy the fruits of their labor. Members of the Wampanoag tribe came bearing food to share. They had so much bounty, the revelers decided to extend the affair.

History.com

Part of Plymouth, Mass., looks just as it did in the 17th century.

If you want to see what Thanksgiving was really like back in the 1600s, the historic attraction Plymouth (or Plimoth) Plantation stays true to its historic roots. You can even celebrate Thanksgiving at the site, which is modeled after a colonist's home and a Wampanoag site. The table-groaning feast typically features authentic courses like a corn pudding and fish fricassee, tales of colonial life, and old-timey songs.

Tripadvisor.com

Colonists and Native Americans may not have had turkey at their feast.

While most of us enjoy turkey as the centerpiece of our table, no one can say for sure whether it was on the menu in 1621. However, they did indulge in other foods like lobster, seal, and swan. The Wampanoag tribe also reportedly brought five deer to the celebration.

You might consume up to 229 grams fat during the big meal.

You might want to put on those stretchy pants before heading to Thanksgiving dinner. There will be about three to four times the amount of fat you should eat in a day. And while this is probably not news to those of us who go for second or third helpings of the big meal, the entire Thanksgiving dinner could total over 3,000 calories.

Only male turkeys actually gobble.

If you learned in preschool that a turkey goes "gobble, gobble," that's only about half true. Only male turkeys — appropriately named gobblers — actually make the sound. Female turkeys cackle instead. So if you're trying to figure out whether a turkey's male or female, just wait until they open their beaks.

walking to or from a store. I guess that makes it readily available when you have to put it on. I've seen other people put it down under their chin so they can put it on properly in the blink of an eye.

I like it when I go out to a meeting or event and I have my mask on and people who I know walk right by me and don't recognize me. One person said, "I'm having to learn how to identify people by their eyes."

Admittedly, I've found myself uncertain about the identity of people when I see them masked. I've walked right by people I knew because they were wearing a face covering and I didn't recognize them – only to have them call out my name when I pass by.

"Didn't you see me?" I've been asked.

"Didn't know it was you!" I've replied, then pointing to my face. "It must be the mask."

It also works if you're trying to avoid someone.

Masks are also good if you want to mumble something under your breath about other people, but you don't want them to read your lips. I find it's also good if I want to talk to myself in public or sing-along with the store soundtrack. While we may have adapted to many of the changes brought about by COVID-19 I, for one, will be glad when the day comes that we no longer have to practice wearing face-coverings and social distancing. In the meantime, at least, we'll continue to adjust and make the best out of the curve balls the pandemic throws at us.

DR. ROGER HODKINSON, a pathologist, told officials in the province of Alberta that the covid virus is the greatest hoax ever perpetrated on an unsuspecting public. He said nothing can be done to stop the spread besides protecting older more vulnerable people. He said masks and social distancing don't work.

WHO DOESN'T CRINGE when you hear that Gov. Whitmer is going to be holding a press conference to talk about her latest news? Sure wish she had more confidence in the adults in this state to make their own decisions based on their own health. She's like nails on a chalkboard.

I WAS WONDERING why doctors and nurses wear surgical masks in the operating room. Do they feel that this is against their 'individual rights?' Is there any scientific reason or logic involved in this or is this just the right thing to do?

THE MODERNA AND Pfizer vaccines are good news. But it will be months before they are available for the masses. The vaccination requires two injections three to four weeks apart, and another week or so for the immune system to respond. May is realistically the soonest we might get back to normal BIDEN HAS MADE many promises in the last several months. Come Jan. 21, 2021, I wonder how many of those promises he will keep. The sad thing is when he conveniently forgets most of those promises there is nothing the people can do except remember for the next election.

WE ARE NOT the government's children and there is never a good reason to take away our rights or to close our business.
