Cider Creek subdivision topic goes to township board

Recent plans reduced number of homes from 142 to 122

By Hannah Ball

The subdivision planned to be built behind Mueller’s Orchard, with access to Linden and Lobdell roads, is one step closer to being approved.

On May 13, the Fenton Township Planning Commission made a recommendation of approval for the rezoning request for the Cider Creek subdivision development. The Fenton Township Board of Trustees expects to discuss it during the June 21 meeting.

“Smaller house sizes on smaller lots help meet the needs of those looking for a starter home or those looking to downsize.”
Michael Deem
Fenton Township zoning administrator

“The process could take a few months, or it could be sooner depending on how the site plan would come back to the Planning Commission for final site plan approval,” said Michael Deem, zoning administrator.

Tyrone Township residents and historical society partner to move and restore historical building

What was once a Facebook page called Citizens Resisting Asphalt Plant (C.R.A.P.) has transitioned into a page called Residents for Community Preservation (RCP). This private Facebook page has more than 3,000 members.

The group’s vocal opposition to a rezoning request, which would have allowed an asphalt plant to be developed in Tyrone Township, was a factor in the developer withdrawing their plan.

With the asphalt plant behind them, this non-profit organization renamed itself and now is raising awareness and hoping to raise enough funds to move the old township hall and preserve it for historical purposes, as well as being useful.

The historic Town House is one of Tyrone Township’s final historic buildings. It was designated as a historic site in 1975 by the State of Michigan, and was a place built to bring a community of people together. The Town House provided a space where gatherings of all sorts, meetings, and elections were held.

The township offices have moved to a new building and RCP has partnered with Tyrone Township’s Historical Society in a plan to move the historic 1887 Town Hall building to the new site.

Linda McFarland, vice president of the Tyrone Township Historical Society and a lifelong resident of Tyrone Township, said, “It’s important to us to accomplish this feat.”

McFarland is hopeful that the growing support to save the old hall will result in it being relocated to the property of the current township hall. She said the property is 10 acres and there is room for the historic building. “It’s a well-structured building,” she said. “They took pride in building structures that lasted. Back then, structure was everything.”

While appealing court’s order to remove rescued dogs from property

By Sharon Stone

The Devoted Friends Animal Society, Inc. was granted a temporary stay to keep its dogs while they are moving forward into the appeals court.

Rose Township claims in a lawsuit that Melissa Borden, owner of Devoted Barn at 1301 W. Rose Center Rd. in Rose Township, did not apply for a special use permit for a dog kennel and was running an unlawful and unpermitted dog kennel. Rose Township became aware of the animals because of a complaint made by a neighbor, who has since moved.

According to a Wednesday, Feb. 24 court order by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Leo Bowman, Borden had 14 days (March 10) to propose a plan to remove and relocate dozens of dogs from her property in 60 days (April 25). On Feb. 10, the court determined the organization had violated a previous court order to remove 21 dogs from the property.

Judge Bowman retired and has been replaced by Judge Edward Sosnick. According to court documents dated May 26, the defendant’s motion was granted as follows:

• All dogs capable of being placed in foster care shall be placed there immediately;
• All dogs not capable of being placed in foster care shall be removed from the property, with half being removed within 60 days of the date of this order (May 26) and the remaining half being removed no later than 150 days of the date of this order;
• Defendants shall provide the Township with an affidavit identifying those dogs subject to this order; and
• The Township is permitted entry onto the property to verify compliance with this Order.

Joe Durocher, property manager and volunteer at Devoted Barn, said they currently have submitted the required application to Rose Township seeking amendment of the special land-use permit to include the dogs. “However, the township is resisting processing with no technical merit,” he said. “We will need to follow up with the board and the planning commission as the supervisor will not speak with us.”

Durocher said they are thankful that the motion went in their favor. “We are still searching for a new temporary facility and are fundraising to build a new facility,” he said. He credits a previous Times article for receiving a substantial donation from

Fenton Arts Council to hand out kits to aspiring artists to use at home

In a nod to the city of Fenton as a foodie destination and great supporter of the arts, the Fenton Arts Council, (creator and producer of “Arts Are The Heart” events), will be handing out DIY take home art boxes.

The boxes will be handed out at the Thursday, June 10 Fenton Street Experience, beginning at 4 p.m. The Fenton Arts Council will be on LeRoy Street, between City Hall and the Police Department.

In the box, participants will find air dry clay and acrylic paint pots and supplies to sculpt food themed mini sculptures. These sculptures are inspired by two famous artists with food based subjects; Claus Oldenburg and Wayne Thiebaud. These artists as well as the ongoing exhibit at the Flint Institute of Arts; ‘Blue Plate Special,” glass art by John Miller turn standbys of American Cuisine into wonderful works of art.

For “hungry” artists from youth to adults these take home art boxes are expected to spark the imagination and engage makers to view food from a whole new perspective.

Fenton Arts Council also plans to distribute a second take home art box that is a multi-generational project to create a learning and cultural experience called “yarn art.”

A limited number of boxes will be available each date.

For details, email info@FentonArtsCouncil.com or leave a message at (810) 354-5659.

“Arts Are The Heart” 2021 events also include two Art Exhibits at Cause & Effect Gallery, PopUp Art Stations, and StoryWalk.

These programs are sponsored in part by the Genesee County Share Art Genesee Grant Program and by the Genesee County Arts Education and Cultural Enrichment Millage funds — your tax dollars at work.

Local property owners say people litter the area with trash and park where they’re not supposed to. The situation has resulted in the property owners blocking off the access site with logs to prevent people from using it.

They ask the public to use the Hogan Road access point instead.

Sam Tester, one of the local property owners, said the issues started years ago. “All four corners of that bridge is private property. And (we) have to deal with cleaning it up after people not respecting other people’s property. The logs and the no parking signs were the last thing we wanted to do but it only takes a few people to ruin it,” he said.

He’s picked up empty beer bottles, liquor bottles, pop cans, trash, used condoms and more.

The Genesee County Road Commission installed a “No Parking” sign about a month ago. Argentine Township Supervisor Brian Saad said state law makes it illegal to park within 150 feet of a bridge deck, and they’ve been ticketing people who park illegally.

The GCRC own the bridge and 33 feet from the center line. He said people can’t walk down to the water on the north side of the bridge, but it is legal to walk down on the north east side.

Bonnie Wood, traffic engineering manager at the GCRC, said the property around the bridge is private, and that the GCRC uses the easement area to do maintenance.

The property owners placed logs to block the access site a little more than a month ago, and they also put up stakes around the bridge.

Other property owners in the Keepers of the Shiawassee Facebook page posted in support of the signs and expressed disappointment and frustration with people who litter in the area.

One person wrote, “How would you feel if I drove into your neighborhood and dumped trash on a daily basis?”

Brad Jacob, with the Keepers of the Shiawassee, said they do not condone, endorse or encourage the use of Cole Road as an access point. Trash has been an issue for years, as is parking. There is no parking on or in the posted vicinity of the bridge, he said, and the signs placed by the GCRC are enforceable by the county and township.

“The bridge is indeed public, and there is a legal public easement to the water, regarding foot traffic. This is not the same as there being a public launch,” he said. “That being said, it is the position of the Keepers of the Shiawassee that this is not a launch, except for emergency take out. Our focus is on stewardship of the river and being respectful of all of the property owners along its path.”

They’re working with the Genesee County Drain Commission to improve the Hogan Road launch when that bridge is improved. They encourage the public to use this site.

ß...we ask that river enthusiasts be responsible for their trash and respectful of the property owners.ß

Brad Jacob
Keepers of the Shiawassee

“We are also working with the township and the owners to find a solution to the Cole Road issue. What this may look like is uncertain at this time. But until this happens, we ask that river enthusiasts be responsible for their trash and respectful of the property owners,” he said.

Jacob said there’s no real way to estimate the number of people who use this location, but it’s in everyone’s best interest that it’s kept to a minimum.

The court anticipates to fully re-engage and begin jury trials. Every effort will be undertaken to maintain the health and safety of court staff, members of the public and courtroom participants.

McFarland also said, “Support is better each day. They like the idea of history. The world is based on history.”

Tom Runyan, 79, of Tyrone Township, is secretary/treasurer of the Tyrone Township Historical Society and also a lifelong resident. Daniel Runyan, who was the step-brother of his great great grandfather, settled in Tyrone Township in 1836, one year before Michigan became a state.

Runyan Lake and Runyan Lake Road were named after the Runyan family. Tom Runyan said back in the 1930s, the utility companies required counties and townships to name its roads and it was common to name the roads after families or landmarks.

Runyan said, “The first time I voted was in that building.” That was in 1960.

There are still two old voting booths in the building.

Recalling those early days, Runyan said, “Those were very simple people. They didn’t have degrees, but they worked really hard. The women worked just as hard or harder because they had to raise the kids.” He added that his great grandmother on his dad’s side couldn’t read and had to sign a legal document with a simple “x” on the signature line.

He said years ago, he and good friend Bill McEachern, who is a trustee with the historical society, painted the building themselves.

Runyan believes the township made a mistake by not moving the historical building when the offices moved to the new location. “It belongs to the taxpayers of many, many years, not just in 2021,” he said. “Why would anyone consider abandoning a historical structure?”

Runyan said initial estimates just to move the structure would be approximately $50,000. The ground where it currently sits would need to be reclaimed and the future site would need a concrete slab or foundation, which could cost at least $25,000. In addition to fundraisers, the historical society and the new non-profit group are researching grants that might be available.

“A lot has to happen,” Runyan said. “It’s a terrible shame to abandon it. If you do, you abandon all of history.”

Tyrone Township Supervisor Mike Cunningham said the township has until November 2022 to decide what to do with the building.

Forgotten Harvest Farms part of nonprofit fighting hunger and waste

Situated on more than 95 acres of land in Fenton is Forgotten Harvest Farms — an integral part of the nonprofit Forgotten Harvest, which for the past 30 years has fought two problems: hunger and waste.

Donated for use by the Moroun Family, Forgotten Harvest Farms was an exciting expansion and addition to Forgotten Harvest, allowing the nonprofit to grow their own fresh food for those in need.

Nora Moroun has a special reason for donating her family’s farm to the cause of Forgotten Harvest. In a video on the Forgotten Harvest website, Nora explains that growing up she spent a lot of time with her grandmother. She said she can remember hanging clothes on the line or doing a chore with her grandmother when they’d hear a knock on the door. There they would find someone who was hungry. Nora said her grandmother would open the door, invite the person in and ask Nora to set the table. Then her grandmother would prepare a warm meal they would all enjoy together. It’s those memories that inspired Nora to follow in her grandmother’s footsteps — finding a way to feed hungry people. She has found that through her connection to Forgotten Harvest.

In 1990, Forgotten Harvest set down roots in the greater metro Detroit area and began rescuing food surpluses from grocery stores, markets, restaurants, caterers, and more. They took donated food, which would otherwise go to waste, and delivered it free-of-charge to emergency food providers in the metro Detroit area.

Since that time their work has expanded to include, among other partnerships, Forgotten Harvest Farms.

Forgotten Harvest Farms is the culmination of a dream that has been in the making since Dr. Nancy Fishman, Forgotten Harvest founder, began the organization and had the audacity to believe that the organization could “rescue” healthy food — food that would otherwise go to waste in landfills.

Since 2013, two million pounds of produce has been grown and harvested at Forgotten Harvest Farms, where the team focuses on growing nutrient-rich items like kale, broccoli, cabbage, squash and more. Volunteers are always needed at the farm. “It is a great experience for the community to get in touch with where their food is coming from and how it is grown,” said Chris Ivey, who works in marketing and communications at Forgotten Harvest. To sign up visit www.forgottenharvest.org/volunteer/.

Forgotten Harvest delivers 138,000 pounds of surplus food per day, to local charities six days a week, providing families in need with fresh and nutritious food free of charge. All the food they rescue, and produce is delivered to metro Detroit families who are food-insecure and struggle to cover the cost of basic life necessities.

Forgotten Harvest exists thanks to the support of many community partners, donors and volunteers. Each year the organization also hosts a fundraiser to help run the farm. This year’s event — Chop Down Hunter — is set for October. The virtual event will have guests tune in for a fast-paced cooking competition celebrating women in the culinary industry as Metro Detroit-based chefs battle to raise funds for Forgotten Harvest Farms. Keep an eye on www.forgottenharvest.org for tickets and additional information.

Along with buying tickets for that event, there are a number of ways to support the organization and farm including donations and volunteering. Those in need of food resources can find help at one of the more than 250 partner agencies or mobile food pantries listed on the nonprofit’s website. Learn more at www.forgottenharvest.org.

fast developers complete engineering plans.

On March 11, the Fenton Township Planning Commission decided to postpone the case to allow the applicant to address numerous concerns regarding lot size, setbacks and more.

Lombardo Homes resubmitted plans. Recent plans show 122 homesites as opposed to 142, which was in the original plan.

The request was to rezone the property, which is currently farmland, from R-3, single family residential, to planned unit development (PUD), which would allow for an open space development.

A letter from Lyle Winn, development compliance manager of Lombardo Homes, to Deem, states, “The predominant items mentioned at the meeting involved lot size and overall density. Additionally, there was a consensus that the large centralized park area and perimeter buffers are desirable.”

Along with reducing the number of homes from 142 to 122, developers plan to increase the lot width from 60 feet to 70 feet to allow for more open space in the area.

Lombardo Homes also submitted a parallel plan for a potential development of a non-open space subdivision that also meets requirements for lot size, width and setbacks.

Deem said one of the goals of the master plan for the township is to encourage the preservation of open space.

“The revised open space plan provided 43 percent open space and the individual lots were larger and wider than previously submitted,” he said. “Another goal of the master plan is to provide a variety of housing types to meet the needs of each stage of life, whether they are first time home owners, looking to start a family, or seeking a place for retirement.

“Smaller house sizes on smaller lots help meet the needs of those looking for a starter home or those looking to downsize. Each project is reviewed for compliance with the master plan and zoning ordinance and how the project meets the needs of the community.”

The most recent plans for the Cider Creek subdivision in Fenton Township can be found at fentontownship.org. Submitted image

The revised plans include a bike trail that will run through the subdivision and connect Linden Road to Lobdell Road. Lombardo Homes worked with the LAFF (Linden, Argentine Township, Fenton, Fenton Township) pathway group on pathway plans.

Developers plan to extend the existing neighbor’s fence along the common property line at the southwest corner of the project, and they will add clarification to the site data to show how the wetland area is excluded from the open space calculation.

Revised plans also include a soil type map, the zoning of adjacent properties and more.

Charles Mueller, owner of Mueller’s Orchard, said, “It’s their property and they are entitled to maximize their value. I am disappointed the township wants such high density in a rural area, but the plans do conform to the ordinance so they have to approve it.”

He said the owners of the property did not contact them.

“Traffic in the area is already pretty bad. This project will only make it worse,” he said.

a local foundation that wishes to remain anonymous. Donations can be made through their website, Facebook page, and PayPal. Durocher added that the residents who bought the home of the person who complained are now volunteers at the Devoted Barn.

Since they have been unable to rescue dogs, Devoted Barn has been rescuing more horses. What they currently have includes two mamas with babies and two pregnant mamas, one of which is at Saginaw Valley veterinary clinic awaiting delivery. The Devoted Barn also is raising money for this horse as it could have complications with delivery due to the horse’s lack of muscle tone from the rough environment it was rescued from.

They rescued two horses from the same location that have roughly the same due date it says within the month. “One of the mamas and babies were pulled from a kill pen where the mom gave birth after being at the kill pen for a week,” Durocher said. He added that the other horse was pulled from a kill pen while pregnant and has since successfully given birth at the Devoted Barn. Several horses have been adopted out and there are several up for adoption.

Citing an article in The Guardian, “World’s donkeys being ‘decimated’ by demand for Chinese medicine” and an article in The Conversation, “Why Kenya has banned the commercial slaughter of donkeys,” Durocher said Devoted Barn has turned its focus to rescuing as many horses and donkeys as possible. “That is all we can really do while this frivolous lawsuit continues,” he said. “I will add that the board has the power to drop the lawsuit at any time and work with us on a resolution.”

Durocher added that the rising cost of meat is driving more and more horses into kill pens where they are then shipped to other countries like Mexico, Canada, and China where they are slaughtered and eaten.

Local resident and business owner Casey Gilbert said his family tried to adopt through a rescue for the price of $400 for a donkey, however, the deal never went through.

“For spotted female donkeys, they wanted $2,000 to $2,500 a donkey,” Gilbert said. He said they had lost one of their donkeys in a tragic accident and their kids were devastated. They didn’t imagine that replacing them was going to be such a task.

The Devoted Barn currently has zero donkeys up for adoption.

Devoted Friends is the exclusive service provider to Oakland County Animal Control for livestock seized or surrendered. They also care for dogs and that they serve as the service provider to Oakland County law enforcement agencies.

As of April 30, Rose Township has paid township attorney John Mulvihill $32,854 for the lawsuit against Devoted Barn, according to Clerk Debbie Miller.

Borden said Devoted Barn has spent $34,280 on this lawsuit, as of Wednesday, June 2.

Rose Township Supervisor Dianne Scheib-Snider did not respond to a request for comment by press time.

Lake Fenton middle school student plays ‘Taps’

By Hannah Ball

Matthew Ostrander, Lake Fenton Middle School eighth grade student, played his trumpet on Memorial Day for Taps Across America.

This National Moment of Remembrance encourages musicians to play “Taps” at 3 p.m. on the holiday for one minute to honor the men and women who died in military service to the United States.

He stared playing the trumpet when he was in sixth grade, and he’s in the middle school band, which is taught by Sean Spicer.

This was Matthew’s first year participating in Taps.

“He learned it this past week to honor his late great grandfather who was a member of the military and passed right before Matthew was born. He wanted to surprise my dad as an honor to his dad,” said his mother, Christina Ostrander.

They also went to Great Lakes National Cemetery, where he expected to play the song once or twice, but several families asked him to play the song at different gravesites. They stayed for a few hours.

“Everyone was so grateful. It truly was amazing to witness as his mom,” she said.

He plans to join the marching band in high school.
Eagles upset in district semi, lose to Clio after shootout

By David Troppens

Linden — The Linden varsity girls soccer team had an outstanding 2021 season. The squad dominated the Flint Metro League, finishing with an undefeated league record en route to a conference championship. In their 11 league victories, Linden outscored its foes 63-2. The Eagles held a 14-0-2 overall record entering Division 2 district play at Linden High School, and were the clear-cut favorites.

However, the sports world doesn’t always follow the script expected. The Clio Lady Mustangs shocked the Eagles, earning a 1-0 district semifinal victory by winning a shoot out 4-2.

“Like (Clio varsity girls soccer coach Randy Matteson) said, they played for this and that’s what they did,” Linden varsity girls soccer coach Kevin Fiebertnitz said. See EAGLES on 25

Blue Devils edge Tigers, headed to district final

By David Troppens

Linden — The Lake Fenton varsity girls soccer team isn’t going to sneak up on anyone during the Division 2 district at Linden High School.

Sure, the squad is super young, fielding a roster of five freshmen and five sophomores. Sure, the Blue Devils are outnumbered in just about every varsity game they play.

However, Lake Fenton has proven its talent this season by contending for the Flint Metro League championship before losing what was the closest game anyone in the league gave the eventual champion Linden Eagles this season. Their talent is well known.

And for the second time this season the Fenton Tigers learned just how good the Blue Devils are. The Blue Devils scored a goal during the 13th minute of the contest, held on to that lead and eventually got the goal that iced the contest in the final minute, earning a 2-0 district semifinal victory against the Fenton Tigers. The win earns the Blue Devils a spot in the district title Friday against the Clio Lady Mustangs at Linden High School. The results weren’t known at press time.

Lake Fenton won the first battle against Fenton 4-0.

“This year we really were not sure what to expect because we didn’t get a chance to play with most of our girls last year (due to COVID-19 pandemic), so we were unsure of how the season was going to go,” Lake Fenton sophomore Savannah Reese said. “But once we got in and started practicing, we built the chemistry and were able to play together really well. I think that’s...” See DEVILS on 24

Heat show improvement in regional tournament loss to Midland, 19-9

By David Troppens

Fenton — Four years ago Lara Kemp joined the Fenton/Linden varsity girls lacrosse team.

It was a natural decision. She loved the sport and her older sister was on the team. But being a freshman on a varsity squad can be intimidating.

“I have played lacrosse pretty much my whole life,” Kemp said. “I started when I was in the fourth grade. ... I would say that it has taught me a lot about my confidence. Coming in as a freshman, I was pretty scared. I had my other sister on the team, but being able to watch the older players was a lot of fun for me and it gave me the confidence.”

It certainly did. During her senior season, Kemp became the Wolves’ leader, scoring close to 80 goals during the season. Her career — along with eight other senior teammates — with the program came to an end during a 19-9 loss to undefeated Midland at Fenton High School on Tuesday.

But the loss wasn’t really a reason for sorrow. In fact, the Fenton/Linden squad had a lot to be proud of during the contest. Midland had crushed the Heat 27-8 on May 14, showing the tremendous gap there was between the two programs. However, the Heat cut into that gap in less than three weeks, giving Midland a much stronger battle than in the first game.

“We were fighting,” Fenton/Linden varsity girls lacrosse coach Roger Ellis said. “We lost to them 27-8 three weeks ago and we weren’t expected to win, so we could play a lot freer than they were. ... I have some super seniors that fought every day. They fought at every practice and at every game. They fought tonight.”

For a bit, the game looked like it could be following the same pattern as the first contest. Midland’s strong offense, led by junior Emma Murphy. Murphy scored three of Midland’s first seven goals, leading to a 7-0 edge. The Fenton/Linden co-op started to get its feet into the contest after falling behind early. Kemp scored the team’s first goal with 12:38 left in the opening half, and scored another with 8:06 left in the half. The Heat cut the gap to as close as 9-3 in the opening half on a goal by Chloe Justus, but Midland went on a 5-1 run, taking a 14-4 lead into halftime.

Holly softball prepares for district tourney with DH sweep vs. Birch Run

By David Troppens

The Holly varsity softball team will be entering its Division 1 district tournament on a high.

The Bronchos improved their winning streak to four games by sweeping a doubleheader against Birch Run on Tuesday.

Delaney Jenkinson hit two home runs and drove in four runs to lead the Bronchos to a 7-0 lead at the time. She hit a two-run shot in the bottom of the sixth, giving the Bronchos a 7-0 lead at the time.

Holly scored three runs in the bottom of the first to take the lead for good. Boehm hit a two-run single to spark the three-run stanza.

Linden baseball loses tight game vs. Brandon

The Linden varsity baseball team’s district run ended in the first contest on Tuesday in a loss versus Ortonville-Brandon.

The Eagles (8-18-1) scored three runs in the top of the seventh to take a one-run lead, but Brandon answered back with two runs in the bottom of the seventh to earn the Blackhawks the 6-5 victory.

Neither team ever had more than a two-run lead. The Eagles took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning. With two out, the Eagles collected four straight singles to score those two runs. Cooper Conn and Zack Hemphill started the threat with two singles and Brandon Green and Danny Roti followed with back-to-back RBI-singles.

Fenton’s Davidson wins regional title, qualifies for state meet

Dylan Davidson’s prep sports career has been extended at least a little bit.
The Fenton senior qualified for the Division 1 state golf meet by winning medalist honors at the Regional hosted at the Saginaw Valley Public Golf Course on Tuesday.
The Tigers finished 13th overall with a 349, finishing 31 strokes out from qualifying as a team, but Davidson was the tournament’s elite player.
He shot an even-par 18-hole score of 72 at the course, edging out Saginaw Heritage’s runner-up Daniel Gladki’s 73. Traverse City West’s Murphy Ke-hoe was third with a 74.
The rest of the Tigers’ team shot at least a 95 or better, but it wasn’t enough to qualify the Tigers as a team.
Only the top three teams and the top three individuals not on a qualifying team earn a spot at the state meet. Evan Brown was Fenton’s next-best scorer, taking 59th with a 91.

Eagles collect 30th victory, defeat Kearsley in district opener

The Linden varsity softball team will enter Saturday’s district semifinal of the Division 2 District as a 30-victory team.
The Blue Devils earned that honor by defeating Flint Kearsley 17-4 in just five innings at Clio High School Tuesday.
The contest was competitive for the first three innings with Kearsley trailing just 5-4 entering the fourth inning. Kearsley was held scoreless in the fourth but then the Eagles scored an eye-popping 12 runs in the bottom of the fourth.
That sparked the Eagles to their 30th victory in 36 games.
The Linden fourth began with a Hannah Bollinger home run, giving Linden a 6-4 lead. Three batters later, there were two out and just a runner on, so a 12-run inning didn’t seem that possible at that time. However, Mikayla Timm followed with a two-run home run, raising the edge to 8-4.

The Eagles scored two more runs in the bottom of the third to take the lead for good. With one out, Ludwig singled and Timm reached base on an error, allowing Sylvester to score. Burke singled and Widner walked to load the bases. Hobson hit an RBI-single, giving the Eagles the 5-4 lead.

Holly soccer defeats Avondale in district opener, falls to Marian in semifinal

It was a successful start to the district tournament for the Holly varsity girls soccer team.
The Bronchos faced off against Auburn Hills Avondale High School and captured a 7-0 victory.
However, Holly’s second-round contest was a bit tougher foe. Facing traditional state power Birmingham Marian, the Bronchos lost in the semifinal of the Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook Kingswood District by an 8-0 score.
The Bronchos finished the season with a 5-8 overall record. It was a season that at times looked like it may never happen due to COVID-19. The squad suffered a quarantine right before the season was about to start, putting the Bronchos well behind most of the soccer teams in the state.

By David Troppens

Ghoujeghi said. “We got a little bit scrappy at the end of the game. We had to play on our end and there were a few nervy moments, but ... we have a good defensive line and they handled it.”

SOFTBALL

Owosso 2-11, Lake Fenton 1-1: The Blue Devils faced off against Owosso hurler Macy Ireland and found out what the rest of the Metro League has found out — she’s a pretty good pitcher.

The Blue Devils were no-hit in the first game and collected just one hit in the second contest in a pair of double-header losses.

In the opening game, Lake Fenton led most of the contest, scoring a run in the top of the first inning. Addison Fitzgerald walked, stole second, was bunted to third by Kaylie Terburgh and scored on a passed ball.

Lake Fenton led 1-0 until the Owosso fifth when an RBI-single by Reese Thayer tied the game for Owosso. The game-winning run was scored in the sixth on an infield error.

Camryn McMillan tossed a three-hitter for the Blue Devils, striking out four.

Owosso scored 11 runs on 14 hits in the second game. Lake Fenton scored its only run in the fifth when Olivia Goss walked and eventually scored on Fitzgerald’s sacrifice fly in the fifth inning. Christina Lamb had the only hit — a single in the fourth inning.

The Tigers made their first step toward possibly doing that by defeating an area rival that won 25 games this season, the Holly Bronchos, in the opening round of district play at Grand Blanc High School.

What was a competitive and entertaining contest between the two rivals, Fenton had starting pitcher Brendan Alvord scatter seven hits over six innings and saw Kyle Crow collect three hits and pitch an inning of shutout relief, leading the Tigers to a 4-2 victory.

Alvord, who was a major part of the regional championship team two seasons ago, didn’t have his best stuff against Holly as the Bronchos were able to tag him for seven hits. However, Alvord was able to bear down in key situations, walking just two and striking out six. He allowed just two runs, and one of those were unearned.

“I get great support from my catcher Logan Angel,” Alvord said. “He called a great game back there. He always does. ... When you get down to this time of year, you just want to take one game at a time and play the next day. Yeah, they got some hits, but when it was time to bear down, I pounded the zone and my teammates back me up all day. I’m happy with that.

“This team comes in every day, works hard and we started with the goal of June 19th. That’s the day of the finals at Michigan State. We want to be there for the final. This team is coming together at the right time, and I’m just happy to be with them every day.”

Life wasn’t easy for Alvord on the mound, as the Bronchos’ bats put one runner on base every inning. Still, it was the ‘Tigers that jumped out to the lead and held never lost it. The Tigers scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning, starting with a leadoff double by Lance Barkholz. An out later, Connor Luck walked and a Holly error allowed the next run to score. Eddie Briand was hit by a pitch and Kyle Crow drove in the first run of the game with an RBI-single. Fenton led 2-0.

Holly had a one-out double in the top of the first by Chris Walton but were unable to plate him. In the second inning, Jacob Hild opened the inning with a leadoff single, but was unable to score, as the next three Bronchos got out in order.

Holly had another threat in the third. Jacob Pittenger led off the third with a single, but one of Holly’s hardest hit balls was provided by Mason Clark during the next at bat. However, that ball became a line drive catch by Fenton shortstop Connor Luck. Walton followed with another single, moving to second on an error, but a flyout ended the threat.

Holly scored its first run in the fourth. Drew Hignite walked and Hild followed with an RBI-double. The Fenton lead was just 2-1. Hild moved to third on a ground out, but back-to-back strike outs by Alvord ended the threat.

Fenton had starting pitcher Brendan Alvord scattering seven hits over six innings and saw Kyle Crow collect three hits and pitch an inning of shutout relief, leading the Tigers to a 4-2 victory.

With 150th birthday approaching, learn more about Linden’s history

Submitted by Peter Maas

With Linden’s Sesquicentennial celebration rapidly approaching, one must wonder what Linden was like back in 1871. Linden was already in existence at this time for over 30 years. In 1871, the Village of Linden was incorporated.

At this time, the population of Linden was approximately 750. This was based on the U.S. Federal Census, which was enumerated in 1870. Village boundaries were not well established and some of the population was made up of farmers residing outside the immediate village limits. There were 238 families and 220 school-age children.

The Hotel, the Union Block, a portion of the business block, the Presbyterian Church, the Methodist Church, the Beach Buggy Factory, the Depot, as well as other structures had been established between 1840 and 1870.

The grist mill, which was first erected in 1837 by Consider Warner and Heman Harris, was under construction for the third time after two previous fires.

Residing about two miles south of the new settlement on Section 31 of Fenton Township was an individual in 1835, had a major effect on the city’s early days. Submitted photo whose entrepreneurship and perseverance would have a huge impact on Linden’s future.

Seth Sadler, who came to Linden in 1835, had a major effect on the city’s early days. Submitted photo

Seth C. Sadler came to Linden in 1835 after first settling in Michigan’s Bloomfield Township, coming from New York. Sadler was born in Ashfield, Massachusetts in 1809, the son of John and Sarah (Church) Sadler. His parents moved to Monroe County, New York and at 20 years old, along with his young wife Sarah and 1-year-old Seth Jr., Sadler ventured west in hopes of purchasing government land in the Michigan Territory. A second son, Ambrose, was born in 1831 shortly after arriving in Michigan.

In 1835, Sadler purchased 120 acres of land on section 30 and 31 in the southernmost section of Genesee County, which is now the site of Mueller’s Orchard. He built a small shanty on the land. In early 1836, he moved his family up from Oakland County. For many years this area was a popular hunting and fishing location for the Native Americans, and as a result, the trails were well travelled.

Sadler seized the opportunity and built a tavern at this location which he appropriately named Sadler’s Tavern. See SADLER on the next page.
SADLER

About this time, Warner and Harris were damming the river and building the mills. As more folks settled in the area, they laid out the village and asked for and received a charter.

The village was named Linden, most likely for the abundant Linden trees in the vicinity.

The hotel was built in 1840 and soon other structures followed. Then fires swept across the region in 1843 to such a degree that the soil became so poor that vegetation could not thrive. These “intentional” fires were commonly set in clearing land.

However, this particular fire continued to burn underground for several months. Many became ill, and a good number left the village discouraged. Within time, many of those who left returned and located permanently.

Some of the locals referred to this disaster as “The Big Burn.”

In May of 1843, Sarah gave birth to a third son, Francis J. Less than a month later, Sarah died. It is not known if the cause of death resulted from childbirth complications or from the burn farms epidemic.

Shortly thereafter, Seth married a girl named Clarissa who died in 1845 and is buried beside Seth in Fairview Cemetery. In April 1846, Sadler married a third time, a young girl named Sarah Owens, who was born in 1824 in Wales, England. They had a daughter, Ann Maria (1848-92).

In April 1838, at the first Township meeting, held at the Fentonville Hotel, Sadler was elected to the township board. In 1850, he was instrumental in establishing Linden’s first Post Office.

In April 1851, he sold his farm and moved to the village where he purchased most of section 20, which is the downtown area including the saw mill and a share in the grist-mill and hotel. Unfortunately, both mills burned during the Civil War. According to the 1870 U. S. Census, Sadler had amassed $21,956, which is $430,696 in today’s value, and was the wealthiest property owner in this vicinity.

symbolizes unity and stands for support for our local police.

Those who spoke up against supporting our police claimed they saw the thin blue line on the insurrectionists who stormed the US Capitol on January 6. In addition to campaign flags, the only flag I saw was the American flag, which was used by the terrorists to damage the Capitol and anyone who stood in their way. Yet, no one is speaking up about taking down the American flag over our county buildings.

I recognize that there are good cops and bad cops, just like honest politicians and crooked ones. Still, we can’t let the actions of a few ruin our opportunity to recognize the courage of those we just voted to protect us, especially when violent crimes continue to rise in our County. The Commission has allowed the insurrectionists to hijack a symbol of unity and use it as a token of hate.

While the County Commission fails to honor our local police, nothing stops me from displaying the flag in my county office, which is what I will do. I will put it alongside any other flag that represents inclusion and respect for all cultures and communities. By displaying these flags, including the thin blue line, I stand up to racism, hatred, and bigotry. I am using my bully pulpit to raise awareness that no matter what you look like, who you love, or what you believe in, we all need to be respectful of one another. As a community, we should start acting like a community and respect and honor those who put their lives on the line to protect our own.
